Form 4 Won the Inter-Form Ball Game Yesterday by 12 Runs to 10 in a Loosely Played, But Interesting Exhibition at Riverside Park.

PITCHERS WERE WILD.

The second game in the Inter-Form League of the Collegiate Institute was played yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park, when Form 4 and Commercial defeated Form 3 B, in an exciting game, by 12 runs to 10. The result was always in doubt until the last ball was pitched and while the article of baseball dished out was not of the classiest variety, it was always interesting. The senior form took an early lead, behind 5 to 1 at one stage, but the Third Form nine took a brace in the fourth, and on a combination of hits, errors, and charities, sent seven runs across the counting station. The ground was soft and the ball speedily grew slippery, which accounts for the many fielding errors chalked up against the players. Wild throws were responsible for most of the misplays, the teams sharing about equally in the matter of misguided heaves.

The pitchers were not hit hard, but both were wild and issued many complimentaries. Kirn, for the losers, fanned fourteen men, and allowed but six hits, but he handed out no less than ten free tickets and his generosity counted in the run-getting. Hickey was touched up for nine hits, but did not give as many passes although he was not a bit stingy, as five of the losers went down to first on the dead-head route. Ten of the Third Form team succumbed to his shoots. Although errors were plentiful there was some nice fielding done. Fortye's work at first base for the losers, was one of the features. He accepted twenty chances without the semblance of an error. The playing of the two shortstops and some sharp fielding by Lees, in left field, for the winners, were bright spots in the play. A double-umpire system was in vogue, Principal Kenner giving the decisions on the bases, and Mr. F. J. Petit, on balls and strikes, and the plan was very successful.

Following is the box score:

SOUTH CENTRALS BEAT SEPARATES

The Separate School baseball team met with its first defeat of the season yesterday afternoon, when they were defeated in an interesting game of 9 runs to 8, by the nine representing the South Central School. The game was exciting all the way and the result was in doubt until the finish. Creswell pitched for the South Central and Callaghan for the Separate School Both pitched nice ball and were fairly well supported in the field.

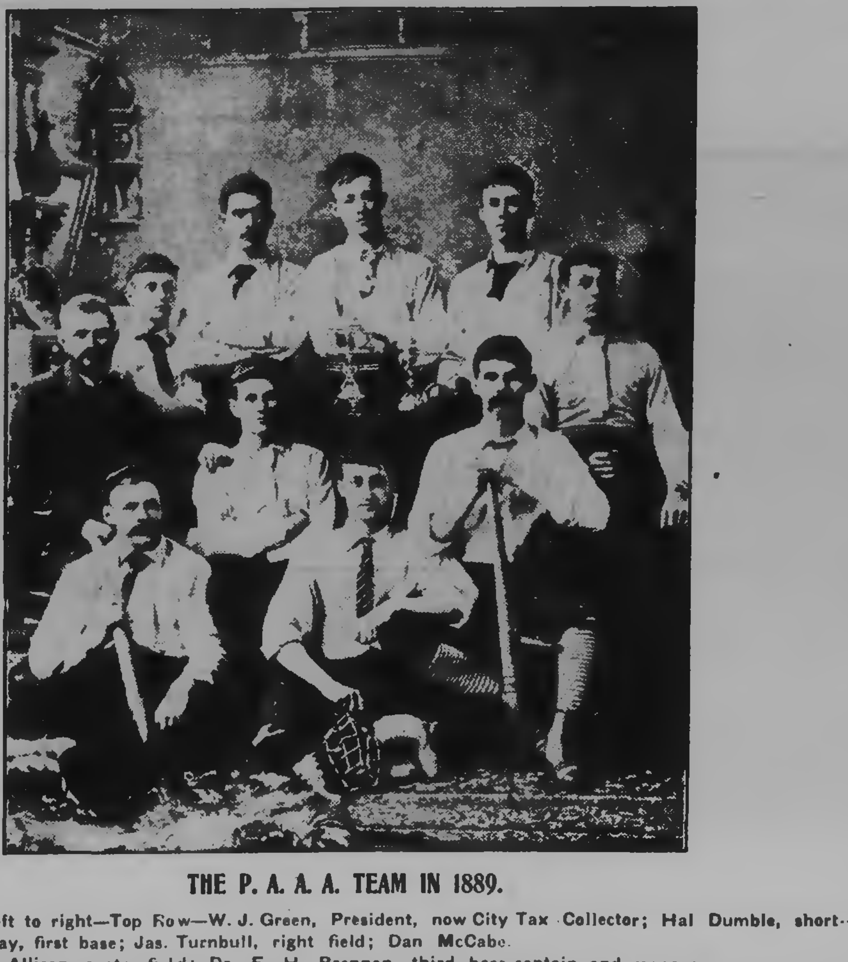
BASEBALL TWENTY YEARS AGO AND SOME OF THE GOOD PLAYERS WHO REPRESENTED PETERBORO' THEN



THE P. A. A. A. TEAM IN 1889.

The above cut, for the opportunity of the publishing of which the Examiner is indebed to the kindness of Mr. Dan McCabe, the veteran local ball player, forms an interesting link between baseball of the present day and the game as it was played in Peterborough twenty years ago.

It is a photograph of some of the members of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association team, which used to flourish in this city in 1889, and which played its games on the old P. A. A. A. grounds, now covered with handsome residences. In that year there were three teams in Peterborough, the P. A. A. A. team represented above, the Ashburnham team, commonly known as the Astonishers, and the Athletics, and some lively games were played between the three, which used to draw big crowds across the river, the ladies turning out in large numbers. In addition, many games were played with outside teams, although there was no league or definite schedule drawn up, the contests being challenge affairs that nevertheless proved highly exciting; Markham, Lindsay, Campbellford, Hastings, Cobourg, and many other teams journeyed to Peterborough and generally went away with the small end of the score, as a large number of good ball players lived here then, and the game flourished. While the article of ball played might not have been as scientific as the Midland League teams now dish out, yet there was plenty of good fielding, and heavy hitting, and the scores as a rule, were small, although on looking over the back fyles of the Examiner, a score of 30 runs to 0 registered against Lindsay in four innings was encountered.

The rules on the whole, in 1889, confirmed to those now in use although, of course, there have been many minor changes. Up to that year the batsman had the option of asking for a high or low ball, as he might wish, and he was given four strikes instead of three. Another difference twenty years ago was that the catcher did not stand up under the bat, except for the third strike. He conented himself with remaining well back of the plate, and stopping the ball on the bounce. The uniforms used would look somewhat out of date at this time, one prominent feature being that the players all wore ties, as can be seen in the above picture.

Messrs. McCabe and Graham, of the above group, represented here, did not start the season with the P. A. A. A. team, the former being with the Astonishers, and the latter with the Athletics. They were drafted by the Association team during the season of 1889, and played with them during the next season, when thirty-four wins were registered.

All of the above groups are still in the land of the living. Messrs. Dan McCabe, R. A. W. Hay and W. J. Green, then president of the Club, are still residents of Peterborough. Dr. Brennan is practising in South Africa; Hal Dumble, a son of the local Police Magistrate, is a druggist in the West; F. D. MacKay is general manager of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company; C. H. Allison is secretary of a railway with headquarters at Chicago; Jas. Turnbull is with the Gordon McKay Company, Toronto; Jas. Graham, who is a brother of Mr. G. N. Graham, of the Oriental Hotel, is a hotel proprietor in Hastings; and, lastly, Sid. Malcomshire is a banker in Goderich, Ont. Other members not in the picture were Rev. E. A. Pearson, now pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, and Mr. Sam Ray, the local tobacconist, both of whom were prominent players. Rev. Mr. Pearson was an expert second baseman.

HOAGLAND BEATING HIS OWN MARK WITH HARRISON STILL FOURTH

Champion Covers Sixty Miles Three Laps in Nine Hours and is Two Miles Ahead of His Best Previous Record ---Slater Has Dropped Out of the Race---Harrison's Fine Showing.

Milwaukee, May 15.—Willard Hoagland still continues to increase his lead over the rest of the field in the seven-night walking match at Schlitz park. At the end of the ninth hour last night the world's champion had covered 60 miles 3 laps. Brown is still in second place with a distance of 59 miles and 14 laps to his credit.

Corey, the Frenchman, who is putting up a great race, was slightly off form Wednesday night and covered but 59 miles and 1 lap. Harrison is beginning to give an account of himself by crawling up gradually and at the end of last night's walking he had covered 57 miles 16 laps. Slater and Van Tassel have dropped out of the race.

Hoagland is nof 2¾ miles ahead of his best previous revord for a similar event. The attendance last night was large and a great deal of interest is being shown in the affair. The standings follow:

INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE KING'S PLATE.

Some Information of the Oldest Continually Run Race on This Continent, Republished From Outdoor Canada and Written by Mr. H. J. P. Good, Editor of the Canadian Sportsman.

This is the fiftieth year, and consequently the jubilee, of the running for the King's Plate, the oldest racing fixture on the American continent. When, the year of the visit to Canada of the Prince of Wales, and now His Majesty King Edward VII., the most highly esteemed monarch that ever sat on the English or any other throne, the Plate was first run for, there was no thought of Canada supplying horses for the army. It was on the one hand, out of a pure desire to show good-will for the people of this country, and on the other to encourage a great industry, that Her Majesty's guineas were given. Little then did anybody imagine that the event would come to such proportions in value as well as in glory that it has now reached.

It is to the credit of the Ontario Jockey Club that the race has been taken out of the ruck of an ordinary fixture and placed comparatively to as high a pinnacle as any race in the world, not omitting the great Epsom Derby itself. It is true that the hypercritical, and the almost moribund maintain that the horses of to-day are no improvement on those of the past. They declare that the speed, stamina and weight-carrying ability of the latter-day horses are in no way superior to those of forty and fifty years ago. In those days it was the fashion to run four mile heats, and it was thought that the horse that could stay the longest was a paragon. He was not then required to race day in and day out, as some animals do to-day, but after a long race he was given a long interval in which to rest and recuperate. Any man who knows anything of the human creation will recognize that continual sprints are harder on the constitution, and the make-up, than a long distance race that is run to suit the occasion. As a consequent result the Queen's or King's Plate, as it has now become, owing to the natural evolution of things human, has been run at various distances, even so report has it at two mile heats, certainly at mile heats, then at a mile and a half until the prevailing distance of a mile and a quarter was adopted in 1887. And the last mentioned is surely far enough for Canadian bred maidens that have but few opportunities to work and train before the great race, with its thousands of dollars of attachment is decided.

It was in 1860 that Her Majesty's guineas were first run for. The scene was Carlton, afterwards Toronto Junction, and now the western section of the great City of Toronto. From that year to this, the race has been run annually. For a long time it was peripatetic, but, when the Ontario Jockey Club was formed, the late T. C. Patteson, seeing the virtue of the contest, appealed to the then Governor-General, Her late Majesty's son-in-law, now the Duke of Argyle, then the Marquis of Lorne, to have the race permanently located at Toronto, arguing that its settled location would better fulfil the objects aimed at than was the case by farming it out to different localities, where it was the stir of the moment, and not the creation of ultimate and definite benefit. His Excellency recognized the wisdom and logic of the argument, and consequently the Plate, or His Majesty's guineas, has or have been annually run for since Fanny Wiser's victory in London in 1882 over the same course, namely at Woodbine.

At that time it was the guineas alone that were contended for, and it was not until a year or two after the Ontario Jockey Club came into permanent possession that the Club added money out of its exchequer to the main prize. At first the added money was comparatively small, but as the years went by it increased until now the O. J. C. adds no less a sum than $4,000, and in addition gives a piece of plate to the owner of the winner. The first horse receives His Majesty's gift, namely 50 guineas, or in Canadian money $255, $2,750 added by the club, all the stakes of $5.00 payable at time of entry, $5.00 additional if not declared out by the 7th of May, and $25 more from starters, the race being worth last year to Mr. Seagram, whose horse Seismic won, no less a sum than $3,360. Of the $4,000 donated by the club, $700 goes to the second horse, $300 to third and $250 to the breeder of the winner, who, except on very rare occasions, is the owner of the victor. In 1907 the winner, for the first time in twenty years, was owned by other than the breeder, and probably no man on the course was more surprised than the same owner of Kelvin, to wit, Mr. T. Ambrose Woods, wine merchant, Toronto.

In 1859 Col. R. L. Denison was secretary of the Toronto Turf Club, and sent to Sir Edmund Head, the then Governor-General, a petition for a Queen's gift of fifty guineas as the stake for a race to be after the then illustrious sovereign. On July 18th of that year a reply came from the Secretary of State, representing the Queen, acceding to the request, the Plate to be run for at Toronto or at such place in Ontario at Her Majesty, through her designated authorities, might appoint.

The first race for the guineas was run on W. C. Keele's farm, in what subsequently became Toronto Junction, but that at that time had to be reached from the Grand Trunk Railway through a forest of trees and over fields. The winner was the big man in racing of those days, Mr. James White, of Bronte, with the Sir Tatton Sykes horse, ridden by Charlie Littlefield, father of Barrie Littlefield, now Mr. Seagram's astute and clever trainer. Immediately members of Parliament were besieged to secure the plum for their particular constituencies. For four years, however, the race was run at Carlton, but in 1864 Guelph became the favoured location.

In 1865 the race went to London, to Hamilton in 1866, to St. Catharines in 1867, to Little York, or the Newmarket race course, in 1868, to London again in 1869, to Whitby, then quite a racing centre, 1870; to Kingston in 1871, to Ottawa in 1872, to Barrie in 1873, to Hamilton for the second time in 1874, to Woodstock in 1875; to Woodbine, then a comparatively new course, in 1876, to Prescott, the home of one Dennis Higgins and the name-sake, one Wiser, of the last winner away from Toronto, in 1877; to London for the third time, in 1878; to Picton, in 1879; to Ottawa in 1880, when Bonny Bird won, a mare about whose identity some people entertain doubts even to this day; in 1881, for the second time, to Woodbine and to London in the following year, for the fourth time. That ended, as has been said, its wandering career, and the plate has been run for ever since under the auspices of the Ontario Jockey Club at the Woodbine. Year by year the event has grown in importance until to-day it is the prime feature, not alone of the opening day, but of the entire spring meeting of the 28-year old-Ontario Jockey Club.

To go into details of this now historic race would entail the occupation of far more space than this magazine can afford. Like unto the greatest of English races, each annually recurring contest is characterized by some event of more than ordinary note. A horse, for instance, that is regarded as an almost sure winner, like Mr. Dyment's horse, Comsown II., last year, goes to pieces at the last moment and casts all ante-post calculations to the wind, or something else occurs that at the time causes comment and adds to the interest of the race and the day, which is invariably honoured by the Governor-General, who, to give the necessary eclat, usually drives down in state, with postillions and outriders, escorted by gentlemen of the Toronto Hunt in scarlet, or by a bodyguard of Dragoons.

Up to the permanent settlement of the race at Toronto, it had been won four times by the late Mr. James White, of Bronte; twice by Mr. Tobin White, of Milton; and once each by George Henderson, Port Hope; Messrs. Chalmers, Hamilton; Dr. Morton, Bradford; Mr. Shepherd, Simcoe; A. McKellar, Chatham; Edward Bilton, London; Nelson Gates, Toronto; Robert Davies, Toronto; Alex. Simpson, Toronto; R. R. Pringle, Cobourg; Robt. Thompson, Hamilton; Chas. Horton, St. Thomas; Col. Peters, London; John Forbes, Woodstock; D. W. Campbell, Milton, and Mr. Abingdon (the late Col. J. H. Mead), Toronto. To its transference to Woodbine for good and all, it will be seen that the honours had gone round a bit, but after that, and a few succeeding years, during which horses owned by C. Boyle, Woodstock, John Halligan, Toronto; E. Burgess, Woodstock; D. W. Campbell, Woodstock, (for the second time); Robert Bond, Toronto; J. D. Matheson, Toronto; Duggan & M. Matheson, and T. D. Hodgins, London; a change came over the spirit of the dream, and for eight years right off the reel, animals owned by Mr. J. E. Seagram, now president of the O. J. C., carried off the race. This was from 1891 to 1898. In 1899 a leak occurred in the sequence, and Butter Scotch, a mare owned by the late Wm. Hendrie, Hamilton, who died president of the club, scored. In 1900, after the closest and best-fought out race for the plate took place, Mr. Seagram resumed his chain of victories, his Dalmoor, by Louis XIII., out of Lady Dabuery, namesake of the recently acquired bride of Lord Rosebery's eldest son, beating Mr. Hendrie's The Provost. In 1901, the last year of the running of the Queen's plate, Mr. Seagram was again to the fore with his good horse, John Ruskin. In 1902 Mr. Hendrie returned with the mare Lyddite. In 1903 and 1904 the late Nathaniel Dyment, of Barrie, carried off the main part of the prize with Thessalon and Sapper. In 1905 and 1906, Mr. Seagram again landed, his representatives being that king of province-breds, the truly great Inferno, son of Havoc (son of Himyar) and Bon Ino, winner herself seven years previously, and Slaughter, another Havoc, and the well-named son of Martyrdom. In 1907 an outsider landed, the aforementioned Kelvin, a Hendrie cast-off, purchased for $90 ninety dollars) by T. Ambrose Woods, who, by the victory, pocketed upwards of $3,500, and in 1908 Mr. Seagram scored his thirteenth victory with Seismic, yet another Havoc and half brother to Assemblyman, that in the previous year had for some time figured as favourite. When the lists closed this year on March 1st, there were 34 eligibles. How many will go to the post deponent saye he not, but the prospects favour a rattling good race.

It is true that the run for His Majesty's guineas and the O. J. C. dollars, does not bring together the best horses gathered at the course, and that bookmakers and some visitors are inclined to sneer at the event, but to loyal Canadians it represents a great deal more than an ordinary race. It represents pride of country, pride of empire, and loyalty to the throne.

PARISIANS WITNESS REMARKABLE FIRE

Million Dollar Blaze in Big Oil Depot at St. Ouen.

FIERCE HEAT; DENSE SMOKE

Paris, May 15th.—Parisians recentil witnessed the unwonted spectacle of a huge oil fire. A spark from an engine set alight the oil depot of the Northern Railway Company at St. Ouen, and for hours the flames raged, causing damage to the extent of £200,000. So fierce were the flames that telegraph wires were melted and sleepers caught fire in the tracks. One man was electrocuted through stepping on a live wire, and four others were injured.

Those Parisians who cast a glance towards the north might have fancied themselves at Baku, on the Caspian, whilst one of the big petroleum wells was on fire. The phenomenon was due to the reserve store of liquid fuel for the Northern Railway Company, situated just outside the walls of Paris near St. Ouen, having taken fire. The prospect of seeing such an unwonted spectacle tempted many thousands of Parisians to take a tram-car or train towards the scene, and very soon the crowd which was watching the battle between the firemen and the flames, numbered a hundred thousand.

The fire, which was caused by a spark from a locomotive, began at ten o'clock. For some time it was thought that the storeyard staff would be able to put it out, but at tweny minutes past ten the fire brigade was called. The brigade from the neighbouring suburbs were the first to appear, but these were soon followed by detachments of the Paris fire brigade, with M. Lepine, the Prefect of Police, wearing a fireman's uniform, at their head. About the same time two regiments of infantry arrived from Paris, and whilst, the steam fire engines were pouring torrents of water on to the centre of the flames, a wide ring was cleared all round the yard.

About thirty thousand square yards were isolated, and the cordon of soldiers holding back the crowd was about two miles long. To the west, on account of the intense heat of the flames, which were driven by the steady breeze from the east, few could venture within three hundred yards of the fire. At half the distance the temperature was more than 15 degrees Fahrenheit.

The fire, already imposing on account of the size of the flames and the volume of black smoke, became even more awful towards twelve o'clock on account of the frequent explosions of fifty-gallon carboys of bensine and spirits. It was soon realised that nothing could be done to save even a part of the store of oil, so M. Lepine ordered the firemen to give every effort towards the isolation of the flames.

FAMOUS ASTRONOMER ON SIGNALLING MARS

Camille Flammarion Thinks It May Be Done Some Day ---Professor Pickering's Suggestion.

Paris, May 15.—M. Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, in an interview regarding the plan of Professor Pickering, of Harvard, to signal to Mars, said that it was quite within the bounds of possibility that in some future era the earth might succeed in establishing communication.

"Every condition," he said, "points to the probability of Mars being inhabited, but the epoch in which the inhabitants of Mars might be able successfully to communicate with the eath has not yet come for us, though it has perhaps long gone by for the Martians.

"All our studies agree in representing Mars as much older than the earth. Whatever the form of Martian humanity, these brothers of ours in the heavens are probably infinitely superior intellectually to us, who have not yet learned to conduct our own affairs and who spend three-quarters of our total resources in maintaining armed men.

"If the Martians ever had any idea of communicating with the earth it was probably millions of years ago in the mammoth and cave period of the earth's existence. Never having found any reply the Maritians probably concluded either that the earth was uninhabited or that its people were engaged in a much grosser occupation than the study of the universe."

Prof. Pickering says that in July Mars will be 5,000,000 miles nearer the earth than ever before. Professor Pickering's plan is to establish a series of mirrors occupying an area of a quarter of a mile, which will be attached to one great axis parallel with that of the earth, and will be run by motors timed to make complete revolutions every twenty-four hours.

"The light thus reflected," he says, "would easily be discernible by the aid of telescopes by the Martians. We should begin a series of flashes, cutting off the sun's rays for an instant, and then throwing them on the mirrors again, repeating this at irregular intervals according to the telegraphic code of dots and dashes. This ought at once to attract the attention of the Martians, who will give an answering signal. Once such a signal is received it will be a comparatively easy matter to establish a code and transmit messages."

Professor Pickering is ready to furnish such a code, and says he is confident that if this proposed plan could be adopted, we on earth should be able eventually to converse with the Martians.

ROBBERS IN THE VATICAN.

Rome, May 15.—The Pontifical police arrested three armed men whom they discovered in the Vatican gardens under suspicious circumstances.

In order to raise the alarm and summon assistance, the gendarmes fired their rifles, the noise of the shooting greatly alarming the Pope, who was in his study at the time. Finding escape impossible, the three men threw themselves at the feet of the captain of the gendarmes, imploring pardon and confessing that their intention was to force open and rob the Vatican treasure chest. The men were handed over to the Rome police.

FRENCH SCHOOL BOYS ON STRIKE

A Tiny Commune Half a Dozen Miles From Valenciennes.

MASTER NOW TOO OLD.

Paris, May 15th.—To the number of original strikes which have taken place in France recently must be added that of the schoolboys at Sepmeries, a tiny commune about half a dozen miles from Valenciennes.

Their grievance is that the school master, M. Bailly, is too old—at fifty odd—to teach gymnastics and games. They asked for a younger master, and their request being unheeded, a strike was determined upon.

On Monday morning, therefore, two or of three boys stationed themselves outside the school and informed each of their comrades as they arrived at school that there was a strike. Their picketing was quite successful and the strike unanimous.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S INTEREST IN SICK GIRL

How She Helped Poor Patient to Get Hospital Aid.

London, May 15th.—Presenting a subscriber's letter of recommendation from the Queen, a Kentish girl named Elsie Know has just been received in All Saint's Convalescent Hospital, Meads, Eastbourne.

The girl belongs to the Isle of Grain, in which parish Port Victoria is situated. A working man residing there, who knew of the interest the Queen had evinced in this isolated spot when waiting in the royal yacht to make the passage across the North Sea, wrote to her Majesty on behalf of Elsie Know. The girl's friends were too poor to send her to a convalescent home, and it seemed after her recent illness that th epatient would never regain her strength.

Her Majesty graciously sent the following reply from Buckingham Palace to her correspondent, through her private secretary, Miss Knollys:

"The Queen has the pleasure to enclose a letter for All Saints' Convalescent Hospital for Elsie Know, and £1 to defray the poor girl's expenses to and from Eastbourne."

It is thought that the change of air, with suitable diet and treament will completely restore the girl to health.

TEN PEOPLE KILLED IN SPANISH RIOT

Objectionable Order of Bishop of Orense Was the Cause.

Madrid, May 15.—The irreconcilable Bishop of Orense, who ordered the demolition of the artistic baldachin over the altar of the famous church of the Monastery of Osern—which is considered the Escorial of Galicia—caused a violent collision between the people of that village and the gendarmerie.

The people of the commune fiercely resisted the removal of the baldachin, whereupon the bishop summoned the gendarmes to ensure order.

In the fighting that ensued ten persons were killed outright, while a large number were injured; and so menacing did the attitude of the populace become that the police were compelled to take refuge in the church and there barricade themselves.

The inhabitants from some twenty-five villages later assembled and advanced in a threatening mass for the purpose of avenging those peasants who had been killed.

Finallly, in response to urgent appeals for reinforcements, the Governor of the province sent in all haste additional gendarmes and troops in order to save the detachment cooped up in the church.

In the town of Orense the feeling of popular indignation is running very high, and the excitement is so great that the shops and theatres are closed.

A great public demonstration of protest against the action of the bishop was held.

NINETEEN WERE DROWNED.

London, May 15.—The British steamer Oxford was in collision a few days ago off Christiania with the Norwegian steamer Edith.

The latter sank immediately. One captain and sixteen men of the crew, the captain's wife, and one passenger, were drowned. The Oxford was bound from Christiania for Manchester with general cargo. Five of those on board the Edith were saved.

The Oxford is owned by Messrs Wilson, of Hull, and, according to a telegram received by the firm, all on board the vessel were saved. The Edith was chartered by the Wilson Line.

AIR TORPEDOES THE LATEST IN WARFARE

German Professor Working on One of the Flying Type---Krupps Giving Financial Aid.

Berlin, May 15th.—Messrs. Krupp, of Essen, have annouced that they will contribute £500 per annum towards the cost of experiments with an air torpedo now being carried out by Professor Weichert, of the Meterological Institute at Gottingen.

Professor Weichert has constructed a model of a flying torpedo which is capable of travelling 225 yards per second; another model of air torpedo, weighing approximately 80 lbs., has been constructed and has yielded successful results.

These air torpedos are driven by small electric motors. Apart from driving them at a high speed through the air, Professor Weichert is conducting a number of experiments for the purpose of ascertaining how they can be steered by electricity. In conducting these experiments he is guided by the system of steering submarine torpedoes by electric waves.

The extreme importance of these experiments from a military point of view is evident, and this aspect of the matter is emphasized by the subvention which Messrs. Krupp haev devoted to this purpose. Judging from the results already achieved, it appears probable that Germany will soon be in possession of air torpedoes which will be under the control of those who discharge them. An air torpedo of this character would be a deadly weapon of enormous destructive power.

Professor Weichert desires not only to apply his invention to the purpose of war, but also to scientific research, for he considers that flying machines of this type can be employed to ascertain the condition of the atmosphere at high altitudes. He is now experimenting with a flying machine of this kind which he can direct to a high altitude by an electric current, and then bring it back to the point from which it started.

NOVELIST AND POET IN LIVELY DUEL

Determined Encounter in Parc Aux Princes, Near Paris.

COMBATANT SEVERELY HURT

Paris, May 15th.—A determined duel with swords was fought between two well-known men of letters at the Parc aux Princes, just outside Paris. The combatants were MM. Charles Henri Hirsch, the novelist and dramatic critic, and F. T. Marinetti, the Franco-Italian poet and playwright. Their desperate fight was the result of an altercation during a performance of M. Marinetti's play "Le Roi Bombance."

In the first encounter, M. Marinetti was pricked in the right wrist, but the blade did not penetrate deeply. The next nine bouts were of an exciting and desperate character, each combatant making furious attempts to place the other hors de combat. The swords flashed dazalingly in the sunshine, and the two men, as they gained or gave ground, looked for all the world like fighting cocks.

In the tenth encounter there was an exciting moment when M. Hirsch's sword snapped. The seconds threw up M. Marinetti's sword just in time. In the eleventh encounter M. Hirsch was wounded in the right forearm, the cut being three-quarters of an inch deep.

The seconds called a halt, but M. Hirsch insisted on the duel proceeding. The wound, was therefore, bound up, and the fight continued.

After the twelfth encounter it became obvious that M. Hirsch owing to the stiffness of his wounded arm was unable properly to use his sword. In view of his manifest inferiority the seconds insisted that the duel should cease.

M. Hirch's wound is of a rather serious character.

M. Marinetti, who edits the Milan review Poesia, is the founder of a movement known as "futurism." He preaches a philosophy of energy and the violent life, urges the destruction of museums and the breaking of all bonds with the past, and exalts the splendour of unbridled passion and power.

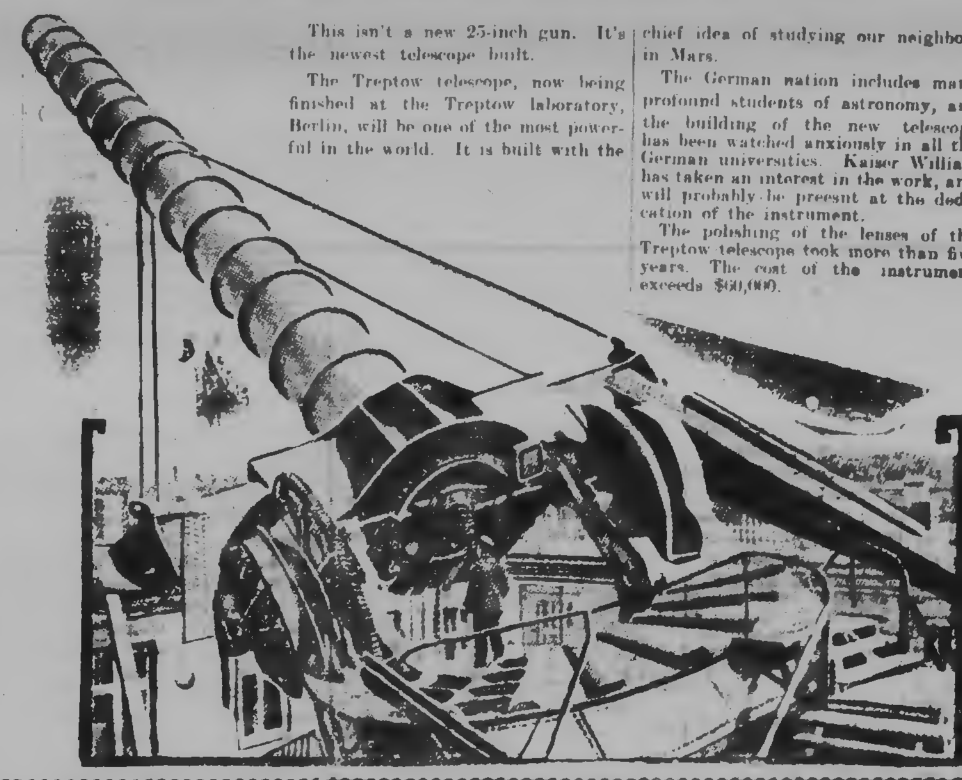
WELL MARS, HERE'S LOOKING AT YOU?



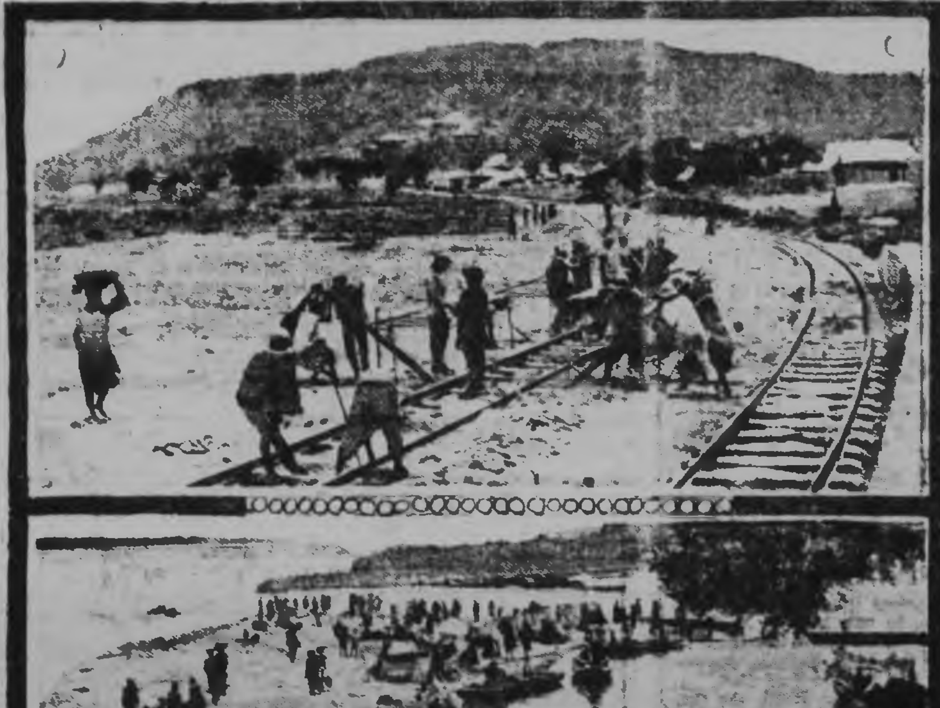
This isn't a new 25-inch gun. It's the newest telescope built.

The Treptow telescope, now being finished at the Treptow laboratory, Berlin, will be one of the most powerful in the world. It is built with the chief idea of studying our neighbors in Mars.

The German nation includes many profound students of astronomy, and the building of the new telescope has been watched anxiously in all the German universities. Kaiser William has taken an interest in the work, and will probably be preesnt at the dedication of the instrument.

The polishing of the lenses of the Treptow telescope took more than five years. The cost of the instrument exceeds $60,000.

OPENING UP A 400-MILE RAILWAY IN DARKEST AFRICA.



PHOTOGRAPHS FROM FAR AFRICA, SHOWING WORK IN $15,000-A-MILE NIGERIA RAILROAD.

A railroad through what was only a half a dozen years ago the darkest part of darkest Africa! The English governors of Nigeria, which is in West Africa, are building it with government money, and spending $15,000 a mile to make it a [illegible] substantial railway.

The railroad which will be 400 miles long, or about the distance between Montreal and London, Ont., will run between Baro, the head of the [illegible] water navigation on the Niger river, to Kano. It is hoped that the line will be the beginning of a great agricultural prosperity for the country and also a safeguard against a rebellion and possible disaster from the enormous Mahommedan and pagan tribes. The nature of the country is [illegible], the exports [illegible] ground nuts, shea butter, mats and skins. [illegible] have been found in the Bauchi [illegible] in the north and a [illegible] some point on the Baro-Kano line to them.

Lower picture shows a fishing village near Baro on the Niger river at very low water. The natives are carrying sand for cement work on the mainland. The top picture shows the natives engaged in building road bed and laying tracks.

PRINCESS ROBBED OF $160,000

Berne, May 15.—A German princess traveling on the Riviera-Lugano Railway, has been robbed of a traveling bag containing money and jewellery to the value of [illegible] francs ($32,000).

Valuable family and diplomatic documents were also in the bag. A reward of 80,000 francs (£1,200) has been offered.

GERMANY'S WAY OF TREATING HER AMERICANIZED SONS

Theatrical Man and Playwright is Arrested on His Return to Fatherland With Company of Players.

Berlin, May 15th.—Renewed attention has been called to Germany's way of expelling American citizens of German birth, who left their native land before performing military duty, by the service of such a notice on Mr. Gustav Kerker, of New York, the composer whose "Belle of New York" captured London ten years ago.

Mr. Kerker came to Germany after an absence of thirty years to superintend the performance of his new musical play, "The Upper Ten Thousand," at the Metropol Theatre at Berlin with Miss Madge Lessing and Mr. Fred Wright in the leading roles. The police gave Mr. Kerker the customary thirty days in which to depart, but through intervention of the American Embassy the enforcement of the order has been stayed.

Such cases are coming to light almost every week. Indeed, American diplomacy in Germany has little else to do than beg clemency for German-Americans who have came here to visit, live or enter business, only suddenly to be informed that the records of 1868 or 1879 have been looked into and reveal non-service with colors. It seems to be Germany's favourite mode of revenge against the millions of "renegades" who desert their Fatherland in order to develop America. America and Germany have a treaty granting this country clear rights of finding, imprisoning or expelling army deserters, and it is only frequently that American intervention saves the victim from one or other of these punishments.

"Zou-Zou, The Lucky Dog"
This is a very pretty drama, showing the kindness shown to a dog by a little boy, and how he inherited a rich man's estate by it.

"A Fighting Chance"
A splendid dramatic picture of home life in the mountainous regions of the Great West, showing how Ranchers and Cowboys settle with wrong-doers, and the good part that a woman plays in the story.

"The Milk Maid's Lovers"
An exceedingly funny picture of how the lovely milk maid hides her different lovers, and the results.

AN OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Death of Mr. Stewart Wright, Hunter Street East, Early This Morning—Had Been Ill a Long While.

The death occurred shortly after twelve o'clock this morning of one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of East City, in the person of Mr. Stewart Wright, who passed away at his residence, 103 Hunter St., East. Mr. Wright had been in failing health for some time gradually growing worse until the end came. He was in his seventy-fourth year and was born in Quebec, but for nearly fifty years he had been a resident of East City. He was well known and highly respected. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a faithful attendant of St. Andrew's Church., He was a member of the board of trustees of St. Andrew's and before taken ill took an active interest in its welfare.

Two sons, Rev. J. J. Wright, of Elk City, and Mr. Jas. Wright, of Montreal, and one daughter. Miss E. Wright, are left to mourn his loss. His wife predeceased him some years ago.

No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Wright this evening from Montreal.

NEW PIANO WAGGON FOR CITY MUSIC CO.

A handsome new delivery outfit for the City Music Co. was seen on the streets for the first time on Saturday. The new waggon was specially built for the delivery of pianos and organs, by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Co., carriage builders of this city, and is a credit to their skill and handiwork. It has the patented, low-down, short-turn Syracuse gear, so well adopted for the purpose of piano delivery. A smart bay team of horses, suitably harnessed, gave additional style to the new turn-out. It is a pleasure to note the substantial progress of the City Music Co., under the management of Mr. Ruse.

EXPLODED A CARTRIDGE IN A CHURCH AT HULL

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

Ottawa, Ont., May 17.—Adelarde Blondin, aged fifteen, touched a match to a dynamite cartridge yesterday morning, when in the Church of the Redemption, at Hull, and while three hundred children were worshipping there and the mass was being sung. His foolishness resulted in his hand and arm being badly mangled and in causing a panic among the children and other worshippers. Had it not been for the presence of mind and prompt words of caution of the priests and teachers there might have been most serious results. Probably the boy did not realize the terrible risks he ran, for he was seated in the church, listening to the mass being sung when he set fire to the dynamite cartridge. Rev. Father Carriers is investigating, and there may be a prosecution. Many of the children hearing the loud report from the cartridge wanted to run out of the sacred edifice and were restrained only with utmost difficulty.

TURKISH TROOPS HAVE RELIEVED THE DEFENDERS

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

London, May 17.—Turkish troops from Constantinople have at last relieved the Armenian defenders of Hadjin, according to a delayed message that reached here to-day. The message pays the highest tribute to the bravery and loyalty of the Armenians, who are credited not only with saving the American Mission from the ravages of the Moslem mobs, but also will practically protect the entire town. The mobs looted all the surrounding country, but Hadjin escaped with comparatively small loss.

The Lift Lock Now Arrayed In Garments Of The Prettiest

The Peterborough Lift Lock at all times of the year, one of the city's most important show places, is now at its best. At close and distant range it presents one of the most beautiful sights that can be found in this district. The hand of man has united with nature in a combination that even the most inartistic eye must appreciate. Looking northward from the C. P. R. tracks, or standing on the Lift Lock's highest piont or on the Norwood road bridge, the effect is pleasing in the extreme.

Nature has done her best in providing a lovely background or setting of green against which the grey massiveness of the huge structure, which has been visited by thousands, stands out in marked prominence and the conventional colours of white and black, with a glimpse of the dull red interior painting of the pontoons, combine a scene which will not be readily forgotten. The even sloping of the sward as it stretches from the lowest to the highest level at the Lift Lock, is another strikingly beautiful effect and those who have already paid it a visit this Spring are more delighted than ever with the beauty of the scene.

The painting work was completed on Saturday night. Every Spring this is done and not only are the premises kept in good repair, but the department is desirous of appropriately maintaining the waterway as far as possible in good order and pleasing to the eye.

DOG APPARENTLY GOES MAD AND CAUSES EXCITEMENT

A collie pup belonging to Mr. John Blackburn, 514 College street, went suddenly mad yesterday morning and was the cause of a large amount of excitement in the neighbourhood. The canine had been sick for a week, and yesterday morning was seized with a violent attack of something that looked like rabies. At any event the animal commenced running around in circles and people in the neighbourhood kept out of his way, while the dogs also kept under cover. Finally his owner and several other men got after the dog and chased him with sticks until he fell dead on Mr. Fiske's lawn on Water street.

Lindsay Man Receives The Carnegie Medal For Bravery

For saving little Victor Henry, aged ten, from death by drowning, William Raymond, aged thirty-eight, a teamster living at Lindsay, Ont., was presented with Andrew Carnegie's bronze medal and $300.00, to liquidate the mortgage on his property. Raymond, although just having recovered from a long siege of pleurisy, went out on weak ice on Scugog River to Henry's assistance, and after breaking through swam 35 feet to where Henry was in the water. Swimming back to the edge of the ice with him, they were assisted to firm ice by others, who extended a board to them.

Investigates Cases Of Baggage Stolen At The Grand Trunk

Mr. W. J. Cockburn, Inspector of the General Baggage Department for the Grand Trunk Railway system is in the city to-day, renewing acquaintances with the Peterborough policemen. He is well known to them, having visited here on numerous occasions. Previous to assuming his present position he was for eighteen years employed in the detective service of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Cockburn's work takes him over the entire route of the G.T.R. from Portland, Maine to Chicago, Ill. It is his duty to investigate cases of stolen baggage. He is in the city on business but did not care to state of what particular nature it was. He will return to Toronto to-morrow morning.

SPECIAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

Will Discuss the Purity Ware Limited on Saturday Night.

The Board of Trade will hold a special meeting to-morrow night in the City Council Chambers, at which the proposition to assist Purity Ware, Limited, will be discussed by a number of speakers, who thoroughly understand the proposal, and who will be able to speak with authority on the subject. There will no doubt be a large attendance of members, as well as a good representation of the general public. The matter for discussion is very important as the by-law will be voted on June 1st. The reduction in the freight rates on coal will also be taken up.

HANG OUT THE FLAG

Victoria Day, May 24th, will be a day of high festival. The city will be en fete in honour of the day and in honour of our visiting cousins from Brantford and St. Catharines. Though coming to spend a day or two with us in a spirit ofopen-hearted cameraderie, the visitors will in reality be with us as spies. They come from two of the prettiest and most sprightly cities in the Dominion. They have heard a good deal about Peterborough as being well up in their class and they will regard us and our city with wide open eyes and make comparisons—mental while here—vocable when they get home. We should be prepared for the inevitable scrutiny to which we shall be subjected. We should unite to make the fairest show possible. While we may not practice elaborate and expensive decoration, every citizen, especially in the business section should hang out his flag upon the outer wall. Every banner available should be spread to the breeze. If every citizen does his share the result will be all that can be desired. Let us have the city decorated on May Twenty-fourth, in a way worthy of the day, worthy of our visitors and worthy of ourselves. Think of it in time; make preparations in time.

Whose flag has braved a thousand years,
The battle and the breeze.—Campbell.

A PREMIUM UPON MISREPRESENTATION

A trenchant arraignment of protective tariffs as possible, and not only as possible, but as commonly-employed levers used by combines to throttle industry, and realize extravagant profits by extorting inordinate prices from home consumers, appears this week in "The Farmer's Advocate," as the third of a very instructive series contributed by E. C. Drury, Master of the Dominion Grange. Mr. Drury, The Advocate says, buttresses his cogent reasoning with examples calculated to dissociate sentiment from logic in the handling of the tariff question. He states, for instance, that the Canadian cotton manufacturers, while pleading inadequate protection as a reason why they could not employ more hands or pay more wages, were yet able to pay dividends amounting to fifty per cent. of the cost of the common stock, seven per cent on preferred stock, and six per cent. on bonds, besides a large amount for repairs and betterments.

As to the alleged necessity for protection in various lines, Mr Drury touches a very important point where he says, "Excessive profits are hid from the public eye under the mask of over-capitalization." Thus, a capitalist, reaping an annual dividend of, say, four per cent. on stock held, may be actually realizing eight or ten dollars for every hundred dollars he ever put into his business.

When the farmer's business does not pay, he has to find means to make it pay, or quit. When a manufacturer in a protected country is not making so fat a dividend as he would like, he puts on a poor mouth, and runs to the Finance Minister for help—that is, for protection—and if his complaint is loud enough, if he can secure the support of a section of the newspaper press, if he can maintain a sufficiently effective Parliamentary lobby, and if the Government is sufficiently complacent he stands a good chance of getting what he asks, which in its working out, has the effect of enabling him to assess still higher prices on farmers and other purchasers.

It is not the least of the numerous evils of protection that it relieves industrial imprudence and mismanagement of its normal penalties, detracts from the protected parties independence, and places a premium upon misrepresentation, deceit, corruption and casuistry.

When will Peterborough newspapers be able to print an injunction like this from the Ottawa Free Press:

> This afternoon is a good time to clear up your back yard. Get busy; and then notify the City Engineer to remove the results of your work.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Great Britain's drink bill last year was 3,000 million dollars.

Christianity is its own greatest menace. The peace of the world is not threatened by barbarous nations. It is only the most highly civilized and therfore more Christianized nations that are armed to the teeth.

A BUNGLE

The Conservative Oposition badly bungled the attack on Hon. Mr. Pugsley. It had a weak case and made it weaker by weakly handling. Even the conservative press sees this. The following reference to the bungle is from the Conservative Montreal Star:

> "It is characteristic of the way in which the Oposition does things that its spokesman in the arraignment of Mr. Pugsley was rather unwilling or unable to discuss the case he was presnting from the standpoint of the evidence. He would go no deeper than the report of the commission. Now there is a perfectly good case for the demand that Mr. Pugsley should either meet the report or resign his portfolio; but it would have been a much stronger case for appeal to the court of the people— who constitute the court really appealed to in this instance — if Mr. Crothers had been unable to supþart the findings of the commission by extracts from the evidence. At all events he should not have been practically dumb, when Mr. Pugsley challenged him to show basis in the evidence for the statements in the report."

OUR NATIONAL DEBT.

The "Investor" in Toronto Saturday Night, has the following interesting reference to the increase of Canada's public debt—inevitable in a growing country with numerous national needs to be provided:

> It may be interesting to know that while the public debt of Canada is strictly increasing, the rate of interest is decreasing. At Confederation, forty-two years ago, the Dominion paid an average rate of 5.55 per cent on $67,069,115 which London had advanced. The interest on this which had to be remitted, either in the sale of produce or in gold, amounted to $3,700,000 yearly. After the lapse of ten years, or in 1877, the debt of the country to London had increased to $122,477,629, but the average interest rate had been scaled down to 4.74 per cent. In the next ten years the Federal debt of Canada had reached $171,075,735, while the average rate of interest had fallen to 3.99 per cent. This entailed the sending abroad of $7,000,000 for the payment of interest on the debt. In the next decade, ending in 1897, Canada's obligations to London had increased to $218,225,503, necessitating an annual interest of $8,125,664, but the average rate of interest had fallen to 3.72 per cent. According to the return for the past fiscal year our debt to London had swollen to $262,000,000, on which the interest charge will be about $9,300,000, an increase of $195,000,000, and while the total annual cost to the government had expanded from $3,700,000 to $9,300,000 annually, the average rate at which the borrowings had been made were reduced from 5.55 per cent, to 3½ per cent.
> While, perhaps to some, the national debt may seem appalling, it is after all a trifling matter. The debt of many railway corporations have increased to a greater extent within the past decade, while the increased resources of such companies are not to be compared with the enormous riches the development of our country is bringing about. Yet the annual cost to Canada of this inestimable increase in our national resources since Confederation is only a matter of $5,000,000."

There is much force in the remark, that the growth of our debt is a comparatively trifling matter. It is more of an investment than an oppressive obligation. It is doubtless an obligation in a technical and financial sense. It is also a necessity and an exceedingly paying investment. The immense amounts we bestowed upon the Canadian Pacific Railway, accounting for no small addition to our public debt, and approximating a hundred million dollars, is almost doubly repaid by the value of one year's grain crop in the West. This crop has been made possible by the settlement and transportation provided by the railway, not to speak of the great accompanying volume of general comercial traffic developed.

The Montreal Gazette has a ponderous criticism of the Dominion style of book-keeping, insinuating that it is misleading and combatting Hon. Mr Fielding's claim to a surplus. It says there is no surplus, but a serious deficit. It is a simple matter of book-keeping and there is no concealment. Taking the year's income and outlay there is a surplus but if we include the addition, by way of loan to the public debt on capital account, that is for permanent improvements, and treat them as an element in balancing accounts, there would be a large deficit, or a large disparity between receipts and expenditure. The people are plainly told the exact condition of affairs, and are satisfied with it. The present system of accounting has been pursued since Confederation and it seems to be only after forty years that the Conservative journals and critics have discovered defects in it. If a farmer's annual crop value exceeds his annual expenses by $100, he has a surplus of that amount on current account. If he has a greater excess of income, sufficient to erect new buildings, and make improvements without incurring debt, he is fortunate or a good manager, but if, owing to poor crops, and the necessity for large outlay, he has to place a mortgage on his farm, and still makes enough off his farm to pay interest and provide for the repayment of the principal, and have some money left at the end of the year, after paying living expenses, he can reasonably be regarded as having a surplus. Dring the Liberal Government's twelve years in office, it made expenditures on capital account—in permanent improvements—and paid for them out of current income, to the extent of 200 millions of dollars, the addition to the public debt being only trifling. But the necessity of vastly increased expenditure on the national transcontinental railway, made it necessary to borrow money and on this account some 46 millions of a debt had to be incurred. Or, rather, an investment of that amount has been made, and if it pays as well as the advances made to the Canadian Pacific have done, it is an excellent investment.

The value of the grain crop of Alberta, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan in 1908, was 160 millions of dollars.

TEMPERS COPPER.

Through mistaking another compound for borax, while working at his trade as a jeweller, David Lamon of Denver, has suddenly found himself in possession of the much sought after method of hardening copper. This powder instead of softening the metal, as borax does, instantly changed the heated copper into such a degree of firmness that manipulation was impossible. Quick to take the advantage that fortune had so unexpectedly thrust upon him, the jeweller at once made a critical analysis of the compound, determined the ingredients and finally protected his wonderful secret by a patent.

The art that was old when the pyramds were buliding, and which crumbled into dust with its discoverers, to remain a mystery and a hopeless secret for centuries, has again been given the world by the fortunate blunder of an unsuspecting jeweller.

Heretofore the combined efforts of earnest scientists to treat and harden this metal, have either been in merely glazing the surface, or by addition of certain substances while in a molten state. Neither of these processes has really accomplished all that could be desired, nor has the treatment been put into practical use.

Contrary to these methods, the Lamon process not only hardens the copper, but tempers it as well. It is neither treated in the molten state, nor glazed, but the finished product, in any and all shapes, is given a complete and lasting physical change. The tensile strength is increased and the life of the metal strengthened more than treble.—From "Lost Art of Tempering Copper Re-discovered," in June Technical World Magazine.

SUN POWER CAPTURED.

To catch the light of the sun, bottle it and have it on tap, to be turned on at will in dark places, is the latest feat of the American inventive genius. Indeed the new machine does more than store the sun's rays for it derives from them a form of energy which may be transformed into heat or power as well as light. Thus becomes true a dream of the ages past, a dream that would seem to be as utopian as any magic feat of the genii of Arabian tales.

Now appears before the startled scientific world the invention of a Massachusetts man, George H. Cove, which proceeds along entirely new lines and lays a simple but cunning and effective trap for the electrical energy which the sun generates in enormous quantities and sends along his beams earthward.

What might be called the primary cell of the "solar electric generator," as the inventor names it, is a three inch long rod or plug of metallic composition, an alloy of several common metals, on one end of which the sun shines in a glass-enclosed space the other end being in the shadow, in cool free air. This rod is part of a circuit wired in the ordinary way to any good storage battery. While the sun thus shines upon one end of this rod the difference in temperature between that and the other end and also the difference in other conditions caused by the direct rays in one case and their absence in the other, a diffeernce not wholly understood by the inventor at present but now being experimented upon, sets up an electrical action which is passed along to the storage battery and there held in reserve to be turned on as light, heat or power as desired. The amount of energy trapped and thus stored by one rod in a day is of course small, but it is a simple matter to hitch up any number of these rods in batteries and thus make their individual work cumulative. A thousand rods may be placed side by side in the space of an ordinary window-sash five feet square, and the electric force thus generated is a thing to be reckoned with.—From "Power from Sunlight" in June Technical World Magazine.

A concert given by first-clas talent under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral will be held in St. Peter's School, Monday, May 17th. FINE YEARLING PERCHERON COLT

Was Weighed on the Market on Saturday.

Considerable interest was centered in a Percheron colt one-year-old to the day, which was seen on the market on Saturday last. It was owned by a farmer named Roberts, who resides upon the Dickson Co. farm, in Otonabee. The colt weighed exactly 1,110 pounds, and was one of the finest seen around here in many days. It was sired by "Petrol," owned by Mr. J. Brown, and certainly came in for considerable criticism of a favourable nature on the part of the farmers who saw it.

OBITUARY

MRS. R. J. MUNRO.

The death occurred early yesterday morning of Mrs. R. J. Munro, at the Munro House, after having been a patient sufferer from nervousness for the past ten years. The deceased was in her forty-seventh year. She was the daughter of the late Samuel McKeown, of Cobourg. She was married twenty-seven years ago to her now-surviving husband. Previous to coming to Peterborough, eight years ago, the family resided in Lakefield. The late Mrs. Munro was a woman of many estimable qualities, and was highly respected by all who knew her. She was a faithful member of the Anglican church, and when health permitted her, attended St. John's church.

Her husband and one daughter, Miss Irene, and one son, Harold, are left to mourn her loss. One sister, Miss Sarah McKeown, who had resided with Mrs. Munro for some years, also survives her.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock, from the Munro House to Hillside cemetery, Lakefield, where interment will take place.

THE HOUSE NEARLY THROUGH WORK

House Almost Finishes Amendments to Insurance Bill.

LABOR MINISTRY MEASURE

W. L. M. King's Portfolio Is Arranged For by Sir Wilfrid—Clauses to the Number of 192 in Insurance Bill Are Put Through Committee and the Proposed Act Is Reported—Loan Authorized.

Ottawa, May 17.—Considerable speed was made in the Commons with the insurance bill on Saturday and in committee all of the 192 clauses, except that relating to the 15 per cent. tax, were passed. This contentious matter will be taken up to-day.

During the day Mr. Fielding announced the Government's intentions to create a sinking fund. R. L. Borden opposed the appointment of a Minister of Labor as unnecessary. Hon. Mr. Aylesworth said that the Government had received certain representations from British Columbia as to race track gambling.

Prior to taking up the insurance bill Mr. Fielding introduced a resolution declaring it expedient that in the case of insurance on property in Canada, effected in any unlicensed company, the person effecting such shall pay to the Minister of Finance for the consolidated revenue fund a sum total of 16 per cent. of the total net cost of the insurance so effected.

Mr. Fielding said the resolution would guage the temper of the House. Upon the clause on which was based the resolution there was much difference of opinion, but he did not regret the matter as vital and would accept the judgment of the House.

He pointed out that the object of the Canadian law was that when licensed companies comply with the law unlicensed companies should not be allowed to do business without restriction. However, the machinery for this was defective and it was evaded by entering into contracts outside the company.

The clause was designed to raise the question. In its original form, parties who came into Canada to inspect risks would be considered as doing insurance. Property owners, however, had resisted this proposal on the ground that they would be at the mercy of the insurance combine. A compromise was effected and the plan of proposing a reasonable tax was proposed.

Mr. Fielding said that the New England mutuals, and individual underwriters did much business in Canada. The former, by sprinklers, and other forms of protection, greatly reduced risks and by a system of rebates greatly reduced the cost of insurance.

The tax, he said, would be not on the nominal, but the net rate. One manufacturer feared that his premiums would thereby be increased from $400 to $900. It would only be increased to $460.

Mr. Haggart doubted if Parliament had the power to impose such a tax, and this doubt was expressed by several of the speakers.

Speedy progress was then made with the bill in committee, and by 3:30 in the afternoon all of the 192 clauses had carried except that relating to the tax. The bill was accordingly reported.

The Commons then went into committee on Hon. Mr. Fielding's resolution to authorize the Government to float a loan amounting to $50,000,000. The Minister of Finance said that obligations were maturing and they requested funds to meet these. To meet the 1885 loan of six and a half million pounds, $20,874,000 was requested, $17,750,000 for the 1885 four per cent. loan, and $11,277,330 for temporary loans, altogether about $50,000,000.

Mr Fielding added that it was the intention of the Government to establish a sinking fund.

The bill was allowed to stand for third reading, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved the second reading of the bill to create a fully organized Department of Labor with a responsible Minister in charge. He considered that the present Department of Labor, which was created nine years ago, had proved an eminently successful experiment in creating the better relations between the wage-earners and the wage-payers.

In committee on the bill, Mr Borden said he could not understand the necessity of having seventeen Ministers. In the United States, with a population of 90,000,000, they had only nine Cabinet Ministers. This Government had already added two Ministers to the Cabinet since it came into power.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the system here was really different from that of the United States, where responsibility for legislation rested with the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The amendment to the Exchequer Court Act which gives the crown the right to appeal to Provincial Court but does not give the same right to the subject, was opposed by Mr. Borden, Mr. Doherty and others, but Mr. Aylesworth refused to yield, and the bill was carried.

When the bill to amend the criminal code was under review as to race track gambling, Mr. Borden read telegrams which he had received from the British Columbia Methodist conference urging action and saying that American gamblers were finding their way into the country. He asked if the Government had received any representations from British Columbia.

Mr. Aylesworth said he had not heard Mr. Borden express his views on the question.

Mr. Borden countered that he was merely enquiring if the Government had had representations.

Mr. Aylesworth then replied in the affirmative, but said he would like to have the views of the House on the matter.

Mr. Borden said that if conditions were as represented action should be taken at once. The question should have been referred to a special committee to deal with. Some action seemed to him necessary.

Hon. R. F. Sutherland moved an amendment to penalize the transmission of electricity of more than 50,000 voltage unless on a fenced roadway 60 feet wide, the penalty to be $10,000. He said the penalty had been suggested by recent accidents in Western Ontario. Mr. Aylesworth suggested that the amendment stand over, and Mr. Sutherland withdrew it.

The penalty for kidnapping was increased from seven to twenty-five years, and the bill passed.

The House then went into supply and rose shortly before midnight.

Russia's Robin Hood.

Mohiley, Russia, May 17.—The noted robber chieftain Savitzky, the "Robin Hood" of the Russian revolution, has been killed by members of the Rural Guard. With three members of his band Savitzky was surrounded by the guard two days ago in a neighboring village, and, after a fight that lasted for four hours, all four were killed. One member of the guard lost his life in the encounter.

Savitzky, who was a high school student when he took to brigandage, has been the terror of the police of the provinces of Tchernigov and Mohiley for several years, but he was a source of amusement to the rest of Russia on account of his daredevil exploits. He delighted in playing fantastic tricks on the police. It was his custom to rob only the rich, and he distributed his spoils among the peasantry with a lavish hand. He finally was betrayed by a member of his band.

A Five-Year-Old Plutocrat.

New York, May 17.—On the register at the Hotel Netherland appears the name of the Hon. Betty Bettsworth.

The Hon. Betty is five years old, but it requires three rooms to accommodate her and the two nurses who came to this city with her from Canada. She is a niece of one of the principal nitrate operators in the world, and is on her way to Colorado. Her father, an engineer in the service of the British Exploration Co. in Africa, is expected to come to to this country to meet his daughter in Colorado Springs.

At luncheon hour the Hon. Betty sat in state in the restaurant in the hotel. Her two nurses stood behind her chair. The child ate bread and milk, which was first sampled by the nurses.

Kills Mother and Himself.

South Bend, May 17.—Charles Rapp, who had considerable local fame as a baseball pitcher, Saturday night killed his mother and then committed suicide.

Rapp, according to the police, had been drinking, and when the mother pleaded with him to leave off liquor he grabbed a hammer and after beating her on the head, stabbed her with a butcher knife, which he snatched from a table. When his mother fell, Rapp gashed his throat with the same knife.

The police found Rapp still conscious. At the hospital he stated he had intended to kill the entire family.

Strike Riot at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 17.—Two hundred strike sympathizers battled with fifteen special policemen and seven patrolmen on Southwater street Saturday to prevent the latter from escorting twenty strike-breakers from the Erie Station to the shipping headquarters of the Lake Carriers' Association. Thirteen of the strike-breakers refused to abide by their agreement and joined the strikers. Three men were injured by sticks thrown during the struggle and it was necessary to turn in a riot call before the crowd dispersed. Six men are under arrest.

Stole 52 Cents—Prison for Life.

Chicago, May 17.—Another holdup man was sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury in Judge Kerstens' court Saturday. The amount said to have been stolen by him was 52 cents. The verdict was returned under the new law which calls for life imprisonment in cases where robbery is committed by men armed with deadly weapons. Nine bandits have been sent to prison for life under this law.

ELOPING HEIRESS FOUND.

Brooklyn Girl Is Discovered In St. Catharines With Husband.

Buffalo, May 17.—In a pretty little cottage in St. Catharines, Ont., a reporter found Hazel Stuart Drew, the pretty 17-year-old heiress who eloped from Brooklyn on Christmas Day with Walter McGreal, the 20-year-old son of Thomas F. McGreal, a retired United States naval pharmacist.

Last Monday Hazel became of age, and entitled to the fortune of $150,000 bequeathed to her by her grandfather, the late Daniel Drew.

The reporter found the runaways living together under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dinsmore, one of many pseudonyms they have taken since they have disappeared.

There is a warrant issued by Magistrate Dooley in the Adams street police court, Brooklyn, for young McGreal, charging abduction, but it will not now be enforceable, because Hazel is 18 years old. The happy bride will soon be baptized a Catholic, the religion of her husband, and immediately thereafter they will be married by a priest, and then start for home and seek the forgiveness of the girl's mother, who has been bitterly opposed to the match, and who has vowed that she will prosecute her daughter's husband to the bitter end.

Mrs. McGreal is a tall, slender girl, graceful of figure, with a mass of chestnut brown hair, and sparkling blue eyes.

GRAND SUCCESS

Wonderful Growth in Sales During 1908.

The year just passed will long be remembered for the financial and commercial depression. Business houses all over Canada were affected. Most of them show a loss over 1907. Some did about as much business last year as in the preceeding one. A few—a very few—show substantial gains. In spite of "hard times" and "financial depression" the sales of "Fruit-a-tives" doubled in 1908 over 1907.

The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited bought "Fruit-a-tives" in 100 gross lots (14,000 boxes). Lyman Sons & Company of Montreal, and Lyman Brothers in Toronto, also ordered "Fruit-a-tives" by the hundred gross lots. These big wholesalers bought such big orders simply because the retail dealers ordered so many boxes of "Fruit-a-tives"—and the dealers had to keep "Fruit-a-tives" always in stock to supply the constantly growing demand of people in every section of Canada.

To-day, "Fruit-a-tives" are the most popular family medicine in the Dominion. In the big cities, in the smaller towns, on farms and ranches, "Fruit-a-tives" are the standby in curing all forms of Stomach, Liver, Bowel, Skin and Kidney Trouble. Rheumatism, Headaches and Neuralgia.

Are you a sufferer from any of the diseases? Don't hesitate a moment. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" — take them according to directions—and they will cure without fail. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford Will Address the Canadian Club Next Monday.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor of the Park Street Baptist Church, will preach next Sunday in the Mount Forest Baptist Church. This is his old home and he will preach at the morning and evening seervices. Rev. Adam Walker will take charge of the morning service at Park street, and Rev. J. R. Bonnor will preach in the evening. Rev. Mr. Riddiford will leave on Friday and will likely hear Gipsy Smith in Toronto, before arriving at his old home. On Monday evening he will address the Mount Forest Canadian Club on "Canada's Attitude to the Dreadnought Craze."

What a Great Man Said to the Great American People.

Parisian Sage is a discovery of a celebrated scientist, who spent the best years of his life in perfecting this great hair tonic.

In giving his receipt to the American people he said, "Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but it is more than a fair dressing. It cures dandruff by killing the germs that infest the roots of the hair; it stops falling hair; it gives vigour and strength to the hair roots." Wm. Madill sells Parisian Sage at 50 cents a large bottle and guarantees it to do all that is claimed for it, or your money is refunded. If you do not reside near a druggist who sells Parisian Sage, send 50 cents to Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., and a bottle will be sent you all charges prepaid.

ROGATION DAYS AND THEIR SIGNIFICATION

Special Prayers for the Welfare of the Individual and the Nation.

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week are known in the Catholic church as Rogation Days. The people's prayers are offered up not only for spiritual welfare, but in particular for temporal welfare. The litany of the Saints is the particular prayer selected. The prayers during Rogation Days are not only for personal prosperity, but for that of the whole country, for a good harvest and for peaceful labour conditions.

BRITISHER GIVES SOME OF JOHN BULL'S OPINIONS OF HIS CRITICS IN A VERY INTERESTING LETTER

Football Matches and Other Things are Touched Upon---American Tourists in England Just as Much Out of Place as Some of the Englishmen Appear on This Side of the Water.

Peterborough Ont., May 16th, 1909.
To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Since coming to Canada, some eighteen months ago, I have heard so much unfriendly criticism of the "Old Land" and its inhabitants with their insular prejudices that it has occurred to me that a little talk from the other fellow's standpoint might be a good thing, or, in other words, seeing that, "John Bull and his island," is so freely criticised it might be refreshing, by way of a change, to hear some of John Bull's opinions of his critics.

In the first place may I state that the average American tourist is looked on in England as something in the way of a curiosity by the enlightened inhabitants of that delectable land, and also as a soft mark for professional crooks and confidence tricksters.

I, myself, have seen in the city of Glasgow a family party of American tourists; Paterfamilias with a striped summer suit and close fitting pants; Materfamilias clad in tight fitting tailor made gown, or habit, and the kiddies dressed "anyhow and everyhow." And I can honestly say the party looked more like an invasion of Martians than ordinary civilized human beings. Wandering aimlessly about, guide book in hand and binoculars slung over their shoulders, they were evidently doing "Yurrup" and bored to death in the doing of it. I pen these words in no rancourous spirit but merely to show that Americans let loose in Britain appear just as incongruous and out of place as any Englishman ever did in Canada or the States. In the case I have mentioned my heart went out to these strangers as fellow members of the great human family away from home and I would gladly have advanced and spoken to them, as it was quite evident to me they were at a loss to know what to do or where to go, but, characteristic pride and reserve kept me back. So much for that.

And now, (whether true or not I know not,) American women are credited among the "domestics" (table waiters, etc.) of the Atlantic passenger boats with being "the meanest critters on earth." "Yankee bluff" is a common expression in Britain and it aptly describes the average Britisher's idea of the Americans as a people.

However, John Bull is prepared all the time to give and take and the most harmful standing joke about the Americans in Britain is that "he needs to blow his nose good and hard as here seems to be a bale of cotton up it or some other obstruction." And so on. Enough has been said to show that both peoples criticize each other pretty freely.

Personally I could write for hours on little experiences of my own when I proved, alas, that an American's word is not the most dependable quantity on earth.

Please note, Mr. Editor, that I do not refer in the slightest degree to the Canadian people. Further, I will say that, during my stay in Peterborough (just 12 months), I have met with as much real kindness as in any other part of the world which I have visited. Also I have gained as many friends as it is good for a man to have.

And now to the main part of this letter. Last night (Saturday) I was an interested listener to Mr. Maplesden, evangelist, of Buffalo, N. Y., now labouring in this city, and I thought it might be worth while to enlarge a little on some of the points in his address on "Socialism; why it fails."

In the first place Mr. Maplesden and I are very good friends so anything I may write here will not be calculated to offend or grieve him, but rather the reverse.

He referred at one point to the football craze in Britain. Twenty-four thousand spectators at one match seemed to astonish him, but I can assure him that the official figures for the attendance at an International match between England and Scotland usually hover about the hundred thousand mark. (By the way Scotland won this year). Mr. Maplesden went on to say that, of all that crowd of 24,000 men and youths you would scarcely give a shilling (price of the entrance) for "all they had on their backs."

Well, well. Further he stated that they were all, or nearly all, smoking cheap cigarettes and exhaling with the smoke "what little brains they had."

What particularly struck me at this stage of the meeting was the fact that within reach of Mr. Maplesden's shoulder stood a dapper little Englishman and at this shaft of wit he instead of getting huffy expanded into a silly fatuous grin that reached from ear to ear. Now that's a true sportsman; give a knock and take a knock and look pleasant all the time. I may state in passing that the first time I met this same youth (in February I think) he was shovelling snow around Charlotte St. Methodist Church, and as lively as a cricket too. He hadn't spoken a dozen words before I pulled him up and asked him if he were another who had some all the way from Londing to be laughed at. Well now to resume there is this much to be said about the football craze in the Old Country, the players don't go on the field armour clad like "knights of old," as is the custom in the States I have heard. And if a man does get a bunt in the bread-basket by accident it's a matter for general commiseration and regret. Football under these conditions is civilized and scientific compared to same forms of sport that obtain on this continent.

Another point that I gathered from Mr. Maplesden on Saturday night was in his opinion the Britisher was not generous. I would like to investigate this. I know for a positive fact that, in Glasgow, Scotland, to take a city with which I am well acquainted, a subscription fund for any worthy object is no sooner opened than the money begins, and continues to come in a steady stream until the required amount is subscribed. This occurs frequently. Any overwhelming disaster that may overtake any people in any part of the world will at once appeal to the heart and pocket of the Great British Public. Have you heard the origin of the British and Foreign Bible Society? A little girlie of poor parents, having nothing else that she thought worth while, brought her poor little rag doll and placed it on the collection plate to help on the "good cause" of providing certain natives with the Bible in their own language. Can you imagine the childish pang that accompanied that gift? Liberally she gave her all and "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven, and such are the mothers of men." The story was told and retold and the Bible Society, whose ramifications to-day practically cover the earth, is the result. And now for a little story.

A long time ago, in a city not a hundred miles from Peterborough, a little company of men was gathered together at the far end of a certain hall one week night. The company, though small, was select and consisted of two Canadians; two hybrids, the production resulting from grafting a sprig of English plum-tree onto a Canadian crab-apple, and an Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotchman.

The subject under discussion was a temporary, slight financial embarrassment that had overtaken a mutual friend and brother in a neighbouring town.

The case was stated and, without hesitation the Irishman (ever ready) said. Well, I'll give two dollars. Scottie, a little slower, followed suit and the Englishman, more phlegmatic still, said, "and I'll chip in a couple of dollars." And just there the required amount was made up by the others present. What I wish to point out is the fact that the representatives of the Triple Alliance, the English, Irish and Scotch were the first to give.

One more point. The other evening I heard Mr. Maplesden cast a reflection on the personal cleanliness of the British public. It may be deserved. I have no doubt it is amongst the very poor, but think: Canada has not, and it is to be hoped she never will have any slums.

The saddest sight in the great cities of the Old Land is the streets, lanes and alleys where the "great unwashed," the submerged tenth, "live and move and have their being."

But amongst ordinary working folk, the general habit is a bath (or tub) at least once a week. How well I remember that lather,steam and soap in the eyes, to say nothing of the yells every Saturday night in my boyhood days.

There were eight of us all told, and mother certainly had a most strenuous time.

The big cities at home are plentifully supplied by beneficient corporations with scrupulously clean bath-houses and swimming ponds. For twopence you can have a hot or cold bath and a swim in a pond 100 yards long but about 30 yards wide, 6 feet 6 inches deep at one end, and 3 feet 3 inches at the other. Overhead, at regular intervals, are suspended from the roof, by ropes, a number of rings. There are usually five and the first one is just within reach of the edge of the pond. Starting from it and giving yourself a good send off you swing for ring number two, if you reach it well and good you continue to number three, and so on. If you don't, gravitation will give you a nice plunge into 3 feet of water. It's great fund and a prime favourite muscle producer for the young of both sexes.

Usually the same pond does for men and women on different days, of course, while others again have two ponds, one for men and one for women.

Apropos of the daily bath business some doctors say it is a weakening thing.

Have you heard the story of the young commercial traveller in the States. He put up for the night in a certain town at a hotel and on the clerk asking him if he wished to be assigned to a room with a bath said: Great Scot, no, man. Why it's only Tuesday yet.

Americans are not the only people who laugh at John Bull and his peculiarities.

That genial Frenchman, Max O'Rell, in his boog on 'John Bull and his island" hits him up pretty hard and all by way of a joke. Frenchmen evidently think the Englishman a failure as a husband, judging from a little episode depicted in a Paris comic journal recently.

The scene was a Paris restaurant. A typical English tourist and his wife had arrived late for dinner and the garcon shoulders drawn up and palms outstretched, had just said, "ver sorry, monsieur, but ther is only one chicken left." The Englishman with a ferocious moustache is pictured as saying: "So; then what is my wife going to eat?" He meant to have the chicken.

Well, to sum up. If England is going to the dogs I want to get particulars as to when, where, how, or in what manner,it is happening.

Americans are smart, no doubt about that,but they "don't know it all" yet as is evidenced by the fact that Quebec Bridge, just above Cape Rouge collapsed into a scrap heap before completion.

I had the pleasure for three successive seasons of noting the progress made and early in the fourth was astonished to find that one end had fallen in ruins. "Some one had blundered." The monetary loss, if I remember rightly, ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars, besides the lamentable loss of life. The Forth Bridge, Scotland, over two miles long is one of the triumphs of the 19th century, and Tower Bridge, over the Thames, at London, is another, while Blackwell tunnel, under the Thames is an engineering feat of which any nation may be proud.

"Twisting the lion's tail" is a favourite diplomatic game, but I repeat its not enough for me to be told so incessantly that the Old Country is going to the bad. There is absolutely no truth in it.

Some people say that the British people is the "lost ten tribes of Israel." If there're any happier in so thinking why, let them have it.

Certain it is that the Great Ruler of the Universe has given to England and her consorts a very high place among the nations.

The day that witnesses England's downfall (may it be far distant) will be a black day for Europe, with Germany permeated—honeycombed with Socialism of the most rabid type and Russia and France in a chronic state of unrest and upheaval.

And now a final word of admonition. Don't be a knocker. It's bad form. Don't give expression to thoughts that may only be the degenerate offspring of the real wishes of the heart, and finally be charitable to all men in respecting their feelings in regard to their love of country.

Quoting from a Penny Pictorial Magazine, published in London, England, and dated April 24, 1909, I find that the way to "get on" in Canada is—"Don't speak of England more than you can help, get into the Canadian ways as quickly as you can," etc.

Now this is good advice, but in all fairness, Mr. Editor, I ask you if it is good taste for Canadians and white-washed Americans to "throw it into" Britishers on every possible occasion.

Dear sir, I am,
Sincerely Yours,
DU GOOD.

MADE MISTAKE IN MARKET BASKETS

Two women in a butcher shop on Saturday morning exchanged market baskets by mistake, and as neither of them are acquainted with each other, it would be best to bring the baskets back to the butcher shop, where they might be claimed by the rightful owners. A peculiar thing in connection with the mistake was that in one basket were four pounds of butter and three dozen eggs, while in the other were three pounds of butter and four dozen of eggs. One of the women did not know that she had the wrong basket until she got to a fruit store, and upon opening it found bananas in it, which she had not purchased. She immediately returned it to the butcher shop, and left it there all day, but the other lady never called for it, evidently not knowing that she had made a mistake.

"Highland Park" The Latest Pic-nic Grounds On Rice Lake Are Near Harwood

Will be Formally Opened on Thursday, June 17th, the Date of the Farmers' Pic-nic — Otonabee Navigation Company's Fleet of Steamers Will Not Call at Idyl Wyld—Reasons for the Change.

LOCATION OF THE PARK.

According to a statement made today by Mr. W. H. Hobertson, President of the Otonabee Navigation Co., none of the company's fleet of steamers will touch at Idyl Wyld this summer, and the company will not take charge of the hotel. This may come as a rather surprising piece of intelligence to the frequenters of Rice Lake and to those excursionists who make several trips to points on the lake every year.

To take the place of Idyl Wyld the Navigation company will run their excursions to Highland Park, Harwood, and according to the information received Idyl Wyld will be practically abandoned as far as the Otonabee Navigation Co. is concerned. Highland Park is practically a new place to most Peterborough people, but it is said to be very pretty, is well located, is high above the water and combines all the qualities of a good picnic ground. It will be fitted with swings, benches, tables and all the other necessities for an ideal spot for excursionists.

A Long Run

Mr. Robertson stated that the reason they were making the change was on account of the distance to Idyl Wyld and the consequent extra cost of making the run and the extra time spent on the water. He did not know whether the hotel would be occupied or not.

The first picnic to Highland Park will be held on Thursday, June 17th, when the Farmers' picnic, conducted under the auspices of the Otonabee Navigation, will be held. This will mark the formal opening of the park. This excursion was held last year to Idyl Wyld, and proved a great success. There will be a list of prominent speakers, among whom will be a number of important agriculturalists. Further announcements will be given later as to this picnic. In the meantime the work of preparing the work will proceed steadily and everything will be in readiness for the visit of the townspeople.

WHEAT AREA SOWN IN NORTHWEST IS LARGER THAN LAST YEAR

Regina, May 11.—It is too early to obtain any correct idea as to the wheat area sown in the Canadian West, but is reasonable to presume it will be larger than last year. Farmers had almost two weeks' seeding in April and seven full days in May so far. Summer fallow land will go in excellent condition. The backward spring may cut down the amount of burned over stubble land sown to wheat. Where it is found that such lands cannot be worked up properly in time, the tendency is to sow to oats or barley. A crop of from 40 to 100 bushels of oats per acre at prices that have been ruling of recent years is found to pay better than taking chances on a crop of wheat on improperly prepared land. The average yield in this Province last year was held down unduly by sowing much wheat under poor conditions. With so much homesteading and taking up of new land, however, this is to a great extent inevitable. In the older-settled districts more attention is paid to proper cultivation. Oats and barley may be sown much later than wheat, and will give a good yield on land that is not in a state of cultivation, or prepared in time, to justify expecting a reasonable yield of wheat.

The growth of flax has greatly increased of late years, and a flax mill is to be established at Regina. This crop is often sown well on into June on newly broken land, giving a yield of ten or twelve bushels per acre, and as prices have run from 80 cents to $1.25 per bushel it will be seen that such a crop will pay for the breaking. As much as double this yield is obtained under better cultivation.

Though the spring has been late in the Central West as elsewhere the conditions are on the whole good, and given a favourable summer there is every reason to anticipate another good harvest in the Canadian plains. The area of settlement is now so vast and the local conditions so dissimilar that it is now impossible to generalize for the whole country, but it may be stated quite positively that a crop failure throughout the whole country is impossible, as conditions vary so widely. A good crop throughout the whole country is, however, quite possible, and greatly desired by all the Central West and beyond also.

School Children Will Have Nearly A Week Of Holidays

The children of the various schools of the city will have four or five days holidays this week owing to the Teachers' Convention and Victoria Day. The pupils will have holidays on Thursday, Friday, and Monday, or almost a week. All the schools are affected, and the children throughout the city will be given a holiday. By the way the 24th of May marks the turn into the "home stretch" on the finish to the examinations. The young students should be almost ready to review the year's work and should be preparing for the examinations, unless they are satisfied to finish with the bunch or with the also rans. The effort of each should be to be among the leaders, or as in a race they should strive for a place; first, second, or third. The midsummer examinations will tell the story of what has been done during the year.

FINE CATTLE ARE SOLD ON MARKET

Smith Farmer Sells Small Herd to Mr. J. Mervin This Morning.

A number of particularly fine cattle have been passing over the public weigh scales recently. Mr. J. Mervin, butcher, purchased eight head from Mr. Clifford Hancock, of Smith, and the expressed opinion of a number of experienced cattle men that they were some of the best that have ever passed through the local market. When offered in the form of meat they should be appreciated by Mr. Mervin's customers. Several other farmers brought in some fine cattle and altogether the showing was a most creditable one.

MEETING IS IMPORTANT.

The A. Y. P. A. of St. John's Church Will Discuss Many Matters To-night.

There will be a meeting of the A. Y. P. A. of St. John's Church this evening in the Guild Room, at 8 o'clock. A large attendance of members is requested, as final arrangements for the formal opening of the tennis season on the 24th will be completed at this meeting.

Committees will also be appointed for the successful carrying out of the lawn fete, which it is proposed to hold on the grounds of the Church during the latter part of June.

Every member of the Society is urged to be present at the meeting this evening. The Secretary will be glad to receive all fees for membership in the Tennis Club at the meeting this evening.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, May 17.

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir.—Kindly allow me space to thank Mr. Barton Earle for his interesting and timely remarks on our Schools and Teachers. Those who thirst for blood, rather than knowledge, may not enjoy it; but criticisms of folly deserves encouragement. A critic who does his work after the manner of Mr. Earle, renders important service to the community.

Yours truly,
"Interested Parent."

Editor of the Post Card Column:

One week from to-day our new armouries will be formally opened in the presence of about 800 visiting soldiers, who will no doubt appreciate the beauty and the usefulness of the new building and carry back with them to their home cities, glowing tales of Peterborough's fine headquarters for its soldiers. But it is to be hoped that during the coming week some effort will be made to clean up the ground in front of the armouries, which just now represents a most unsightly appearance. The bones of the old drill shed are strewn over the ground and the place should be cleaned up before the visitors arrive.

Yours truly,
CLEANLINESS.

DEMAND FOR ROY'S FAMOUS SOUVENIR POST CARDS

Their Popularity Such That "Age Cannot Wither Nor Custom Stale."

Fads may come and fads may go, but Roy's famous souvenir post cards will go on forever. Whatever may be the fate of the cheap, trashy, and worthless reproductions, few will care to enquire. Roy's artistic photograph views of special scenes in popular localities, favourite places of interest, public buildings, old landmarks lake and river beauty spots, and all home, business and residential views of special interest which the camera can catch, have taken too firm a hold upon the public to go out. There is a subtle charm in photographic reproductions, taken either by the enthusiastic amateur or the professional expert, which will keep alive the interest in real meritorious post card pictures throughout the world. Nothing in the realm of genuine photographic postcards in this country have done so much to demonstrate these facts than has the remarkable success which has made Roy's famous souvenir post cards continue to command such extensive sales. This firm has taken the position that their pictorial post cards are marked by an individuality and distinction that places them in a class by themselves. Peterborough's better buyers know this, and look for something altogether different from the commonplace. Their captivating creations in carbon green, sepia, black and white, fully sustain the reputation of the Roy studio. The range of the Roy views include almost everything of real interest in the vicinity, where their artists have gone, and yet new subjects are in demand and being developed for this season, which will enhance the value of and interest in their extensive collection. These cards are on sale by all first-class dealers.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 17.—Stocks were rather dull and colourless during the forenoon with a few slight gains in some issues, among which the most notable were Amn. Beet Sugar and Colo. Fuel, and a few declines in other issues including the Coppers, Smelters, Reading, Erie, and Con. Gas. Dealings were on a greatly reduced scale to-day and the demand for stocks seemed to have fallen off to a large degree, and it looked as though the leading bulls might be willing to sell the market off and work for a shake-out of good proportions.

American stocks in London heavy, ⅛ to ½ below parity.

Senate debate on tariff continues with very slow progress made so far.

Paris postal strike expected to collapse to-day.

J. J. Hill says Democrats will control House if the tariff is not revised downward.

Frisco surplus end of fiscal year will be sufficient to pay second preferred dividend.

Amal. Copper earnings at present price of the metal running considerably in excess of dividend requirements.

Chicago reports ideal weather has reduced average lateness of the crop season 20 to 30 per cent.

Town Topics says: Look for further irregularity during the early trading this week with bears seeking to uncover stop orders, but on recessions, would advise buying good stocks for a recovery.

Baring says: Am told Beet Sugar will go to 45. NYC is a purchase near 130; Copper 81 ½; Smelters 92 They will not go much lower than that. BRT is the best to buy on any setback. It will not go under 75, no matter what happens. Look for strong market in the week.

Toronto-Beaver was very active today, with the price around 38 for the most part. Other Cobalt, issues were quiet.

BELIEVES RAILWAY FARES ARE TWO LOW

Sir Wm. Van Horne Says Railways Are Not Paying.

LOW RATES ARE ABSURD

He Says That American and Canadian Lines Are Not Earning a Fair Percentage on Investments Because of Inadequate Tariffs—Public Ownership Is No Solution of the Difficulty.

London, May 17.—Sir William Van Horne expressed some interesting views with regard to railroads, in the course of a conversation with an interviewer yesterday at the Savoy Hotel, where he is staying for awhile before making a trip to the continent.

"There is one thing certain about the railways of North America," said Sir William. "Their charges are much too low. They are not earning as much as they should on the capital invested, and I don't feel very hopeful of an increased percentage of earnings. The railways of America are doing more for less money than any others in the world. I think the present low rates are simply absurd. It has been the aim of railway managers for as far back as I can remember to act in unison in the matter of rates, but they have never succeeded in doing so for any considerable length of time.

"The solution of the problem will not be Government ownership. No Government ever ran railways as cheaply as private management could."

Sir William said the general business and financial situation looked most promising as far as he was able to judge. Railway companies would find no difficulty in raising funds for improvements or extensions; yet he did not think there would be a great deal of railway building in America in the next twelve months. The need of great additional mileage did not exist, Sir William said.

Lobster Fishery Dispute.

Louisburg, N.S., May 17.—Trouble between the lobster fishermen has culminated in the closing of several of the largest canning factories. The fishermen are demanding $3.25 per cwt., and packers will not pay more than $2.25, for which price the men will not wet their gear.

The Fishermen's Union at Mainadieu has telegraphed J. W. Maddin, M.P., at Ottawa, to use his influence in securing a steam service to that port, enabling them to export their live lobsters. The small ones they will can themselves.

The outlook is not bright for the fishermen, who are blaming the Government for allowing a few packers a monopoly of the canning trade.

Wind Lifted Sidewalk.

Oil Springs, Ont., May 17.—Mrs. Richard Swain, a resident of Oil City, was almost instantly killed, and her niece, Miss Josie Truan of this village, was injured here about 5.30 Saturday afternoon in a very peculiar manner.

They were on the way to the station when a severe storm came up and picked up the sidewalk on which they were walking and hurled it across the street into a deep ditch on the opposite side.

The ladies were carried with it, the sidewalk striking Mrs. Swain on the head and crushing her skull. Miss Truan was not seriously injured.

Should Visit Colonies.

London, May 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Mr. Birrell, Secretary for Ireland, at the dinner of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, proposing the toast, "Ships, Colonies and Commerce," said he rejoiced to feel that representatives of the colonies were coming over to consider the whole question of naval defences. The colonies knit together would play a great part in our national life, and it would in course of a few years become a scandal for a middle-aged man like himself to get up and say he had never visited any of the colonies.

Youth Admits Serious Charge.

St. Catharines, May 17.—Jesse Strickler, the youth who held up William B. Calder near Beamsville a week ago, was before Judge Carman and pleaded guilty to shooting at Calder with intent to maim. The boy claimed to have been employed at the Rossin House, Toronto, for some time. After a severe lecture the judge remanded him till Wednesday for sentence.

Cure Neuralgic Agony

No affliction is so painful, so hard to bear as Neuralgia. It may strike any single nerve, or perhaps a whole set of nerves may be affected. Physicians who have had large experience with this malady say local applications are best.

A well-tried treatment consists of rubbing the affected parts thoroughly with Nerviline. The rubbing should be continued until [illegible] a warm healthy glow. This invariably relieves the pain.

[illegible] is [illegible] a Nerviline Porous Plaster over the weak spot. No [illegible] Nerviline Plaster [illegible] known. [illegible] sorbs [illegible] secretions through relaxed pores, acts as a sure preventive against muscular aches, rheumatism, sciatica, stiffness, lumbago, and neuralgia.

Remember this: Nerviline treatment has for nearly fifty years been curing chronic cases—it will cure you, too—give it the chance. 25c bottles of Nerviline and Nerviline Porous Plasters 25c each. Sold all dealers.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The petition against the election of Hon. Sydney Fisher was dismissed.

Archbishop Bruchesi has placed the Theatre Royal at Montreal under the ban.

Percy M. Stinson of London, Ont., was killed on the railway near Dorchester.

Germany is establishing a line of airship stations along the French frontier.

A number of Armenians were fired on by a band of Moslems near Adana on Saturday.

The fourth son of Abdul Hamid, the deposed Sultan of Turkey, has been placed under arrest.

Foreigners at Urumiah, Persia, including British and American missionaries, are in danger.

The French postal strike is practically dead, and the leaders in their desperation are adopting destructive tactics.

The steamer Gargantua carried away three gates in the Welland Canal yesterday, but repairs are being rushed.

Rev. George Anderson was consecrated Bishop of Moosonee by Archbishop Matheson at the Church of St. Andrew, Kildonan.

Chas. L. Foxwell, a mining stock broker, is under arrest at Washington. He is alleged to have victimized a number of firms in Canada and the United States.

Carried Big Bylaw.

Owen Sound, May 17.—Little interest was shown in the results of the vote on four bylaws voted upon by the property-owners here Saturday.

Two were defeated and two carried. The former were to raise $7,000 to remodel the interior of the old town hall building, and $2,500 to erect an isolation hospital. The majorities against were 129 and 53 respectively.

The expenditure of $125,000, to take in part of the Sydenham river, construct a sedimentation basin and a filtration plant, adding a million gallons daily to the supply, was endorsed by a majority of 50. The extension of the electric light plant by an expenditure of $30,000 was also ratified, the majority being 88.

Dead Number 10,000.

Adana, May 17.—The estimates of from 20,000 to 25,000 Christians killed by Mohammedans in the Province of Adana, made a fortnight ago, must be revised. It is now ascertained that the number can hardly reach more than 10,000. Thousands who were supposed to have been killed in the country districts have since come into some of the large towns for relief. Nearly 50,000 persons have received assistance from the foreign and Turkish relief committees or officials at Adana, 22,000 at Marash, 11,000 at Hadjin, 3,000 at Mersina, 2,000 at Latakia, 4,000 at Tarsus and a comparatively large number at Aintab and Alexandretta.

Blinded by Explosion.

Indianapolis, May 17.—"I am badly burned and blind," was a message slowly ticked in the Panhandle railroad despatcher's office at Logansport, Ind., last Saturday night from G. E. Frazel, an operator in a block tower near Marion.

The despatcher ordered a freight train to stop at the place, and the crew found Frazel suffering terrible agony from burns. He had been scalded by the explosion of a bottle of coffee he was heating on a stove, and felt his way to a key to call for help. Frazel was taken to Marion, where yesterday a physician says he fears he cannot save Frazel's sight.

Jap-British Parade.

Victoria, B.C., May 17.—The day's proceedings in Victoria to welcome the Japanese cruisers Soya and Aso closed near midnight with one of the strangest parades ever seen in Victoria. Four hundred bluejackets from the warships marched arm-in-arm with British bluejackets from the Esquimalt station and soldiers from the local garrison.

The march followed a smoker and concert and a reception to Admiral Ijichi and to the officers and cadets by the Japanese colony.

Cuss Words a Crime.

Madison, Wis., May 17.—The lower House of the Wisconsin Legislature has put the finishing touches to the Hall bill, making it a misdemeanor to swear in public. The bill as first introduced simply prohibited swearing in the presence of persons under 18 years of age.

When the bill reached the Senate in that form Senator Husnall submitted an amendment striking out the reference to age. The amendment has been adopted and the bill passed.

Forger Suicides.

Prince Albert, Sask., May 17.—J. W. Currie committed suicide Saturday afternoon at the Prince Albert Hotel by taking strychnine.

He had passed forged checks to the amount of $25. A man in the city which had a check for $10 notified Currie to settle before 6 p.m. When the time arrived he was dead. His family is well-to-do in Halifax.

Cut In Two.

Cornwall, May 17.—The body of an unknown young man was found on the G.T.R. near Bainsville on Friday. It was cut in two. It is thought that the unfortunate man was riding the bumpers of a freight train and fell on the rails. The head of a young girl and a horse are tattooed on one arm.

PRAIRIES VISITED BY EARTHQUAKE

Entire West Experiences a Marked Seismic Disturbance.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Shock Varying In Length 20 Seconds to a Minute Is Reported From Many Places — Electric Light Plant Well Caves In and Plaster Falls—Occurrence Is Quite Unprecedented, Says Allen.

Winnipeg, May 17.—Earthquake shocks varying in intensity were felt all through the Canadian prairie west at about 10.20 central time Saturday evening, in most places rattling dishes, banging doors and shaking windows, while in several points people were driven in alarm out of doors. The duration is reported at from 20 seconds to a minute.

At Wolseley, the well of the electric light plant caved in just before the shock was felt and the town was plunged in darkness.

Other places report cracked plaster, but that appears to be the sum of the damage done.

The shock was very light in this city, but was distinctly felt at Selkirk, on Lake Winnipeg, and from there the disturbance was noted at scattered points for a thousand miles west across the prairie.

Shocks appear to have been most severe in the heavy "Cumbo" country of Saskatchewan, along the main line of the Canadian Pacific, but were felt as far north as Prince Albert.

It is the first time in known history that earthquake shocks have visited the Red River or Saskatchewan Valleys, and Prof. Frank Allen, Ph.D., of Manitoba University, said last night that they might never recur.

He attributes the disturbance as a wave, or echo, of serious earthquakes in southern America or the central Pacific, and holds that the vibration thus caused has followed the chold of a circle coming out in the Canadian prairie.

Prof. Allen is reassuring regarding the future, so far as the prairie is concerned. There is no evidence that this region was ever visited by an earthquake in historical times, or at least no marks of such have been left. This section is a long distance from the coasts where the earthquakes usually occur.

Besides, that the lay out of the prairie foundations is distinctly against such a thing. The rock layers are horizontal, whereas it is known that great earthquakes occur where the rock layers run down towards the earth centre at seventy, eighty or ninety degrees. These sometimes slip against each other causing sub-sistinence and such is now known to have been the case at San Francisco.

On the prairie where rock layers are horizontal earthquakes are practically impossible and people will be reassured to know that it is quite possible the prairie country may never again get such a jar.

Royal Garden Party Off.

London, May 17.—King Edward having returned from his two months' holidays on the continent and the Mediterranean, the dates have been definitely fixed for the customary two courts at this time of the year. The first is set for Friday, June 11, the second for Thursday, June 24.

But there will be no garden party at Windsor Castle this summer and great is the disappointment at the announcement of the fact. Those garden parties were becoming a distinguishing and extremely popular feature of King Edward's reign. They enabled a vast number of his subjects to bask for an afternoon in the sunshine of royalty.

Cadet Shot at Ranges.

Halifax, N.S., May 17.—By the accidental discharge of his rifle, Wm. McKenzie, 16 years of age, a cadet from the Dartmouth High School, was instantly killed on the military ranges at Bedford, 10 miles from Halifax, on Saturday afternoon.

The lad, with a number of friends, left the city early in the afternoon for rifle practice. It was McKenzie's first attempt at rifle shooting, and while waiting for his turn to fire, he stood leaning on his rifle. The rifle was cocked, and the trigger, catching his clothing, snapped down, the bullet crashing through the lad's brain.

NO WOMAN
CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL.

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you.

Mrs. M. Bryanton, Spring Valley, P.E.I., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. They were so bad at times I could not cross the floor for the pain. I tried a doctor but he did me no good at all. I sent to my nearest druggist and got f[illegible] boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I have had no more trouble for nearly three years now."

BOBBY KERR'S MEET SATURDAY A SPLENDID SUCCESS—OVER 3000 PEOPLE WITNESSED THE EVENTS

From Sporting Extra.

Hamilton, May 15.—The meet held here this afternoon for the purpose of raising funds to send Bobby Kerr to England was a great success, despite the fact that several of the outside entrants failed to put in an appearance. Frank Lukeman and Don Buddo, of the M.A.A.A., Montreal, were the most notable absentees. Lukeman was after the Flanagan medal for the highest number of points and and was confidently expected, while it was thought that Buddo would do well in the sprints. The rain of last night made the track heavy and treacherous, but the bright snshine this afternoon helped to dry it up a little, and brought up a fine crowd, about 3,000 people being present when the meet opened.

There was a big field of starters in the hal fmile open event, which was won by Arnold T. Knox of the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, with Neil Brock, of London, second, and Chuck Skene of the Irish Canadians, Toronto, third. Brock's showing was a surprise. The race was a good one.

KINSILLA WON 100 YARDS.

Kinsella ,the speedy little runner, from Ottawa College, won the 100 yards dash, with George Barber, of the Toronto Centrals, second, and Tommy Hitchins, of the Irish Canadians of Toronto, third. Kinsella's win was a surprise. The Ottawa boy was not in the best of shape, and it was thought that Barber had a good chance of winning the event.

THE BOYS' 100.

The boys' one hundred yards race for boys, under 17 years of age, was won by C. J. Harvey, of the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, with O'Donnell, of Hamilton, second, and McKinnon, of Hamilton, third. Hyslop, a local boy, was first, but was disqualified for fouling.

HAMILTON CLEANED.

The half-mile handicap bicycle race was a clean-up for the Dominion B. C. of Hamilton. Harry Bawden won, B. Cornell was second, and F. Klingbell third; all belonging to the Dominions.

BOYS' FAST MILE.

The mile race for boys under 17 years of age, was a very classy performance, the time 4.54 being very fast under the circumstances, F. Carroll of the Irish Canadians, Toronto, won with Roscoe L. Wren of the Evangelists, second, and Miller, of Hamilton, third.

KERR'S GREAT PERFORMANCE

Bobby Kerr, Canada's champion sprinter, was given a great reception when he came out to give his exhibition against time. The track is circular, and the footing poor, but Kerr gave a magnificent exhibition. He did the 100 yards in 10 flat, a phenomenal time, considering the condition and is about as clever an exhibition as the Hamilton flyer has ever given. It demonstrated to his many rfiends that he is in as good form now as ever. Kerrs' own Canadian record for the distance is 9 4-5 seconds. Bobby covered the 220 yards around a corner in 22 2-5 seconds, just 4-5 of a sencond slower than his record. ..

BARBER'S HIGH JUMP.

The high jump went to Geo. Barber, of the Central Y. M. C. A. Toronto, with Colin of Galt, second, and Langstaff, Toronto, third.

DENT WINS 100 YARDS.

Dent, the Woodstock student, sprang a big surprise by annexing the honours in the 220 yards 'dash. After Kinsella's showing in the 100 he was thought to have a cinch in the other sprint. Barber of the Toronto Centrals, was second and Fraser of Hamilton, third.

THE RELAY RACE.

The four-mile Inter-City relay race between Don McCuaig and George Adams, of Hamilton, and Jack Tait, and Breden Galbraith, of Toronto, was an interesting affair. Each man on the team ran two miles; Tait beat Adams, but Galbraith could not hold McCuaig.

KNOX WON THE MILE.

Arnold Knox, of the Toronto Centrals, won the mile run with Chuck Skene of the Irish, second, and Neilson, of the West End Y. M. C. A., third.

EASY FOR GOULDING.

As was expected the two-mile handicap walk was easy for Geo. Goulding, of the Toronto Centrals, the Canadian champion, who won in remarkably fast time, considering the bad track. Chuck Skene was second and McCullough third.

TWO-MILE BICYCLE RACE.

Andrews, who was on the Olympic team, won the two-mile bicycle race, with Richardson, of Hamilton, second,, and Jones, of Hamilton, third.

WOODS BEAT McCAFFERY.

Billy Woods, of Brantford, easily defeated the veteran Jack McCaffrey, of Hamilton, in a two-mile match race.

SCHOLFIELD'S FIVE MILE.

The feature event ,the five-mile race, was comparatively easy for F. Scholfield ,of Toronto.

KNOX CHAMPION.

Arnold Knox, of the Central Y. M. C. A. won the Flanagan medal and the individual championship with three firsts.

The meet throughout was a gret success, the evnts being well contested and the interest intense. Some of the best atheletes in the country ook part.

Brintons And Bethany Played To a Tie in First Soccer Game Of The Year

From Sporting Extra.

When Referee Jack Sullivan blew his whistle for full time in the Brintons-Bethany game this afternoon, the first of the Midland League series to be played in Peterborough this year, the rather unsatisfactory result of a tie, one all, was announced. The game was played on the Carpet Factory's grounds in the lot east of the Driving Park and was witnessed by a fairly large crowd, among whom there was a conspicuous representation of the fair sex.

It was a hard-fought battle ,replete with action and marked by continuous end to end play, close checking, and, at times, fair combination. The Brintons are all Old Countrymen, and are well acquainted with the game, but they bumped up against a sturdy aggregation in the young farmers from Bethany. The Brintons may have shown more science, but the weather-hardened country boys were in the game all the time.

THE KICK-OFF.

Brintons won the toss, and to mark the opening of the League on local territory, the Honorary President, Hon. J. R. Straton boosted the ball with the wind well up into Bethany's territory, and the game was on. The teams were well-matched, and, as a result, the leather speroid was led a merry dance, from end to end. Finally, about 13 minutes before half-time, the Carpet Makers, after a scrimmage in front of Bethany's flags, scored on a corner kick, Downes being responsible for the goal.

BETHANY EVENS UP

The second session was very similar to the first. Bethany making good use of the wind, which was now at their backs. The pace was hard, but the Brintons responded well. Bethany evened up, five minutes before full time, when Delong put a nice one past Giles. There was no more scoring.

The teams lined up as follows:

BRINTONS—Goal, A. Giles; backs, A. Rew and A. Bishop; Halves, C. Downes; A. Ashton, and J. Apsey; right wing, T. Monk and D. Ferguson; left wing, H. Davis, and T. Williams; centre, T. Moule.

BETHANY—Goal, H. Price; backs, W. Price and C. Morton; halves, Dr. Hamilton, W. Hannah and J. Staples; right wing, Brenton and K. Sisson; left wing, A. Delong and M. Sherin; centre, E. Roberts.

Referee—J. E. Sullivan.

Walter Price, at full back, for Bethany, and Tommy Monk, one of Brinton's forwards, were the stars of the game, but the latter did not receive sufficient support from his team mates.

AN ACCIDENT.

An unavoidable and purely accidental mishap occurred about three minutes before full time. Ferguson, who had been playing well for the Brintons, received a swinging kick on the leg. Had it been his shin, the bone would have been undoubtedly broken. It was received, however, on one side, and in a few miutes the injured part had puffed out like a toy balloon, and was very painful. Dr. Hamilton attended him and expressed his surprise at the size of the swelling.

The game, taken as a whole, was clean, and Referee Sullivan kept the play well in hand. The teams were very evenly matched, and from the side lines the play was pretty to watch. The Brintons have a good, strong eleven, and with more united work should nose out ahead of Bethany in the return game. They will have no walk-over in so doing, and will need hard pratice in the meantime.

COMMENTS ON LOCAL FANS BY "BLEACHER"

To the Sporting Editor.

Sir,—I noticed in a letter in your issue of Saturday that some one is worrying about the fact that the city and the "fans" are not going to have a fast article of ball served up to them this summer. Let me urge the writer to try and forget it, for, judging from the past the so-called fans are not worrying in the least whether there is baseball here or not. I do not wish to make a sweeping statement, for there are a few who are willing to part friendship with a quarter to see a ball game if it is worth while going to see, but for the most part the bunch are satisfied to walk around the street until the game is over and ask the result from the few who were there.

Last year there was good, fast ball played at Riverside, and the fans were conspicuous by their absence, except for a mere handful. The games should have been played on Central Park, or some other grounds not enclosed by a high board fence and near enough to avoid the necessity of paying car fare. Kindly tell your correspondent to devote his attention to something worth while, for he is worrying himself unnecessarily over a public that will turn out en masse for a circus parade, or a road race, but when there is a ball game, or a rugby match they do not care a rap who wins. They may be curious, but their curiosity is not worth twenty-five cents. Thankink you, etc.

ANOTHER FAN WRITES ON THE BASEBALL LEAGUE TANGLE

Sporting Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I read with some interest a letter in your issue on Saturday from a ball fan in regard to the Intermediate Baseball League, and the way in which it is being conducted. Now, I want to say that I think that both parties are rather in the wrong, in this connection. The teams that supported that amendment on Friday night, in regard to Midland League players, wanted to strengthen their teams; the teams that opposed the move were not in a position to strengthen, and therefore naturally opposed the motion. Both sides are not to be blamed, but a mistake was made in not allowing the Park St. team to vote on the question, and then afterwards admitting them to the League. The question to be voted on was a most important one, and affected the Park St. team as well as any of the others. Then, why should not their representative have been allowed to vote? I am given to understand that the Park St. team were in favour of the amendment. If such was the case there would not have been any deadlock in the matter if they had been allowed to vote.

I don't agree with "Ball Fan" in pronouncing the Intermediate League a kindergarten league, although from the way some of the teams are acting the title seem justifiable.

Yours, etc.,
ANOTHER FAN.

REVISED SCHEDULE OF GAMES FOR THE INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Jerry Edmunds, "The Make Good Kid," Wins A Game For Winnipeg Team

Maybe Jerry Edmunds isn't the Makegood Kid!

The sturdy youngster who caught for Peterborough in the Midland League, last season, is in solid with Winnipeg fans, as the result of his great playing in the first two games in the Western League. In the second game against Brandon, Jerry had one of Winnipeg's two hits, which resulted in the only run of the game. In addition there were no stolen bases against him, he accepted eleven chances without an error, and figured in two double plays. The sporting writers of the Winnipeg papers are sweet on Jerry already and here are some of the nice things the Free Press says of the Peterborough boy.

Hero Jerry Edmonds.

A solid rap by Jerry Edmonds in the second stanza was the real musical affair of the afternoon, as it provided the one and only run. This same Peterborough lad was very much the matinee idol all through, as it was his quick and sturdy work which kept the enemy from connecting in the last two rounds, and provided an exciting and satisfactory conclusion to a classy performance.

Hartman's start was none too promising, as Morrell was presented with free transportation, but Rogers, who had been promoted to second position, fouled out to Edmunds, trying to sacrifice, and the bal lwas whipped to first in time to double up Morrell, Kane taking the throw. By this time Morrell was on the last lap, but Holmes lost no time in whipping the ball home, and Jerry got his man in great style.

On the first ball pitched Traeger started for second, and Parker got a good lead off third. Edmonds made a perfect throw to Kane, and Traeger was blocked. Parker darted towards home. Kane shot back the ball, Parker was trapped and easily retired, and the game was over.

LOCAL BASEBALL

With four months of baseball the City Leaguers should be artists by the first of October if they are ever going to shine at all. It is up to the league to sign the agreement with Mr. A. H. Stratton, by which the Spalding ball will be used and thereby yeinch the pennant or shield which ever is chosen. The ball bill this year will likely be a big one, and the boys might as well secure the extra trophy, when it is possible.

• • •

The referee question will be another stumbling block this year. Abuse is possible when the referee received a financial compensation for his work, but when it is gratis he will not come back for another dose of that kind of treatment.

HARRISON WAS SIXTH.

Local "Ped" Made a Good Showing in Walking Match—Hoagland Was First.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 17.—At the close of the seven night walking contest for the world's championship, W. A. Hoagland, the Auburn, N.Y., champion, captured first place with 113 miles and one lap to his credit for the week. George Brown, also of Auburn, was second, with 112 miles and six laps, and A. L. Corry, the French walker and runner, took third place in the final standing; his distance for the seven nights being 111 miles and 13 laps. The final standing: Hoagland 113-1; Brown, 112-6; Correy, 111-13; Harrison 105-5, West, 109-19; Blake, 109-2; Quale, 104-9; Regan, 103-9.

METHODICAL BURGLARS.

The Ones John's Wife Was Sure She Heard Every Night.

There had been a number of burglaries in a certain suburban neighborhood, and the conversation at a small whist party turned naturally enough on burglars. Everybody had expressed an opinion except a quiet, elderly gentleman.

"Doesn't it make you nervous," somebody asked him, "to think every night when you go to bed that you may be burglarized before morning?"

"Oh, we don't mind them," said the elderly gentleman cheerfully, with a glance across the room at his wife. "We're too well used to them, aren't we, Mary?"

"John," said his wife warningly. "don't be silly."

"Silly?" echoed he and turned to the others. "Now, that's her modesty. Those burglars have been trying to go through our house every night for two weeks; always get in through the dining room window too. But Mary hears them. Yes, sir, no sooner do they get through the window than Mary hears 'em and wakes me up. Fortunately for us, Mary is a very light sleeper."

"But it must be awful to wake up like that!" exclaimed one of the listeners.

"Rather disturbing the first night," continued the speaker, "but not so bad after one gets used to it. All I have to do, you know, is to get up and lock the bedroom door, and then the burglars go right back out of the dining room window. Very methodical they are, too," added the elderly gentleman thoughtfully, "for they always lock the window after them."—Youth's Companion.

THE GIRAFFE.

Africa's Second Story Worker With the Long Distance Neck.

The giraffe is the second story worker of the animal kingdom. It is a merger of the zebra and the camel and is also a distant relative of the palm tree. The giraffe consists of eight feet of neck equipped with a body at one end and a head at the other. In the matter of neck it has all the rest of the animal kingdom beaten by a length. The giraffe's mouth is located so far from its stomach that it has to eat today to appease tomorrow's appetite. Many a giraffe has starved to death while the first meal it had eaten for two weeks was slowly traveling its transcontinental esophagus.

The giraffe looks as if it had started out to be a zebra, but, having reached the shoulders, had kept on going. It is very dark in color, marked by yellowish brown stripes in a handsome linoleum pattern. It lives on tree tops, eagles' nests and rainbows. During the Boer war the British army had some difficulty with giraffes, which formed a great liking for war balloons and frequently nibbled them during their flight in order to inhale the gas.

Why does the giraffe have a long distance neck? Persons given to the use of common sense will realize that Africa is rich in insect life as well as animal life and that all African animals carry innumerable parasites on their hides. The giraffe's head is so far from his body that a long neck is absolutely necessary in order that he may reach down and grab off a tick from his fetlock when necessary. Even a child could see this.—Collier's Weekly.

Extracting Wood Oil.

Chinese wood oil is obtained from the nut of the wood oil tree by pressing or extracting. The color of the oil varies with the method of extraction. In China it is usually beated strongly and is consequently very thick and black. Wood oil forms a very durable lacquer for wood, far surpassing boiled linseed oil in hardness and permanence. The oil possesses the peculiarity of drying more quickly in damp than in dry weather. The residue of the nuts left after the removal of the oil is a good fertilizer, which possesses the valuable property of destroying insects which feed on the roots of plants.—Scientific American.

Visited by His Mother.

Windsor, May 17.—Richard Kraft's aged mother visited him in Sandwich jail, where he is awaiting trial for shooting three men in his attempt to escape from Windsor police headquarters. Prison rules prevented the woman from entering the cell, but she clasped her boy in her arms through the bars and sobbed brokenheartedly as she talked to him in German.

The defence will probably be an attempt to show that there was no intent to murder, but that the prisoner was so nervous that he was irresponsible.

To Build All-Steel Cars.

Chicago, May 17.—Richmond Dean, general manager of the Pullman Co. announced that $3,000,000 will be spent in the improvement of the car shops at Pullman. This means the employment of 12,000 men. The capacity of the plant is to be largely increased, the increased being almost entirely in the line of steel car construction. One of the first orders is 300 all-steel passenger cars for the Pennsylvania road.

Toledo, May 17.—Emil Miller, a non-union fireman on the Bowersox wharf arrived in port Saturday night, left the boat early in the evening and was attacked by a group of striking lake seamen.

A Modest Art Student.

An art student in Berlin wrote to a brewing concern in Bohemia offering to paint for the brewers "pictures suitable for advertising purposes—artistic, appropriate, attractive and cheap." He went on to say: "Sir John Millais was not above taking 40,000 marks from a soapmaker for one of his paintings to be used as an advertisement. Nor did he hesitate to offer other pictures for the same purpose at the same price. Why should not I, who owe my tailor and who fears to look my landlady in the face, not do the same? Stay! I shall do better. Am willing to take less than 40,000 marks for my best work."

Slow and Sure.

"How is my son getting along?" asked a parent of the headmaster of a school.

"He's slow and sure," was the response.

"That's satisfactory!"

"Not so," rejoined the master. "By it I mean that he is slow to learn and sure to forget."—London Telegraph

To Suffer From Headaches Makes Life Miserable.

It takes a person that has had or is subject to headaches to describe the suffering which attends them.

The majority of cases are caused by constipation and dyspepsia. The dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, purely indicates that there is something the matter with the stomach or bowels. To the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches every part of the system is due its success in relieving and permanently curing headache. It has proven a specific for the malady in all its forms.

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHES.

Mrs. Allison E. Brown, Summerfield, N.B., writes:—"I have been troubled with Constipation and Headaches for a long time. After trying different doctors to no effect, a friend asked me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I find I am completely cured after taking three bottles. I can safely recommend it to all."

This beautifully coloured picture tells an interesting story of a child, being turned out from home by her brothers at her father's death, and her adventures afterwards, and how the Fairies helped her.

"The Marathon Craze"
A very funny comedy, showing how the people just at present are almost crazy over Marathon races and how the grandmothers and even the babies are affected by it.

"Zou-Zou, The Lucky Dog"
This is a very pretty drama, showing the kindness shown to a dog by a little boy, and how he inherited a rich man's estate by it.

BANFF AND ITS CANE.

Written for The Examiner by Mr. D. D. Galletley, formerly of Peterboro'.

At Banff, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, is a cave that is well worth visiting. To say nothing of all manner of grotesque stalactites and stalagmites and other subterranean wonders, it is not often given one to explore the nitimal mysteries of a geyser. Entering the passage, made ages ago by water ,driven by incalculable pressure forcing its way through solid rock, one comes to a wider chamber where heavy deposits of sulphur have coated the limestone with a crystal veneer, which shines in the lamp-light like precious stones. The effect is perhaps best described in the words of the caretaker. We do not have to glance at his bonnet to recognize a countryman of Carlyle, Scott and Burns, who has perchance brought a bit of his natural eloquence of "The Land of Cakes," to this distant scene.

"Ma freens," he says, as he casts the light of his lamp now here, now there, on the glistening walls. "Ye's just gettin' a faint squint o' what the Pearly Gates and Jasper Walls are like, but ye'll remember hoo, in ye'r Bunyan, the shepherds o' the Delectable Mountains showed Pilgrim a hole in the hillside which was a [illegible] the Pleasant Land of B[illegible] and [illegible] lead down to the Bottomless Lake."

"Ye'll [illegible] the very heart of the geyser. This [illegible] was [illegible] force o' water and gas. See hoo the giant [illegible] [illegible] went on to [illegible]. But when he wounded himself in the side—when the pressure tore that breach in the wa' by which we entered—then the gas and the water escaped with a roar, and it spouted never more. He just gee'd himself a solar plexus and knocked himself oo't o' business; he e'en smote himself under the fifth rib and de'ed. Like Samson, when he got his locks shorn his strength has left him. The cave underwent an operation for appendicitis, the operation was successful, but the patient died and its been smelling like rotten eggs ever since. I have obsairved there is invariably a dame or Delilah, connected wie' aw' catastrophies i' this warld; the Delilah in this case was 'Dame Nature.'"

Seeing one visitor, a young lady from New York look bewildered here, Sandy asks her if she ever read the story of Samson.

To his dismay she replies, "No." "What," he exclaims incredulously. "Never read the story of the strong man Samson?" (Scotty didn't tell her whaur the story was to be found, ye ken). "Oh," she replies, a light dawning upon her, "You mean the strong man, Sandow of New York. I knew him."

But when he points out what he claims to be "A terrible blot on the Venus of Milo," he is careful to keep well away from the ladies, though he immediately seeks to reinstate himself in their good graces with polite [illegible] by a flattering quotation from his favourite bard.

All Nature wears the lovely dress,
Her noblest work she classes O.
Her 'prentice hand she tried on man,
And then she made the lasses, O.

He now introduces us to Emperor, also the head of a mountain sheep, and the King of the Cannibal Islands. This last natural curiosity draws forth an anecdote which proves the descendant of the Covenanters to be "I'll to Joke wi'," and like his countryman, John Knox, no respector of persons. A jolly party of tilted young Englishmen visited the cave in the course of their travels. There was no mistaking the Scotchman, and they proceeded forthwith to christen him with different names, but all alike in beginning with "Mac." "Not being ashamed of any name wi' a Mac in it," as he proudly observed.

When they came to the curiosity mentioned, a knight asked if he had a name for it. "That," replied Scotty, "is fierce enough, and ugly enough to be called The King of the Cannibal Islands." The young knight with a merry twinkle in his eye, and a wink to his party patted the Scotchman on the shoulder and said, "MacGregor, I was in your country some months ago, in Glasgow, and standing at a tobacconist's shop door was a wooden statue with a bonnet on, much like the one you wear yoursel', and" glancing toward the ugly profile, and then looking Scotty square in the eye, with a hand pointing to the cannibal, he added, "a face very much like that." Before he could think, the [illegible]

At the back of the rock shaped like a hat are terraces hollowed by the action of the water, which, our conductor gravely tells us, lead direct to the apartments reserved exclusively for Mephistopheles, who visits them once a year on Hallowe'en night, at the special invitation of Scotty. He even assures us he has been favoured with a personal glimpse of a real "Witches' Sabbath, and Satan's invisible world displayed," and is quite certain that Burns' account, though so vivid, scarce does justice to the wonderful spectacle. Of course the Gentleman-in-Black does not forget to bring his bag-pipes. "I assure ye," says Scotty "Mephisto is juist the King o' pipers, and aw'l venture the opeenion that auld Nick first chairmed Eve wie a chune on the pibroch before tempting her wie' the apple. Fiction

Cinderella.

By EUGENIE ULRICH.

Young Hetherington filled his brierwood pipe.

"You don't mind, do you? You are always so jolly and chummy."

She smiled a little deprecatingly. There were times when somehow she wished Hetherington did not find her so jolly and chummy, though these times had nothing to do with the brierwood pipe. The comfortable house was hers in effect, and she, the friendless and kinless kindergartner, must of course have felt it good fortune to be saved the lot of the boarding house and given the companionship of pleasant and well set up people. All the other young women she knew told her over and over again and reminded her that she ought to be grateful for her mercies.

It is true that if Mrs. Hetherington's oldest daughter had not married and gone to live in a distant city and her youngest had not died she perhaps would not have felt the need of a girlish presence in the house enough to take in Winifred.

Winifred watched Hugh Hetherington lift his fine length and move across the room after a light for his pipe. As the match flare flickered on his clean features she thought, as any woman must have, what a handsome fellow he was. But Winnie thought also that if her own mouth had not been so big, her tendency to freckle so hopeless and the tint of her hair so uncompromisingly red Mrs. Hetherington might not have liked her quite so well. Moreover, she looked a bit older than Hugh, too, though she had carefully figured out that she in fact was a year younger.

But then Hugh's childhood had passed in the flush of pleasure and the sunshine of affection—and hers? She was too humble to be sorry for herself and too wise not to see in the worst that had ever happened her the possibilities of still worse and thus be thankful for the providence that had kept her in its hand.

But yet this evening she thought more sharply than usual of another girl's symmetry, her gowns, her accomplishments, her opportunities, all the things that are dear to the heart of woman. And why not? Venus herself was not irresistible until she put on the right girdle. Hugh had asked her to help in comparing some lists, and she knew very well that every minute of help she gave him this evening was an extra minute for the other girl.

She bent her head over the papers before her, for the things she was thinking must steal into her face in spite of herself.

"Are you very tired?" said Hetherington kindly, but yet altogether impersonally. She raised her head and smiled. What was the use? If it were not this misery it would be something else for a waif such as she. "Oh, not at all," she said.

"I do not believe there is another girl who would be as patient as you are with all my tiresome stuff and with me too. Even mother's endurance gives out once in awhile, and she scolds about my den. If it weren't for you I don't know what would happen. If you're really not tired I want to go over these lists with you now, and then I'm off for the Kendrick reception. Gertrude Stevenson will be there," he said, a happy little smile playing about his lips. "Seems to me she is getting more beautiful every day. Don't you think so?"

Hetherington did not even look at her for his answer. He was indeed insisting on being even chummier than usual this evening, and Winifred bent her head close over the papers once more.

"Of course," Hetherington went on, "Gertrude is popular, very. Sillington has a mint of money, too, but I don't think she's the kind of girl who would stoop to anything like that."

Winifred had to listen to that and much more in snatches and monologues, and she was glad when at last Hetherington left. There are times when it is singularly harder to be "chummy" than at others.

The next morning Hetherington had gone when she came to breakfast, something most unusual for him. In the evening he did not ask her help. He talked very little, and Mrs. Hetherington later said to her husband, "Can it be that Hugh is not well?"

Her husband looked up retrospectively over his glasses.

"Maybe he's in love. Maybe he has proposed to some girl and she's turned him down. Every young fellow has to have a lesson or two. It won't hurt him, I suppose."

"Oh, how can you talk so? I am sure Hugh would not propose to a girl without talking to me about it first."

Whereupon Mr. Hetherington, Sr., smiled behind his paper and went on reading. A long and comparatively serene matrimonial voyage had taught him that arguments only fill the sails with head winds.

Winifred herself neither questioned nor seemed to take heed of Hugh's moods. After several evenings he came down and asked her once more to come and help him.

"What do you think, Winifred," he said abruptly after awhile, "ought to be the test of love?"

"I should think if some one loved you all the time, whether you are fresh or tired, pleasant or not pleasant, successful or not."

"Fresh or tired, pleasant or not pleasant, successful or not"— Then he laughed a little jarringly, she thought. "But what do you know about it, after all? You never loved like that, did you?"

She looked at him with startled, almost guilty, eyes, and Hetherington had a queer feeling of having entered unwittingly into a sanctified presence.

He rose and walked around the room aimlessly for a few minutes. Then he said he had some nasty experiments to make and maybe she would not want to stay, although he rather looked as though he would have liked to have her.

But she left and then sat at her window watching his shadow move to and fro as it fell against the trees of the garden. Suddenly she heard a spluttering explosion and a strange guttural cry. For a ghastly second she watched the fitful leap of lights on the trees, but his shadow did not come back. Then she grabbed her water pitcher, full, happily, and the heavy rug on the floor and ran into his room. She flung the door open upon a thin blur of flame and flickering tongues reaching like dancing imps here and there in midair and through it all something like a huddled figure on the floor. Up went the water ahead of herself and over herself and then the rug over the figure, and with a strength she hardly dared to think could be in her tense muscles she dragged it out toward the hall. Then, wrapping her skirts around herself with a quick turn, she tore down the burning portieres that screened the laboratory from the den, and, finding the hose attached to the hydrant, she set the spray over herself and over the room.

By this time the others had come. But it was really all over. She staggered out to look at Hugh. His eyes were closed, his face blackened.

"Is he dead? Oh, is he dead?" she said weakly.

Then, covering her face with her burned hands as if fearing the answer, she sank down in a white heap beside him.

The next day Hugh, who, though singed and stunned, had been little hurt, sat beside her and held her bandaged hands.

He watched the play of her features as he talked to her, and it seemed to him like watching an unfolding flower. He caught himself wondering again and again at some newly discovered charm. What deep, fine eyes! What a singularly sweet and unaffected smile! What an intimate gentleness in her voice!

Mrs. Hetherington said one morning: "How charming you are in that pale yellow wrapper! You are quite transformed." And she passed her hand tenderly over the girl who had saved her last child to her.

Hugh said, "She is Cinderella, and the fairy godmother has shaken the magic tree over her."

And he did not know just yet that the magic which was touching her and him, too, was older even than fairy godmothers.

He spent his spare moments now trying to please her, even as she had once tried to please him. He told her over and over again that it was her wit and her speed and her dear burned hands that saved his life after his stupidity with the ether and the collodion.

"Ah, no!" she would say. "It was an inspiration. I am not a bit brave of myself."

"Do you remember," he said one day, "your test of love?"

She blushed a little this time. "You never told me," he went on, "whether you ever loved any one that way or not."

She did not answer.

"Do you think that you could?"

He thought he saw a smile flit over the face, bent away from him though it was, and he took her hands that were now healed, though still scarred a little.

She raised her head and looked at him, and Hetherington suddenly knelt down before her and kissed her hands, and then he drew her head down to him and kissed her on the lips.

Charm Against Nightmare.

No man would willingly invoke the horrors of nightmare, and it may therefore be of interest to know that in East Anglia a way has been discovered of averting this dreaded terror. A correspondent in an old number of London Notes and Queries writes: "I recently observed a large stone, having a natural hole through it, suspended inside a Suffolk farmer's cow house. Upon inquiry of a laborer I was informed this was intended as a preventive of nightmare in the cattle. My informant, who evidently placed great faith in its efficacy, added that a similar stone suspended in the bedroom or a knife of steel laid under the foot of the bed was of equal service to the sleeper and that he had himself frequently made use of this charm."—London Chronicle.

Diplomatic Comment.

"Many stories have been told of Cipriano Castro, exiled president of Venezuela, and of his monumental conceit," said Dr. T. H. McDonough of San Francisco to the Washington Herald. "During the Russo-Japanese war the fall of Port Arthur was being explained to him.

"'Pshaw!' he exclaimed. 'With 500 Venezuelans I could have taken it in four days.'

"'With a thousand in one day, your excellency,' said the diplomatic representative of a European power.

"Castro was so pleased that it is said the diplomat succeeded the next day in procuring the payment of a claim that his government had been vainly pressing for years."

Scottish Miner's Wit.

An amusing comment was made by a miner at an ambulance lecture in Elphinstone, East Lothian. The lecturer had stated that if suffocation from choking was likely to ensue the simplest remedy to give relief till medical aid arrived was to take a fine pointed penknife and make a small incision in the throat. One of the miners then shouted: "Ye dinna ken Elphinstone folks. If I was to try that the morn here's what wad happen: if that man died his folk wad hae me prosecuted for murder, and if he got better he himself wad be the first to prosecute me for cutting his throat."—Dundee Advertiser.

Corsets In Gowns.

Paris is sending many of its new gowns to us with corsets made in them. For the tall, slim girl this is really just the touch to give the real empire effect. These gowns are well holding their own and from present indications will continue to do so for quite a time to come.

For a woman with the slightest inclination to stoutness this boning of the frock, no matter how much there is of it, is not sufficient harness. Her hips must be held down. But the slender girl can wear the boning with the greatest ease and satisfaction.

They are regular corsets, and the frock is made to their shape. They are laced after the gown is on.

On each side of the back for a space of two or three inches corset and gown are left free of each other. After the lacing has been done the frock is hooked up.

If the opening happens to be at one side of the back, as so many things have it at present, it simply means that the two must be left free of each other a few inches more on one side.

The British Museum.

In the early days of the British museum, a century or more ago, the place was open for only six hours daily on five days a week during the summer and four hours daily during the rest of the year. Nobody could remain in the building for more than two consecutive hours, and the number admissible at one time was strictly limited to fifteen. Each batch of visitors was shepherded by an attendant.

CARING FOR THE HAIR.

How to Disentangle the Hair of an Invalid.

In every one's life there comes the work of having to comb or disentangle the hair of one who has been sick. It is not an easy task. It requires patience and a good deal of knowledge.

Those who have never done the work may be glad to stow away in their memory these facts:

That knots in the hair should always be disentangled from below, not above.

In smoothing and combing a sick person's hair the first work is to part it from forehead to nape of neck and brush the two divisions well away from each other.

The hair should be separated by the comb into small divisions, one at a time, beginning at the forehead.

The combing should begin at the end of the hair, never at the scalp. The hair near the head should be securely held by the hand and twisted over one finger, so that the scalp will not feel any pull from the comb.

Begin work about an inch from the end and gradually work up. When a knot is struck it should be separated, if possible, from the smooth hair and loosened by the teeth of the comb at its lower edge.

If a knot is loosened by the teeth of the comb inserted into the outer edges and shaken gently the hairs uncoil and spring back into their rightful position.

A little skill and a little patience will teach a person how to disentangle any snarls with speed and ease.

When each division of the hair has been gently combed out and separated from those that are uncombed all the hair should be drawn back over the shoulders and the comb gently run through it from forehead to ends.

If the patient remains in bed the hair should be again parted down the center and softly braided into two plaits which have the ends turned under and securely tied with baby ribbon.

And one should be sure not to make these plaits too tight. They should not start at the roots of the hair, for this causes a constant pull on the scalp, which results in soreness or headache.

Honey Sweets.

Cakes and candies with a flavor and delicacy all their own may be made with honey as the principal ingredient. Here are recipes for some of them:

Honey Nougat.—Put half a pound each of strained honey and white sugar into a saucepan over a slow fire. Cook until brittle when dropped in cold water. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth and whip into the honey mixture. As it begins to cool add a little extract, preferably lemon or orange, or, better still, the fruit juice, and a pound and a half of almonds blanched and broken into small pieces. Mix thoroughly and spread on oiled paper. When cold cut into strips or bars.

Honey Cream Candy.—Into a granite saucepan put one-half pound of sugar, one cupful of strained honey, one-half cupful of thick, sweet cream and a dessertspoonful of cold water. Stir well together and set aside for an hour. Then place over a moderately hot fire and cook until quite stiff. Pour into buttered plates and when it is cool enough to handle pull and break into pieces.

The Practical One.

BRONCHITIS, Huskiness, Throat Catarrh

Delightful Cure Discovered That Cures Quickly.

Old-fashioned remedies were administered through the stomach only, but as it is impossible to swallow anything into the lungs, little benefit ever resulted.

Strong drugs, such as opium, chlorodyne and cocaine, were resorted to, but did more harm than good.

Nowadays, when a doctor meets a case of catarrh — finds the throat filled with mucous—sore all the way down, he prescribes Catarrhozone because he knows it goes direct to the disease.

Catarrhozone cures by antiseptic balsams that are carried by the air you breathe direct to the source of the trouble.

It aids expectoration — clears away the phlegm—carries health-laden vapors to the sore, irritated tissues.

In one minute you experience decided relief with Catarrhozone and invariably it does cure every type of Catarrh, Bronchitis, irritable throat and hoarseness.

Just think of it—a sure cure without noxious drugs—one that is guaranteed and delightfully pleasant as well. Catarrhozone only, complete for two months' use, $1.00; small (trial) size 50c, at all dealers.

CATARRHOZONE A SURE CURE.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY IN EASTERN ONTARIO

From Farm and Dairy.

In view of the re-opening of the dairy season, the following remarks on the cheese industry in Eastern Ontario for 1908, made by Mr. G. G. Publow, chief instructor, at the Dairymen's convention last winter are much to the point. By taking heed of any weak points in last season's business we should be able to avoid them this year:

While the majority of the factorymen responded readily to the recommendations made by the instructors, yet some 25 persisted in keeping their factories in a very unsanitary condition. They were informed that unless they made the necessary improvements at once, action would be taken against them. I am pleased to report that we obtained the conditions asked for without having to resort to this measure. To be fair to the factorymen, I might say that it was not because they did not see the necessity for the improvements asked for, but owing to their small patronage and the low price of manufacture, there was little or no profit in their business, in fact some of them did not have enough to pay the running expenses. It is to be regretted that in this eastern section, there are so many small factories. Wherever possible, two or three should be combined and a good up-to-date factory built in their stead.

LACK COOL-CURING FACILITIES

With the exception of one or two districts, the majority of the factories are now in good condition as far as the buildings and drainage are concerned. However, the great majority of them are lacking in good facilities for curing the cheese. Only 49 are so equipped as to be able to maintain a uniform temperature in the curing room throughout the season, although this is essential for the proper curing of cheese. During the hot weather where there are no facilities for controlling the temperature, heavy losses are often sustained through the deterioration and shrinkage of the cheese in the curing rooms, and besides there is not the independence of market conditions that is possessed by factories equipped with cool-curing rooms. The lack of these conditions is often responsible for the shipping of cheese so close to the hoops.

WHEY BUTTER

Some 63 factories manufactured butter from whey, as compared with 14 last season. The yield showed a variation of from 3 to 8 lbs. a ton, the increased yield being obtained when the milk was received in an over-ripe condition and was being delivered every other day. While it is evident that with proper facilities and care in the manufacture, good butter for immediate use can be made, yet I am still of the opinion, that where the milk is delivered to the factories in a cool sweet condition and skilfully handled in the manufacture, it will not pay for factories to adopt the practice unless the output is large.

PREVALENT DEFECTS

The defects that were most common in the defective cheese were, openness in make, coarseness of texture, and flavor not clean. Very few complaints were made regarding the finish and boxing of the cheese. The improvement in this respect has been very marked. While the majority of the makers are capable and are doing good work, yet there are a number who are indifferent and lacking in ability and experience. Of the 941 who were in charge of the factories this year, only 301 have received any dairy school training, and of this number only 75 hold certificates or diplomas from any of our dairy schools. I would strongly recommend the cheese and butter makers to take at least a short term in one of the dairy schools each year, and thus take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the Department of Agriculture, of getting a knowledge of the scientific principles of dairying. It is so essential that they should be possessed of this information to enable them to deal successfully with the dairy problems with which they are being continually confronted.

I would like to express my appreciation of the manner in which the instructors performed the duties allotted to them. They put forth their best efforts to bring about improvements in their respective districts, and as a result, more substantial improvements that will tend to the uplifting of the dairy industry were made in 1908 than in any previous year. The directors of the Dairymen's Association have at all times given their assistance to the instructors and myself in our efforts to improve the quality of our dairy products and the conditions surrounding their manufacture.

BETTER MILK DELIVERED

The quality of the milk delivered to the cheese factories showed a marked improvement over that of the previous year. As a result of dairy education, the patrons are taking a more intelligent view of the principals involved in the production and care of milk, and we have every confidence that the improvement will be more marked during the coming season.

FEWER PATRONS

The number of patrons delivering milk to the cheese factories last year was 36,801, which is some 1,700 less than in 1907. This decrease is largely due to the fact that many of the patrons found it necessary to dispose of their herds in 1907 on account of the scarcity of fodder.

WORK THAT WEAKENS

Booth's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service For People Who Work in Peterborough

Many Peterborough people work every day in some strained unnatural position, bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting waggons or cars, bending over heavy house work, lifting, reaching, pulling, all these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs, Peterborough cures prove it.

Mrs. W. Huycke, of 31 Louis street, Peterborough, Ont., says: "Mr. Huycke had frequently suffered with backache. At times the pains in the small of the back would become so severe that he would be unable to straighten himself up with out much suffering. He could not stoop or lift anything of consequence and his general health had been run down for some long time. He had tried a number of different remedies, but did not find relief until on advice of a friend, he procured Booth's Kidney Pills at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy and commenced treatment. He soon found relief. The pains left his back and he strengthened. He has had no return of the trouble since, and speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills."

WASH THE SEPARATOR.

From Farm and Dairy.

James Stonehouse, Creamery Instructor, Kingston, Ont.

In visiting patrons of creameries, I have found that there is a great tendency to not wash the separator. Some wash it once a day, some not that often. They claim that they cannot see any difference in the butter made from the cream when the separator is cared for in this manner. Let them keep that butter for three months and then they would see a great difference. This practice of neglecting the separators is on the increase. Fifty per cent of farmers wives are neglecting to wash the separator. Those practices must be stopped as far as possible. Many clean women in other respects leave their separator in a filthy state because the separator agent that had a difficult machine to clean said that it was not necessary to wash his machine. When one woman starts washing her separator only once a day, her neighbors soon do the same thing. As a result of these practices, we are not getting as good cream from separators to-day as we did 10 years ago.

All the filth and the slime in the milk is left in the separator bowl. You may flush it out as much as you like, but all the slime and dirt is left there. The next time the milk is separated, many of the germs, that are sure to be growing there, will be taken out with the cream. When the separator is not washed, the cream cannot help but be contaminated, unless of course the separator has been frozen in the interval. You cannot see these germs, but they are there just the same. Many of these germs grow most rapidly at a temperature of about 70 degrees, hence they find a favorable temperature in which to work when the unwashed separator is located in the stable.

All the tinware and the bowl of the separator should be taken to the house regularly each time it is used and thoroughly washed and scalded. The very best care should be taken to clean it well. One might just as well and better leave their milking utensils unwashed as to neglect the separator. Any woman would be shocked at the idea of leaving her pails and other utensils unwashed, yet more damage is done to the cream in leaving the separator unwashed than in neglecting other utensils

CULTIVATION OF ORCHARDS.

From Farm and Dairy.

G. H. Carpenter, Wentworth Co., Ont.

Although feeling may differ as to the best methods of cultivation, there are some principles that every grower should understand. The chief objects of cultivation are to furnish our trees with food and the proper conditions of growth. In the early days of farming and fruit growing there was plenty of natural fertility in the soil; now we have to replenish the soil, besides making the fertility already there, available. Tillage is needed to conserve moisture.

We must study the soil and select one suitable to the kind of trees we wish to plant. The soil must be properly prepared previous to planting. It should be naturally well drained; if it is not, we must resort to tile drainage. Rolling soils need underdraining as well as those which are level. Shallow plowing in the spring should be practised, and then frequent shallow cultivation during the season.

A young orchard may be inter-cropped, but this should not be done too much, as these crops take a considerable amount of food from the trees Young orchards should not have sod or hay grown in them. They should be cultivated constantly till the end of July or middle of August, then a clover crop should be sown.

During the first few years of an orchard the earth should be plowed deeply to open up the soil. The extension disc and cutaway harrows are excellent implements to use, especially in orchards of low-headed trees.

Hoe crops are excellent for an orchard, such as turnips, potatoes, etc.; rape is also good. Some people grow nursery stock there, but it makes similar demands on the soil to orchard trees; hence, in order to do this, fertilizers must be used. Peach and plum trees, etc., can be cropped two or three years and apple orchards for seven or eight years. Orchards should not be left in sod except on side hills.

A cover crop adds humus and affords protection in winter; this crop should not be sown too early in the summer. If there is a heavy growth before winter it must be turned under early in the following spring. Clovers are very beneficial for this purpose. Crimson clover has been the best but is rather tender. Hairy vetch makes a capital cover crop. Rye can be grown almost anywhere. Cow peas are good but tender in winter. Field beans and peas are also grown to some extent.

VALUABLE DEMONSTRATIONS

From Farm and Dairy.

When asked what it costs to feed a cow, the average dairyman, if he could tell, would say about $3 a month. This is a reasonable estimate. If it costs $3 a month to keep a cow, then a cow that does not give at least 5,000 pounds of milk can make very little profit for her owner. The cow census for Eastern Ontario, taken by Mr. G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor, last season, brought out the fact that of the 340,829 cows covered by the census, an average of only 2,700 pounds of milk was obtained from each during the season of six months of cheese making. Many herds must have fallen far below that mark. The great possibilities of cow testing, when carefully studied and systematically carried on, are conclusively shown when we compare the record of the cows covered by Mr. Publow's census with those in the cow testing association at Rockford, Ont. In the cheese making period of six months last year, the Rockford cows averaged 6,098 pounds, or over twice the average production of the cows covered by Mr. Publow's census.

Systematic cow testing and a study of individual records as carried on by progressive members of the cow testing associations have brought out some unique examples of the great value of this work. Individual herds have been increased in production no less than 58 per cent. Mr. A. J. Davis, an Oxford County, Ont., dairyman, had, by means of keeping records and studying his individual cows, raised his herd average of 6500 pounds per cow for 1905 to 9,000 pounds a cow in 1908. Such figures surely talk and if we are going to keep cows at all, let us see to it that we know what it costs to feed that cow, what she produces, and what profit there is over and above this for her owner. Cow testing will do for us just what it has done for others. For years the Danes have demonstrated to us the value of this work During the last three years, and at present we are having it demonstrated right here at home. Let us profit by such demonstrations.

NERVOUS AND SLEEPLESS

Thousands are in this pitiable condition—blood is colorless, thin, and watery. Digestion is generally imperfect and needs attention. Appetite is fickle and requires pampering. Pretty soon the Kidneys and Liver cease to act properly—and then everything goes wrong.

"Last year I suffered from a run-down condition and Nervous Headache. I had the best treatment and medical assistance in the city but was not helped. FERROZONE rebuilt my strength and made me well." (Mrs.) J. Warren, St. John, N.B.

Ferrozone is a positive cure for Nervousness. It possesses marvelous tonic properties that quickly restore the nerves to a normal condition. It strengthens the heart, improves the blood circulation, aids digestion and assimilation of food. Ferrozone has a specific action on the Kidneys and Liver and causes these organs to eliminate all poisonous secretions. Ferrozone brings rest and quiet to the excited brain and is guaranteed to cure Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nerve Exhaustion, Tiredness, Languor, and all diseases arising from poverty of the blood. Refuse a substitute for Ferrozone which costs 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by druggists everywhere.

A large amount of reading and close work, exposure to artificial light and late hours in our modern city life. All these make severe demands upon the organs of vision, and produce or manifest troubles such as can frequently be best relieved by proper spectacles.

STUDIES for the GIRL WHO PAINTS

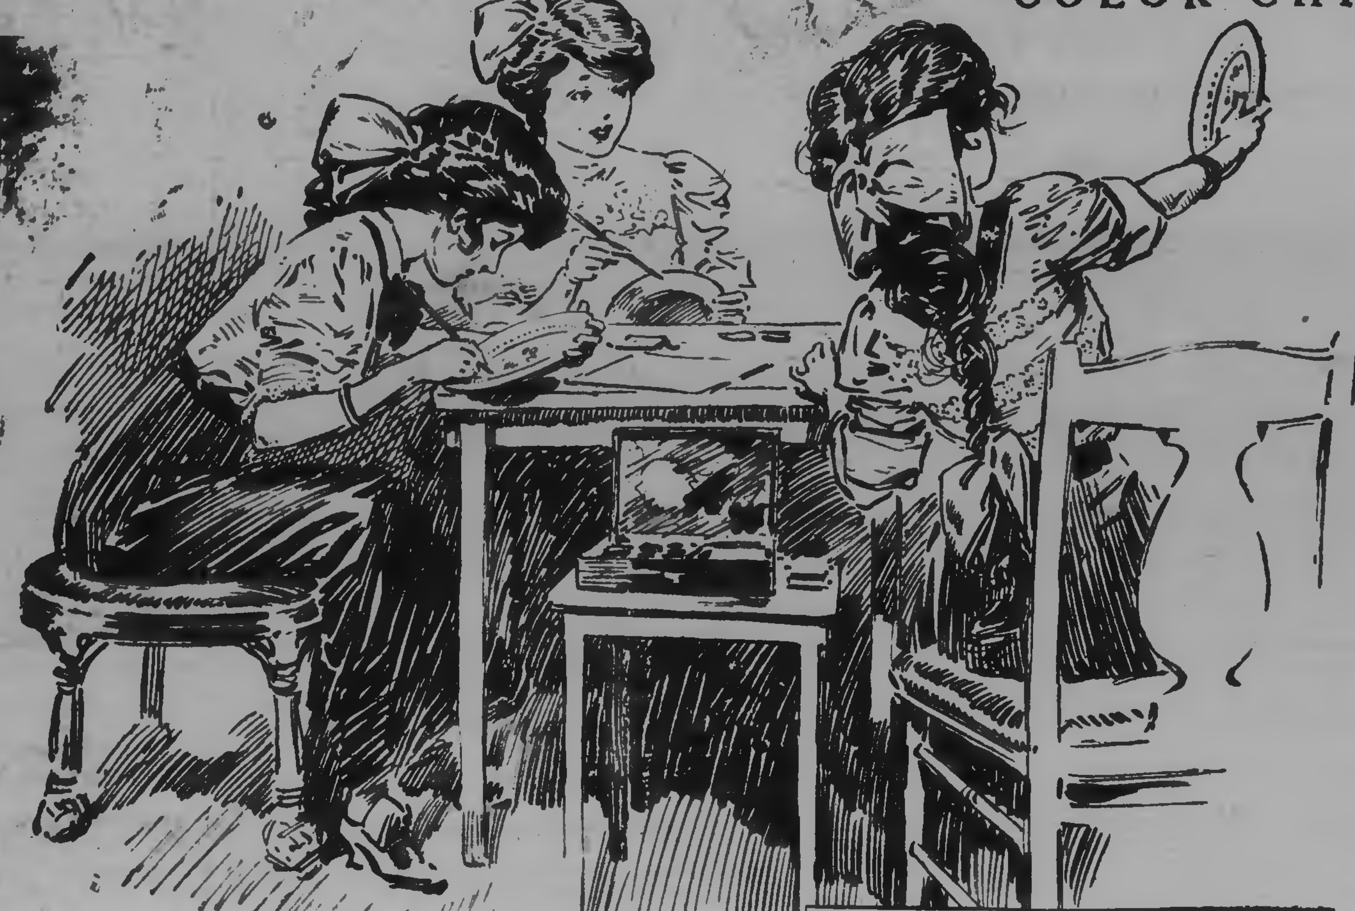
TREATMENT OF THE FORGET-ME-NOT IN WATER COLOR CHINA PAINTING



OFTEN the question is asked, At what age should a young girl begin the study of drawing and painting? And at present, when the art of painting is getting such a firm foothold in the home, this is indeed an important question to consider, for upon these young girls depends the future women, their influence as home builders, and their education from an artistic standpoint should be of as great a significance as their studies in arithmetic, literature or domestic duties.

Foundation for refined influences make character stuff, so that a desire for the natural beauties of the world cannot be suggested too early and should begin with the child. Beautiful pictures, flowers and studies arouse beautiful thoughts, and beautiful thoughts build character.

The young girl, even though she cannot have the advantage of actual study in painting, should make it a point to note colorings, forms and general conditions of flowers and scenes, and no matter how crude, try to reproduce them. The day will come when opportunity for real endeavor will not be wanting. Don't wait until some one, a successful teacher says, tells you you have talent. Find it for yourself; work it out; try things. If you see a simple forget-me-not and think you can paint it, do so, or if something more difficult presents itself, as a bunch of grapes, and their form or coloring appeals to you, don't hesitate to attempt it. Though the effort may be crowned with many cornered grapes, the very fact of your noticing the corners is a step toward curving them the next time.

The forget-me-not easily lends itself to most any shape, and can be decorated in cluster or trailing design. The coloring is also dainty and delicate. It is a very pretty little flower and, by the way, its mythical origin is quite poetical. I think it is something like this.—

When to all the beautiful flowers
The Father had given a name,
Back came a little blue eyed one—
All timidly it came—
And, standing at its Father's feet,
And gazing in His face,
It said, with sad and trembling lips,
"Dear God, the name thou gavest me,
Alas! I have forgot."
Kindly the Master looked Him down,
And said, "Forget-me-not."

A pretty thought carried in mind while at work often brings the most desirable results. It cannot be too forcibly impressed, the design having been sketched, to keep the main interest drawn toward a few flowers and the remainder but complementary and subject to it.

Avoid making the tiny yellow centres prominent or large. Rather remember it is a "timid little one."

Paint the flowers in light and dark tones of Prussian blue and ultramarine.

The background should be light, delicate, simple, but must contain in some form the primary colors—red, blue, yellow—for no composition is complete without these fundamental elements.

Keep the work crisp in the main, but delicate, shadowy, vague in the surrounding.

A conversation between two young girls overheard in a studio the other day is evidence of the pleasure that is aroused in painting roses and how their varied positions are termed.

"Miss B., come here and see how you like my pink rose vase I have just finished?"

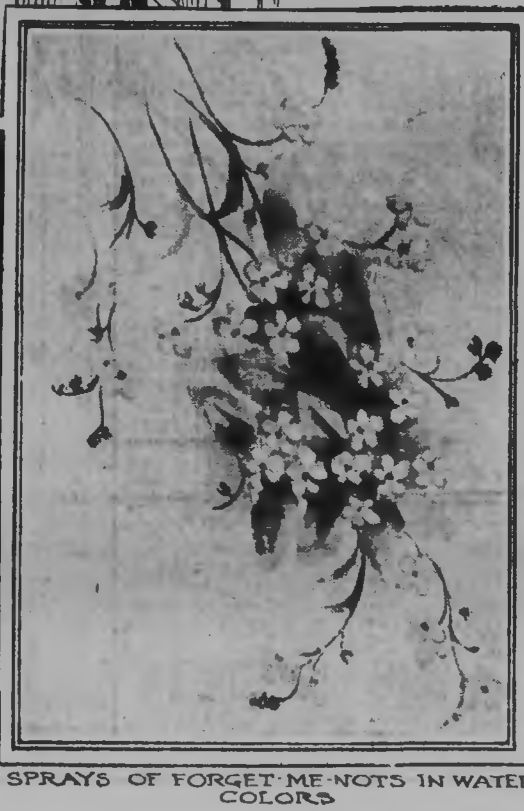
"Oh, isn't it a dear? Those three together at the top and the 'dropping off' one at the base of the vase are so graceful, with the thorny stems 'winding down' between and the dainty little buds. How did you manage them? I am just so afraid of roses in painting. They look so complicated and difficult and my brush doesn't want to go right somehow, to make those 'turnover' petals. If I wipe them out they look hard and straight, and if I paint them they look alike. And those 'dandy browny leaves!' Mine always look like a blotch of mud on a white cow. And oh! say, this 'flopped over' rose! If there is anything in roses I adore it is a 'flopped over' pink fellow, where you can see the tawny little leaves around the calyx. I never can paint enough of roses, but if I only could get at the ones you have on this vase!"

This young lady had enough exuberance of spirit to paint any kind of roses, but lacked self-confidence in execution, and right here we must assert the necessity of enthusiasm in painting. By this is not meant to be delightfully satisfied with work done, but if it is pleasing, be ready to say so, for the pleasure to yourself and those in touch with you certainly repays. A kind word of praise in this work often leads to higher and better things for both the giver and the recipient.

In painting the pink rose the amateur is prone to think the different shades of pink will suffice, but this is quite erroneous. On the highest lights the tone is so delicate as to be almost white, and here a faint wash of blue for atmosphere effect. Around near the calyx, if you have noticed a pink rose, are yellow tones with a touch of apple green. The "turned over" petals are painted by directing the brush sidewise with a suggestion of color in it, this method blending it in with the remaining petal. The "dropping off" flower has but two or three petals, with the centre painted of the fluffy pollen in yellow, yellow brown and shading brown. The "dandy browny" leaves are done in blood red and shading with a touch of ruby. Little buds are kept crisp and delicate. The "flopped over" ones are painted with many "turn over" petals, one over the other, and calyx leaves clearly defined, with a long stem emanating therefrom. Keep the high lights on darker petals all dark.

A background for these may be made of delicate green at the top, with bluish pink and yellow around the main flowers and either light or dark green at the base, light backgrounds being desirable with delicate flowers.

A PLACQUE IN PINK ROSES



SPRAYS OF FORGET-ME-NOTS IN WATER COLORS

PRACTICAL TALKS BY THE APRIL GRANDMOTHER

"WASP waists again fashionable!" groaned the April Grandmother as she viewed a modiste's model garments. "Every girl in the land will want to wear a sixteen inch belt! The foolish ones will torture themselves with tight corsets which are certain to make the figure stiff, the nose red and the complexion yellow, but the wise ones who observe hygienic rules will adopt reducing methods calculated to preserve grace of bearing, good circulation and perfect digestion.

"Of the various ways of driving flesh from the centre of the body the most sensible is to avoid fat making foods like gravies, sauces and sweets and to eat thoroughly cooked meats, fresh fruits and above ground vegetables. But no plump girl can hope to become wasp waisted until she has cultivated activity, especially after meals, when, instead of sitting or lying down, she should take some sort of exercise.

"The luxury of lying in bed of a morning is not for the stout girl. No matter how weary she may be, the sixth stroke of the alarm clock should find her preparing for a ride or walk, from which she should return at eight o'clock to a breakfast of fruit, toast and clear coffee.

"Violent gymnastic exercises will rapidly reduce the waist dimensions, but these are not to be undertaken lightly or inadvisedly, for what agrees with some constitutions is injurious to others. Rolling and tumbling about the floor often causes the blood to rush to the head, and kicking at a high mark may disastrously affect the heart; but there are certain fancy dances involving bending the body backward, forward and sidewise until the head almost touches the floor, which will reduce the flesh about the waist as well as make the figure supple and graceful, and there are a variety of simple gymnastics which may be learned without the aid of a teacher. One of these is to touch the ear with the toes. This is a bit difficult, but the girl who cannot accomplish it after a few weeks of patient endeavor must resign herself to the possession of a hopelessly thick waist, and the one who persists in the practice may indefinitely preserve a slim, supple and svelte figure.

"The would-be wasp waisted maiden has two facts to remember. She will never get thin by walking in the open air if she pauses now and again to drink sodas and eat ices, and no amount of weariness must tempt her to indulge in cat-naps. Seven hours' sleep daily is all that she can afford, and that should be taken between sunset and sunrise.

"It is folly to expect any sort of corset to make the figure look really slim. Flesh is not to be dissolved by squeezing it, and if pushed away from the normal waist line it is certain to show above or below that point. A tight belt will make the waist become stout rather than slim, for by holding the clothing closely to the figure it generates fat producing heat. Loose, light garments, through which the air can freely circulate, keep the body cool and help to drive away adipose tissue. In nine cases out of ten the girl who allows her waist perfect freedom, exercises properly and diets wisely soon finds herself able to wear a moderately small corset. The tenth girl should not permit a wide waist to make her so unhappy that life will be a burden to herself as well as to her nearest of kin."

Useful Hints Every Girl Should Know.

COMPARATIVELY few girls, it seems, know that silver and gold trimmings and all kinds of tinsel can be kept bright an indefinitely long time if wrapped in black tissue paper. Winter evening gowns that are trimmed with silver or gold lace or cloth of gold should never be laid away without being first wrapped in black tissue. Evening slippers also that are made of cloth of gold or silver or are adorned with rosettes of tinsel ribbon or lace should always be kept in black paper when not in use.

Any kind of embroidery work also or picture frames that are bound with tinsel or gold braid should be most carefully laid away in folds of black tissue paper while they are being made.

It is an excellent plan also to wrap carefully each piece of the toilet silver that is not to be used during the summer in black tissue. If this is done the silver will be found in far better condition in the autumn.

Another precaution that is sadly neglected nowadays is the care of kid gloves. The girl who has been given a present of a number of pairs of kid gloves, brought from Europe perhaps, by some friend, should remember to keep them carefully wraped in oil paper, which prevents their discoloring and helps to retain the original soft, pliable quality of the leather. The girl who desires to have her gloves last as long as possible will not keep numberless pairs in use at one time.

It is better to have a few pairs worn and cleaned regularly and not until these are worn out to start on a new pair, for the cleaning is bound to injure the soft kid and once cleaned the glove will become yellow very quickly.

The same rule naturally applies to the wearing of fine lingerie. The girl who has been able to provide a complete outfit of dainty underwear during a visit to Paris should keep the garments that have not been used wrapped in blue tissue paper. If this is not done the fine linen will discolor and will not wear long after once put in use. The modern girl is so very independent that she does not, as a rule, care for advice, and perhaps that is why she is ignorant of so many of these little precautions which to the schoolgirl of her grandmother's day were as familiar as a knowledge of exquisite fine sewing, of which the average girl of to-day is sadly ignorant.

CRETONNE is more than ever in evidence as a covering material for all manner of toilet and work conveniences. Dresser or bureau scarfs and table covers are inset and edged with coarse lace or trimmed with looped baby cotton fringe. Dainty cabinets, consisting of a square frame arranged to support [illegible] cretonne covered slipper boxes, [illegible] may be used for [illegible] gloves and veils, are an easily contrived dressing table convenience, as are also cretonne covered jewel cabinets made from a writing paper box divided into various compartments and fitted with a wadded tray equipped with a ribbon handle.

Among the receptacles which a girl may easily cover is a roomy one for the accommodation of hosiery, and for this purpose there is nothing better than a man's shoe box, while a most satisfactory protection for beflowered headgear may be developed from a hat trunk which is out of commission for travelling purposes.

Newest in cretonne covered shirt waist boxes is one having a padded lid and a brass handled lower drawer. It is an ornamental as well as a capacious receptacle and quite strong enough to serve as a window seat.

Four and six pocket shoe bags are of printed chintz trimmed with mode colored cotton or of the same materials used vice versa.

Tourist cases with two large pockets, several minor ones and straps for small brushes are of rubber lined cretonne and fasten with cord loops and fancy buttons.

Cretonne covered collapsible work baskets, fitted with cushion and needle leaves, are finished with narrow, plain colored cotton or linen bands, and cretonne covered collapsible waste paper baskets are side laced with bright colored or gilt braid cords.

EVEN a plain wooden match can be made a thing of beauty if one is willing to take just a little time in the endeavor to have every least detail of her room attractive. The safety matches which can be lighted only by scratching against the special kind of sandpaper which is on two sides of the box in which they are sold are now almost universally used, and even in those houses lighted by electricity one or more boxes of matches are generally placed in each of the sitting rooms for the convenience of the men of the family who should be forced to hunt about every time they desire a whiff of their genial cigarette or pipe.

Unadorned a match box is a sadly ugly thing, yet covered with a bit of velvet, brocade, silk or chintz it becomes at once an ornament instead of a disfigurement. Any scrap of material left over from the hangings of the room is sufficient to cover the sides of a match box, while only a small bit of gold braid or ribbon will be enough to border each side of the box.

And it is ridiculously easy to do. First the ends of the little tray are covered with bits of chintz or velvet, whatever the material may be, and then similar pieces are pasted on each side of the [illegible] of the box. Straight strips of braid or ribbon, not wider than a quarter of an inch, are glued along the long sides of the box over the velvet, and then strips of same braid or ribbon are placed all around the ends of the box. This leaves the sandpaper sides of the box free, while the tops are covered to be dainty and attractive.

For the tea tray in summer, for which it is always necessary to have matches at hand for lighting the kettle, light colored taffeta silk or chintz make a pretty box. For the smoking room dark green or red velvet bound with dull gold braid is most in keeping—and here is an excellent gift for the father's or brother's birthday, for which it is always so difficult to think of something both original and acceptable.

For the country house lighted by gas or lamps the girl who is really interested in making her home as attractive as is possible for her to do, and is always on the lookout for such details which apparently are of such minor import, but in reality count so much, will make for each room one or more of these little match cases with a cover corresponding to the silk or cretonne hangings of that room.

A CHARMING gift to make for grandma or for a person convalescing from illness is a little set of small cushions which will tuck into the gaps of the invalid's chair or support particularly weak and sensitive spots in the delicate person. These cushions should be of eiderdown, not more than twelve inches square in size, and covered with removable linen slips. To the corners of one end attach linen braid long enough to form a handle by which the cushions, when not in use, may be hung on the back of the chair. This is an invaluable touch, for grandma or the invalid may sometimes wish to use all the cushions, sometimes only one, and again none at all, according to her mood or her condition, and the linen handle enables her to put them aside, yet always within reach, so that without leaving her chair she has them again when she desires them. These little cushions are in no way intended to take the place of the large ones commonly put into chairs for delicate persons, but are just a little added touch of comfort in which grandma or the invalid would delight.

AN innovation which is on its way from the Orient is a ballroom transformed into a land of enchantment by the [illegible] use of colored limelights. Moonlight is produced for the dreamy waltz, rainbow effects for the dazzling cotillon and sunrise glow for the last dance of the ball. Only an artist in the use of the limelight can create these fascinating illusions, which are enthusiastically praised by those who have seen them.

Attractive Graduation Fans.

FANS for girl graduates are more than than ever attractive this season. One of the daintiest models is composed of gauze bearing a pin head decoration in silver paillettes. It is mounted upon carved bone sticks, similarly ornamented by an embedding of somewhat larger silver spangles and the rim of the spread is overlaid with three inch wide real lace, beneath which the gauze portion is cut away.

Another gauze [illegible] is painted to represent birds. In some cases one bird covers the entire spread. In others, the head and a portion of the body are repeated. Some of the florally painted fans have daisies, violets, poppies or roses repeated in each section to form a border, the foliage following the sticks.

Harmony of decoration is a distinctive feature of Directoire effect fans. In these the design is frequently worked out entirely in lilies of the valley, the pattern of the lace along the rim of the spread consisting of lilies surrounded by a rococo design. The lily pattern is also carried out in the hand painting of the fan where it is combined with other flowers, [illegible] also observable in the pierced portion on the six centre sticks.

Empire fans are popular at the moment. Their silk spreads are decorated with assorted gilt or steel paillettes in fancy patterns combined with hand painted [illegible] stones, and their pierced, hand decorated sticks are of carved bone or carved, unfinished sandalwood, the latter decidedly popular owing to the wood's delicate odor.

Stained redwood sticks are used for some of the [illegible] top fans which are hand painted, [illegible] and appliqued on white Brussels net.

[illegible] is employed for rather [illegible] ivory mounted fans, notably decorated across the entire spread and finished with delicately tinted silk tassels, while a combination of [illegible] and rose point is employed [illegible] mounting for a centre hand pa[illegible] after Watteau.

Gold and grosgrain [illegible] are used in the high class [illegible] spread fans. These are hand colored in conventional floral designs and in dainty Japanese scenes. The sticks are of [illegible] silver pressed bamboo and polished [illegible] and white wood.

Portable Toilet Requisites.

SILK plaids, pongees, striped taffetas and a host of figured cotton or linen fabrics are employed for the roll-ups and bags to hold the toilet requisites which every girl likes to carry, whether she leaves home for a day or a decade. An eight compartment roll-up of eighteen by eight inch dimensions has a crushable miniature work bag and needle case attached to the inner side of its flap. The opposite end of the roll has an oblong envelope designed for stationery, while the remaining portion is fitted with receptacles for the necessary brushes, combs and nail tools.

Rubberized silks and linens are employed for the deep, wide bags with oilskin lined compartments, for toilet requisites, but if it is easier to pack the various articles separately small bags may be used for the sponge, powder puff and soap and oblong cases for the brushes, combs and manicure set.

A collapsible satchel-shaped receptacle, which combines the advantages of basket and bag and may be packed into small space, has its cardboard sides and ends covered with plain patterned silk, sateen or linen and a capacious interior bag of some figured material. While novel, however, it is not quite so easily made as is a toilet bag having a hoop handle made from an eight or ten inch embroidery ring wound with plain ribbon over which are shirred the sides of the silk or linen body. The ends of the fabric are left perfectly free until after the bag is finished and then looped once or twice to the handle, or the ends are sewed together and allowed to hang straight. The same model minus the interior [illegible], suited for fancy work or toilet articles, is excellent for a laundry bag of washable material.

If it is inconvenient to carry a hand satchel, the more requisite toilet articles may be carried in a pocket to be [illegible] to the belt of the petticoat by a hanger long enough to afford easy access when the skirt of the gown is raised. A pouch shaped pocket of generous proportions may be made of any stout fabric edged with [illegible] ribbon or kid [illegible] flap fastening at [illegible] sides and centre.

Dainty Styles in Stationery.

BORDERED effects are among the late stationery novelties. Some of the daintiest styles are in pale gray, ivory or champagne, bordered in self tone, but the high grade fabric finished weaves, outlined in a red border that is a strong contrast to the cream colored paper and the fine corded effects in cream and various pale tints are quite as correct.

The most fashionable envelope for social correspondence has a sharply pointed flap extending almost three-quarters over the entire depth of the receptacle. Another popular style, nearly as wide as it is long, is accompanied by note paper of the conventional two leaf type, cut in a size that will fit the envelope without folding. The same size is used for foreign letter paper, which fits into plaided and variously shaded tissue lined envelopes.

White lawn finished stationery, which comes in every style of note and letter size, has paper bearing an initial letter embossed in colors at the top. Each box of this stationery contains an assortment of three colors in a single initial. Another attractive style in fabric stationery is printed with an initial in violet, blue, gray or rose wreathed in a delicate garland.

Latest in monogram dies is a series of unattached drop letters. The three initials are placed one below the other, yet not connected in ribbon style, and are so designed as to fit within upright ovals, semi-diamonds and similar encasings. Instead of being engraved in the centre or upper right of the sheet, these dies are sometimes placed in the upper left corner. Frequently the initials are wreathed with fancy borders or surrounded by single or parallel rulings and again the three or four letters are strung along a flower's stem.

For Girls Who Love Horses.

GIRLS who love horses and are interested in their protection should keep a watchful eye on foreigners who are truck drivers, for some of [illegible] are prone to abuse their animals. Sometimes [illegible] urge on their beasts [illegible] a whip in the lash of which they have [illegible] heavy, sharp bits of lead [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ever to the proper officials for prosecution.

Utilize Old Dolls.

SCHOOLGIRLS who have but recently put away their dolls with a sigh of regret perhaps a secret tear may utilize them in various ways. If the discarded plaything is of modest proportions her legs may be ripped from the trunk and her silken or brocaded skirts stretched over a pin cushion for the dressing table. Or Miss Doll's petticoat may be drawn tightly over a circle of cardboard and used as an ornamental cover for a little catch all basket similar to those in which dried figs are packed for the market.

A doll whose legs have been amputated makes an excellent covering for a whisk-broom. After her body has been tied securely to the broom's short handle her petticoats are allowed to fall fluffily over the whisk, so that they may readily be thrown backward when the article is in use.

Some girls transform their discarded doll into a fetich by tying long ribbon hangers about its neck and the wrists of its outstretched arms and suspending it from the wall nearest to the dressing table. In time the wide sleeves, the broad obi and the straight folds of the kimono are certain to be hidden by so many cotillon ribbons, bridge cards and other trophies that only the queer little shaven head of the Oriental doll is visible.

Colonial tea cosys are made from dolls dressed in small flowered, brocaded, exceedingly full Martha Washington skirts lined with white china silk and wadded with cotton batting, which will flow easily over a teapot of generous proportions. The doll may wear a panier robe or a square cut, tightly fitted fichu draped bodice, but her golden hair should be thickly powdered and her bisque cheeks "patched" with black court plaster.

New Bicycle Fad.

BICYCLES are coming in again and the girl who has one covered with cobwebs should have it taken from its long hiding and thoroughly put in order for the summer campaign. The fad now is to take a little spin on the [illegible] before breakfast. This should be a short [illegible] which brings one home with [illegible] cheeks and an astonishing appetite for breakfast. [illegible] the proper thing [illegible] schools [illegible] hours with [illegible] an old favorite.

DISMISSAL BROUGHT OUT A PROTEST

Opposition Protests a Dismissal at Souris, Man.

INSURANCE BILL PASSES

Session's Biggest Measure Is Given Third Reading In Commons, But Is Not Likely to Pass the Senate This Session — Conservatives Violently Attack Mr. Lemieux For Lopping Off a Head.

Ottawa, May 18.—After the burst of speed in which it finished the week the House of Commons settled down to a steadier pace yesterday. The insurance bill had precedence, and the members were afforded another opportunity of expressing their views on the clause providing for a tax of fifteen per cent. on the net cost of insurance placed with unlicensed companies. An amendment was moved to reduce the tax to five per cent., but it found little support, and in the end the bill was given a third reading. It will not in all probability be passed by the Senate this session. The finishing touches were also applied to the bill authorizing a flat rate increase of $150 in the salaries of members of the civil service at Ottawa.

The action of the Postmaster-General in dismissing, at the request of Hon. Clifford Sifton, the postmaster of Souris, on the ground that he had taken an offensive part in the last election, elicited a series of strong protests from the Opposition members.

The subsequent attack on the Postmaster-General was vicious, many members of the Opposition taking part.

Dr. Schaffner had brought to the attention of the Government the dismissal of Dolmage. He did not hold the Postmaster-General directly responsible for the dismissal, yet the P.M.G. had allowed himself to be governed by an exceedingly hard-hearted man. More postmasters, he understood had been dismissed in Brandon and Souris than in any other district of Canada.

Dolmage was appointed in 1882, and four years ago he had sold out his store to give the office his whole time. He had rented a building and fitted it up. By the dismissal he lost over $2,000 per year and was practically stranded. Dolmage had asked for an investigation, declaring his ability to prove that he had taken no part in elections other than to vote, but had received no reply. The charge of partizanship was probably based on the fact that his sons had gone home to vote. In his own constituency of Souris, Mr. Sifton had gone around cutting heads off, and one postmaster who put up a stone building had been dismissed, though he had never voted even in a municipal election.

Mr. Lemieux in his reply, said that when a postmaster took part in elections he took his official life in his hands. "The hon. members word is accepted," he added.

Mr. Lennox asked if he would think it a sufficient cause for dismissal supposing a charge was laid by a non-supporter of the Government.

Mr. Lemieux said he had notified all the postmasters not to take an offensive part in elections.

Mr. Middlebro said the doctrine propounded by the Postmaster-General was "extraordinary." Mr. Lake said "outrageous." It was practically decided that a man might take part in elections so long as he took part on the side of the Government.

Mr. Robb did not defend the doctrine of the Postmaster-General, but pointed out that in his riding of Huntingdon, the Conservatives had dismissed a postmaster for offensive partisanship.

Mr. Foster said that in 1896 the Premier had stated that no official should be dismissed without a trial, but Mr. Lemieux repeated that the Premier laid down in 1896 that a posmaster might be dismissed on the word of the member who complained. Dolmage had denied taking any offensive part in politics, but did not deny that he had taken part.

Col Hughes asked if Mr. Sifton had specified any charge. Mr. Lemieux replied that he had been accused of canvassing and taking part generally.

While the Marine estimates were under consideration, Mr. Foster asked Mr Brodeur what he was going to do with the dredges he is getting when the St Lawrence river channel is finished. Mr Brodeur said that after they had dredged the channel 30 feet they would probably make it 35 feet, to accommodate larger vessels.

The insurance bill passed without amendment. Asked what the situation would be if a group of Canadian manufacturers joined with a group of American manufacturers to get certain insurance in outside companies, Mr. Fielding said it was possible that some difficulty of this nature would arise. If so, the question would be dealt with next session.

The Civil Service Bill to give a flat increase of $150 to civil servants was given its third reading, after an amendment by Mr. Foster to provide that no clerk be deprived of the full flat increase had been voted down.

MANY DON'T KNOW
HEART AFFECTED.

More People than Aware of It Have Heart Disease.

"If examinations were made of everyone, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease."

This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquest. "I should not like to say that heart disease is as common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large."

"Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent."

"But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living, the wear and rush of modern business life, have a lot to do with heart trouble."

There is no doubt but that this is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Price 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FLUTTERING OF THE HEART.

Mrs. G. M. White, Williamstown, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad I could scarcely lie down in bed. I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they helped me so much I got another box and it has made a final cure. I cannot speak too highly of them. I think they are worth their weight in gold."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

George Meredith, the English novelist, is seriously ill.

Heavy rains have done considerable damage to property in Porto Rico.

Trade returns for April show an increase of $4,028,267 over the same month last year.

The remains of Sir Allan MacNab were removed from Dundurn Park to the Hamilton cemetery.

Barrie ratepayers have voted the bonus to the Weber Foundry Co. for the establishment of a gas producer machine works.

Zojoji, the famous buddhist temple, situated in Shiba Park, Tokio, was completely destroyed by fire a few days ago, the damage amounting to $200,000.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Tracey & Co., stockbrokers, of New York. Their liabilities are estimated at $1,000,000, with assets half that amount.

The Canadian Northern crop report gives a highly satisfactory statement of conditions in the west in its territory. Quite a fall of snow is reported at Macleod, Alberta, and the cattle are suffering.

Eight Years for Hains.

Flushing, N.Y., May 18.—Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U.S.A., who was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, for killing William F. Annis, at the Bayside Yacht Club last August, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Garretson in the Supreme Court to an indeterminate sentence of not less than eight years nor more than sixteen years at hard labor in states prison.

Mr. McIntyre, his counsel, said that he was not decided whether to appeal the case, but he would go to the Circuit Court and endeavor to obtain a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that Hains was never properly within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, but as an army officer only within the jurisdiction of the Federal Court.

Canadian Union Planned.

Sydney, N.S., May 18.—Prominent P.W.A. officials are in receipt of applications for information about the association from labor centres in western Canada, and it is planned to establish branches of the order there.

In the Alberta and Crow's Nest Pass coal regions, the local leaders of the United Mine Workers have become dissatisfied, and favor joining the Western Federation, but most of the workers favor affiliation with the Nova Scotia union and developing this into an all-Canadian organization. Many Cape Bretoners and Nova Scotians are employed in the western Canadian coal districts.

Newfoundland Is Icebound.

St. John's, Nfld., May 18.—Unyielding before the warming climate of advancing spring, great fields of ice extend out from the shore of nearly every section of the Newfoundland coast, constituting in some places an impenetrable barrier and an active menace to ocean navigation. Within ten days nearly a dozen ocean liners have put in here or at nearby ports, badly damaged, and reporting narrow escapes from or serious imperilling of the lives of thousands of passengers.

Blows Off Finger In Church.

Ottawa, May 18.—Thomas Blondin, a Hull schoolboy, while toying with a dynamite cap during mass at the Church of the Holy Redeemer there, had part of his thumb and forefinger blown away by an explosion. The lad found the cap in a quarry and while seated in church boyishly decided to test it with a match. There were hundreds of children in church at the time but the injured lad was removed without the slightest interruption of the service.

Brakeman Killed.

Brantford, May 18.—Word was received here of the death of Fred Harper, a Brantford man, killed at Morristown, N.J., on the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroad, on which he was a brakeman. A clerk connected with the railroad withheld, through oversight, orders for Harper's promotion for four days, and was reminded of the same on the news of the unfortunate fatality. Harper was crushed between freight cars.

New Steamer for Georgian Bay.

Collingwood, May 18.—A new steamer, the Waubic, will be the Northern Navigation Co.'s liner from Penetang and Midland, up the inside channel of the Georgian Bay to Parry Sound and Point aux Basil. The City of Toronto that for years ran from Penetang to Parry Sound, calling at Minnicog and Go-Home Bay, has been sold to a Cornwall firm.

Reichstag to Adjourn.

Berlin, May 18.—The Reichstag will adjourn to-day to June 15, to give the finance committee opportunity to make an effort to reach an agreement on a scheme for financial reform.

The Government decided to prepare bills during the Reichstag interval, raising the tax on matches and the import duty on coffee.

Why She Opened the Letter.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs 5c Lower at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, May 17.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 14½c to 14¾c per lb. for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10½c to 10¾c per lb.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, May 17.—Receipts at the Union Stock Yards were 52 carloads, consisting of 1090 cattle, 25 hogs, 20 sheep and 87 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold from $5.65 to $6.40; export bulls, $4.50 to $5.25. The export steers selling under $6 per cwt. were generally of light weight, some of them being not any heavier than many of those bought for butchers' purposes. Export cows sold from $5 to $5.25.

Prime picked lots of butchers' steers and heifers sold at $5.45 to $5.65; loads of good, $5.25 to $5.40; medium, $5 to $5.20; common, $4.75 to $5; cows, $3.75 to $4.75.

Milkers and Springers.

F. C. Rowntree bought 5 milkers and springers, at $43 to $47 each.

Veal Calves.

About 100 veal calves sold from $3.50 to $5 per cwt

Hogs.

E. Puddy quotes hogs $7.55, f.o.b., cars, at country points, and the D. B. Martin Company quoted hogs, fed and watered, at the market at $7.75 per cwt.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 17.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending May 15 were 2000 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 2700 hogs and 2000 calves. The offerings for local consumption this morning amounted to 1000 cattle, 500 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 100 calves. Owing to a smaller supply of cattle than a week ago the undertone to the market continues strong and prices are steadily rising. A feature was the fairly good demand from exporters on account of the strong cable advices from Liverpool, which noted an advance in prices of ½c to 1c per lb., as compared with those of a week ago, and stated that the market was decidedly firm, as supplies were very short. A few fancy Ontario stall-fed steers were sold to butchers at 6¼c to 6½c, while exporters paid from 5½c to 6c per lb; choice steers brought 6c, good 5¼c to 5¾c; fair, 5c to 5¼c; medium, 4½c to 4¾c; cows, 4½c to 5¼c; bulls, 4½c to 5c, and common stock, 3½c to 4¼c per lb. There was a good enquiry for small meats, but owing to small offerings prices ruled very firm; yearling sheep sold at 6½c to 7c; old sheep, at 5½c to 6c per lb., and spring lambs, at from $3 to $6 each, as to size. The demand for calves was good and sales were made at from $2 to $6 each, as to size and quality. A strong feeling prevails in the market for hogs and prices have scored a further advance of 5c to 15c per cwt., since this day week, and the prospects are they will go still higher, as supplies coming forward are not equal to requirements; this, coupled with the strong cable advices, received on Canadian bacon last week, which noted a rise in prices of 2s to 5s per cwt., tends to greatly strengthen the situation. Demand from packers for supplies was keen and some sales of selected lots were made as high as $8.50, but the bulk were at $8.40 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 17.—Cattle—Receipts, 3600 head; active and 10c to 25c higher; prime steers, $6.50 to $7; shipping, $6.15 to $6.65; butchers, $5.50 to $6.50; heifers, $4.50 to $6.25; cows, $3.50 to $5.60; bulls, $3.75 to $5.50; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.10; stock heifers, $3.50 to $4.25; fresh cows and springers, $28 to $68.

Veals—Receipts, 2300 head; active and steady, $6 to $7.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 9600 head; slow and steady to 5c lower, heavy, $7.65 to $7.70, mixed, $7.60 to $7.70; Yorkers, $7.35 to $7.60, pigs, $7.15 to $7.25; roughs, $6.40 to $6.65, stags, $5 to $5.75; dairies, $7.25 to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 13,000 head; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow and 5c lower, lambs, $4.50 to $8.35, yearlings, $7 to $7.25, wethers, $6.35 to $6.50, ewes, $5.50 to $5.75, sheep, mixed, $2 to $6.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Beeves—Receipts, 3996, steers, steady, but undergrades slow. Fat bulls and fat cows slow to 10c lower, medium and common grades, steady to shade lower; steers, $6 to $7.15; bulls, $4.25 to $5.50, cows, $2.35 to $5.10, tail ends, $2.25.

Calves—Receipts, 5750; market steady to 50c lower; veals, $4.50 to $7.75; culls, $4, buttermilks, $4 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,682; steady; sheep, $4.50 to $6; few, $6.50; culls, $3 to $4; lambs, $6.25 to $7.95; no choice here; culls, $6. Kentucky spring lambs, $9, common Indiana, do., $8.

Hogs—Receipts, 11,876. Market uneven; good medium hogs, $7.60, pigs, $7.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at 22,000, market steady, beeves, $5.10 to $7.25; Texas steers, $4.60 to $6.10, western steers, $4.75 to $6; stockers and feeders, $3.60 to $5.65; cows and heifers, $2.50 to $6.25; calves, $3.25 to $7.50.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at 44,000; market 5c lower, light, $6.95 to $7.32½, mixed, $7 to $7.45, heavy, $7.05 to $7.50, rough, $7.05 to $7.15, good to choice heavy, $7.15 to $7.50, pigs, $5.80 to $6.75, bulk of sales, $7.25 to $7.40.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at 14,000; market steady, native, $4 to $6.50, western, $4.25 to $6.40, yearlings, $6.25 to $7.40; lambs, native, $6 to $8.60, western, $6.25 to $8.60.

A HEROIC STRUGGLE.

The Fight For Life of the Crew of a Wrecked Whaler.

The story of the crew of a whaling vessel wrecked off Cape Parry in a drifting fog is given in Mr. A. H. Harrison's book, "In Search of a Polar Continent." The Alexander at the time was steaming at full speed, and when first it struck the crew, not seeing anything in front of them, thought they had collided with a piece of drifting ice. But on striking again the vessel immediately filled with water, so they hardly had time to rush to the boats, which they had great difficulty in lowering.

It was then that Captain Tilton nearly lost his life. He was the last man to leave the ship, and just as the boats were being pushed off he jumped from the vessel, but missed the stern of the boat and fell into the sea. Luckily, however, he managed to catch a rope that was thrown to him, but it was not without difficulty that he was pulled into the boat when he was dragged alongside.

The mist was so dense that they had no idea of their locality, but on reaching the shore they saw the rocky headland of Cape Parry looming over them, and then they knew that they had at least 400 miles to travel before regaining Herschel island, this, too, along a barren and deserted coast line in open boats and probably in a raging sea.

This wreck occurred on Aug. 16, yet on Aug. 26 they arrived at Herschel Island, every one of them strong and well and no whit the worse for his adventure. They made the whole journey through rough seas and through gales of wind. Every stitch on their backs was constantly drenched.

Of supplies they carried only that scanty portion which a whaleboat always has on hand for an emergency. Nor are the emergencies contemplated of such duration.

Every now and then they had to put ashore to find fresh water and to snatch a few winks of sleep, and I can answer for it that putting ashore here is no easy matter, for there are many miles of coast line along which it is almost impossible to find a place for landing in a strong wind.

These men doggedly held on their course, crossing two large bays, Franklin bay and Liverpool bay, until at last they reached the Mackenzie delta, and, keeping well to seaward of this, they arrived in a storm which prevented ships from putting to sea.

They had made a fine, heroic effort. It had been a case of do or die with all of them, and they had carried on a desperate and unceasing struggle and had accomplished an average daily journey of forty miles in an open boat.

Noisy Madrid.

Some one has well divided the inhabitants of Madrid into two classes—those who go to bed after 3 a.m. and those who get up before 4. It is true that the streets are never quiet. The stonecutters, who were mending the sidewalk, began chipping at daybreak. Next we heard the electric cars, with their loud gongs, and the mule carts clattering over the noisy cobblestones. By breakfast time the sound of the hurdy gurdy echoed in our ears. Street fakirs shouted their wares, and singing beggars, with their weird yodel, roamed up and down all day. Just before dinner the women who cry lottery tickets and evening papers took their stand at the corner, and their stentorian voices never stopped until after midnight. The concierge holds it by day, the street watchman by night. Consequently the hours of sleep were constantly broken by the sound of handclapping, followed by the quick, heavy step of the watchman in response to this mediaeval summons. Altogether I pronounce against Madrid as a rest cure. It is by far the noisiest place I was ever in.

BANFF AND ITS CANE.

Scotland, makes his appearance, clad in that same garb he wore on the memorable occasion at Kirk Alloway, when Tam O' Shanter saw the witches dancing. His majesty always sits in that large hole on the bat's back, and after a few preeliminary uncanny grunts, he skirls up the pipes. At the first screech o' the pipes the wee deils that are doo'n below, firin' up tae keep the water-hot, come poppin' up through the sand-holes and start a merry dance.

"Nae Cotillon brent frae France
But hornpipes, jigs, strathspeys and reels
Pit life and metal in their heels!
They trip it so neat, so light, so clean,
That ne'er a splash in the water is seen."

"I sit" says our Scotchman, now thoroughly warming to his theme, "on yonder form, wie' the lamp in ane hand, and a bottle of John Dewar in the ither, and the aftener I taste the usquebaugh, the mair deils I see. They multiply exceedingly.

"At length Auld Nickie gets dry in the weasand wie' blawin' the pipes, and sings oo't "Hey, Davie, hand me over the bottle.' But its weel kint, "wie' usquebaugh we'd face the deevel," so I juist say boldly, No na. Auld Clootie, Na, Na,' say I. "I'll remember the first nicht we celebrated here; I was gallant enough to gie ye the first drink, and ye deevil drank it a'. I wuana' gie ye a drop till awm through wie' it—skirl up y'r pipes ye auld rascal and "on wie 'the dance, let joy be unconfined, nae sleep till morn."

"I mind the good wards: resist the diel and he'll flee frae ye'. The archfiend obeys, and the mirth and fun grow fast and furious.

"At last I take pity on Auld Nichieben, and feeling unco' pious and happy, I gie ain o' the dancing imps nearest me the bottle to tak' across the pool to the black Chief o' Sinners, who grasps it very greedily an takes a richt good wullie, waught disposes of what's left in a gulp down his ungodly throat. But mark ye'!" here Scotty's voice descends to a reverend tone. "its graun tae hear the pipes after Auld Clootie gets that half-bottle o' guid Auld Scotch down his ungodly thrapple! The deep, resonant, sonorous tones he brings oo't o' the pipes afte rthat is juist grand, heavenly an' ndescribable. Talk aboc't y'r organs, cornets, fiddles, or any of these insignificant instruments, they are not in it ava' wie' the grand auld Scottish bagpipes as the deevil plays them. Ne'er a thing animate or inanimate can withstand its spirit, giving influence. Everything dances; the cave dances, the imps dance. The statuary on the walls come down and foot it. I e'en get up an' join the thrang, an' loup an' fling fei 'souple and strang; but just in the midst of oo'r hilarity, Chanticleer proclaims the dawn o' day, and the deevil and his imps 'vanish away.'"

He pauses abruptly and asks us to feel how smooth the rail is against which we have been reclining. "That rail," he says impressively "is juist worn smooth by my hauns' gettin' hame frae the Hallowe'en festival i' the mornin'."

He winds up his tale by inviting us all and sundry to come next Hallowe'en, the ticket of admission being "a flask o' guid Scotch Whiskey," to be applied internally quantum suf, before the festivities begin. Thus only shall we be enabled to "tak' in aw' the sichts."

And then we went on our wey and we saw him no more.

GEORGE MEREDITH HAS PASSED AWAY

Great English Novelist Is Victim of Heart Failure.

LAST OF THE VICTORIANS

Famous Author Was Only Ill a Few Days as Result of Chill Contracted While Driving — Heart Disease Resulted — Was Eighty-One Years of Age — Attended by the King's Own Physician.

London, May 18.—George Meredith, the English novelist, died at 3.35 this morning.

The immediate cause of death was heart failure, following grave symptoms that developed early in the evening. Mr. Meredith's illness began on May 15, and he steadily declined since that time. So serious was his condition Sunday night that the attending physician remained constantly at his bedside.

Mr. Meredith was out for his daily drive at his Boxhill retreat on Saturday in a little donkey chaise. He seemed then to be in his usual health. A keen east wind was blowing, and it appears to have given him a chill. He returned home in a state of collapse, with serious attacks of pain in the intestinal regions.

On Sunday the King's physicians, Sir Thomas Barlow, was called into consultation, and it was hoped that, despite his great age, the patient would rally, but internal inflammation developed rapidly. Mr. Meredith had been showing signs of weakness during the past week, having had periods of drowsiness, followed by marked signs of debility.

Following so closely on the death of Swinburne, the passing of George Meredith removes the very last of the great band of Victorians that gave the literature of England in the 19th century a place with that of such great eras as the Elizabethan or the Augustan. With many peculiarities of style, regarded by many critics as degenerating into vicious faults, and an obscurity that frequently rivalled Browning at his worst, Meredith remains as one of the great prose writers of the period. No reader can ever forget such books as "The Ordeal of Richard Feveral" or "Diana of the Crossways," and these are but two of a long list. As a poet Meredith also held a distinguished place, and his "Modern Love" touches very lofty heights.

George Meredith was born in Hampshire, Feb. 12, 1828. On the occasion of his 80th birthday he was showered with congratulations from all parts of the world and was waited on by a deputation headed by Anthony Hope and presented with an address signed by Algernon Charles Swinburne, Thos. Hardy, John Morley and more than a hundred leaders in art, letters and scholarship.

May Have Been Murdered.

Montreal, May 18.—Mystery surrounds the death of William Kyle, a C.P.R. messenger, who disappeared several weeks ago. Kyle's body was found in the canal on Saturday, with a terrible gash on the top of the head. His right eye had been knocked from its socket and the body was covered with bruises.

It is believed that he was held up by highwaymen, robbed and then thrown into the canal.

Fewer Canned Lobsters.

Sydney, N.S., May 18.—The Government has taken a hand in the dispute between the lobster fishermen and factory owners in the matter of prices. J. G. Morrison, M.P.P., of Inverness, at the request of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, has enquired into the difficulty, but was unable to bring about any settlement. The lobster packing establishments in eastern Nova Scotia closed yesterday.

Prison Farm for Women.

Albany, N.Y., May 18.—Proposals for a site for a state farm for women were received yesterday at a meeting of the state prison committee. The authorities hope to improve the physical condition of the prisoners as well as to endeavor to redeem them from the drink habit.

Accountant Prepared Statement.

Montreal, May 18.—Upon cross-examination yesterday afternoon, ex-Accountant Langlois of the Bank of St. Johns, admitted that he had prepared the monthly Government statement, which had been signed by the accused president, Hon. Mr. Roy.

To Reorganize Turkish Army.

Constantinople, May 18.—Hilmi Pasha, the grand vizier, in announcing to Parliament, in a few days the Cabinet's program, will ask for a special appropriation of $15,000,000 for the reorganization of the army under Gen. Von der Goltz.

Bishop Preaches Against Strikers.

Magog, Que., May 18.—The strike of cotton workers is breaking. The bishop preached against it on Sunday, and there is a scarcity of money, and the merchants are beginning to refuse credit. Several of the men went back yesterday.

Woollen Mills Burned.

Dunnville, May 18.—The Erie Woollen Mills, owned by John Slingsby, were destroyed by fire Sunday evening, due probably to spontaneous combustion in some waste under a stairway. Loss $12,000, insured for $8,000.

Appointments at Queen's.

Kingston, May 18.—W. E. O'Neill of Prince Edward Island has been appointed assistant professor of English literature at Queen's and Rev. Dr. Herbert Wallace, Hamilton, assistant professor of Hebrew.

NEWSPAPER MEN WERE ENTERTAINED

Delegates to Press Conference Banquetted in Toronto.

FOR A GREATER BRITAIN

Germany Must Realize That Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa Are to Be Reckoned With In Struggle With Great Britain, Says Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Toronto, May 18.—"Germany must be made to understand that not only the Mother Country but Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Southern Africa must be reckoned with in any struggle affecting British supremacy upon the seas."

This was the big note sounded by many speakers at the banquet tendered last night in the National Club to the Australian and New Zealand delegates to the Imperial Press Conference in London These words of his honor the Lieutenant-Governor, as chairman, lent all the grander significance to the sentiment.

In proposing the royal toast his honor was unusually loyal in his expressions and the Antipodeans appeared to be impressed with the heartiness with which the sentiment was honored.

The gathering included a large number of local newspaper and business men and Sir James Whitney sat beside his honor. Others at the guest table were: Norman Clark, Ballard, Australia; W. K. George, Wm. Stitt, H. C. Osborne, Ed. S. Cunningham, Melbourne; J. S. Willison, R. S. Gourlay, Hon. C. E. Davies, Hobart, Tasmania; H. Berkeley, Newcastle, N.S.W.; Cy Warman, President R. A. Falconer, Toronto University; J. W. Kirwan, Kalgoorlie; Geo. Fenwick, Dunedin, N.Z.; Major J. F. Macdonald, W. J. Gage, Thomas Temperley, Bathurst; Gresley Lukin, Wellington, N.Z.; R. Kyffin-Thomas, Adelaide; C. L. Leng, Sheffield Daily Telegraph; W. J. Douglas and W. A. M. Goodet

Geo. H. Ham, Col. G. T. Denison, D. D. Mann and A. H. U. Colquhoun were also among the guests.

London Churches Falling.

London, May 18.—In spite of the strenuous efforts made by the Bishop of London both in preaching and in writing, the churches, both in and out of London, are growing emptier and emptier every Sunday. The weekend habit has grown not only upon the rich, who can afford to go to the seaside resorts in their motor-cars, but upon the great class composed of clerks and artisans, who may be seen every Sunday in endless procession on bicycles making their way out of town or hiring boats on the lower reaches of the Thames.

Children Lost in Swamp.

Kinloss, May 18.—On Friday morning the two youngest sons of J. H. Armstrong, Kinloss, aged 5 and 7, wandered from home, looking for flowers. They were seen entering Greenock Swamp. About forty men soon gathered and spent Friday afternoon and night looking for the children, and on Saturday the searchers numbered about one hundred. About 4.30 the children walked out on Lee's farm, four miles away, after spending thirty-three hours in the swamp. They are not much the worse for their adventure.

Bank Sues Convict.

Ottawa, May 18.—The Bank of Ottawa, Hull branch, has entered suit in Hull Superior Court to recover $107 from Edward Bouchard of Buckingham Township, who a few days ago was sentenced to two years in penitentiary for forging a pay check for that amount. The check had been stolen by Bouchard from Aedee Thereaux. The bank had to stand good for the forgery.

The Accident Record.

Ottawa, May 18.—During April, industrial accidents occurred to 250 people in Canada, of which 64 were fatal and 186 serious. The railway service headed the list with 13 killed and 20 injured.

Defaulting Treasurer Arrested.

Ottawa, May 19.—Dolor Parent, defaulting school treasurer of Hull, who got away, it is said, with about $500, is under arrest in Chicago.

Famous Surgeon Dies.

New York, May 18.—Dr. Gerardus H. Wynkop, aged 65, an eminent New York surgeon and one of the first physicians in America to perform the operation of the removal of the veriform appendix, is dead. While the nature of his malady puzzled several physicians, he diagnosed the disease himself as appendicitis.

Sang Hymns on Scaffold.

Constantinople, May 18.—Five more men were hanged at 3.30 yesterday morning in front of the building of Parliament opposite the Mosque St. Sophia in Stamboul for complicity in the murder of their officers in the revolutionary outbreak of April 13. The five men sang hymns up to the moment of execution.

Dominion Coal Co. Extends.

Sydney, N.S., May 18.—A large tract of land at Little Bras d'Or, on the northern side of Sydney harbor, has been acquired by the Dominion Coal Co. This land is in close proximity to the company's submarine areas. The company may shortly begin the mining of coal on its northern areas.

Wheat Is Showing.

Winnipeg, May 18.—A despatch says that wheat is already up and the soil is in splendid shape for growth. The weather is very warm.

BOY LOST; LOSES MEMORY.

Smith's Falls Had His Reason Temporarily Unbalanced.

Smith's Falls, May 18.—Stanley Hall, aged 15, a student of the high school, left home at noon on Saturday to go to the woods to look for a specimen of bird's egg. He did not return to supper, and search parties were organized. No trace of him was found until after midnight, when he was seen near the electric power station. He was saturated with mire from head to foot and was completely exhausted.

The strange part of the case is that he can give no account of what happened to himself. The supposition is that he wandered into a pool of water and the effort of trying to get out exhausted him to such an extent that his mind has become unbalanced for the time being. He is one of the brightest students in his class.

"BOBS" CELEBRATES.

His Golden Wedding Is Occasion of Many Congratulations.

London, May 18.—Lord Roberts yesterday celebrated the golden anniversary of his wedding and the event has assumed something of the character of an imperial festival. Except during the race meetings the telegraph office at Ascot never has known anything to compare with the rush of messages that have been arriving all day long from all parts of the Empire congratulating the field marshal. The King and Queen were among the earliest.

To Entertain Delegates.

Montreal, May 18.—A special service will be held in the cathedral in Montreal on Sunday, June 13th, in honor of the across-sea delegates to the Quinquennial Congress of the International Council of Women who will be the guests of the Montreal Local Council at that time. Such ladies as Lady Drummond, Lady Montague Allen, Lady Galt and Madame Dandurand are on the hospitality committee, and have arranged a series of entertainments for their stay. An invitation has been sent to have them visit Quebec also. The delegates leave for Ottawa by special train Tuesday, and while there will be entertained at Government House by Her Excellency the Countess Grey at a garden party. They will have luncheon at the Experimental Farm.

Illegal Marriage Revealed.

Detroit, Mich., May 18.—His secret revealed by his mother, Ward Aubrey of London, Ont., and Halifax, was arrested Sunday night on a charge of bigamy, and taken to Windsor, later to be taken back to London. According to his own story, he was married ten years ago, when 16 years old, to a girl in his home town, Halifax, and three children were born to them. He lived with her three years, then left her, but later returned and stayed two years longer. Two years ago he went with his parents to London to live, and there met Mary Kilpatrick, 21 years old. They were married, and have been living in Detroit since March.

Rich Farmer Dies.

Windsor, May 18.—Hypolite Milloux reported to be the richest farmer in Essex County, is dead from general breakdown, due to his advanced age and strain from overwork.

He was 79 years of age, but insisted on doing hard manual labor on his farm until he collapsed. He leaves an estate of one hundred thousand dollars, to be divided among eight children. His farm consisted of 900 acres of best farming land in the county with a good river frontage.

Deceased served over twenty years in municipal office, being six years reeve of Sandwich East. He was born on a farm where Windsor is now located.

Hello Girls Want to Marry.

Rome, May 18.—A strike movement has started among the telephone girls, who complain of the conditions of the work and the regulation forbidding them to marry. They have adopted a policy of obstruction, doing everything in their power to lessen the speed with which communications are given.

When the authorities noticed this the principal culprits were called before the council of discipline and were given various punishments. These may, perhaps, give rise to a more serious movement among the whole staff.

Queen Honored for Heroism.

Lisbon, May 18.—King Manuel has bestowed upon Queen Amelia, widow of King Carlos, the decoration of three orders for the heroism displayed by Her Majesty on the occasion of the assassination of her husband and son in February, 1908. These orders are the Order of Christ, the Order of Santiago, and the military Order of Saint Benoit D'Avize.

Brain Affected by the Moon.

Windsor, May 18.—Richard Kraft, who shot and wounded three men at the police station on May 7, was yesterday remanded until Saturday.

His mother was in court and stated her son was subject to "spells" at every change of the moon.

She will try to get the prisoner off on a plea of irresponsibility and mental incapacity.

Slums Causes Decadence.

London, May 18.—The Bishop of London, speaking on race decadence and the danger of the growth of the slum population in Britain, asked: "Does it not account to some extent for the fact that to-day in Canada no Englishman need apply in the case of almost any job going? If that goes on loyalty will soon be undermined."

PROGRAMME FOR RECEPTION OF THE VISITING REGIMENTS

The programme for the reception of the visiting regimente from St. Catharines and Brantford on May 23 and 24 and for the formal openin of the new armouries is practically complete, and a glance over it seems to indicate that there will be few dull moments for either the outside soldiers or the members of the Peterborough Garrison.

The St. Catharines and Brantford soldiers will arrive early Sunday morning and will go into camp on Central Park. The advance guard will arrive early on Saturday, and will have everything in readiness for the main body when they reach the city, the tents being pitched and other arrangements completed. At nine o'clock on Sunday morning the visiting regiments and the 37th will muster at the armouries for church parade, leaving at 9.15 o'clock for St Paul's Church, where a military service will take place. Rev. Mr. Kerr, Chaplain of the 19th Regiment, will be the special preacher, and he will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Ashton, Chaplain of the 38th Regiment, Brantford, and Rev. Canon Davidson, Chaplain of the 57th Regiment, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, and Rev. Dr. Talling.

The parade will be over 1,000 strong. In the afternoon one of the visiting bands will give a concert in Central Park, and the officers of the 57th will entertain the visiting officers to a drive around the city. In the evening another concert in Central Park will be given by one of the visiting bands.

Monday morning at 9 a. m. the three regiments will fall in at the armouries, and at 9.30 will parade to Riverside Park for review by the officer commanding the Eastern Ontario command. Afterwards they will return to the armouries to take part in the opening ceremonies, for which Hon. Wm. Pugsley will be present.

An address of welcome will be read by his Worship the Mayor, on behalf of the city. Mr. R. R. Hall, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, on behalf of the government, and Col. Gordon, commanding officer of the Eastern Ontario command, on behalf of the militia.

The steamers will leave Wolfe St. wharf at 2 and 4 o'clock, and will be open to all men in uniform, but no civilians will be allowed. For the benefit of the civilians the steamer Otonabee will run similar excursions. The officers will also enjoy a trip over the lift locks.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the soldiers will be taken over the lift locks in steamers. In the evening the 57th Rgiment band will give a concert in Victoria Park from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, and all the visiting officers and the officers of the 57th, and the Minister of Public Works, will be entertained by Hon. J. R. Stratton at a banquet to be given in the Oriental Hotel. The visiting regiments will leave for home by special train at about 11 o'clock that night.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The military services will last from 9.30 until 10.30. The special preacher will be Rev. Mr. Kerr, Chaplain of the 19th Regiment, while he will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Ashton, chaplain of the 38th Regiment, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Dr.Langfeldt, and Rev. Dr. Talling. The St. Catharines Band will lead the musical service in place of the choir.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Past Week Compares Favourably With Those That Have Gone Before and Bespeak a Continuance of Activity.

WORK IS ADVANCING.

The building permits during the past week have kept up fairly well, and at least show that the promise of building activity is still encouraging. The following is the list:

Alfred Jones, brick dwelling, $1,280, Townsend and Stewart streets.

McKee and Weir, three brick dwellings, $4,500, Murray and Donegal.

Arthur Mitchell, brick dwelling, $1,300, Rink and Aylmer streets.

Peterborough Club, alterations, $1,800; Water street.

Mrs. E. Patterson, verandah, $175, Brock street.

Miss M. Wheeler, kitchen, $200, Romaine street.

R. Hicks, dwelling, $2,500; Stewart street.

Dr. Marshall, dwelling, $2,500, Hunter street.

Wilbert Howson, stable, $100, Mark street.

Richard Gillies, verandah, $80; Patterson street.

H. J. McCannon, dwelling, $2,100, George street.

M. G. Walker, shed, $25; George street.

MUST CLEAN YARDS

Sanitary Inspector is Making his Rounds of the City.

Saturday was the fifteenth of the month, and the citizens are reminded that they should have had their yards cleaned by that date. P. C. Newhall started out yesterday, and a record will be taken of all those who have been nebligent in keeping their places in proper sanitary condition. Chief Roszel intends to summons to the police court any who have not complied with the by-law. P. C. Newhall will also have an eye open for dogs without a tag.

REMOVING THE DEBRIS

Remains of Old Drill Shed are Being Carted Away.

There will be little or no trace of the old drill shed on Sunday, when the visiting regiments arrive to spend several days with the 57th. The blackened and charred debris is being carried away and the park will give evidence of having received some care. There will be no obstructions from the armouries out to George street, and if the speech making is held out doors there will be every opportunity of a large number of people hearing what is said.

HE SOON GOT WORK

Young Scotchman, Who Only Arrived From the Old Country This Morning, Was Given Employment With the G.T.R.

NO WORK IN SCOTLAND.

William Aitchison arrived in the city this morning from Scotland. He had no work in view when he arrived here but he called on Mr. Chas. Noyes at the G. T. R. and through him was able to secure work on the railroad at Keene. He is a young man of about twenty-two years of age and came out on the steamship "Don[illegible]" arriving at Quebec on Saturday. His home is in Aidrie, a small town about ten miles from Glasgow. He said that he had not worked since the New Year, there being very little to do in the Old Country, and there being a large number out of work. That was the reason he came to Canada, where he hoped to do better.

AUTO CAR BROKE DOWN

Wheel Came Off at George and Charlotte Streets This Afternoon.

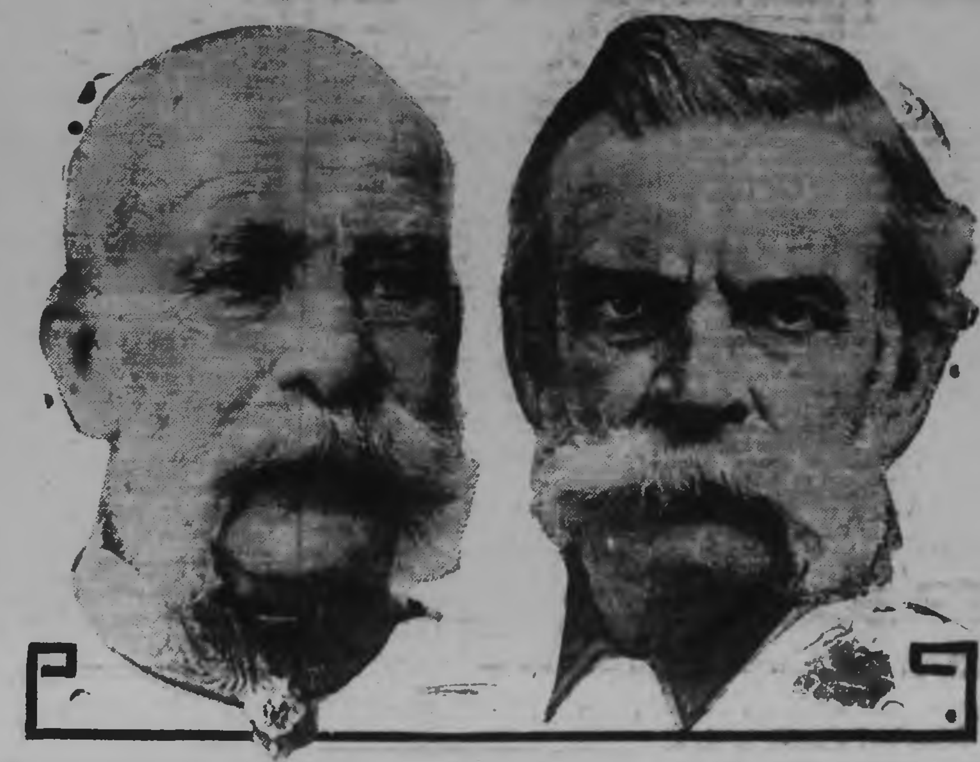
The Chemong auto bus met with an accident this afternoon at George and Charlotte streets. The big car was coming along Charlotte street at a fairly good rate of speed when it was noticed that the left front wheel was rather shaky looking. At the corner the axle broke and the car went with a sudden jolt. Fortunately no one was hurt, although considerable inconvenience was incurred.

HER 93RD BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Alexander is Receiving Many Congratulations on the Event To-day.

Mrs. Isabella Alexander, mother of Mr. P. Alexander, of Alexander and Miller, electricians, and of Mrs. Walter Evans, 353 King street, this city, is receiving the congratulations of her relatives and friends, to-day being the occasion of her 93rd birthday. Mrs. Alexander still enjoys good health and is able to visit around among her friends with comparative ease and pleasure. Her memory is still good, and she frequently enjoys telling about her first landing in Peterborough 75 years ago, and her varied experiences since that time. Mrs. Alexander is a member of Knox Church and quite a regular attendant at the services during the severest weather of the past winter.

IS THIS OLD MACHINIST OF PAINSEVILLE AN HEIR TO AUSTRIA'S PROUD THRONE?



EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEF OF AUSTRIA. JOHANN ORTH OF PAINSVILLE E, O.
Note the marked resemblance between the two men. The cut of the whiskers, the forehead, the nose, the chin, the eyebrows.

Special Correspondence.

Painesville, O., May 18.—By disappearing upon the spotlight of publicity was turned on him, Johann Orth, humble $15 a week machinist of this city, has convinced investigators that he is in reality Archduke Johann, nephew of the Emperor of Austria, and rightful heir to the throne of the Hapsburgs, centre of the greatest mystery of the century, and the hero of royalty's prettiest romance.

Here is the story of that romance—the story of an archduke and the beautiful peasant singer for whom he gave up rank, honours, royal power, wealth, everything in the world for LOVE. Prematurely old and broken and lonely—for his wife it seems died in the earthquake at Martinique—the old man at Painesville to intimates told what happened after, before—and after:

By Dorothy Dale.

One summer's day in 1886, an humble Vienna citizen, Herr Stubel, took his wife and three daughters to picnic in the woods near the city. The girls were good girls. They helped swell the family purse by singing in the Royal Opera House and the father had shut up his little shop before noon and taken them to enjoy the open.

They had just spread their luncheon. Milli, the youngest girl, who earned her mite by dancing, pirouetted about in her glee to be outdoors.

Suddenly she dropped, frightened. A shot had whistled by from an enclosure in the woods. A handsome, soldierly looking man in hunter's costume appeared. He was earnest in his apologies. Hospitable Herr Stubel invited him to stay for the luncheon.

The man stayed, entered into the simple spirit of the little home party.

His dress had the distinguished cut of the nobleman. His whiskers and moustache betokened a man of rank. But his brown eyes were so kindly and his manners sounaffected that no one suspected he was other than the engineer, John Orth, whom he introduced himself to be.

Herr Stubel might have noticed how much those eyes looked in the direction of Milli. Also a change in the girl. Never before had her eyes seemed so full of light, the smile of her pretty lips so sweet. She looked like a nymph of the woods.

When the day was over Orth asked if he might come to visit the family in their home. Herr Stubel consented. It was the beginning of a romance.

Herr Johann Orth often visited the opera to watch his little sweetheart sing and dance. He told her,

MILLI STUBEL
From a Photograph Taken Shortly Before Her Marriage to the Archduke Johann

more and more insistently, that she should leave the stage and go with him—away from the world somewhere, just the two of them for always.

And while the girl listened half-convinced new forces were working.

Millis' mother somehow got suspicious that Johann Orth was not the man he pretended to be. He had asked the girl to address him at Gmunden. The mother could find no man there of that name.

The big army corps was having grand manoeuvres near Gmunden. It was the big spectacular event of the year. The emperor himself would review the troops. Grand dukes would lead them. The mother and daughter got places where they could see anything.

At the head of an entire army corps rode a man in the imperial trappings and decorations—an archduke whom all bowed before.

The little singer took one look at him and fainted. It was her lover, Johann Orth.

Her house of cards had fallen with a crash. This was no man of her own station who honourably loved her. It was only another great nobleman playing with a poor girl's heart, only amusing himself.

But a miracle happened. This great man, this archduke and nephew of Franz Josef, in the presence of the whole army and its officers, hurried to the spot and raised the girl up, and took her to his palace.

"I want you for always," he murmured. "They won't ever separate us no matter what happens. I am going to marry in spite of the whole world."

There was storm in court circles then. The emperor forbade the marriage of course—why, by the death of one or two, this Johann would be emperor of Austria and Hungary.

Love and ambition fought a duel in Johann Orth's heart and love won an easy victory. The court restrictions had always chafed him. He hated wearing a uniform, and holding a rank he did not earn.

He took Milli to London and married her in the presence of her father and mother. He had to give up his title to the throne. He had to renounce even his Austrian citizenship. Then he and the girl he loved disappeared from the knowledge of man.

* * *

All this is history. Here the old man of Painesville takes up the narrative. He did not absolutely say he was the grand duke. But he said:

"We went to Chile, to Argentine, where we had a ranch, to Salvator, to Japan, to Central America, to Martinique," is his tale of his wanderings. "Sometimes prosperous, sometimes not, but always happy."

Martinique saw the end of the romance. The outburst of Mount Pelee killed Milli and the two children, who had come to them. The broken-hearted old man came to the United States.

Johann Orth first came to Painesville five years ago. It was a quiet town, ideal for his purposes of self-effacement. He found friends there who were discreet, and he lived a quiet life until driven away the other day by the publication of the story that he was the missing archduke

LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY ASK FOR LONG FRANCHISE

Mr. J. H. Larmonth Waits on the Council to Ask for a Thirty-Year Extension----Company Wishes to Arrange a Bonded Issue and Underwriters Refuse to Advance Anything in View of the Fact That Their Franchise Will Expire at the End of Five Years---Matter Was Referred to the Manufacturers' Committee to Report to the Council.

To give the Peterborough Light and Power Company a thirty years' franchise of the streets of Peterborough upon the expiration of the present contract in five years' time was the request laid before the Council last night in committee of the whole, on behalf of the Company. Mr. J. H. Larmonth, who represented the Light and Power Company at the meeting, explained that his Company had been figuring on extensions for some time. In the past the Company had been assisted by the Quaker Oats' Company. Some $50,000 or $60,000 had been advanced by them and this was being held as an overdraft. The Light and Power Company wished to arrange a bond issue, and everything had been working nicely when it was discovered that the Company's pole franchise in Peterborough expired in five years. This put an end to the negotiations as the underwriters refused to advance anything in view of the fact that the franchise was about to expire.

The Light and Power Company would like to come to terms with the city for a thirty years' franchise, thirty years being the length of the term of the bond. They did not want, Mr. Larmonth stated an exclusive franchise, but desired to be in a position to satisfy the underwriters

HAS AN HEIR BEEN FOUND TO THE GAGNON FORTUNE OF $8,000,000.00

Below is given an article that appeared in yesterday's issue of the Montreal Herald. The readers of the Examiner will remember that a few weeks ago a reference was made to the story of a fortune that was left by a French Canadian named Gagnon, and to which the widow and family of the late Joseph Gagnon, of this city have strong proofs that they are direct heirs. Some time ago Jules and Honore Gagnon, of Montreal, tried to prove that they were heirs but failed.

The article is as follows:

The most excited passenger who has left Bonaventure station within the memory of the eldest member of the passenger staff, was Alphonse Gagnon, who started Saturday night for Sand Point, near Bonner's Ferry, on the Great Northern Railway in Washington State, to take possession of a farm for which he has been offered $8,000,000.

Up to last week Mr. Gagnon was a hardworking habitant, who cultivated the little farm near St. Agapit, in this province, which his father and grandfather has cultivated before him, without a thought that to-day he would be numbered among the world's millionaires. He knew he had an uncle who had gone to Washington State and was in possession of the uncle's address, but correspondence between them had been infrequent since his father's death, and beyond the fact that some time ago gold in pretty large quantities had been discovered on the farm which his uncle had occupied these twenty years, he had little knowledge of his relative's circumstances.

Death of Uncle

Last week there came to him two great surprises. The first was on Tuesday, when he received a telegram from a lawyer at Sand Point informing him of the death if his uncle, Pierre Gagnon, who had died childless and left him, as the eldest surviving son of Gustave Gagnon, the farm and other properties which were described as very valuable on account of the gold discoveries.

Two days later, on Thursday, there came a telegram from a Havemeyer syndicate at Bonner's Ferry, making a straight offer of $8,000,000 for the Pierre Gagnon farm.

Alphonse decided to see the farm before selling it. "Maybe it is worth much more," he reasoned, "or the syndicate would not want it."

Left Saturday Night

The two telegrams were answered and the answers brought replies which led him to start at once for Bonner's Ferry and Sand Point. He reached Bonaventure station early Saturday evening and at once took his ticket through by way of Chicago.

The joyous Alphonse Gagnon, who is about thirty years old, and has a wife and three children, could not refrain from telling the good news while waiting for the night train, and many eyes saw the telegrams from Bonner's Ferry and Sand Point before the Chicago express left here. Mr. Gagnon, who had all necessary documents of identification in his possession, went probably on his last journey in a colonist car, for the gold awaiting him will enable him to adopt a more luxurious mode of travel on the return journey.

From a Local View

The friends of the Peterborough family as well as the members themselves are practically positive that they are heirs. They have made investigations, have visited the old homestead, and in fact have done everything possible, but to communicate with the courts in Washington State, where for years the heirs have been wanted.

FOUR WERE DROWNED

Boat Upset in Running a Dangerous Rapid and Lumbermen Lost Their Lives in Swift Stream.

THREE OF THEM ESCAPED

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Ottawa, Ont., May 18.—Word reached here to-day that four men have been drowned at A rapids on the Petawawa. They are Thomas Day of St. Regis, Que., John Jackson, a man named Lazore, and a fourth name unknown. The three latter were from Ogdensburg, N.Y., vicinity.

A party of seven, in charge of Gilbert O'Connor, of Ottawa, left here last Thursday to go at lumbering work up the Petawawa. They got from Deux Rivieres to Trout Lake, and then started 25 miles up the Petawawa, eight in the one boat. They were warned at Portage not to run the dangerous rapids, but persisted in doing so. Going over the mill wash rapids their boat upset. Three got to shore, five were swept over the rapids, only one of whom escaped.

COTTAGES AT THE POINT

Mann Company are Building new Summer Homes at Pigeon Lake.

The Mann Lumber & Cheese Box Co., Limited, are erecting two summer cottages on Sandy Point, Pigeon Lake, for Mr. E. Heaton, a wealthy resident of Toronto.

The same firm have also the contract for erecting a summer cottage on the same point, for Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, this city.

THE WIRES ARE DOWN

Public May Now Wander in the Lower Part of Victoria Park.

The wire fence has been taken down from around the lower part of Victoria Park and the public may now wander at liberty around the paths, but they are asked not to trespass on the grass. In fact there is a sign prominently situated at the southwest entrance, notifying everybody that it is contrary to law to trespass on the premises.

POWER AT BURLEIGH

Messrs. McLaughlin and Culverwell in the City To-day—Central Ontario Power Co, Have Set a Price for Sale to the City.

WILL MEET THE COUNCIL.

Messrs. R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., of Lindsay and Toronto, and J. A. Culverwell, of Port Hope were in the city to-day, registered at the Oriental. Their business here is conducted with the Central Ontario Power Co., and the Burleigh Falls Power. To an Examiner reporter Mr. Culverwell stated that at a recent meeting of the directors they had decided upon an offer which will be presented to the City Council as soon as a meeting can be arranged. He thought it would be considered a fair proposition.

"We have also the engineer's report and the aldermen are going to get a big surprise when they learn the figures of the cost of delivering Burleigh Falls Power into the city. They have no idea that this power can be put into Peterborough so cheaply."

Mr Culverwell remarked that the net cost per horse power per twenty-four hours, delivered in Peterborough, and transformed, ready for distribution in the city, would be $7.50. This figure was determined by the consulting engineer, and is shown in his report, which will be presented by Mr. McLaughlin to the Council. The latter has been authorized to give a price to the Council.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR

On Saturday Parliament enacted a bill, creating a portfolio of labour. Thus has the Liberal Government translated into fact its policy of recognizing the importance of labour interests in a land where everybody works. Hon. Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition objected to the feature of the bill creating a new portfolio and Mr. Henderson, of Halton, of course a Conservative, objected to the minister getting a salary of $7,000, "the same as other ministers"; as if labour were less important than any other interests. As a matter of fact, a Minister of Labour will have his time occupied with an infinity of details and have come under his administration matters demanding more tact and attention than those which obtain in almost any other department. This country is rapidly growing, and its labour interests will share the general growth. And it seems the salaries of ministers are not any too high. The present figure of $7,000 a year was fixed thirty-five years ago. Since that time their duties have doubled and there has been an advance in the price of every other thing since then. At that time an ordinary labourer got about 75 cents per day, and all other labour was in proportion. Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition is not so small as some of his supporters; he thinks ministerial salaries too low and if the Government brings in a bill to increase the salaries he will support it.

TAKE TIME BY THE FORELOCK

The Lethbridge Herald knows a good thing thing when it sees it or reads it. It has reproduced in its columns the series of well written articles on the Principles of Landscape Gardening, written by Mr. A. B. Cutting, editor of The Canadian Horticulturist and published on successive Saturdays in the Examiner. This reproduction is a compliment both to the value of the articles and the importance of the subject. Lethbridge, in for West Alberta is only a few years old. If, thanks to Mr. Cutting's able articles, it begins and continues on right lines, what an urban beauty spot it will be when it shall have reached the age of Peterborough ninety years. While Peterborough, with some exceptions, chiefly confined to its streets, is a beautiful city to look upon, especially in summer, what a paradise it might have been made it the right steps could have been adopted from the beginning. If it had been possible to have preserved the beautiful shore lines of the river banks, from the necessary inroads of commercialism—if they had been maintained, something as they are above and below the Smith street bridge, at Inverlea Park and below especially on the western bank. If our forefathers could have looked forward far enough to have reserved fifty or sixty feet on each side of the creek, that ripples its romantically winding way through the city, if upon this reserve, they had even fifty years ago, planted lines of elms on each side of the stream following the curves of its sinuosities what a magnificent avenue would have existed now; if the banks had been cribbed and the stream been ribbed by dams into a successive series of quiet pools and creamy cascades; if drives had been built on each side and continued, from, say, Jackson Park where the drive now crosses at the swimming pool, southward along the western banks of the stream bordering Little Lake, skirting cemetery point and following the lake line on the Ashburnham shore, recrossing the river and joining the creek at Spalding's Bay and "thence northward to the place of beginning," we would have had one of the most beautiful drives on this green earth—with cascad—and sparkling under arching elms, whose stately boles towering skyward would stand like sentinels along the embowered highways and sheltered strolls. In view of so much lost opportunity we can sadly say with Robert Browning—

This could have but happened once,
And we missed it, lost it forever.

But we can make the most of our opportunities for the future and plan and plant and trim and prune till every home in every street is a beauty spot, marred only by the foreground of muddy, uneven, unkempt and frowsy street maintained by the street authorities. The women of Peterborough should combine to push a street improvement evangel and in the matter of the betterment of our streets imitate the strenuosity of their sister Suffragettes across the water.

Lethbridge has its chance now. It has all the elements and promise of future greatness. At present it is in the mad stress of the strife for getting on in material things, getting rich and growing big, if not beautiful. If it neglects its chances now it will look back with regret as we in Peterborough now note and mourn our lost opportunities. If the Little Bow river and its sister stream of abdominal appellation are as convenient to the nascent city of the Foothills as they seem to be on the map, Lethbridge should get a prompt and firm grip on the forelock of occasion. Let Lethbridge lay aside for a few minutes its metropolis-making strenuosity and dip into the future. Let it seize upon one or more water-washed site or sites for a park or parks; let it lay out a system of drives; let it plant long-lived trees and when it has notched as many years of history as Peterborough, it will have become an occidental type of Mount Sion—beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole West. We congratulate the Herald upon the disposition it shows to make Lethbridge beautiful as well as bustling; a city of real homes, not a mere commercial caravanseray in which the aesthetic is swallowed up in the economic. Looking ahead and pre-empting the future are not inconsistent with the exciting strife of money grubbing. Some day Lethbridge will, so to speak, have "made its pile," and will want to take its otium cum dignitate. It should plant its vine and fig-tree now.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Who will say that the "Heathen Chinese" is not amenable to the influence of civilization? A Chatham, Ontario, Chinaman has been convicted of selling liquor illegally—celestial strong drink imported from the celestial empire.

In the breast of Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, hope springs eternal; he regards the attainment of office as an ultimate possibility. He thinks the salaries of cabinet ministers should be increased. This is not to say that he is not magnanimous enough to advocate this on abstract principles of justice; but Mr. Borden is human, is not to be expected to close his eyes to the main chance.

Mr. Chas. R. Hosmer, president of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, Montreal, has just returned from Great Britain. He says Canada's credit stands very high and that as a consequence a large amount of British capital is being turned Canadaward. Just what might be expected. Canada is a land of inexhaustable sources of wealth and only the first instalment has been realized upon. The new British budget will make British capital more anxious to find place in Canada where it will escape the Welshman's taxation and at the same time, under conditions of undoubted security, give satisfactory returns.

TRUSTS AND COMBINES UNDER PROTECTION

(The Farmers' Advocate.)

The very word "combine" has come to have a sinister meaning. We at once think of an immense organization controlling a certain line of production, conscienceless and brutal, "without a body to be kicked or a soul to be damned," using its remorseless power to crush weaker rivals out of existence, to oppress its own employees, and to pillage the general public. And looking at the matter in the light of what revelations have been made of their methods of operation in this and other countries, we must calmly acknowledge that this view, extreme though it may appear, is not more so than facts would warrant. And yet it would be untrue to say that all combines are of this class. I am a firm believer in the utility of combinations. Very often a group of men engaged in any industry can combine, co-operate—call it what you will—to their mutual advantage, and the advantage of the general public. They can introduce cheaper methods of production and marketing, can do away with wasteful competition, can buy to better advantage, and many other things, advantageous to themselves, their workmen and the consuming public. But when a combine uses its power to restrict production, to crush rivalry, and to fix the prices of its product, it becomes a robber organization, and worthy of our strongest censure.

It is worth noting that a long-continued policy of protection, particularly in a young country, is almost certain to result in the formation of combines of the last-named class. Protection is at first designed to help "infant industries," industries which are not yet firmly established, but which it is intended shall finally grow beyond the need of protection. They, of course, do not begin to supply the wants of the home market; and so, as we pointed out in a previous article, experience at once the full effect of the protective tariff in a rise in the price of their product. This at once stimulates production, new establishments spring up, and the business prospers. But soon comes a time when the home market is supplied, or nearly so. If the industry continues to grow, prices must soon be fixed by that received for the exported surplus—in other words, the world price—less by the rate of duty than the protected price. This must mean reduced profits for those engaged in the business. In order to avoid this, a combine is formed, and one of two lines of policy is adopted, either: (1) Production is restricted to less than the needs of the home market, that the tariff-enhanced price may still be enjoyed, and a policy of destructive competition is carried out against rivals that may refuse to come into the combine, and against new establishments that may threaten to increase the total output; (2) two prices may be fixed, one for home consumption, at the old protected rate, and one for export at the world-price. This does not necessarily stop the growth of the business, as the first method does. A modification is found when the establishments enrolled in a combine agree to pay out of their profits a bonus on the exported output of such a number of establishments as will leave the home market undersupplied by the rest. There is every evidence that all these methods are in use by combines in Canada at the present time.

In February last a deputation from the Dominion Grange waited on the Dominion Government, pointing out that there was every indication of the existence of combines formed to restrain trade, and asking that some action be taken in the matter. The deputation consisted of James McEwing, M.P.P.; H. J. Pettypiece, ex-M.P.P., and the writer. With us we had J. W. Currie, K.C., formerly Crown Attorney in Toronto, and of large experience in the investigation of illegal combines; and J. W. Woods, of the Gordon Mackay Co., a merchant and manufacturer, able to speak with authority. The evidence which these gentlemen were able to furnish was truly astounding. Quoting from the report of the proceedings of that deputation, we find it stated that, "Evidence collected in Toronto by J. W. Currie, K.C., when that gentleman was Crown Attorney, indicated that there were then well on to a hundred trade combinations in Ontario, and that these were collecting, in the aggregate, millions of dollars a year in the form of unfair profits." It would be too great a trespass on space to give in detail the statements made. It is enough to say that it was shown beyond a doubt that combines existed; that they crushed rivals but cutting prices till they again controlled the field; that they restrained production; that they persecuted to ruin any firm seceding from the combine; that they prevented importation by underselling, in the cover of the tariff, whenever this was attempted, and that they divided their customers into classes of more or less favoured dealing, this policy bearing most heavily on the small country dealer. These practices can be called no other name than robbery. They are designed to get unfair profits, they oppress the consumer, and undo the very object for which the protection they enjoy was given, by preventing the expansion of their own business.

The cotton manufacturing industry, which has shown no increase in number of establishments since 1891, and which is enploying fewer hands now than in 1901, in spite of the fact that the consumption of cotton goods and their importation into the country is rapidly increasing, affords an illustration of the way our protective tariff encourages the growth of industries. This industry is practically controlled by one company, whose interest is certainly not to overstock the home market. It is true, these people blame their lack of expansion to insufficient protection. In a circular, issued to their employees at the time of the great strike in Quebec, it is stated, "Unfortunately, the cotton trade of this country does not receive sufficient protection, and it is possible for the manufacturers of England and the United States to undersell us, which means that we do not secure all the business to which we have a right." But, in evidence given before the commission to inquire into that strike, the secretory-treasurer of the company testified to the payment, out of profits of the business, of a fifty-per-cent. dividend on the cost of common stock, of a dividend of seven per cent. on preferred stock, and of six per cent. on bonds, besides a very large amount for repairs and betterments. Surely a business paying such profits is not prevented from expanding by "insufficient protection." Is it not rather the result of a deliberate plan to keep the home market understocked, that the higher prices due to tariff protection, may be enjoyed?

Long-continued protection, thus, in the end defeats itself. It results in the creation of a combine, whose interest it is to prevent the expansion of its own line of business. A new concern, attempting to start under these conditions, finds a competition more to be feared than any possible foreign competition. Instead of new establishments being built up, an absolute ban is put on expansion. The net result is found in the stagnation of industry, the oppression of the consumer, and—a few millionaires.

There is every reason to believe that combines, whose object is to restrain trade, are rife in Canada. Home competition, which protectionists assure us will regulate prices, is a myth. In nearly all cases the full, protected price is charged to the consumer. Production sufficient to supply the home market is jealously guarded against, or, if this point is reached, two prices, one for export, and another—and higher—for home consumption, are fixed. Scant mercy is shown to weaker rivals, or to new concerns, and thus the expansion of business is prevented. Excessive profits are hid from the public eye under the mask of over-capitalization. In the end, the farming community find themselves paying a dollar and thirty cents for what should cost a dollar, paying more for labour and for all kinds of service—not to build up urban industries, not to create a "home market" for their produce, but to pay dividends of fifty per cent on the capital of some manufacturing concern, and to create an aristocracy of wealth, which even now seriously threatens our country, and which, as years go on, must increase in its power for harm.

LIGHT AND POWER CO. ASK FOR LONG FRANCHISE

The terms would have to be considered later on. Mr. Larmonth thought that his Company was deserving of fair treatment, and he was sure that they would get it. They had distributed $20,000 in wages, had never employed less than 28, and had had as high as 64 men and had an average payroll of $1,500, so that they had an industry of no small importance. He asked the Council to consider the matter carefully. City Clerk Armstrong asked if there had not been an act passed in the Legislature last year, which prevented the granting of franchises for any more than one year, except on a vote.

The Council did not discss the matter last night, preferring to get the advice of the city solicitor.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Duncan the question was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee to consult with the solicitor and report back to the Council.

Mr. A. Gibbs waited on the Council in regard to the sewer on Bethune street, which had been ordered by the Board of Health. He wished to know when it was going to be put in, and also about the water service. He was advised to consult the Water Commissioners about the last matter, and that the Board of Works would take the other up at its next meeting.

There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan, Duffus, Gillespie, Buller, Hicks, Turner, McIntyre, Morgan, Duncan and Metheral.

HOAGLAND BACK FROM THE GRIND AT MILWAUKEE

W. A. Hoagland arrived in Peterborugh this morning after cleaning up the Milwaukee seven-day grind, and looks none the worse for his record-breaking "hike" in Brewersville. He is here to make preparations for the big local walk, which commences on Monday night next, and which will promise to be a grand success.

By the way, a mistake was made in the standing furnished the Peterborough papers yesterday from Milwaukee, Jim Harrison, the local ped. taking fourth place instead of sixth as stated. Hoagland states that Harrison made a grand showing, and was always in the race, making a big hit with the western followers of the game. The race was one of the best that the Auburn walker has ever competed in from the point of hard, fast going. It was a race from start to finish and Hoagland had to extend himself to his limit to beat off Brown, Corey, and Harrison, who were always dangerous. The pace was hot from the beginning, with the result that the champion did a few stunts to his own record during the performance. All the good men who competed in Milwaukee will be here with the exception of Albert Corey, the Chicago Marathoner, who will not be able to make the trip. Brown, who finished second, is coming, and so is West, Blake, Graham, Fenton, and several other good men from across the line. Harrison, Spencely and John Blatchford will represent Peterborough and there may be other local peds in the grind. Slater will not be here. The Oswego wonder dropped out before the Milwaukee grind was half over, and he evidently thinks that he would not have a chance to get in the money here.

The boys who walked in Milwaukee will be here to-morrow with the exception of Harrison, who remains over until Thursday, when he will meet Quale, whom he defeated in the walk, in a two-hour contest. Quale, a Wisconsin walker, thinks that he can defeat the Peterborough ped in a short distance affair, hence the challenge.

The contest standing was as follows:

	Miles.	Laps.
Hoagland	113	1
Brown	112	6
Corey	111	13
Harrison	110	5
West	109	19
Blake	109	2
Quale	104	9
Regan	103	9

Corey later ran Black a mile in 5 minutes, 17 seconds.

Thursday, July 1—St. Peter's vs. St. Andrew's.
Tuesday, July 6—All Saints' vs. St. Andrew's.
Thursday, July 8—George St. vs. St. Peter's.

The Norwood Footballers Beat Marmora By 3 Goals to 0

Norwood defeated Marmora in somewhat easy fashion on Friday night last in a Midland Football League game, played at Norwood. The homesters had all the better of the play, and dished up a nice article of football. Marmora worked hard but Norwood's defence was strong, while their attacking division worked in well together, showing splendid combination considering the fact that they have had but little practice. Kenneth MacKay, of Havelock, refereed the game and gave general satisfaction. The teams lined up as follows.

Norwood

Goal, Ferguson; backs, Graham and Kelly; half backs, Cumming, Nichol and Doherty; right wing, McLeod and Rogers; left wing, Johnson and Londregan; centre, Pearce.

Marmora

Goal, Southworth; backs, Primer and Naylor; half backs, Horwitz, Glover and Lehan; right wing, Murphy and Simons; left wing, Thompson and Doyle; centre, Campbell.

Oshawa beat Cobourg 2 to 0 in a Midland League game on Saturday.

ANTI-PIKER AGREES WITH BLEACHER

Fans of Peterborough Only Want Newspaper Baseball, He Says.

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—That "Bleacher" guy who wrote the dope in last night's paper about the pikers of Peterborough certainly makes a hit with me. On the level there are more real original Johnny Tightwads in Peterborough to the square inch than there are in any other burg in the wide, wide world. When it comes down to cases, some of the respected citizens of this burg can squeeze two bits tighter than a native of a local option town squeezes a jag bottle when he hits into the wet belt. There are hundreds of the "ain't-I-the-red-hot-fan" gang, who hang around and read the ball scores on the bulletin boards because they don't need to get a divorce from their mazuma to figure out the dope, but when it comes to spending a little to see a ball game the bunch don't stand pat. Its cheaper to go down to the station and see the trains come in.

Last year Peterborough had a couple of red-hot ball teams, who handed out the big League article all along the route, but did they get any support from these howling fans who tell you that they are the only Wise Ones, when it comes to being there on the form sheet? Not so as you could notice it. Did they have to enlarge the bleachers at Riverside Park and put railings along the river bank to keep the enthusiastic fans and fancies from pushing each other into the damp? Did they have to build an annex to the box office so that the sides wouldn't break out with the money that the talent was pouring into it? Nix, Clarice, nix. They all wanted to know the score and they were there with a hammer chorus if the visiting team had managed to slip one in on the home article, but all those little attentions don't do much towards financing a ball team.

"Bleacher" made a ten strike when he doped it that road racing was the game for Peterborough people. There is no way of making them dig for that and the long distance stuff on the road will always make a hit around here.

Yours for-the-sport,
"ANTI-PIKER."

CANADA FIRST PARTY.

They Started Imperialism In Canada, Says Col. Denison.

In the opinion of Col. George T. Denison, as related in his recent book "The Struggle for Imperial Unity," the growth of Imperialism in Canada began with the organization of the Canada First party of five young men in 1868. In the spring of that year, soon after Confederation, Col. Denison spent some time in Ottawa, where he and a young Toronto lawyer, William A. Foster, were introduced by a mutual friend, Dr. Henry J. Morgan, to Charles Mair, of Lanark, Ont., and Robert J. Haliburton, of Halifax, eldest son of the famous author of "Sam Slick." These five young men were congenial spirits, bubbling over with patriotism, and they became close friends. They met almost nightly at Dr. Morgan's rooms, where they discussed the future of the new Dominion. As Col. Denison says in his book: "It ended in our making a solemn pledge to each other that we would do all we could to advance the interests of our native land; that we would put our country first, before all personal, or political, or party consideration." Some years afterwards they chose for their association the name "Canada First."

These patriotic idealists were then young men about twenty-eight years of age, excepting Haliburton, who was four or five years older. They were all true to their chivalrous pledge. Foster and Haliburton have passed away, but all their lives they worked with energy to stimulate the growth of a Canadian national spirit. The others look with satisfaction on the proportions that growth has attained since those early days. Dr. Morgan still lives in Ottawa, and writes on patriotic themes, and from time to time recalls interesting reminiscences of the spirited "struggle," of which Col. Denison has been telling his own recollections. As to the colonel himself he seems as young and vigorous as he was forty years ago. Indeed to see him walking briskly, as he does every morning rain or shine, from his home, "Heydon Villa," in the far west of the city, to the Toronto Police Court, one finds it hard to believe that forty years have passed over his head since that time.

THE PENALTY OF GREATNESS.

The Circus Clown Was Acquainted With George Ham.

George H. Ham, the genial, whole-souled head of the C.P.R.'s publicity department, is justifiably proud of his title as the best known and wittiest man in all Canada. There is such a thing as an embarrassment of riches, however. Mr. Ham realized this in June of 1906 when traveling through the West with the Canadian Women's Press Club. That organization and the circus reached Calgary on the same day, escaping, by the way, without any inferences being drawn by The Eye Opener.

Anxious always that everybody should have a good time, Mr. Ham set about to amuse a couple of the press women who had missed connection with a picnic given in the club's honor. Brimming over with cheerfulness, as he always is whether accompanying crowned heads of Europe, notables from foreign shores, or ordinary everyday newspaper men of this continent on their western tours, he was a conspicuous figure, and kept up a running fire of pleasantries in an effort to make the forsaken damsels forget their disappointment.

Gradually the clouds of sorrow lifted. They disappeared altogether in a burst of laughter when the clown on top of a gaily decorated caravan let his painted grin expand into a smile of recognition, and, with a skip of pure delight and a frantic waving of his white clad arms to attract attention, shouted down to Mr. Ham:

"Why, hello George!!!"

Preparing For the Worst.

Both boys had been rude to their mother. She put them to bed earlier than usual and then complained to their father about them. So he started up the stairway, and they heard him coming.

"Here comes papa," said Maurice. "I am going to make believe I am asleep."

"I'm not," said Harry. "I'm going to get up and put something on."—Ladies' Home Journal.

No Applicants.

Lincoln, sick with varioloid once, turned a grim face to his doctor one day and let a rueful smile appear.

"Do you know, doctor," he remarked, "it's an ill wind blows no one good? I've got something at last that the office seekers don't want."

Harry's Share.

Teacher—Now, Harry, suppose I had a mince pie and gave one-sixth to Johnny, one-sixth to Tommy, one-sixth to Willie and took half of it myself. What would be left? Harry (promptly)—I would.—Exchange.

Frozen Out by Acid Trust.

Kingston, May 18.—Dr Hemstock, an Englishman, who came here recently and secured part of the city smelter site for the purpose of starting a plant for the manufacture of sulphuric and nitric acid, has given up the project, as a trust was formed, closing him out of the market.

The Power of Luck.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

I had received my medical diploma and before going home called on one of the lecturers, the famous surgeon, Dr. Coleman Coyle, to say goodby. I had been quite a favorite with the doctor, and he had occasionally been a help to me. Besides, he was an intimate friend of my father.

"Billy," he said to me, "I hope you'll succeed in the profession, but you won't unless you have luck."

"Why, doctor, I'm surprised. Everybody knows that you have worked yourself up to your present high position by your own unaided efforts."

"Everybody knows just nothing about it. Sit down there, and I'll tell you a story. You're a man now, and it won't injure you. On the contrary, it may teach you not to be too self reliant and have due respect for luck. And who knows how far luck means providence. And providence often works through channels that are surprising to us mortals.

"When I was where you are now I was obliged to start in a small town. While I was studying I was ambitious for what I have now, but as soon as I struck that town my heart sank within me. And I hadn't been there a month before I was glad to attend a horse with the blind staggers to get a few dollars. I managed to eke out enough to pay for a room in a garret and one or two cheap meals a day. Surgery! Why, there never was but one surgical case in the town.

"One day my old friend George Phillips came through the town and looked me up. We had been at the medical school together and had a lot to talk over. George invited me to do the talking in a restaurant, and we spent a whole evening there eating and drinking—after 10 o'clock mostly drinking. I was an abstemious young man and couldn't stand the liquor I took in on that one occasion. George, who was more used to it, took me to my room and left me while he ran to catch a midnight train.

"I tried to get off my clothes, but couldn't. I remember taking off my coat and trying to hang it on a bedpost when it came round to me, for everything in the room was circling. While I was vainly trying to find the shoestring of my boot I heard a violent ring at the doorbell below, and presently my landlady came up in a wrapper and said something which startled though it didn't sober me. John Overaker, the only rich man in the town, had been taken violently ill and I was wanted immediately.

"Here was a terrible situation. My first chance had come and I was hopelessly drunk. I caught at my coat when it came round, managed to get it on, accidentally jammed my hand against my hat, got it on and staggered downstairs. I succeeded in getting to the Overakers, rang the bell and was admitted by the only member of his family, his daughter Ethel.

"'Oh, doctor,' she said wildly. I didn't hear what she said. I learned it afterward. 'I fear it is apoplexy. Mother died of apoplexy, and I know it by the snoring. Father was brought home by two friends, who put him in his room and left him. I sent for our regular physician, but he is out of town, so I sent for you.'

"While she was giving me this information I held on to the wall with one hand and looked at her without speaking. When she had finished she led me upstairs. I knew enough to get her out of the room, and to do so looked at her and put my hand on the door. She understood and left me. Overaker was snoring heavily. I sat down in a chair to try to steady myself, and—fell asleep. When I awoke the patient was still snoring. I remember leaving the room and by a careful hanging on to the banister getting downstairs. I was met by Miss Overaker.

"'Oh, doctor, is there any hope?'

"I nodded my head affirmatively and pressed her hand without speaking. She understood by this how deeply I felt and my sympathy for her.

"'You will call very early in the morning?'

"Again I nodded affirmatively and went out into the street.

"The next morning I was in bed groaning over a bad headache, a worse conscience and the knowledge that I had ruined my career at the start. I wondered if Overaker was dead. There was one comfort—nothing can be done in a case of apoplexy. I had promised to call early, so I got up and by a great effort dressed myself. I was going downstairs when I saw in the hall below, mirabile dictu, my patient. He saw me coming and smiled at me. When I reached him he grasped my hand warmly.

"'Thanks, my boy,' he said. 'You didn't say a word, did you? My daughter is as innocent as a baby. If she knew her father was drunk last night she would die of mortification. Give me a man who can keep his tongue in his head. My own doctor would have botched the whole business. Here's a check for your fee.'

"Now, if I had been sober I should certainly have ruined my career by telling the truth. As it was, I became John Overaker's physician, married his daughter and, backed by my father-in-law, came here to go into surgery. Don't think, my boy, that this story is to excuse my having been drunk; it is simply to show the power of luck. Indeed, so impressed was I with the fact that on another occasion drink would ruin me that I never have touched alcohol from that day to this."

HAROLD OTIS.

There is no one more unfortunate than the man who has never been unfortunate, for it has never been in his power to try himself.—Seneca.

CHICAGO LOCATED.

The New York Postoffice Discovered It in Illinois.

Where is Chicago?

This abstruse geographical problem must have given considerable brain fag to employees of the New York postoffice recently. The history of their researches to establish the whereabouts of the town with the "odd sounding name, don't you know," may be read easily from the face of an envelope received a few days ago by the Daily News. The envelope was of the ordinary gray variety used by the foreign service of the Daily News. It was from London—from London, England. The address it bore, in large, black printed letters, was:

"Chicago Daily News, 123 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, U. S. A."

That was all. The New York postoffice had nothing more to guide it in furthering the progress of the missive than these few words. What wonder that the letter should finally reach its destination bearing the proud legend, stamped in red ink, "Deficiency in address supplied by N. Y. P. O," and written in red ink beneath the hieroglyphic "Chicago," the guiding syllable "Ill." which had been omitted from the original address. Thus did New York supply the "deficiency."

While contemplating this interesting record of the zeal of the New Yorkers in working for the betterment of the postal service, it is easy to imagine the turmoil into which the eastern office was thrown when the foreign mails brought in this meagerly addressed missive. The trouble probably started with a minor clerk reading the brief inscription, scratching his head perplexedly and asking his neighbor in the most approved Pall Mall fashion:

"Oh, I say, old chap, did you ever hear of Chicago?"

Then two heads were scratched, and the cry was passed along the line, "Where, oh, where is Chicago?" until at last it reached the astute ears of some scholarly old fellow who was willing to set to work and solve the problem. Getting down his charts of the wild and unexplored western lands, he let his forefinger wander across its prairies, along its river valleys and finally about the border of its lakes until he came at last to the faintly imprinted letters, "Chicago." Oh, joy! It was found. There remained only to discover what state line surrounded the obscure village thus designated. Illinois, the map stated. Chicago, then, is in Illinois. How easy when one knows how! Back along the line passed the word, "Chicago is in Illinois!"

The problem was solved. The efficiency of the New York postoffice was proved. Hastily grabbing his pen, the first clerk wrote in triumph, "Ill.," and sent the letter securely along its destined route.—Chicago News.

Definition of Assault in England.

An assault may be committed without the exertion of any actual force, as a recent case before Justice Darling shows. A person may be guilty of the crime by simply frightening his victim. If any form of physical contact takes place the offense rises from an "assault" to a "battery." "Assault and battery," therefore, is not a mere reduplicated phrase. To constitute the minor crime some degree of alarm must be present in the mind of the party threatened, but that in itself (not very logically) is not enough. The person guilty of the menace must have the power of carrying out his implied threat, whether the victim knows it or not. Thus it has been held that while presenting a loaded pistol at a person is certainly an assault. To point an unloaded pistol is not.—Manchester Guardian.

Rapid Photograph Printing.

If amateur photographers could afford such a machine for printing their pictures as is used by a large stereoscopic view company they would get more pleasure than now out of the use of their cameras. The company runs a machine which will print at the rate of 1,500 photographs an hour. It is so arranged that when the length of the exposure needed for a given negative has been ascertained it can be set to run at that rate and will continue to run indefinitely. The sensitized paper is carried to the negative by a suction disk, is exposed to an electric light and passed on to a receiving box. It is then delivered to a developing machine, from which it emerges ready to be trimmed and mounted. Thus the drudgery of photography is done by machinery.

Where Wives Are Kept Under.

A Chinese Mrs. Caudle is inconceivable, for she would promptly be returned to her father labeled "Too muchee bhoberry." Only by one means can the lady obtain any right whatever to use even the mild moral suasion wherewith the tactful western wife is wont to turn events to her liking. If as a bride the Chinese woman succeeded in sitting on any corner of her husband's clothes at the moment when, halfway through the nuptial ceremonials, they first seat themselves side by side she is understood to occupy the position of mistress in her own house. Even then it generally stops at understanding.—From "Things Seen In China," by J. R. Chitty.

A Curious Thermometer.

Otto de Guericke, burgomaster of Magdeburg, made a curious thermometer, which was twenty feet long and gorgeous with blue paint and gilt stars. In consisted of a large globe fastened to a tube, both of copper. The tube was bent upon itself to form a very narrow U, in which was placed the requisite amount of alcohol. One arm of the U was shorter than the other and open at the top. On the liquid was a float, to which was attached a cord passing over a pulley. At the other end of this cord was hung a gilt angel, its finger pointing to a scale on which the degrees were painted.

IN INTERESTS OF LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE

Rev. W. G. Hanna Addressed Union Meeting at Hastings—Other News.

Hastings, May 15.—On Sunday evening Rev. W. G. Hanna, Secretary of the Lords' Day Alliance, addressed a union meeting in the Presbyterian Church, which was well attended. The reverend gentlemtn took for his text Isaiah, 58th chap., 13th and 14th verses, and showed some of the blessings following the proper observance of the Sababth.

A good representation from the Auxiliary of the W. M. S. of the Methodist Church, drove to Havelock, on Wednesday to attend the District Convention, which was held in that town. They spent the day and returned in the evening well pleased with their outing, and loud in their praises of the hospitality of the people of Havelock.

The service in the Methodist church was withdrawn on Sunday evening to allow the congregation to attend the union meeting in the interests of the Lord's Day Alliance.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. Charles Stewart, son of the late Mr. Wm. Stewart, of this town, which took place at the General Hospital, Toronto a week ago. Mr. Stewart was twenty-four years of age, and death was due to diphtheria, following an attack of typhoid fever. He is survived by his mother, two brothers and one sister. Interment place at Toronto on Friday of last week.

The Orangemen of this district are making arrangements for a monster celebration here on July 12th.

The election for the vacant seat in the Council, caused by the removal of Mr. Welsh, is to be held on the 27th inst.

Mr. Harry Brown leaves presently for Vancouver, where he will join his brother.

Miss L. Tate spent Sunday with friends in Peterborough.

The new dredge, which has been under construction for some time, was launched on Thursday last, from the ship yards at the Radiator Works. It is expected that the scows will be ready in the course of two weeks.

Mr. Stephen has just completed a building, which will be used as a shelter for his automobile.

Mr. Green has returned from a trip to Barrie.

Mr. Howard Runnels purposes leaving next week for Wolseley, Sask., to engage in the printing business.

The Methodist congregation have secured the town hall for religious services during the time that repairs are being made in connection with their church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Scott and family, formerly of Norwood, have moved to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Rev. Barrett spent Wednesday in Havelock.

At a recent meeting of the Council it was decided to materially improve the town by building some more cement walks, where they are most needed.

Mr. D. Cameron has returned from Owen Sound.

The Clerk has given notice that the Court of Revision will be held in the Council Chamber on the 28th May.

The steamer "Rainbow" will run an excursion to Peterborough on the 24th of May, to give the public an opportunity to attend at the opening of the large armouries in that city.

Miss Metcalfe, of Elgin, spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Maggie Hardman.

Mr. Servius, of Percy, who has been boring his well, had to go down to a depth of 200 feet before obtaining satisfactory results.

"CONSISTENCY" DEMANDS CHURCH CHOIR UNIFORMS

St. Luke's Church, having followed the work of St. John's in having a surpliced choir, it is now in order for All Saints' to go and do likewise for the sake of uniformity. When St. Paul's Church, of the staid Presbyterian type adopted that course some years ago,All Saints' cannot afford to be a back number. How in keping with its sacred surroundings is such a modest uniform, as contracted with the piebald appearance of one robed in all the colours of the rainbow surmounted by "Merry Widow" hats and bogus flower gardens.

CONSISTENCY.

Ladies Present A Successful Comedy At St. Peter's School

"My Aunt's Heiress" Proved an Entertaining Vehicle for Young Ladies' Sodality of the Cathedral to Display Their Ability—Pleased a Large Audience.

A MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

Something out of the ordinary in many respects and altogether enjoyable was the offering of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral in an entertainment held in St. Peter's School hall last night. It was a well presented comedy in two acts entitled "My Aunt's Heiress,"with the members of the sodality taking the entire work upon themselves. The hall was comfortably filled and it is a tribute to the young ladies that their production was accorded the flattering reception it so well merited. The choice of this piece was a happy one. The tinge of comedy in its lines was well brought out and it enabled the young ladies to demonstrate that they are thoroughly at home on the stage. The action ran along merrily, due no doubt, to careful rehearsal and attention to the proper conception of the parts.

The story of "My Aunt's Heiress" is simple and yet effective. One of Mrs. John Smith's seven daughters was to be selected by Mrs. Alexander de Courcy Smith to be her heiress. A warm reception is prepared for Mrs. Alexander, etc., and the daughters vie with one another in trying to ingratiate themselves in to her affections, not to mention her money. They even imagine what they will do with it if they are fortunate in securing it.

Mrs. Betsy Brown, plain and apparently poor, arrives and is unnoticed by all excepting the fifth daughter, Matilda. To bring the story to the end, Mrs. Alexander de Courcy Smith proves bogus and Mrs. Brown actually has the money and Matilda is the lucky daughter.

The Caste

The following was the caste of characters:

Mrs. Jno. Smith — Miss M. A. O'Connell.

Seven Daughters—Anna Maria, Miss Mabel Tangney; Jemima, Miss Aileen Sullivan; Arabella, Miss Gertie Clancy; Sophia, Miss Aileen Coughlin; Matilda, Miss Margaret Derocher; Clementina, Miss Vera Welsh; Janey, Miss arion Hayes.

Mrs. Alexander de Courcy Smith—Miss L. Hurley.

Mrs. Betsy Brown—Miss Nora Fitzgerald.

Sippets, servant of Mrs. John Smith—Miss Margaret McGrath.

Miss M. A. O'Connell, as mother of the seven "doves of daughters," accepted the part in a most creditable manner. Her chief trouble was to present the seven hopefuls in the most attractive manner. She was confident one would be chosen. Miss O'Connell interpreted the part well and greatly strengthened the piece. Miss Lily Hurley was particularly good as Mrs. Alexander de Courcy Smith, with emphasis upon the Alexander de Courcy and Miss Nora Fitzgerald came in for no small share of the compliments for her part as Mrs. Brown. Miss Margaret McGrath, as Sippets, gave evidence of an easy stage presence. Her lines provided no small share of the humour and she brought it out in a pleasing manner.

The seven daughters enlivened the action and the two smallest girls, Vera Welsh and Marion Hayes, greatly pleased the audience.

Musical Programme

During the evening a choice musical programme was presented. The Mandolin Club was heard several times, responding to cordial encores. Miss Argue, in a recitation displayed considerable ability and was recalled. Miss Lavine Hallihan pleased her numerous admirers in a selection entitled "Sing On," which called into play many of her vocal powers. As an encore she sang "Terence's Farewell." The other number was a chorus by eight young ladies of which the solo part was ably rendered by Miss Ella Brady. The accompanists were Miss M. Doherty and Miss A. Dorris.

Among those present were His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father McColl and Rev. Father Kelly.

57th REGIMENT'S GOOD DRILL IN PREPARATION FOR HOLIDAY

Orders are Issued for Sunday and Monday—252 Officers and Men Were on Parade Last Night.

DRILL ON THURSDAY.

At the weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night there was a turnout of 252, and although no marchout was called for in the orders there was an informal parade held. Another drill will be held Thursday night, and Lt.-Col. Stevenson requested that there will be a large turnout.

The orders for the week are as follows:

Headquarters, May 17, 1909.
Orders by the officer commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1.—Detail of duty for the week ending May 24th, 1909, Captain for the week, Capt. Watt; Subaltern for the week, Lieut. Gemmell; next for duty, Lieut. J. D. Clark.

No. 2.—The regiment will parade in drill order for drill at the armouries on Thursday, May 20, 1909, at the usual hour.

No. 3.—The regiment will parade in divine service order with both bands, signallers and stretcher bearers at the armouries at 9 a.m. on Sunday, May 23, 1909. The regiment will then be brigaded with the 19th and 38th regiments, and will be marched off at 9.15 a.m., to St. Paul's church, there to attend divine service. The route of march will be south on George street,, east of Hunter street, north on Water street to the church.

Orders for the Roman Catholic Church party will be issued in Thursday's orders.

No. 4.—The regiment will parade in review order at the armouries at 9 a.m., on Monday, May 24, 1909, and will then be brigaded with the 19th, and 38th regiments, and march at 9.30 a.m., to Riverside Park, there to be reviewed by the officer commanding the Eastern Ontario command.

No. 5.—Weather permitting the 57th Regimental band will parade at 7.30 p.m., on Monday, May 24, and give a band concert in Victoria Park until 9 p.m.

No. 6.—The following are taken on strength of the regiment: A. Co., Private Grey, May 10; Signal Co., Private B. Fisher, H. E. McGill, G. E. Coyle, A. P. Stock, A .P. Hall and C. E. Fox, May 10th.

WHY EVERYBODY SHOULD PERFORM FRIENDLY ACTS

True friendliness is a component part of so many things that it is well worth one's while to examine its real meaning. For instance, a man can never be really successful in life if unfriendly; he may have the exterior marks of prosperity—the veneering, but if at heart he lacks friendliness, he lacks that sympathy for and interest in humanity which is the keynote of most knowledge.

Friendliness is born of sympathy and needs in no way detract from the dignity of any position, no matter what the social differences may be—to all, peasant as well as king, there shall be relative feelings of pride and self-repect an dalso a certain reserve, which must always be maintained, and without which familiarity is the natural outcome, but this in no way means that one should have no cordiality, far from it, but it does mean that one should discriminate carefully.

The very word friendliness suggests consideration, kindly help, and aid in distress. This help may not always mean activity, but it is of great comfort to know and feel that if needed, sympathy and encouragement await us.

In King Lear, Shakespeare suggests the friendliness and helpfulness of even inanimate things—

"Gracious my lord, hard by here is a hovel;
Some friendship will it lend you 'gainst the tempest."

Even in home life, where the class distinction between the family and domestics must be so clearly defined, there is every reason why a feeling of friendliness should pervade the establishment, for friendliness does not necessitate confidence between mistress and maid, and whe nthe mistress complains of disrespect and insubordination, it is more frequently the result of her own indiscretion.

The home which generates friendliness is the home which stands as an expression of a purpose, wherein each member is striving to aid and encourage the other, where time is valued for its possibilities to render loving assistance, rather than be moaned for any feelings of dependence; and such friendliness is an atmosphere which extends even to the domesti canimals, for who has not felt with pleasure the friendly wagging of a dog's tail?

A man, now matter how capable, how theoretically wise or how singly successful, can find little satisfaction in isolation, for there is no glamour or romance in his career. Some one has said that the kingdom of romance belongs to David, not Samson—to David, with his loving, generous, friendly nature, for whom three men went in jeopardy of life to bring him a drink of water—and all for love of him.

It is not the self-centred hero who lays hold of us—it is ever the comradeship of heroes. Dumas's "Three Musketeers" (and the Gascon who made the greater fourth), with their oath, "Each for all, and all for each," inherit that "kingdom of romance." How seldom one pauses to think of the infinite meaning of friendliness, how little it costs and how everwidening is its circumference.

"Friendship improves happiness by the doubling of our joys and the dividing of our griefs."—Cicero.

THE KNOX CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE

Literary Evening Last Night Resulted in an Enjoyable Programme.

The Knox Church Young People's Society held a literary evening last night when Mr. A. McKenzie gave an interesting address on "How the Young People May Contribute to the Church." He touched upon the various departments of the church, and the relation the members had to them. He urged the loyalty of the young people to the church and to ignore all petty criticism, by some in the church, and to go fighting on for Christ and His kingdom.

Rev. H. J. Keith also touched lightly upon this important subject. Mr. Patten thanked the speaker for the practical message. The evening was changed to Tuesday, so as to obtain more attendance from the young men. So, next Tuesday evening, Mr. W. T. Carruthers will speak on "Life Lessons from the Book of Acts."

APT HINTS FOR SHORT WOMEN

Although it is practically impossible actually to increase the height, there is no reason why every short woman should not be able to give herself the appearance of being several inches taller than she is in reality. The secret lies almost entirely in the style of dress and in one's taste in putting on clothes.

In the first place, dress all "in a piece" if possible—that is do not wear a blouse of one color and skirt of another, especially do ot wear a belt which is in sharp contrast to the color of the dress.

Then the shoulders should rather rather be made to look narrow than broad. Wide shoulder effects not only make a woman look short, but they seem to increase her size also.

Don't wear a flat hat, but have it ened with trimming if the crown is not slightly raised off the face, and height-high of itself. Feathers are apt to make the head look too large. The shoes need not be too high-heeled, just enough to keep the body well balanced—otherwise it will be sent forward, and the appearance of height diminished rather than increased..

Short, stout women should buy their clothing ready-made, unless they are very sure of their dressmaker's capabilities. Ready-made clothing is not necessarily cheap looking. The best artists, the best designers, the most expert sewers and fitters have worked upon the high-class ready-made garment.

MR. G. A. CORNISH GAVE ADDRESS

Interesting Social Evening at Park Street Church Last Night.

The rally and social held last night in the Park Street Church was a grand success.

Miss Maud Everson, President of the B. Y. P. U., occupied the chair, and after the devotional exercises called upon Mr. Cornish, of the Normal School staff, to address the meeting.

Mr. Cornish gave a very interesting and profitable address on "Lessons From Birds and Flowers," a very fitting address at this season of the year. It was enjoyed by all present. Light refreshments were served at the close. The gathering was dismissed with the "Mizpah" benediction.

COL. H. C. ROGERS, POSTMASTER OF PETERBOROUGH, RESIGNS

To Take Effect December First Next---In the Interval He is Given Leave of Absence to Visit England---On His Return Will Join Family in British Columbia and Reside There.

For personal and family reasons Col. H. C. Rogers, postmaster of Peterborough, has tendered his resignation to take effect on December 1st next, and his resignation has been accepted. Meanwhile Colonel Rogers has been given leave of absence, his intention, it is understood, being to pay a visit to the Old Country, where his son has for some time been in a delicate state of health. On his return from England, Colonel Rogers, will take residence in Victoria, British Columbia, where Mrs. Rogers finds the only climatic conditions agreeable with her health, Colonel Rogers being naturally desirous to be with her.

Colonel Rogers has been postmaster at Peterborough for a period of upwards of forty years, under practically all the governments, Liberal and Conservative, since Confederation. This fact itself is a tribute to the efficient discharge of his duties toward the several governments and of satisfactory public service.

Mr. A. H. Stratton, who for many years has conducted a successful business in the city, has been appointed to fill the vacancy, his duties to begin on December 1st, next.

During the period of Colonel Rogers leave of absence, the city post office will be placed in charge of an experienced official of the Toronto Postoffice staff, with a view if possible, of improving the local service. The Toronto official's experience with urban conditions and requirements will enable him to reorganize the Peterborough service and staff so as to bring it more in line with city conditions to meet demands of the growth in population and business of the City of Peterborough.

GRAND PROGRAMME FOR BAND CONCERT ON FRIDAY IN CONSERVATORY HALL

The music loving citizens of Peterborough have a treat in store for them on Friday night, when the 57th Regiment Band will give a concert in the Conservatory Music Hall. The citizens have had few opportunities of hearing the band recently, and they will no doubt welcome the chance that is offered them on this occasion. The musicians have been practising faithfully for the past couple of months and the band just now is in as good shape as it ever was. The young players have come on wonderfully and the whole organization is playing with a snap and vim that is really refreshing.

In their programme on Friday night they will entertain the audience with an entirely new programme. None of the numbers have been heard here before and all of them are good. The programme will open with a stirring march, "Our Director," a swinging martial air that is splendidly handled by the 57th's musicians. Then comes one of the big numbers, the beautiful overture from Rossini's "Barber of Seville," a really grand selection, the spirit of which the band have throughly caught and which they play with ease and effect. If the programme was confined to this one number alone it would be worth the price of admission, for it is one of the finest overtures that Professor Gliddon's organization has ever handled.

Heinrich's big hit, the catchy Indian novelty intermezzo, "Rainbow," gives the band a chance to show their ability in a lighter brand of music. The variations give excellent scope for good clarionette and cornet work and full advantage is taken of the opportunity. The selection from Joe Howard's successful musical comedy, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," by far the most tuneful score turned out by the composer of "The Land of Nod," comes next and it is safe to say will make a tremendous hit. It sparkles with musical gems including such numbers as "A waning Honeymoon," "Blow the Smoke Away," and "I Don't Like Your Family." It is Joe Howard's music and the band play it splendidly; that should be enough to indicate the merit of the number.

A delightful little two-step novelty, "Hoope-e-Kack," is frothy but good, and seems destined to be popular as it goes with a catchy swing that will carry it along.

The programme for Friday includes a Von Tilzer medley, "Don't Take Me Home," a number that will immensely please the lover of the popular songs of the day. It includes many of Von Tilzer's latest song successes including the tuneful hit, "I Remember You," which is on the floodtide of popularity in Peterborough just now. "Don't Take Me Home," "Taffy," "Schooners That Pass in the Night," "When Highland Mary Did the Highland Fling," "Some Time," and others of a like whistleable character.

The programme will be brought to a close with Koenneman's magnificent pastoral and hunting fantasia, "Le Fremersberg," a descriptive selection that is undoubtedly the finest of its kind that has ever been included in the repertoire of the band. In some respects it resembles the famous overture from "William Tell," and is grandly played by the musicians. It will prove a fitting climax to an unusually excellent programme.

In addition to the numbers by the band, Miss Julia Choate, Peterborough's talented young violiniste will give a solo, choosing as her number a beautiful valse, "Capriccio," by Wieniaski, in which she will be able to demonstrate her facile command of the violin, and Sergeant Walter Hughes will have an opportunity to display his skill in a cornet solo, "Sing Me to Sleep."

The last rehearsal for the concert was held last night and proved highly successful. The tickets for the concert are selling fast, which would indicate that the affair will be as liberally patronized as it deserves.

DAINTY TULIPS GRACE LOVELY FLOWER PLOTS

Some Magnificent Beds are to be Seen in Victoria Park and Other Places in the City.

At the present time there are in the various parks and gardens throughout the city some magnificent beds of tulips out in full bloom. In Victoria Park many of the blooms are at their height and attract the admiration of all who see them. Some of the beds, particularly those containing flaming red and yellow tulips, are best described by saying that they are gorgeous. Here the tulips are in profusion, and are of the most variegated colours. The flowers are large and rich, and hundreds of passersby stop to admire them. The tulip beds in front of many private residences are also very beautiful, and several persons have remarked that they never remember seeing so many fine beds in the city before. In addition to the tulips, several gardens contain splendid displays of hyacinths and narcissus in variety.

MR. W.A. BAILEY DEFENDS DOGS

Peterborough, May 17, 1909.

Beautify the City

Dear Sir,—I disagree with your remarks on Saturday, especially the mention of the dogs showing how you have been inoculated by the baccilli of bullying officialdom. How much does the city get annually from the dogs? Yet I know of only one drinking trough. The nonsense about the flowers and lawns is like the present fashion of wearing expensive clothes when the baker has not been paid. I like lawns to play on; and I'll warrant if my dog does scratch the grass or bury a bone there is more truth to nature in his action than in those who growl and grumble. There is plenty that is hideous, I often become almost blind and deaf, there is not a street fit for a decent dog to walk on. Go to Hamilton.

W. A. BAILEY.

Note.—Mr Bailey is dog-gone as a cynic, and comes to the defence of the multitudinous canines of Peterborough with courageous chivalry. A categorical answer to his question as to how much the city "gets annually from the dogs," is impossible. If he refers to what the city gets from the dogs in the way of taxes, he may be told that the amount is between $700 and $800, if he refers to what the city gets from dogs in the way of depredations upon lawns and private premises, in the destruction of flower plots, loss of sleep by tired labourers and wearied housewives and mothers of infants, from noctural yelpings, and loss of temper, etc., the amount the city gets, if these outrages could be reduced to cash capitalization, would be many times seven or eight hundred dollars. When Mr. Bailey cuts loose he distributes, with true Donnybrook energy, wherever he sees a head, upper-cuts, jabs, swings, and swipes. If flowers and lawns are "nonsense" and mongrel dogs high art, and burying a bone in a flower bed a beneficent manifestation of nature to be suffered and encouraged, the public will find it difficult to choose a fierce enough adjective to characterize Mr. Bailey's sentiments. But many will agree with him that there "is plenty that is hideous," and agree that vagrant curs do their share in making it so. Association may have given Mr Bailey's do. a gentlemanly department, which might inform him that it is not quite gentlemanly to send his readers to Hamilton or its alliterative equivalent. Evidently, Mr Bailey has had to pay his dog tax - hinc illae lachrymae.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 18.—Stocks were dull and lifeless during the forenoon and except for activity in a few specialties like C. & O., Third Ave and Amn. Beet Sugar, there was no change in prices worthy of note. London sent lower prices but did very little on balance in this market. Traders were watching the grain market closely and sold some stocks when grain was strong. This market seems to be hanging in the balance and some bad news would no doubt cause a sharp break. We would advise conservatism.

Mr. Justice Clute Presiding At Non-Jury Sitting Of High Court

The non-jury sessions of the High Court of Justice opened this morning at 10 o'clock, with Mr. Justice Clute presiding. The members of the local bar were largely represented, those present being Messrs. S. T. Medd, E. L. Goodwill, D. W. Dumble, C. N. Gordon, R. F. McWilliams, L. M. Hayes, F. D. Kerr, W. H. Moore, W. The first case taken up was that of Parker vs. Parker, which is entirely of a friendly nature, and has been explained before.

In The Interests Of Local Musical Development In Peterborough

Complaint is sometimes made that opportunities for hearing great musical compositions are so rare in Peterborough and also that the abundant musical ability of the city is not ensembled and made contributory to the production of music of oratorio calibre. To meet the first want the minor oratorio, "The Daughter of Jairus," to be presented at the Choral Festival in St. John's church on Wednesday evening next, Ascension Eve, will afford opportunity for hearing Sir John Stainer's beautiful oratorio-cantata, composed by him for the Worcester Triennial festival, and first performed in 1878. It has a large musical and devotional value, and presented, as it will be, on Wednesday night by a full choir, orchestra and organ, with first rate soloist talent, will be a musical entertainment of high character.

In view of the large xepense—about $100.00—of producing the cantata, the choral authorities, expect the liberal support of the public. The object is purely musical, not to make money, only to avoid pecuniary loss. The church being used as an auditorium, there will, of course, be no admission fee, but the public will not be debarred from voluntary contributions in the interests of the musical elevation of the city. It is hoped to demonstrate by the excellent work of one choir what would be possible in the way of musical production if the musical forces represented by all the city choirs, were combined, and in this view the production of "The Daughter of Jairus" is worthy of the sympathy and countenance of music-loving citizens.

THE KHAN PHILOSOPHIZES ON THE MODERN HOLIDAY

The Khan says:

The near approach of a great holiday gives occasion for the judicious to think much.

The love of holidaying with some folks is a form of insanity—and the forms of insanity are legion.

There is no doubt that a certain type of criminal is more or less insane, and for his own good and the welfare of the public should never be allowed outside of prison.

And there are thousands of people who are not criminals by any manner of means who should never be allowed to take a holiday—anyway, not unless they are chaperoned and guardianed in some way. A holiday, when following their own sweet will, does them no good; does them, indeed, a great deal of harm. They don't get over it for a long time, or till the next too-frequent holiday comes round.

They will get drowned by rocking the boat or changing seats, or some other foolishness in this, to most of them, unaccustomed conveyance. Or they will try to sail a yacht. The man who knows nothing about horses always insists on driving whenever he gets a chance. Did you ever notice that? Or they will go in swimming in strange, and, to them, unknown waters; and when they are fished out, a lot of amateurs will extinguish what little life is left in them by each in turn trying his pet method at resuscitation. There are folks who are always getting in front and in the way of men and things, and a holiday is a great day for them; and finally, be it train, auto, boat, swing, trolley, saddle, teeter, fence, or whatever it may be, they will fall off, or on, or into, or out of something before the day is done.

Some of them will sass the umpire or the referee or the police, and will get clubbed.

A few of them will be sure to get on the wrong boat or train, and they will run past their station or be carried into unknown lands, while they shriek and wail, and even if they don't do that they will lose their tickets, and cause no end of confusion and trouble.

They will get their pockets picked, or they will stick their heads out of windows and lose their hats and sometimes get their heads pulped as well.

If it be a girl, ten to one she will get seasick, or swingsick, or lovesick, or lemonadesick, or jealous, and she will be dissatisfied and cross, and will want to go straight back home before she gets halfway.

Or if it be a baby—and holidays are death on babies—it will be too hot or too cold, or maw won't be able to find baby's comfort, and the young one will yell and squeak and choke and kick, and will be the cause of curses not loud but deep.

The trouble is that people don't holiday rationally. They go too far away from home, for one thing; they get excited and overheated or chilled, as the case may be. They get lost or lose someone else, and many of them eat too much and others drink far more than is good for them, whether it's beer, milk, iced tea, or pop.

The curse of a public holiday is canned salmon sandwiches, immature fruit, ice cream, ice water from the car tank, cheap fares, and booze.

The two last are the greatest.

If there were cheap fares all the year round, or even cheaper fares, so very many people would not be induced to crowd into hot, unsanitary uncomfortable boats and trains, and risk and lose the happiness of one sweet day at home.

And the booze is always bad on a long holiday. The ten thousand flasks in ten thousand hip pockets are in a class with concealed weapons. The holiday bottle of booze never misses fire, and always hits something.

Young people ought to be taught to holiday sanely and save themselves a headache or a heartache the next day.

And they should get home that night, and go to work as usual next morning.

PROGRAMME WAS ENJOYED

St. Paul's Young People's Guild had a Delightful Evening.

There was a decidedly interesting meeting at the Young People's Guild of St. Paul's church last night, when the members were treated with two excellent papers, dealing with the men in the mines and lumber camps. In her paper, Miss M. Macdonald gave a vivid picture of the foothill country, where the missionary may labour for years, in what seems fruitless soil, striving to bring sunshine into the darkened, seared life of the miner. The much-improved, and in some respects, attractive life of the "lumberjack" was splendidly dealt with by Mr. J. C. Kingsboro, who has personally seen the camps in full operation. The most regrettable feature in a great camp is the absence of religious services, a condition which should be speedily remedied.

"The Brontes" will be the subject for discussion at the next literary and social gathering on Friday evening, May 28th, Inspector Mowat in the chair.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES

From Farm and Dairy.

The Provincial dairy farms competition to be held this year throughout Ontario should be productive of much good. In view of the splendid results of former competitions of this nature together with the interest already shown in the competition as announced for this year, the work may well be taken up and extended by agricultural societies throughout Ontario.

To win a prize in a farms competition of this nature is an honor of no mean consideration. An exhibiter at an agricultural exhibition may carry off many prizes on individual entries such as stock, seed grain or farm products. Such winnings tell but little of that winner as a farmer. In fact, taken on the whole, he may be one of the poorest farmers in the section. On the other hand, a winner in a dairy farms competition must be an all round good farmer in order to stand a chance of success.

It will be worth something to have an idea of who is the best dairy farmer in Ontario. In many ways it will be worth as much to a particular section, and possibly more, to know who is the best dairy farmer in that section. Such a farmer being located near by, will afford object lessons for others in that section. His farm and his methods can be studied at first hand, whereas with prize farms in districts more remote, such privileges, owing to expense, are denied.

Those agricultural societies that have been interested during the past two years in the standing field crops competition, know the value of that work. The possibilities of the dairy farms competition are infinitely greater. Agricultural societies might well offer prizes to their members to compete in our dairy farms competition. By doing so they will be acting in the best interests of their members, they will enlarge the field of the competition and illustration farms will be found out and located at their very doors.

Fourteenth Century Doctors.

Synge's "Social Life in England" quotes a number of fourteenth century hints to success for physicians:

Suppose you know nothing, say there is an obstruction of the liver. Perhaps the patient will say, "Nay, master, it is my head or legs that trouble me." Repeat that it comes from the liver, and especially use the word "obstruction," for patients do not understand it, which is important.

Never dine with a patient who has not paid you. It will be cheaper to get your dinner at an inn, for such feasts are usually deducted from the surgeon's fee.

When you are treating a wound or accident, the friends of the patient should be excluded, for they may faint and cause a disturbance, but sometimes a higher fee may be got from persons present fainting and breaking their heads against wood and the like than from the principal patient.

Secret Society Among Sese Islanders.

The Sese islanders have attained a peculiar notoriety in Uganda because of a secret society called the Bachichi, which is not a burial society, although its members take a deep and intelligent interest in all deaths and burials in their midst. In the more retired villages, although greatly discouraged by the British authorities, it is said to be still the custom for the sorrowing relatives to bear the body of the deceased wrapped in bark on a rough bier to some forest thicket, desolate ravine or other unfrequented spot, where it is left unburied by the bearers, who never revisit the place again. The Bachichi, who are denizens of a neighboring village, and distant relatives of the deceased avoid the necessity of burial or cremation and show their respect for the deceased by simply eating him. —National Magazine.

A Disappointment.

"Yes," says the lady after an acquaintance of ten or fifteen years before has been renewed, "I remember you perfectly."

"Indeed?" murmurs the gratified man. "I am glad to know that."

"Yes; at one time I thought of marrying you."

"Oh," he replies dejectedly. "I thought for the moment that there might have been something that made me different from all the other men you ever knew."—Life.

A Stranger to His Ways.

A distinguished bishop of the Episcopal church, arriving late at a small town one night, found the hotel closed, and, hammering at the door for admission, a neighbor stuck his head out of an adjoining window with, "Say, stranger, knock like the devil!" to which the bishop replied, "I don't know how."

Hit Home.

Tommy—Paw, what is three card monte? Mr. Tucker—It's the most diabolical, infernal swindle that ever anybody—er—er—oh, it's some sort of a gambling game with cards, I believe, Tommy.—Chicago Tribune.

Not Too Often.

"They tell me New England is full of old maids," said the Philadelphia girl. "Now, I suppose you Boston girls don't often marry?" "No; only once, as a rule," replied the Boston girl.—Philadelphia Record.

Spots Removed While You Sleep.

Kiss Me, Doctor.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Young Dr. Beamerton was an original thinker. He had no sooner learned what the medical profession knew than he began to speculate upon what it did not know. "What about these faith cures?" he asked himself. His answer was, "Influence of mind over matter." "And what about hypnotism?" "Influence of one mind over another."

The doctor tried the first influence —mind over matter—and met with little success. But in attempting to influence his patients he made a discovery. He possessed the power of hypnotism.

Now, Jim Beamerton, as his friends called him, after learning of his power, caught an idea—a new idea. He was very much in love with Julia Adams and had found it impossible, so far as he could judge, to make the slightest impression upon her. But in matters of love "hope springs eternal." He was not convinced that Julia did not favor him, and he hoped that she did. When he discovered his power of hypnotism it occurred to him to use it for the purpose of finding out her real sentiments toward him.

The doctor called upon Miss Adams, told her that he had discovered hypnotic power in himself and after some bantering on either side gained her consent that he should put her to sleep. She went off very easily, and when he was satisfied that she was completely under his control he began to ply her with questions.

"You are in love," he said. "Don't say you are not; you are."

"Yes," was the faint reply.

"Describe the man you love."

"He is tall, not quite six feet." That was the doctor's height. "He wears no beard, only a mustache." So did the doctor. "His complexion and eyes and hair are light." These also fitted. Beamerton was delighted. "He is beginning to show a trifle of baldness." The doctor never before rejoiced that he was getting bald. "He has a peculiar walk, moving every part of his body at once." His pals had often rallied him on this peculiarity. It had troubled him; but, being natural to him, he couldn't help it. Now that he was loved in spite of it he didn't care. "He has one blemish—not a physical blemish, but one of character."

"What's that?" asked the hypnotizer, a trifle worried.

"He is very selfish."

"Selfish?"

"Yes; even tricky."

"How selfish and tricky?" asked the doctor, paling.

"He loves, but he is unwilling to declare his love, ignoring the fact that it is the girl's privilege to reserve a showing of her own love till she is sure she is informed of his."

This took the interviewer, as sailors say, flat aback. He began to fear he had gone wrong.

"Do—do—you regard this dishonorable?"

"I certainly do."

"But you still love him?"

"I am not sure about that. True love is based on respect. Without respect love is sure to wane."

The doctor trembled. He was wondering what to do when she spoke again. This time he was astonished.

"Kiss me, doctor."

The words were a flashlight on his position. He had attempted to extort a confession of love that was not freely given. The girl's will power was so completely removed that she had done an unmaidenly thing. He shuddered at taking advantage of her in doing as she asked, and yet he had done an equally contemptible act in drawing from her a confession of love that she would not have given had she not been hypnotized. He did not know what further move to make in the matter, but resolved to gain further information as to the consequences of his act by more questions. Ignoring her request, he asked:

"If your lover could gain no encouragement don't you think he was justified in finding out your sentiments?"

"Not without first declaring his own."

"Would you have a man propose to a girl without any intimation from her that she favored him?"

"That's his risk."

"And he is not acting honorably in attempting to learn anything of her sentiments toward him?"

"If she is in full possession of her faculties he is justified in using every art."

"I thought all is fair in war or love."

"Nothing is fair that is dishonorable."

There were two scientific points involved that interested him. First, though hypnotized she was conscious of what he had done; second, she retained her reasoning powers. For the moment his scientific bent overpowered every other consideration. Leaving his subject, he strode back and forth musing.

"By Jove," he said aloud, "I must get up an article for the Medical Record. I can use ficticious names."

He thought he heard a faint giggle. Turning he saw his subject still lying apparently asleep.

"Kiss me, doctor."

Approaching, he bent over her. Not a muscle moved. But when he looked the corner of the mouth quivered and a smile took possession of her lips. There was no need for her to repeat her request. He pressed a kiss upon her lips, and at the same time she opened a pair of laughing eyes.

The article for the Medical Record was never written.

ALDEN'S NAPLES STORY.

A Glass of Capri Wine and a Statue That Nodded.

The late W. L. Alden, the humorist, was one of the most abstemious of men—in fact, he was pretty near being a teetotaler. I don't know that I ever saw him take wine or spirits in all the years I knew him except a glass of claret at the midday and evening meals during his last illness.

During the later years of his life he spent the winter abroad, sometimes in Genoa, sometimes in Naples and once, I think, in Cairo, and usually his four or five months' residence on the shores of the Mediterranean would not cost him more than £50.

Once on his return from Naples I remember his telling me this story:

"L., a brother novelist, was in Naples also and asked me one night to dine with him at one of the big hotels on the water front just outside Naples—one of those hotels along that massive stone embankment against which the waves of the sea often break in showers of spray thirty or forty feet high.

"After dinner we went for a walk along the embankment, and we got pretty well drenched with the spray. Soon we reached a statue, and, lo, it nodded gravely toward us!

"'Did you see that statue nod?' said L. to me.

"'I certainly did,' said I.

"'Well,' said he, 'I'm going back to the hotel and to bed before I get run in. It's that confounded Capri wine.'

"So, ashamed of ourselves, back we went and sneaked up to bed. But at breakfast table next morning both of us seemed to be amazingly fresh considering our dissipation of the night before, and we could not understand why we had such good appetites until the waiter said:

"'Did the gentlemen feel last night's slight earthquake?'"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Medal of Blood.

Garibaldi was once presented with a medal made of his own blood. The giver was Dr. Manini of Naples, who was well known as a petrifier and preserver of the human body. Dr. Manini in offering his gift to Garibaldi said that whenever the general looked at it it would brace him up for the last fight, and across the medal were engraved the words, "The Blood of Garibaldi Is Forever Red." The strange medal is preserved by the general's descendants.

An Eye to Business.

"Bigsbee is a terribly melodramatic fellow, isn't he? He said he'd drain his heart's blood for the woman he loved. Do you think he meant it?"

"Why, I guess so. Bigsbee is agent for a drain and sewer pipe concern."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cleveland's Greediness For Work.

President Cleveland was often at his desk in the White House until 3 o'clock in the morning and up again at 9. I fell into the way of working until about 1 o'clock in the morning, and because of the oppressive heat I kept the door of my room wide open. Often during the hours around midnight I would step into the hall in hope of getting a stray breath of air. Once it so happened that as I looked across the hall to the half open door turned toward mine I saw upon its polished surface the reflection of the hand of a man writing with a patience and an industry that amazed me. I knew that the president was at his desk. I used to ask the watchman when I went to my task in the morning at what hour the president had knocked off work the preceding night. I found that it was generally about 3 o'clock in the morning, although sometimes when he had finished some severe task that he had set himself he would stop at 2 o'clock. I usually stopped work at 1 o'clock, but I did once or twice hang on until 2 in the hope that I might, if only for once, show an endurance equal to that of the man next door, whose greediness for work had become proverbial.—George F. Parker in McClure's.

PURITY WARE LIMITED PROPOSAL DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF TRADE AT LARGELY ATTENDED MEETING

Chairman Gillespie Gives Explanations—Remarks by Members and Citizens—Side Issue Introduced—Suggestion That Mr. Kendry Opposes Proposal in Interests of Kemp Co., Toronto, a Rival Concern—Meeting Adjourned to Consider Hearing of Confidential Information to be Meanwhile Released.

ALL DETAILS TO BE GIVEN.

After a lengthy discussion on the terms of the Purity Ware, Limited, By-law at the Board of Trade meeting last night an adjournment was called for one week, when, with further expected information the question will be gone into more fully and a motion will likely be passed expressing the feeling of the Board concerning the by-law. Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie, the new President of the Board, was in the chair, and conducted the business in an interesting and satisfactory manner.

The usual preliminary business was transacted briefly, and the main subject was entered upon.

It was first moved by Dr. Morrison, seconded by Mr. J. H. Larmonth, that the sum of $100.00 be set apart for the expenses of any members of the Board who may be chosen to represent it upon any occasion that should arise.

Mr. Gillespie explained in beginning how the site was selected. The representatives of the Company had fixed upon two properties as the most suitable from their standpoint. One was the Dickson Co. land, on which no option could be secured. The other was what is known as the Buck property. Ald. Gillespie and the other members of the Council who visited it reported upon the choice, and it was only then learned that the property was owned by Mayor Rush and Mr. J. C. Shook. The selection was made with no idea of wire pulling, and the action of the Mayor was broadminded and liberal. This statement was made because the chairman had heard it said that there was something done on the quiet in regard to the matter and he wanted to disabuse anyone of this opinion.

Opening Discussion.

Mr. Gillespie read a letter from the New York Company, giving the terms upon which they would go into the matter, and then the question was thrown open to the meeting. Mr. W. H. Moore asked what was meant by fixed machinery. The agreement stated that the city was given a mortgage upon the fixed machinery, and Mr. Moore held that this was not clearly defined, and further that it might possibly mean none of the machinery, as it all might be moved.

Ald. Bradburn, who was chosen to represent the Board when the civic deputation visited the New York factory, was called upon to give a report. In reply, he stated that the delegation went to New York, and met the manager of the Company there, and had learned that there were in the neighbourhood of 600 or 700 men employed. Mr. Gillman, the New York manager, stated that he would not go into the matter until there was a paid-up working capital of $100,000.00. The Company should receive $50,000, for which they would give their good will, the use of their trademark, and other expenses would be met, including the cost of promoting the affair. This would enable the Canadian Company to go ahead with advantages which might only be expected after years of actual business.

Ald. Hicks.

Ald. Hicks remarked that he had attended the meeting to hear the Board of Trade discuss the matter, and to get the opinion of the ratepayers in regard to the matter. At first he had considered it an ordinary business proposition, with the usual business risk. However, from what he had found out during the past few weeks the risk had greatly disappeared and he looked upon it as a practical certainty. The interest the New York people have shown was an encouraging feature.

Mr. James Kendry.

Mr. Kendry assured the Board and the large audience of citizens that his purpose in speaking was not to throw cold water on the proposition, but to consider it with the best interests of the city at heart. He pointed out an indefiniteness in the fixed machinery, part of which has already been referred to. The building would not be of any use, but for the intention for which it was erected. Mr. Baker, whom he understood was the manager, had been the manager of the Ontario Steelware Co. of Toronto, which had failed. We want experienced men and men of capital behind this company. None of the men with whom the Council has been dealing are capitalists. Mr. Gillespie stated that Mr. Baker was not the manager.

"The Council should have had found the standing of these men," Mr. Kendry remarked. In reply the Chairman stated that they were acquainted with the position of the men with whom they had been dealing. Mr. Kendry had a list of accounts which the promoters owed Mr. A. M. O'Brien, whom, it was stated, had been with them, but had since fallen out.

Mr. Kendry stated that he would support the by-law providing the New York Company would back up the Canadian concern, as he was satisfied with the financial strength of the former. It is rated in Dunn's at $1,000,000.00.

Mr. Kendry wanted to clearly understand the position of the American firm in connection with the new company.

Mr. Edwards, one of the promoters, stated that Mr. O'Brien had been offered the money owing him.

Names Withheld.

As has already been made public, and as Mr. Edwards stated last night, there is a strong Montreal financial concern, which is willing upon certain conditions, to back the Canadian Company, but who for a few days, do not wish their names made public. Ald. Hicks explained this matter as it had been laid before the Committee of the Whole Council, by a gentleman, who has been instrumental in securing the interest of the Montreal concern in the new Company.

These financial interests have never underwritten industrials before. Their names were given confidentially to the Mayor and to Ald. Gillespie, in order to assure the Council that they were not fictitious, and in order that their standing might be discovered to assure the Council of their strength.

The patents of the Company were being looked into in order to make sure that they were not similar to those of any Company already located in Canada, and these interests would have the guarantee that there would be nothing to block the Company's advancing once they decided to carry the affair through. Should it happen that the patents were already covered, the Company's name would be known and for business reasons they wish to withhold their identities for the present. Ald. Gillespie stated that he expected to receive word that everything was all right in the course of a few days, and they would then give the names to the public. He already knew them and he said that when the ratepayers learned who they were they would be pleased with the fact that they were to support the Company.

Other Speakers.

Mr. D. W. Dumble reviewed the situation and counselled caution and more exact information. "Be sure whom you are dealing with. Know what share the American Company or what interests they will have in the Canadian Co."

Mr. Dumble felt that the American Co. would not go into the affair unless they were sure of a good business field in Canada, and if they did enter upon it they would see that a first-class business man had the management.

Mr. F. D. Kerr would like to have had a little more definite information in regard to certain matters, but he was satisfied if Ald. Bradburn, Ald. Hicks, Ald. Gillespie and Mayor Rush expressed their satisfaction after all they had personally learned. All the citizens were in favour of it he thought, but it would be most desirable if the names of the financial interests were made public.

Ald. Gillespie stated that he could name the President and Vice President had he not promised not to do so, for reasons already mentioned.

Mr. A. P. Pousette considered that the by-law entirely guarded the interests of the people. If the people support it then it devolves upon the Council to see that the conditions are carried out. He felt that the fixed machinery meant the whole working plant. It was greatly to the credit of the Council and Manufacturers' Committee that the people mentioned have been interested. The explanation made by Ald. Hicks, Bradburn, and Gillespie was entirely satisfactory.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams stated that it seemed as if there was not enough satisfactory information, but that it was hoped for and would probably be forthcoming in a short time. We want the Company if it has strong financial backing. He wanted to see the city fully protected, and at present he felt that the American Company was entirely protected, but not so the city. He would be entirely satisfied if the New York people would really back the Canadian concern. Mr. McWilliams criticized the selection of the site, as he stated there were many others that might have been selected.

Mayor Rush.

Mayor Rush replied stating that five or six locations had been tried, but none of them could be secured. When the lot chosen was apparently the only one available, and also entirely suited the visitors, he made an offer to the members of the Council of $3,000, which was accepted, and nothing secret was aimed at, nor was there anything but what was free and entirely above board.

Dr. Morrison considered the site a good one, and had been secured cheaply. Mr. Kendry should have gone to the American Company for his information and not to the Kemp Co. of Toronto, who would be competitors of the Peterborough Company, and would possibly give biased information. Mr. Kendry said this was an insinuation that he was speaking in the interests of the Kemp Company, which, he said, was false and unfair. Dr. Morrison would support the bylaw if a little more desired information were forthcoming.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles was the last speaker. He would like to have a little more knowledge of the relation of the American Company and of the identity of the Montreal people.

Moved by Messrs. W. H. Meldrum and J. H. Larmonth that the meeting be adjourned for one week.

Mr. Edwards remarked that the blue books show that last year the import of goods of the kind to be manufactured was $6,000,000.00.

WHY SUFFER?

Hyomei and Kill the Loathsome Breathe Catarrh Germs.

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch, your breath will be foul, you will hawk and spit and you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh have got you in their power; they are continually and persistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. They are now making your life miserable; in time they will sap your entire system of its energy, its strength, its vigour and vitality.

But there is one remedy that will kill the germs and cure catarrh, and that is Hyomei, the Australia dry air treatment.

Joseph Dural, of Woodstock street, Tavistock, Ont., says; "Catarrh had given me all kinds of suffering for a long time. There was a swelling of the glands under the eyes and adjacent to my nose and the discharges would drop into my throat. I used several remedies, but never got the relief that I did from Booth's Hyomei. I have been so pleased with Hyomei results that I highly recommend its use to catarrh sufferers."

Mr. Madill, the druggist, will guarantee Hyomei to cure catarrh or money back. Don't delay this pleasant anti-septic treatment. Breathe in Hyomei and kill the germs.

Mr. Madill will sell you a complete Hyomei Outfit, including inhaler, for only $1.00. It is also guaranteed to cure bronchitis, asthma, coughs, colds hay fever and croup.

Sing, Esq., Resident Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; W. P. Merrick, Esq., Resident Engineer, Fort William, Ont.; A. R. Decary, Esq., Resident Engineer, Post Office, Quebec; J. L. Michaud, Esq., Resident Engineer, Merchants Bank Building, St. James street, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000.00) must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order.

KIDNAPED.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

There was to be a double wedding between Donald Syphax and May Southworth, parties of the first part, and Pembroke Hughes and Delia Hickox, parties of the second part. The parties of the first part had sent out their cards and made all preparations, when they were astounded to learn that the parties of the second part had determined to postpone their share in the ceremony.

What was the occasion of this sudden change of program?

The truth was (and the parties of the first part learned it) that the parties of the second part, having heard that both couples were to be given a hot time on the wedding night by their friends, concluded they would not only escape the intended attentions by delay, but have an opportunity to join in what was in store for the Syphax-Southworth pair. The latter couple had no choice but to be married on time or recall the invitations. They decided to come to the scratch, but to put in practice a plan for outwitting the others.

Miss Southworth's wedding took place in her father's home, situated at the end of a long block of stone front houses on one of the principal dwelling streets of the city. The ceremony was to take place at 10 o'clock, and the bride and groom gave out that they would take an 11 o'clock train for parts which they declined to mention to any one whatever. An automobile was to be in waiting to take them to the station with a chauffeur they could trust implicity, for he was a brother of the groom.

An enthusiastic number of friends attended the wedding, including Mr. Hughes and Miss Hickox. The ceremony had been performed, the bride's health had been drunk in the supper room, and the couple went upstairs to get on wraps preparatory to their departure. A dozen automobiles stood ready without, armed with tin horns.

The lower hallway was crowded with guests, holding old slippers and rice, waiting for the couple to come down and pass out. Considerable time elapsed, and some one became suspicious. A committee went upstairs and after a prolonged search came back with the information that the bridal pair were not to be found.

The merry crowd were not to be cheated entirely of the sport they had anticipated. Bob Southworth, a brother of the bride, suggested that a couple personate the one that had escaped and asked the Hughes-Hickok couple if they would make the ride to the station in the automobile intended for the bride and groom. They willingly accepted the part and, accompanied by Bob Southworth, who had made the suggestion, and his sister Lucia, came down the staircase, received the shower of slippers and rice, went out and got into the automobile. Then the mock bridal party rolled away, followed by the other autos, the attendants tooting the horns and firing roman candles.

Now, it appeared from the first that the bridal auto was stronger and faster than any of the others and possessed a chauffeur who was bent on leaving them behind. He threaded his way skillfully through the streets, not to a railroad station, but to the outskirts of the city, and from the outskirts on a country road. The mock bridal couple enjoyed the ride immensely, but soon noticed that the fun was over, for not one of the following autos was in sight. Then they began to think of returning, but the proposition was received with a burst of laughter.

"You're in the hands of the enemy," said Bob Southworth. "Lucia and I have you in charge, our brother Ned is chauffeur, and we're going to make this a double wedding after all."

"What do you mean?" cried Delia Hickox, aghast.

"Why, we're making for the Buckingham House. There's no way of getting away from it after 11 p. m. and no train to get back to town on if you could leave the hotel. We're going to leave you there together, and you can stay or not, as you like. We'll give you a parson to hitch you—he's provided for and waiting—and if you don't use him there'll be the biggest scandal our set has known in years."

"And you were in league with Donald and May?"

"They concocted the scheme. They escaped through the scuttle in the roof and came down and out through another house in the block."

They were going like a hurricane and in an hour pulled up at their destination. Meanwhile the pair had consulted, invented plans of escape only to throw them aside and at last came to the conclusion that since they must be laughed at it would be better to be laughed at without a scandal. When they reached the goal they found a parson waiting and all ready for a wedding. Those in the auto were preparing to return without them when they consented and were married, inviting their abductors to be their wedding guests.

After further deliberation they decided not to face the crowd of merrymakers they had left and spent the bridal night at the Buckingham.

When the party in the automobile returned to the house, where dancing and feasting were in progress, and announced the second half of the double wedding the house was made to ring. Some one proposed to take automobiles and go to the Buckingham, but the kidnapers would not consent.

A Wealthy Soldier's Idea.

Australians still tell stories of the colonial volunteers, although the war is a far memory. One, a member of the Stock Exchange, was left one wet and miserable night to guard a wagon load of goods. He shivered in the unsheltered place for some hours pondering many things, and then a bright thought struck him just as the colonel came around on his tour of inspection.

"Colonel," he asked, "how much is this wagon worth?"

"I don't know," was the answer. "Much or little, we can't afford to lose it."

"Well but, colonel," persisted the amateur soldier, "you might give me a rough idea of the value."

"About £200," said the colonel testily.

"Very well," was the answer; "I will come down to the camp and give you a check for the amount. Then I'll turn in. I wouldn't catch my death of cold for twice that much."

What the colonel said is not recorded.—Melbourne Times.

Nationalism in Music.

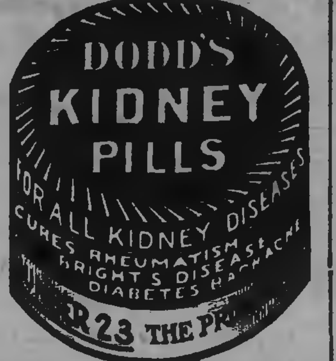
It is a curious fact that no great national music has ever been written among a people living under a republican form of government. The Swiss are, perhaps, the oldest example of a people living permanently under that regime, and there has never been a Swiss composer of any note or of even moderate ability. Against this it may be urged that the American democracy is unquestionably sui generis; that nothing like it has ever existed before, and that for this reason, being in a position to make precedent for ourselves we need not necessarily consider democracy per se as inimical to musical development. On the contrary, the very variety of the elements which are now forming the American nation would argue in favor of the possibility of the foundation of a national school of music, which, in uniting the characteristics of many peoples, might in time develop into something broader and stronger, fresher, more vital and more spontaneous than anything the world has hitherto seen.—Reginald de Koven in North American Review.

A Sign of Death.

There may have been many "signs" of death—so some people believe—but one described here is probably new to many. Mr. W. B. Cooper of Cheltenham tells of his father being ill, but not confined to bed, and one sunny day in June when he walked across the garden another man, the facsimile of his father, met him and "apparently passed into him."

"Shortly after my father came to me and said, 'Did you see me go across the garden?' I said, 'Yes.' 'Well,' he said, 'I shan't be here long. Our family see themselves before they die.' Although I had seen this I said, 'Nonsense.' He shook his head and walked away. Shortly after he took to his bed and died July 5. My father during the few days he was in bed—we were haymaking at the time—asked each morning, 'Which field are you in now?' When we came to a certain field called 'Sadley,' he said, with a sigh of great satisfaction, 'Ah, I shall die now.'"

He died the same morning near midday.—T. P.'s London Weekly.



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

The Man Without a Grave

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

The question was, What had become of the body? That Dick Sturtevant was dead was not the question or a question at all. He had been visiting the electrical works of Peter Robinson & Co., was shown through by the electrical engineer, had grasped a live rod, receiving some 10,000 volts of electricity, and passed from life to death so quickly that he hadn't the slightest consciousness of the transition. Nevertheless an effort was made to resuscitate him, but after half an hour's constant application of all sorts of stimulants without the slightest sign of improvement the work ceased.

All this happened about 10 o'clock in the morning. The undertaker did not appear till 4 in the afternoon, when the key to the room in which the body lay was handed him, and he went upstairs. He returned to the office, saying that there was nobody, dead or alive, in the room and there must be some mistake. Several men declared that they had put Sturtevant's corpse in that very room and there was no mistake about it, but they had never been in that part of the building before and didn't know there were several vacant rooms there. Anyway, there seemed to be some doubt as to which of the rooms had been used. This doubt grew till the matter was lost in confusion. The only plausible theory of the disappearance was that the body had been stolen by medical students for dissection. Since there was a surgeons' college in the neighborhood, this finally came to be the accepted explanation.

The heartrending part of it all was that Sturtevant was engaged to be married. Every one sympathized with the girl he had left behind him, especially that she should be prevented from paying due respect to his remains. No one else was especially interested since the deceased had been an only child and both his father and mother were dead. The wedding was to have come off in a few days, and the cards were out. The bride to be put on mourning, shut herself up and would see no one.

A year passed, and Miss Minton—that was the girl's name—threw off her mourning, and it was reported that she was again engaged to wed. Then everybody said that she had been shamming about her grief for Sturtevant, had had another lover most of the time since his death and had only waited the conventional year allotted to widows to marry another man. These reports were repeated to the lady, and they made her very angry.

It was supposed to be on this account that she did not give the name of her new lover—that is, if she had one, which must be since she did not deny the reports of her engagement. Besides, it was known that she was having certain articles of her trousseau of a year before altered to meet changes in fashion, doubtless to be used as an outfit in her marriage with the man who had taken the first lover's place. This set everybody talking. "It's shameful," said Mrs. Goudy, "the way that girl has treated poor Sturtevant—going to wear the same things she was to have worn on her honeymoon with him. Why, she hasn't even given him a headstone."

"Where would she put it?" inquired Miss Reasoner.

"Oh, yes; I didn't think of that. At all events, it's shocking about the trousseau. And think how soon she has been consoled! The courtship must have begun as soon as Sturtevant died, if not before."

Kind friends—there are always kind friends to tell us disagreeable news—kept Miss Minton posted as to all this talk, and in the meanwhile there sprang up a universal desire to know who it was that was to replace the unfortunate Sturtevant. But the more the criticism the further every one seemed to be from getting at the facts. Miss Minton gave out through a friend that she had been so outraged at all that had been said that "What's-his-name or Where's-his-home" should never be known till she and he stood up to be married.

This announcement started the talking social world upon such a clatter as had never been heard before about any wedding. Of course there could be no advance cards since the name of the groom would not be given. Doubtless the marriage would take place at home before a few of the bride's family. What was the surprise, to say nothing of the shock, when it was announced that the same wedding arrangements had been made as the year before. That was to have been at a church, with a large invitation list for the reception at the house.

It was now conceded that Miss Minton was resentfully flying in the face of good taste and society. Many of her acquaintances vowed openly that they would not attend the nuptials, though secretly they were dying to do so. But when the cards came out with the space for the groom's name left blank all society was struck dumb with amazement.

At the wedding the guests watched the door where the groom was to enter, the bride being for once superseded. When Sturtevant himself sailed down to the chancel there was astonishment which broke into a clamor.

The mystery of Sturtevant's resurrection was solved. He had come to consciousness while alone, had stepped out of a window on to the roof and thence to the street. But why he went away no one ever knew. Some said it was a financial subterfuge, others that he and his fiancee had quarreled. Be this as it may, it has remained a profound secret.

Scotland and Horse Racing.

Scotland has been famous for its horses from the most ancient days. When Agricola defeated the Caledonians at the battle of the Grampians, A. D. 84, the Celtic enemy, as Tacitus relates, were exceptionally strong in cavalry and charioteers. Successive kings of Scotland did much to improve its native breed of horses, and in this connection it is not to be forgotten that the first Scottish king of England, James I., did more to improve the race horses in our island than was ever done before him or has ever been done by any individual since. James I. was the real author of horse racing as it has since been known in England. He it was who first established regular courses, and during his reign there came into being the code of regulations that led up to the modern laws of the turf. Nobody denies that horse racing has done much for the breed of British horses. It was a gift from Scotland.—London Answers.

Sizing Up Bernard Shaw.

Bernard Shaw is thus immortalized by Charles Hawtrey, the well known English comedian: "Once on a time I had a mad desire to produce Shaw's play of 'You Never Can Tell.' I wrote to Shaw and asked his permission. He answered that he would come and read it to me. He did and began by saying that sometimes he thought it was the best play that ever was written and at others he considered it the greatest trash. Anyhow, he was of opinion that it was a pretty poor play and that if I produced it—well, I must take the consequences. Some time afterward I asked Shaw if I could compress the last act. He declined to allow one line to be altered or cut out. In view of certain contingencies I had at last to tell him that I couldn't produce the play. His answer was: 'Thank you so much! You have taken a great load off my mind.' Now, what are you to do with a man like that?"—Minneapolis Journal.

Domestic Bliss.

They had been trotting in double harness for seven long, weary months, and the honeymoon had bumped the bumps for fair.

"John," she said, as she dished out the breakfast food, "I need a little pin money this morning."

"What did you do with the $5 I gave you last week?" asked the man who had promised to love, honor and pay the freight.

"Oh, I don't remember," she replied. "It's so easy to spend $5 and have nothing to show for it."

"Right you are," sighed John. "That was the amount I paid the minister for marrying us."—Chicago News.

Tongue Twisters.

Among brief tongue twisters the following are hard to beat: "The sun shines on the top signs;" "She says she shall sew a sheet;" "The sixth sick sheik's sixth sheep's sick." Some of Shakespeare's lines offer pitfalls to the rapid speaker. In "Midsummer Night's Dream" we find, "When lion rough in wildest rage doth roar," and in the same play

Oh, Fates, come, come!
Cut thread and thrum;
Quail, crush, conclude and quell.

—London Chronicle.

A Corsican Vendetta.

Lecturing on "The Land of the Vendetta" at the Royal Geographical society's headquarters, the Rev. T. T. Norgate said he had discovered instances of a vendetta being started in Corsica through a pig getting into another man's field, and this had caused the loss of perhaps hundreds of lives and had made two families deadly enemies for upward of 300 years. The men who carried on such a vendetta would scorn to rob any one of a sixpenny piece.—London Globe.

Eczema, Salt Rheum.

Eczema or Salt Rheum, as it is often called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases. It manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat, are almost unbearable.

The pre-eminent success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in permanently curing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.

No other remedy has done, or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture, as our thousands of signed testimonials can testify to.

Mrs. John O'Connor, Burlington, N.S., writes:—"For years I suffered with Salt Rheum. I tried a dozen different medicines, but most of them only made it worse. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I got a bottle and before I had taken half a dozen doses I could see a change so I continued its use and now I am completely cured. I cannot say too much for your wonderful medicine."

CANADA'S VOLUNTEERS

HISTORY OF LAND DEFENCE DATES BACK TO 1627.

Only Small and Ineffective Companies of Volunteers Are Found Until Time of Frontenac—Around 1812 It Was Revived Again and Did Excellent Work, But Disbanded Again in 1815—Costs $6,400,000.

The history of land defence supplied by the inhabitants of Canada dates back to 1627, when the people living in and around Port Royal, in what is now Nova Scotia, were required to assist the garrison if occasion required. That first of Canadian militias flew the flag of the Bourbons and the King of France was their sovereign. In Old Canada, which, roughly speaking, comprised what is now the Province of Quebec and Eastern Ontario, the militia dates back to 1648, when a few companies were organized. Sixteen years later all the men in Montreal were enrolled as volunteers, but it was in 1674 that the militia was given a definite shape by the great war governor, Count de Frontenac, who formed in each parish a company to be brigaded in time of war. After the surrender to the British Crown all the militia was disbanded, but a kind of reorganization took place at the outbreak of the Revolution, in the hope that the force so raised would assist in checking the invasion of the Americans, led by Montgomery and Benedict Arnold. That militia did not amount to very much. The militia organized at the outbreak of the war of 1812-1814 gave a good account of itself, and with the British regulars then in the country defeated the United States troops at Detroit, Queenstown Heights, Lundy's Lane, Chrysler's Farm and Chateauguay. After the year 1815 the force was practically disbanded.

The next call for service was made in 1837, when corps were hurriedly organized to co-operate with the regulars in putting down the uprising. Owing to the breaking out of the Crimean War most of the regulars were withdrawn from Canada in 1855, and in order not to leave Canada without defenders the Legislature of the Union voted funds necessary to equip 5,000 volunteers who were styled class "A." Class "B" was a reserve to whom arms were to be furnished, but they were to clothe themselves and to receive no pay.

The flutter caused by the Trent affair in November, 1861, materially assisted the development of the volunteer movement, and the Legislature authorized an expenditure of $250,000.

In the following year a commission devised a plan to assemble 50,000 for twenty-eight days. During the last year of the Union there was spent on the militia $1,700,000.

At Confederation a Department of Militia and Defence was established, and in 1868 the first Militia Act of the Dominion was passed. In April, [illegible] the Imperial authorities began to withdraw their troops from Canada, and in the autumn of 1870 the Citadel of Quebec was handed over to the Canadian authorities.

In 1904 a new Militia Act was passed by which the militia is declared to consist of all the male inhabitants of Canada of 18 years of age and upwards up to 60 years of age, except those exempt or disqualified by law. The first class comprises those between 18 and 30 years of age, being unmarried; the second class those between 30 and 45 who are unmarried; the third class those between 18 and 45, who are married, and the fourth class those between 45 and 60.

The Active Militia is in reality a volunteer force composed of the various corps throughout the country, and besides this there is a small Permanent Force about 1,000 strong on the average. This year Parliament is asked to vote the sum of $6,400,000 for the maintenance of the militia.

The country supports one institution of higher learning in the art and science of war—the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.—a sort of Woolwich and Sandhurst rolled into one, and then combined with a school of practical science. A graduate from the Royal Military College is supposed not only to know how to carry a short cane and look important and formidable, but also how to plan a fort, survey a field, or build a railway. About thirty smart cadets receive their diplomas each year. A few go into the Imperial service, a few into the Canadian Permanent Force, as many as can into other branches of the Federal service, and of the remainder those not fortunate enough to have rich parents go to work. Some of our best engineers received their education at the Royal Military College.

The creators of this institution were the Mackenzie Cabinet. There was no place in Canada for the training of officers, and the militia was in so wretched a condition that the Imperial authorities gave the Canadian Government a hint that something should be done. This led to the creation of the Royal Military College at Kingston whose doors were opened in June, 1876, with 18 cadets in attendance. At first the course of study extended over four years; now it consists of three terms of nine and a half months each. The attendance numbers about ninety, and the total cost of a complete course varies from $750 to $800.

On an average it costs the country $96,000 a year to maintain the Royal Military College. At any rate that was the sum voted last year, and that is the sum asked this session. And it does not include repairs to buildings, and, of course, nor the outlay on new buildings, such as the $100,000 for cottages for non-commissioned officers and servants—an expenditure the Opposition criticized in the House only a few days ago.

Apart from Old Quebec no other city in Canada contains so many reminders of military things as does Kingston.

Wives and Mothers Suffer With Backache

Constantly on their feet, attending to the wants of a large and exacting family, women often break down with nervous exhaustion.

In the stores, factories, and on a farm are weak, ailing women, dragged down with torturing backache and bearing down pains.

Such suffering isn't natural but it's dangerous, because due to diseased kidneys.

The dizziness, insomnia, deranged menses, and other symptoms of kidney complaint can't cure themselves, they require the assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which go direct to the seat of the trouble.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE ALL WOMAN'S ILLS

To give vitality and power to the kidneys, to lend aid to the bladder and liver, to free the blood of poisons, probably there is no remedy so successful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For all womanly irregularities their merit is well known. Recommended for girls and women of all ages. 25 cents per box at all dealers. Refuse any substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

AN INEXACT SCIENCE.

Cooking Is a Subtle Sixth Sense—"You Mix With Brains."

Learning to cook is one of those mysterious things that you learn to do by doing. Standing beside the cook and watching her, taking notes and writing recipes and filling a book against the evil day when you are without a girl is but putting off the critical hour when you must put your own finger in the pie and see if you can evolve a success.

One never learned to cook by rule. She cooked and took the proof of the pudding in the eating. It is the fashion today to talk of the science of this and that and the exact sciences, but when it comes to cooking the expert cook will declare that it is to be written down an inexact science, if any at all.

Ingredients refuse to bring exactly the same results in successive mixings after the rules, the oven acts queerly, the temperature of the pans, the wind blowing over the kitchen window in unseen and unthought of mischief, the flour was "runny" or stiffer than you thought it, and so it goes from success to failure and back again unless you possess that peculiar cooking sense and mix your performance with brains.

It is a subtle sixth sense that tells you something else must be done when you are finding out that the old time rule goes astray and the books say "you mix with brains," using your judgment.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Borax snuffed up the nose is good for catarrh.

A mustard plaster for a young child should be half flour.

It is said very strong tea will stop bleeding from a cut.

A dab of eau de cologne will often remove a slight red spot from the face.

A couple of soda mints or a teaspoonful of cooking soda in water will often stave off a sick headache.

One ounce of sage in a pint of boiling water is a fine preventive against gray hair. Use an effusion of this once in twenty-four hours.

A teaspoonful of strong black tea tied up in a piece of muslin, with boiling water poured over it, may be left on the eye all night for a sty.

A teaspoonful of Jamaica ginger gives quick relief for a pain in the stomach or cramp colic. Half a teaspoonful of soda may be added.

Often when one has a cold the eyes feel hot and are red and inflamed. The best way to effect a cure is to bathe the eyes frequently with a solution of boric acid and water.

A woman who would be beautiful should avoid worry and anger, for it is a well known fact that they write fine lines, which deepen into wrinkles, on the face. A season of rest and freedom from violent emotions will do more to efface them than all the toilet creams ever invented.

To lull the tired one to slumber there is nothing like the odor of lavender flowers. The sheets and pillowcases should be kept in lavender, and on very stifling nights the strongest of the sheets, those that have lain directly upon the lavender pads, should be brought out and spread upon the bed.

AN HOURLY WORKER.

A Trained Nurse Abandons Her Profession For Variety's Sake.

"What is your sister, the one who is a trained nurse, doing now?" asked the girl of the old friend she hadn't seen in a long while. "The last time I met Caroline she told me she was going to resign from her position as visiting nurse for X. hospital because she couldn't stand working under a committee of women. Months ago she told me she had done all the private nursing one mortal woman could bear in a lifetime. What has she taken up, poultry raising or literature?"

"She's doing hourly work," returned Caroline's sister. "It seems a very picayune occupation to me, but she's making money, and she says that for the first time in years she feels herself her own mistress—not bound down to a 'case' or an institution."

"What kind of hourly work is she doing?" asked the girl in a puzzled voice.

"Here is the card she's sending out," said Caroline's sister.

On one side of the card was a name and address. On the other side it was announced that Miss —— offered her services by the hour; that she would take care of and amuse children, act as guide for shoppers and sightseers, read aloud to invalids, chaperon young women to theater or opera, do secretarial work, etc.

"She didn't take up the work, though. She happened into it," explained Caroline's sister. "Dr. G. mentioned to Caroline that a former patient of his needed some one to stay with her baby certain evenings in the week; she and her husband teach in a night school. Caroline, who had left X. hospital, offered herself. She still takes care of that baby four evenings a week, from 7 o'clock to 11, and is paid $1.50 a time. The baby sleeps all the evening, so she has nothing to do but sit there and read.

"Next, Caroline heard of a mother who wanted her little boy to walk home from school, but was afraid to have him come home alone and had no one to send for him. She pays Caroline $1 a time to escort the child the fifteen blocks five afternoons in the week. Good price for just taking a walk? Perhaps, but the mother is willing to pay it because Caroline is a trained nurse and knows so much about children, so in these various occupations her time is employed and her pocketbook well filled."

New York's Lobster Palaces.

Nobody of distinction of appetite goes to a lobster palace to eat. One goes there in gaudy mood or when every other place is filled or closed or with the kind of man who thinks gayety means overdressed women, bediamoned men, waiters rushing with champagne as if they had the fire buckets and a caterwauling orchestra. At midnight the din and the excitement incline a sedate man to ask himself whether he is not in a riot. If you have a lobster digestion, you don't hear the din or feel the maelstrom of omnibuses, waiters, head waiters and patrons swirling about you. A man who is eating lobster has to concentrate all his faculties, mental, physical, moral and intellectual, on the ordeal. You have heard no doubt of the young lady who was asked over her first lobster how she liked it. "I think," she declared, "it's perfectly delicious if there weren't so many large bones in it. They look like celluloid, don't they?"—Richard Duffy in Putnam's.

He Was a Poor Guesser.

He was a new conductor and anxious to expedite matters. When he saw a woman holding a two dollar bill in her hand he dispensed with the customary exhortation to pay her fare and began to count out change. There had been a drain on his pockets throughout the trip, and he was obliged to interview half the passengers in the car before he finally secured the desired small coin. Finally the transaction was completed, and the conductor returned to the woman.

"Fare?" he said.

The woman fished a nickel from her pocketbook. Then she looked at the two dollar bill.

"Dear me!" she said. "How careless I am! I forgot I had that money in my hand. Somebody might have stolen it."

"Chump!" growled the conductor.

The woman thought he meant her, but he didn't. He was cursing his own stupidity.—New York Globe.

"CAN I GET WELL?'

If Your Trouble comes from the Kidneys, or from Kidney Poisons in the Blood,

YES!

And if you have been ailing a long time don't lose your courage. It takes a little time—takes some complications longer than others. But Doan's Kidney Pills will gradually drain the poisons out of your system; the pain in your back will stop; the sediment in the urine will cease; there will be no rheumatic pains; you will feel freer and brighter, and when the last of the poisons have gone you will be well.

There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. W. Perkins, South Maitland, N.S., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. For six months I could not obtain a good night's rest, had to get up four or five times to urinate, and the urine was very thick and red. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and fit again. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure."

PERUNA A WONDERFUL BOON IN MY OLD AGE.

MRS. MAHALA REID.
Heartily Approves of Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin for Kidney and Bowel Trouble

MRS. MAHALA REID, Corbyville, Ont., Canada, writes:

"Your celebrated remedies have been a wonderful boon to me in my old age.

"I have not been in so good health for several years as now. I was troubled with constipation, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

"A little over two years ago, I completely lost my health, becoming almost helpless, when a dear friend sent me your remedies, Peruna and Manalin. I began to take them, following the directions on the bottle. I very soon began to feel benefited by their use and continued to take them.

"I am now completely recovered from the above ailments, in fact, better than I have been for years past. I cannot praise the remedies too highly and will always recommend them to others."

Constipation is almost sure to set up other derangements.

Retained accumulations within the bowels are partly reabsorbed into the system, producing sometimes rheumatism, sometimes kidney trouble.

The blood being surcharged with acids, which ordinarily find their escape through the bowels when they are regular, rheumatism is the result.

Acid blood forms crystals, which accumulate about the ligaments, cartilages and sometimes the bones in the joints.

Such morbid accumulations of blood throw extra work upon the kidneys. The kidneys being unable to perform the unusual labor of excreting these poisons, often give way and kidney trouble is the result.

Permanent relief cannot be reasonably expected except by correcting the constipation.

Regular bowels are a great safeguard to health. Peruna and Manalin are unexcelled the world over for chronic diseases affecting the bowels and kidneys.

Mrs. W. W. Lamaster, 3127 McAtee, Ave., Louisville, Ky., writes:

"I suffered for twenty-six years with bladder and kidney trouble, and being advised to give Peruna a trial, I did so. Eight bottles of Peruna and three bottles of Manalin entirely cured me."

DON'T BUY PAINT "IN THE DARK"

There has been so much secrecy, so much take-my-word-for-it, so much misinformation about paint, that many people are buying paint in the dark.

Yet there should not be any mystery about house paint—any buying "in the dark"—if it's honest paint.

You have a right to know what is in the paint you pay for to put on your house.

The dealer has a right to know what is in the paint he sells to his customers.

That is one reason for the very wide demand for "English" Liquid Paint.

Read the formula on the can.

It tells you that "English" Liquid Paint is 70% pure white lead, 30% pure zinc white, 100% pure paint.

That's what you want to know and that's the kind of paint you want.

The Veiled Lady

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Dick Oglethorpe of Chicago hurried into a London railway station just in time for his train, jumped into one of the carriages, and the guard slammed the door. In ten seconds the train rolled out of the station. The figure of a woman—the only other occupant of the carriage—sitting by the opposite window appeared at intervals in the dim light. The train was running on a track below the city's level, in the shadow of stone walls, viaducts and buildings, and for a time it was impossible for him to tell whether she was young or old.

Six months before he had been jilted—at least so he considered it—and after vainly trying to recover from the strain that followed he had gone abroad for the benefit of his heart health. He was now so far recovered as to feel a slight interest in a pretty girl—a convalescent appetite, so to speak, that might be coaxed into hunger—and he wished the train would run out into the open fields, where he could get a view of his traveling companion. When the full light of day came in at the window he saw a lithe figure, clad in the habiliments of wealth and refinement, leaning back gracefully on the cushions; but, alas, her face was covered by a thick veil!

Oglethorpe was not only an American, but a native of the west, where conventionalism is below par. He had no intention to remain tongue tied shut up with a young lady and tried the usual method of offering reading matter whereby to make an acquaintance. His effort was successful, and they soon fell into conversation. The girl spoke in broken French and with a voice that indicated an affection of the throat. Young people of opposite sex must sooner or later fall to talking of love and marriage, and this couple was no exception to the rule.

"I judge," said the lady, "that monsieur has had an affair. It is that which makes him so bitter against our sex."

"I was thrown over without the slightest compunction."

"If I were to question the girl, perhaps she would say that it was she who had been thrown over."

"She couldn't say that. I'll give you the case in a nutshell, and I'm sure you will admit that my view is correct." With true American western frankness he gave an account of a love spat.

"And is that what you call being jilted?" asked the girl. "I think it was you who treated your fiancee shamefully."

"I? Treat her shamefully? What could I do?"

"You should have begged forgiveness for your heartless, inhuman action." She spoke the words warmly.

"Well, I like that! Sent about my business by a girl in a freak, and I must beg her forgiveness for sins that she herself had committed! You women have no sense of justice."

"No sense of justice! You men have no sense of anything. You say things to us women to torture us and wonder why we show our feelings. If I had been your fiancee I would have treated you exactly as she did. I think she was very lenient with you."

"Well, upon my word! Did any one ever hear the like of that?"

At this moment the train ran into the station at Dover. Oglethorpe asked the lady if she was going across the channel and when she said "Yes" escorted her on to the boat. The waters were boiling, as usual, and the couple agreed they would maintain a position on the deck to avoid seasickness. So they sat down in chairs, and Oglethorpe unstrapped a rug and threw it over her.

"So you really think that I treated my fiancee badly and she treated me as I deserved?"

"Of course."

"Well, I suppose I may as well go back home and eat humble pie."

He said this fancying that if he had made an impression she might show a bit of pique. She did not. If he could have seen through her veil he would have noticed that with every plunge of the boat she was getting whiter about the mouth and nearer a condition in which, far from feeling any amour propre, one doesn't even care to live. Not knowing the cause, her failure to reply irritated him.

"I'll see her married to Mr. McGinty at the bottom of the sea first," he said, with infinite spleen.

The girl quivered. With an effort she ran, tottered to the side of the vessel and leaned over. Oglethorpe followed and held her head. She was obliged to raise her veil to a level with her nose, but no further. Oglethorpe looked and started. When she got back to her seat he said:

"I'm going to see who you are if I die for it!"

"I don't care—whether you—see—or don't," came a hopeless reply.

He raised her veil

"Great heavens, Amy! Can I believe my eyes?"

"I don't care—whether—you can or not."

"My poor, dear love! I have been a brute. Forgive me."

For reply she started again for the side of the boat. He held her head this time tenderly. When she returned to her chair he said pleadingly:

"Oh, Amy, tell me, am I forgiven?"

"Go—go—marry Mrs. McGinty—at the bottom of the sea. I don't care what you do."

Nevertheless, after reaching Paris, where the young lady joined her mother, the quarrel was made up, and all ended happily. She had known Oglethorpe from the first and had played him.

GWENDOLIN ADAMS

Awkwardly Put.

Old Lady (to new curate)—Ah, sir, we do enjoy your sermons. They are so instructive. We never knew what sin was until you came to the parish.—

Thought Sir James the Doorkeeper.

Of course we have all heard about the humble toiler who didn't know the railway president and talked back to him, just as though he was an ordinary mortal, and then got his salary raised for his devotion to duty. But it was an experience of a slightly different nature which happened to Sir James Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, the other day.

It was near one o'clock and Sir James was going to lunch. As every one who has ever had business at the Premier's office knows, there is a desk just outside the outer door and there the faithful Charles Chase presides to steer visitors within the portals or to steer others away. But at this particular moment the chair was vacant and Sir James sat down to write a note.

Enter a gentleman on business.

"Say, where will I find——" he began in important tones as he approached the desk, but the man there didn't even look up.

"Hi, there, you," called the visitor in more peremptory tones, approaching closer. Then the man did look up.

"WHAT?" demanded Sir James, in his most dignified manner.

Then the gentleman saw his mistake.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, I beg your pardon," he exclaimed, raising his hat hurriedly and often and bowing profusely. But Sir James wasn't really annoyed.

$10,000 Wager on Crops.

The National Corn Exposition officers in Omaha, Neb., have been notified by Col. N. J. Bell of Laramie, Wyo., that he had made a wager with Western Canadian farmers that his Wyoming farm would produce more oats per acre than any land in Western Canada. The wager is for $10,000 cash, and the National Corn Exposition officials will judge the crops.

Called the Deal Off.

A lad attending school craved a little holiday one morning when he started out to wrestle once again with the trials incident to getting an education. As he entered the schoolroom he hatched a plot to get the coveted holiday. He went up to the teacher's desk and told his story. "My mother wants to know if you won't excuse me for today?" he began. "She wants me to do some work at home and thought if I'd study at home this evening and make up what I'd missed mebby you'd let me off."

Something about the lad's manner kept the words from carrying conviction. The teacher bluffed back as follows: "Tommy," said she, "you won't need to go home at all. Since you started to school your mother called me on the phone to tell me that she had changed her mind and for you to stay here."

The lad looked at her, startled. "Aw, well," he said, "as long as both of us are lying about it let's just call it quits. I'll stay here."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Quite Natural.

"That play had some very natural touches."

"Drama of domestic life, eh?"

"Yes; they had a new servant in every scene, and the heroine was a brunette in act 1 and a blond in act 2."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Very Restful Rest.

Adolf Menzel, the German artist, was at one time engaged on a mural decoration. He had rigged up a scaffolding in his studio, on which his model was requested to stand. For two long hours the poor poseur stood up aloft in a most fatiguing posture. Menzel in the meantime worked at his sketch, heedless of the fact that his model was growing tired.

At length the model found it necessary to speak. "Herr professor," said he, "how about a recess?"

Menzel apologized profusely for his forgetfulness. "Certainly, certainly, my dear sir," said he. "Come down and rest yourself a bit."

The model had clambered from the scaffolding to the ladder, which led down from it to the studio floor.

"Stop!" cried the artist suddenly. "That pose is fine! Don't move a muscle!"

And once more the model was forced into strained rigidity, while the enthusiastic draftsman set about sketching him.

At the end of half an hour Menzel looked up from his work. "There," said he; "that will do nicely! Get back on the scaffold. We have had our rest. Let us get back to work again."

What the model said is left to the reader's imagination.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Bass' Barley Wine

Is the Cheapest and Best Malt Extract Made.

Bass' Barley Wine
The King of Tonics
Bass & Co
Burton on Trent

It's not how much malt extract you can buy for a certain price, but the amount of good you're going to derive from the actual quantity you do buy.

You may save five or ten cents on a bottle, and, for this saving, you may lose three or four times the amount of nutritive value.

If cheapness alone is the only claim that a malt extract makes for its use, isn't this a sufficient reason why you shouldn't use it?

Bass' Barley Wine is made from the finest barley malt and hops of the highest quality—not from the by-product of the brew.

Before it is bottled it is matured in casks, for three years, which positively removes all fermentation.

Now most malt extracts are bottled immediately after they're made.

When this is done, they're bound to be in constant process of fermentation.

To preserve them, while this fermentation is going on, salicylic acid and other injurious ingredients are used.

It's impossible for a delicate person to digest any preparation which is undergoing fermentation.

It's the absence of fermentation in Bass' Barley Wine which makes it the ideal tonic for delicate persons and all run down conditions.

One of the strongest claims that can be put forward for Bass' Barley Wine is that it's the finest product that Bass & Co., the greatest brewers in the world, turn out.

Bass' Barley Wine costs 30c. a bottle

OCEAN TRAVEL.

Luxury That Greets the Passengers on an Atlantic Liner.

The luxury of ocean travel has reached such a state of perfection that land bred and timid passengers may almost delude themselves into thinking that they are still on shore when they are in the middle of the ocean.

When the luncheon bugle sounds you go in to tidy your hair. The sun is shining in through your window or at least one of the windows, for there are two in your drawing room, one in the bathroom and one in the bedroom beyond. Your drawing room—which might be in the Winter palace, Nice, for all the resemblance it bears to a ship's cabin—is furnished in old gold and white. A soft carpet of old gold, a sofa piled luxuriantly with cushions, several chairs, a table, a wonderfully equipped desk, on which rests a drop light, are at your disposal. You stop a moment to admire the panels and etchings and the hangings, which are embroidered with drooping wistaria in faint green. An electric grate fire, with a genuine mantel, lends an air of spaciousness to the room. You notice that your gowns have been hung in one closet and your blouses in another and that shoes, slippers, umbrella, etc., have been carefully stowed away in places provided for them.

The third day out, if the weather is fine, is the social height of the trip. The ship's types are by this time all fully developed. The bridge fiends have become known to each other, and they never leave their game except for meals. There is the usual contingent that each morning comes around to tell you how early they were on deck. You have stood at the prow and watched the schools of dolphins jumping straight for the ship, you have rushed excitedly to the rail to watch a passing steamer with which your vessel exchanges salutes by running up innumerable little flags, and you have marveled at the land birds that always follow the ship across, and perhaps you ask the steward to set out some fresh water and a plate of crumbs for them.

If you enjoy spontaneous vaudeville the hour in the ship's gymnasium will be your regular rendezvous every morning, and aside from the fun which you will have in watching the others perform unaccustomed stunts on the frisky camel, the spirited horse or with the vibrators you will receive direct benefit from the exercises, which are the best thing to be recommended for the maintenance of sea legs.—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's Weekly.

An Imaginative Statesman.

Imagination is the greatest moving force in the world. In saying this I am merely repeating a remark of Disraeli's, and to prove the strength of his conviction I will repeat a story Mr. Lowell told me when he was minister to England. It is the custom of the Royal Academy of Painters to hold a private view of their pictures before the public exhibition. Disraeli, walking arm in arm with Browning through the galleries, said, "What strikes me most forcibly here is the lack of imagination," and he proceeded to enlarge upon the power of imagination, declaring it to be the greatest force in the world. In responding to a toast at the banquet which followed the private exhibition he dwelt upon the wealth of imagination in evidence on the walls about him and again expressed his conviction that imagination is the moving force in the world. Browning repeated Disraeli's first remark to Gladstone, who sat beside him, and he muttered, "The devil!"—John Trowbridge in Atlantic.

First Cantalever Bridge.

The first cantalever railroad bridge is the one across the Firth of Forth at Queens Ferry, Scotland. It is nearly one and a half miles in length. Fifty-one thousand tons of steel were used in its construction, employing as many as 5,000 men at one time. It cost $10,000,000 and fifty-six lives. The workmen began at either end and worked toward the center. When they met and undertook the last connection it was found that the two ends lacked a small fracion of an inch of reaching far enough to allow the insertion of the bolts that were to complete the span. For a time this was a puzzle, but was finally solved by an ingenious workman who suggested expansion by artificial heat, and it was forthwith supplied by means of burning kerosene oil under the steel girder.

A Family Necessity

Is a remedy capable of affording immediate relief to the hundred and one ailments that constantly arise. It may be a cold, perhaps toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back—use Polson's Nerviline, it's penetrating, pain-subduing, and powerful.

NERVILINE

is at least five times stronger than ordinary remedies and its worth in any household can't be overestimated. For man or beast, Nerviline is a panacea for all pain.

"Not if it Cost Ten Dollars

A bottle would I be without Polson's Nerviline" write J. A. Ruth, a farmer living near Trenton, Ont. "Nerviline is the best household liniment I know. We use it for stomach troubles, indigestion, headache, and Summer complaint. I know of nothing better to take in hot water to break up a cold or to rub on for rheumatism or neuralgia." Every farmer should keep a few bottles of Nerviline handy, and have smaller doctor bills.

Nerviline is a protection and safeguard against the pains and aches of the entire family and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, etc. 25 cents for a large bottle.

HOPELESS CASE.

Energetic and ascetic—
  Say, she's nearly dead!
Exercises when she rises,
  When she goes to bed.
Flexing, bending, never ending—
  Must be sick of that—
All this labor for our neighbor
  Just because she's fat.

Icy tubbings, Indian clubbings,
  Dumbbells, too, she swings,
Swedish movement, no improvement,
  She can swear to, brings.
Must be tiring, this perspiring.
  Weaker than a cat
She is getting; still she's fretting
  Just because she's fat.

Never quiet, has to diet,
  Starves herself to death
With her banting; always panting,
  Running out of breath.
She will shortly be more portly
  Or I'll eat my hat.
Nothing to it! I'd not do it
  Even were I fat.

Superior Way of Dying.

He was excessively fond of dancing, also he was very clumsy. Like a good many other people, he was fondest of doing the thing he did worst.

She, too, was excessively fond of dancing, with the difference that she was the personification of grace. But now she was suffering. Already he had torn her train with his ungovernable feet, and her dainty slippers bore the marks of his shoes. At last she could stand it no longer.

"Let us sit out the rest of this dance," she suggested. "I am tired."

He was reluctant. "I thought you said you could die waltzing?" he said.

"So I could," she replied, "but there are more pleasant ways of dying than being trampled to death."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Who's Who?

Little Johnny Bell saw a long bearded man and a bear coming down the street. He ran home, grabbed his mother's skirts and cried:

"Oh, mamma, mamma! Look what's coming down the street!"

"Be still," said his mother, for the man was now in front of the house. "It is only a man and a tame bear. They won't hurt you."

"But—but, mamma," said Johnny, "which is the bear?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Necessity Is the Mother, Etc.

We saunter into the workshop of our friend, the inventor, and find him puttering over a strange contrivance of wings and sails and propellers.

"Inventing an airship?" we ask quite unnecessarily.

"Yes," he replies without looking up.

"Think it will fly?"

"It's got to. I've got to get out of this town some way, and my creditors are watching every road and railway station."—Chicago Post.

"Well, to be candid with you, I think the covers are too far apart."—Chicago News.

Reciprocity.

"No," answered Senator Sorghum, "and in return they must not expect me to tell them all I believe."—Washington Star.

FURNITURE COVERINGS.

A Girl's Room Done In Cream and Orange Colorings.

Nothing could be more charming than some of the new cotton goods designed for couch covers, window hangings and curtains that might be adapted to portieres, bed covers, covers for cushions and others larger for tables. A fact that recommends these especially to persons of limited income is that the stuffs really furnish, so that less furniture is required than would be were the coverings plain.

A gorgeous set seen recently in one shop adapted to a girl's room has a deep cream ground with fine ribbonlike stripes of burnt orange. At regular intervals along these are dark brown and green peacocks. The border is about twelve inches deep, with a ground of dull indian blue, green and brown being introduced. Peacocks and plain trees form the decoration.

An interesting point is that almost all the figures are oriental in treatment, and the colors, while sounding crude and barbaric, are handled with the utmost art. Camels and pyramids are the motif of another set, and brilliantly hued birds predominate in all.

As it is possible to have too much color, etc., it is wiser to put some plain pieces with these sets rather than to carry the pattern through the entire room. For instance, with the design first mentioned, that of peacocks, the couch would look far better if plain cushions were used.

Greens, browns and dull blues, precisely of the same tones carried out in the figures, serve to accentuate the cover without bewildering the eye.

A girl who is artistic is making two such couch covers serve as a cover and as curtains. The lounge has one of the original covers thrown over it, and the center of the other cover she has made into cushion covers. The border thus left is placed as a band about a pair of drapery curtains of plain color. The effect is extremely good and unusual.

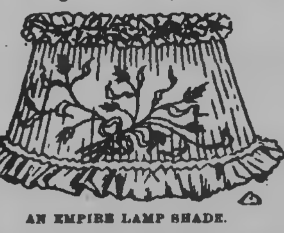
Denim is an excellent material to use in combination, or a thinner one may be adopted. The important point is to carry the same tone, for unless this is done the clash of colors will be distressing.

All of these wash excellently and when ironed look like new.

A NEW USE FOR NET.

Charming and Effective Lamp Shades of This Material.

New lamp shades of chiffon or cretonne are finished with filet net drawn taut over the wires. Embroidered filet makes a very attractive finish and is extremely practical, as it does not exclude the light. In fact, the old fashioned filet lace, commonly called darned net, is very appropriate when used on lamp shades or candle shades. Somehow or other the style of lace lends itself as no other style does to the finishings of attractive little dainties for the household. It is just on this plan that one would use filet lace on a centerpiece or even to finish curtains. Who ever heard of using valenciennes or a fancy lace for any such purpose?



AN EMPIRE LAMP SHADE.

Placing Him.

"Papa," inquired little May after Sunday school, "was George Washington an Israelite?"

Before her father could answer this somewhat unexpected question May's six-year-old brother broke in:

"Why, May, I'm 'shamed of your ig'n'ance! George Washington is in the New Testament, not the Old."

Ventilate Raincoats.

If the raincoat proves too overheating, a circular row of buttonholed eyelets may be worked under the arm and a second row on the under section of the sleeve. If kept far enough under, there will be little danger of their showing, and they will do the ventilating act successfully.

The excessive closeness of the raincoat is distressing whether worn with a coat or without one.

A Financial Parable.

Just before the collection was taken up one Sunday morning a negro clergyman anounced that a certain brother had forgotten to lock the door of his chicken house the night before, and, as a result, in the morning he found that most of the fowls had disappeared. "I doan' want to be pussonal, bredr'n," he added, "but I hab my s'picions as to who stole dem chickens. I also hab reason fo' b'lievin' dat if I am right in dose s'picions dat pusson won't put any money in de plate which will now be passed around."

The result was a fine collection. Not a single member of the congregation feigned sleep. After it was counted the old parson came forward.

"Now, bredr'n," he said, "I doan' want your dinners to be spoilt by wonderin' where dat brudder lives who doan' lock his chickens up at night. Dat brudder doan' exist, mah friends. He was a parable gotten up fo' purpose of finances."

Old Time Salaries.

How often clerks and other employees of big firms are heard to complain of the small salaries they receive! Yet if they realized that Columbus drew a salary of only just over £60 a year they would, perhaps, hesitate before grumbling at their £100 or £150 per annum. Prominent clergymen have received as much as and more than £10,000 a year, and yet John Knox only got 16s. 8d. a week, and that was 4s. 2d. more than Scottish judges of his time. It must be confessed, however, that at this period of small salaries money went a long way. For instance, a good Christmas dinner for a family of six during the sixteenth century could be provided for an outlay of about eightpence halfpenny.—London Standard.

Died With Warm Feet.

Isaac O'Barns, once pension commissioner in Boston, appointed by President Franklin Pierce, was known for his terse and cutting sayings. It was told of him that he promised to subscribe for the erection of a Baptist church on condition that they should "baptize 'em in hot water."

It is of Mr. O'Barns the story is told that when on his deathbed, or when he thought he was dying and the doctor had pronounced his feet warm and said that no one had ever died with warm feet, the old gentleman inquired in a whisper whether the doctor had forgotten the case of John Rogers.

Skinny Boys and Chunky Girls.

In referring to a thin boy it is all right to call him "skinny," but you must call a thin girl "spirituelle." It means the same, but sounds better. Never call any one but a boy "puny." A "puny" girl should be called fragile." It sounds more like delicate china, and all of that sex like to be compared to fine Dresden. A "chunky" boy is all right, but a girl has a "finely rounded figure." A boy is "gawky," but a girl displays "untutored grace."

AN AEROPLANE COMPANY.

Big German Firms Are Backing the Wright Brothers.

Berlin, May 19.—The announcement that a corporation, the Wright Flying Machine Co., has been formed in Berlin, is perhaps more significant than it appears in print.

Several very wealthy corporations are back of the enterprise, and it may be taken for granted that aeroplanes will be built in Germany on an extended scale, attended by the ambition to bring the aeroplane branch of aeronautics up to the existing standard of airship construction.

Among the firms interested in the new company, which is called the Flug Machine Wright Gesellschaft are the Krupp Works at Essen, the Allgemeine Electricitats Gesellschaft and the Ludwig Loewe Co., the last named being one of the leading houses dealing in machinery and machine tools.

Bequests to Charity.

St. Catharines, May 19.—The will of the late Edward McArdle contains the following bequests to charity: General and Marine Hospital, St. Catharines, $500; Sunnyside Catholic Orphanage, Toronto, $5,000; House of Providence, Toronto, $5,000; local tuberculosis hospital, $2,000; St. Catharines' Roman Catholic Church, $1,000; local Roman Catholic Separate schools, $1,000; St. Joseph's Convent, this city, $1,000; Very Rev. Dean Morris, $500; Mrs. Wright, Lewiston, annuity, $1,000; Miss O'Neill, Winnipeg, $1,000. The balance of the estate is divided into quarters, one of which goes to a sister, Mrs. Larkin; one to each of his nephews, Hugh E. and James A. McSloy, and the fourth to T. J. and Miss Harris, Hamilton.

G.T.P. and Twin Cities.

Port Arthur, May 19.—General Manager Chamberlain of the G.T.P. will be here to-day to confer with the city regarding the matter of the Grand Trunk Pacific entry. The route is practically determined, except a small portion along the water front towards the Fort William boundary line, and all the parties will likely reach an agreement for ratification by the Dominion Railway Board.

In the meantime, temporary arrangements may be made for the company to use the C.N.R. tracks from Westfort, so that Port Arthur can be made the terminus of the Superior branch.

Heavy Loss by Snow.

Lethbridge, Alta., May 19.—The present snowstorm promises to be most serious yet in results. The calving and lambing season is on, and this weather means the loss of a large percentage of the calves and lambs, as well as the weaker ones of the older cattle and sheep. About one-third of the calves are already born, and the death rate will be high, especially if the weather turns cold to-day. It is estimated that sheep men who have not got sheds and corrals for their sheep will probably not save more than 25 per cent. of their lambs.

Control of Soo Corporation.

New York, May 19.—The control of the Lake Superior Corporation will be turned over to Robert Fleming and his English syndicate at a special stockholders' meeting to be held here.

STRANGE MURDER WHICH IS SAID TO RESEMBLE KINRADE AFFAIR

St. Paul, Minn., May 19.—A remarkable case, in some respects strangely resembling the Kinrade affair at Hamilton, Ont., is the present sensation of this state.

Louise Arbogast, twenty-three years old, tearless, but pitifully protesting her innocence, is in the hospital ward of the county jail, held for further hearing in the Police Court, charged with the slaying of her father, Louis Arbogast, a wealthy butcher, whose head was crushed with an axe as he lay in bed at his home, and whose body was saturated with gasoline and set on fire.

The girl's accuser is her mother, Mrs. Minnie Arbogast, who has herself been under arrest for three days at the city hospital.

Had the police not been able to connect circumstantial evidence with the mother's statement the charge of murder would have been preferred against the wife instead of the daughter of the slain man.

The story of the mother, the accusing story which brought Louise Arbogast to the bar, bears out the statements of the authorities as to the girl's mental condition. The very nature of the act, indeed, indicates maniacal frenzy, the cunningness of some of her alleged attempts to cover up the slaying is declared to establish the fact, and the asserted inconsistencies of her statements after the slaying are said to have been the lapses of cunning due to slip of judgment common to crimes committed by the insane.

Mrs. Arbogast defended her daughter by obstinate silence up to the moment when the police charged her with the murder and forced her to accuse Louise in self-defence.

The mother had been broken down and forced to make admissions which had grown into accusations. Louise, as she sat by her mother's bed with the police, a target of that battery of searching eyes, maintained an absolute denial when she was urged to confess her guilt. Finally the mother, in an outburst of desperate appeal, cried:

"Louise, it is either you or me. Tell the truth, tell the truth. You were outside father's door when I came from the bathroom. You must tell the truth."

The girl was silent. The mother persisted. She almost shouted, "You say you didn't do it, but I know you did."

But Louise professed to remember nothing and stared straight ahead in silence until the terrific strain was broken by their sobs and the two embraced, weeping bitterly, the girl kneeling by her mother's bedside.

The girl was arraigned in court and listened to the reading of the charge. She said she needed no attorney. A plea of not guilty was entered, and the prisoner taken to jail, the case being continued till Thursday.

It is declared at St. Luke's Hospital that Miss Arbogast, who is one of the most beautiful young women of Minnesota, is irresponsible and killed her father in a moment of demoniacal frenzy caused by hallucinations which have for months been pursuing her.

"She is plainly irresponsible," Chief of Police O'Connor said yesterday.

"According to hospital reports and other facts known to us," said County Attorney O'Brien, "the girl is insane and was not responsible for her action."

"INDISCRETIONS" OF ONT. GOVERNMENT

Opposition Tries Hard to Defend Hon. Mr. Reaume.

HON. MR. BRODEUR'S CHARGE

Ontario Minister Denies Having Published the Fisheries Regulations Sent to Him Marked "Confidential"—Says He Gave Out Only a Rough Draft. — The Senate Discusses Prize-Fights.

Ottawa, May 19.—Yesterday afternoon the spectacle was witnessed of the Opposition endeavoring to justify the action of Hon. Dr. Reaume in publishing a confidential document and misrepresenting its character. Hon. Mr. Brodeur read to the House a telegram from Dr. Reaume, which showed that the Ontario Minister of Public Works was under a wrong impression as to what he was charged with. He denied having given out a final draft of the fisheries regulations, but only a rought draft.

Mr. Brodeur indicated that as the result of the Ontario Government's indiscretion the diplomatic negotiations with the United States relating to the fisheries had been somewhat hampered, but he believed that a satisfactory conclusion would be reached. Messrs. Borden, Foster, J. D. Taylor and George Taylor took refuge in the quibble that as the regulations had been published in the United States press the Ontario Government was justified in publishing them, but they evaded the point that the document thus officially issued and distributed purported to be the regulations as adopted by the commission.

The Minister read the following from Hon. Dr. Reaume, Ontario's Minister of Fisheries:

"I regret that it seems necessary for me to repeat that no document or statement or paper of any description received from you or from any Department of the Dominion Government referring to the proposed fisheries treaty, or to any other subject, was published by me, or by my direction, or by or through any member of the Ontario Government or any official thereof, and I ask you to read this denial to the House of Commons."

Last night Mr. Brodeur sent the following telegram to Hon. Dr. Reaume:

"I read your telegram in the House to-day. I do not contend that you published or sanctioned the publication of any tentative regulations confidentially communicated by me or by the Dominion Government to you. What I complain of is that you should have published what apparently was Jordan's draft, marked "confidential," and that you authoritatively published it, not as an ex-parte tentative suggestion, but as the regulations which had been agreed upon by the joint commissioners as the result of and in pursuance of the treaty. The final regulations have not yet been signed."

Mr. Brodeur told Mr. Jamieson that he had received a first draft from Prof. Jordan. It had been sent to various parts of the United States and some copies had reached Dr. Reaume, marked "Confidential." Yet the Ontario Government had published these regulations as having been adopted. It appeared that the document had created a bad impression in the country, but it was not likely that that document would be signed. In conducting treaty negotiations, secrecy must be maintained.

In committee in the Senate on the criminal code, Senator Lougheed, in referring to the amendment, declaring that a prize fight means an encounter with or without gloves, by previous arrangement, said this seemed to be going rather far. Under this clause any magistrate could put an absolute end to the manly art of self-defence. He did not know that this was altogether desirable.

Senator Power also declared himself out of sympathy with this clause. It was struck out.

Senator Power took exception to a provision restricting six months' imprisonment for any person found in a house of ill-fame. Senator Lougheed said it seemed that this legislation was indulging in maudlin sentiment in regard to matters which cannot be suppressed. Sir Richard Cartwright agreed that the penalties were so severe, he doubted if they would be successfully enforced. He thought there might result considerable blackmail.

The Daylight Bill in U.S.

Washington, May 19.—The Cabinet yesterday discussed the proposition for more daylight in the work day of the Government departments, but it was decided that no executive action would be taken and that any progress the promoters of the plans made will have to be through Congress.

Active at 103.

Sandwich, May 19.—Willing all his property to his children on the condition that they care for him the rest of his natural life, Francis Nolan, 103 years old, made the trip to Windsor, unaccompanied and deeded over the property in Crown Attorney Rodd's office.

Another Investigation.

Victoria, B.C., May 19.—Col. Gregory has been appointed commissioner to investigate charges made against Capt. Gaudin of the Marine and Fisheries Department. Gaudin asked for the enquiry.

Cremation for Meredith.

London, May 19.—The remains of the late George Meredith, who died in this city early yesterday morning, are to be cremated. This is in accordance with Mr. Meredith's own wishes.

A Suicide at Seventy-Six.

Winnipeg, May 19.—J. Islefsent, farmer, 76 years of age, residing with his daughter at Dundar, committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a rifle.

Effects of Winding Up.

Vancouver, B.C., May 19.—An order by a judge winding up a company in another province is not effective in this province until passed upon by local courts.

Chief Justice Hunter so held yesterday in an application to open up a judgment recently obtained in the suit by J. Aspey, now of London, England, against the Empire Accident and Security Co. of London, Ont.

Four Men Drowned.

Ottawa, May 19.—Four men have been drowned at a rapids on the Petawawa. They are Thomas Day of St. Regis, Que., John Jackson, a man named Lazore and a fourth name unknown. The three latter are of Ogdensburg, N.Y. Eight men were in a boat that upset. Three swam ashore and only one emerged alive from the rapids.

Big Canal Project.

Albany, N.Y., May 19.—Governor Hughes yesterday signed the Conger bill providing for an issue of bonds to the amount of $7,000,000 for the improvement of the Cayuga and Seneca Canals, so as to make them a part of the large canal system of the state. It goes to a vote of the people for ratification.

Natural Gas Convention.

Columbus, Ohio, May 19.—Governor Harmon delivered the address of welcome yesterday which opened the third annual convention of the Natural Gas Association of North America here. The convention is bringing hundreds of delegates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Jap Warship for Behring Sea.

St. Petersburg, May 19.—A local newspaper yesterday publishes a despatch from Tokio saying Japan has decided to send a warship to the Behring Sea on account of repeated seizures there of Japanese vessels by American and Russian ships.

$5,000 in Fines.

Cobalt, May 19.—Over fifty cases of illegal liquor selling, the result of the round-up by Provincial License Inspector Morrison, were dealt with by Magistrate Atkinson on Monday and yesterday and fines aggregating $5,000 imposed. Two men are in jail, in default of payment of fines.

FENBERG IS BROKE

Report That Manager of Stock Which Appeared Here Recently Has Lost $25,000.00 in a Few Years.

STRANDED IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, May 19.—The Fenberg Stock Company closed its season at the Grand Opera House last Saturday, after playing here for five nights. Mr. Fenberg is in the hardest kind of luck. A couple of years ago he was worth $25,000, but to-day he has hardly a cent. In fact, he had to sell some personal belongings to raise money to take him out of the city. J. F. Mackay served an attachment on the box office for $55 for wages due him while he was an actor in the company over a year ago. Nothing will likely come of it, as Mr. Fenberg has gone. He left his scenery behind, but it is of little value. The members of the company are not in such a difficult position, as some of them had engagements in different cities.

The Fenberg Company appeared at the Grand Opera House in this city a short time ago.

CASE CONCLUDED.

Action of Harper vs. Dobbin Was Decided in Favour of the Plaintiff.

The case of Harper vs. Robbin, in which a mortgage was involved, was concluded before Judge Clute late last night at the spring sessions of the High Court, judgment being given for the plaintiff's claim subject to an allowance of about $200 of the defendant's counter claim, and the Harper farm to be freed from any claim to the annuity claimed by the defendant. Mr. S. T. Medd conducted the plaintiff's case while the interests of the defendant were looked after by Mr. R. Ruddy, K.C.

THE TENTS ARE HERE.

Ready for the Arrival of the Dufferin Rifles on Sunday Morning.

The tents for the 38th Regiment, of Brantford, arrived this morning and have been stored at Central Park, ready for the arrival of the advance party, which is expected to-morrow. The Dufferins will camp out in the regulation army tents, while it is expected that the St. Catharine soldiers will be housed by one large circus tent, capable of accommodating the entire regiment. Arrangements have been made with local caterers to look after the food supply of the two regiments.

STRUCK BY 4.48 C. P. R. EXPRESS AGED WOMAN FATALLY INJURED

Theresa McGrath Victim of an Accident in East City Yesterday---No Hope Entertained for Her Recovery---She Tried to Cross Track in Front of the On-Coming Train and Was Caught Before She Could Get Clear.

Theresa McGrath, an aged woman, who has been a resident of East City for some time, but about whom little is known, was seriously and in all probability fatally injured by being struck by No. 3 C.P.R. express, westbound, which reaches Peterborough at 4.48 p. m. The accident occurred on the crossing over the C. P. R., half way between Mark and Burnham street. The woman was endeavouring to cross the track in front of the train, which was moving at a fairly fast rate, and the engineer had no chance to stop his train in time to avert the accident. He blew his whistle, but the woman apparently did not hear it and the engine was upon her before she was out of the way. She was hurled to one side and lit heavily on the crossing, striking her head as she fell.

As quickly as possible the train was stopped and the unfortunate woman was picked up and placed on board. When the station was reached the C. P. R. physician, Dr. Gray, and the Dan Spence ambulance were summoned and the woman was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where her injuries were attended to.

Upon examination it was found that she was very seriously injured. She was suffering from concussion of the brain, both elbow joints were broken and dislocated, her left shoulder blade was fractured and four ribs on the left side broken. Several hours after the accident she was still in an unconscious condition, and Dr. Gray entertained no hope for her recovery last night.

The Lindsay Post Appreciates The Examiner's Sporting Extra

The Lindsay Post under the heading An Enterprising Journal says:

A splendid illustration of journalistic enterprise was that given by the Peterborough Examiner on Saturday in editing a special sporting extra at 7:30 o'clock in the evening containing the results in interesting form of all the great athletic events pulled off on the continent that day. This is a journalistic triumph unparalleled in Canada, and it is doubtful if any other paper in Canada or United States chronicled these events the same day on which they occurred. The Examiner stands in the front rank as an up-to-date progressive paper, and Saturday's journalistic feat has considerably enhanced its reputation.

Mr. O'Brien Replies To The Letter From Ald. Turner

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The question has been asked by J. J. Turner, Jr., through the medium of "The Morning Times," who is this Mr. O'Brien? and as certain unwarrantable insinuations are made I would esteem it a favour if you will grant me sufficient space to enable me to let the ratepayers know who I am and why I appear before them in the matter between the City of Peterborough and Purity Ware, Limited. I was at the meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, and had I been permitted to speak there it would have been unnecessary for me to ask this favour.

I am a resident of Toronto, engaged in the wholesale trade of woollens, and have the pleasure of doing business with some of Peterborough's leading business men. My address is 16 Rosehill avenue, Toronto. I have made no accusations against the promoters of Purity Ware Limited. I am the man who paid for the entertainment of the gentlemen who visited Toronto from your City Council, one of whom was, I believe, Alderman Turner. I also paid the expenses of the promoters to New York to visit the company who are to sell the machinery to Purity Ware, Limited. In short I advanced certain sums of money to the promoters of the company for the purpose of paying the preliminary expenses necessary to mature their scheme, and this was done under agreement, whereby I was to profit in consideration of my advances. I now am desirous for the return of the money advanced and the cancellation of my agreement with these gentlemen and Purity Ware, Limited. It is a matter of entire indifference to me whether the City of Peterborough pass the by-law or buy duck eggs as suggested by J. J. Turner, Jr. I am not in the employ of the Kemp Mfg. Co., or any one interested in a similar line of business. I am at liberty to spend my money in any legitimate way that suits me. I think I have answered the question fully enough, but if any ratepayer or citizen of Peterborough are desirous of further information, can get it by writing me to my address. Thanking you in anticipation of your granting your space, I may add that I am writing this letter to put myself personally right, in view of inquiries that have been made and do not wish to be regarded as hostile to the enterprise Peterborough is seeking, which if established under proper conditions would, I believe, be a good thing for the city.

Believe me, sir, I am,
Yours sincerely,
A. Q. C. O'BRIEN.

DEMANDS REMOVAL OF A DANGEROUS NUISANCE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the Examiner of the 18th instant, there appeared a notice to "clean up the yards," that the sanitary inspector was making his rounds of the city. I hope that officer is really making his rounds, and that he will not neglect to inspect the place where our city fathers have allowed the filth of the city to be deposited, in the vicinity of the so-called "Goose Pond," on Water street.

Why in the name of common sense is this allowed? If the authorities are solicitous about having yards cleaned and filthy accumulations removed should a dumping ground be made right at the doors of the citizens who live in that vicinity? Do they wish to sacrifice the few for the many? Let anyone take a walk up Water street, and they can see numbers of rag and junk gatherers, picking out old rags, old pants, old coats, in fact all the cast off clothing of years past, which may have covered diseased bodies or plague places.

The attention of the Councillors and Board of Health have been drawn to this matter frequently, but still the menace to our health keeps up. The filthy refuse dumped over the embankment falls into the water, and when it is dried with the sun, the last breeze carries the evil smell right into the homes of the residents.

If those in authority do not put a stop to this at once, and have something done to prevent the stench and bad odours complained of, the matter will be referred to the Provincial Board of Health forthwith.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON THE OLYMPIC GAMES TO BE GIVEN

On Thursday evening, May 27th, in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, Mr. W. Tait, of Toronto, who was a spectator at the Olympic games at London, England, last summer will give an illustrated lecture on the games.

Mr. Tait has one of the finest collections of pictures that were taken. Among his collection are Dorando's sensational finish in the Marathon, Hayes winning the Marathon, Bobby Kerr running the world's championship in the sprints, Jack Tait in the mile, Fred Simpson finishing 6th in the Marathon, also Billy Sherring, the Marathon amateur champion of the world, running that classic event at Athens, Greece, and many others.

The sport loving public should not miss this great opportunity of seeing this notable collection. The pictures will be thrown life size on a screen, and Mr Tait will explain the pictures and tell a complete story of the games. A small admission fee will be charged.

INITIAL MEETING

Peterborough Cheese Board Makes Fine Beginning—12 Cents a Pound Paid by Mr. G. A. Gillespie, Who Bought Out the Board—Mr. J. Cook Suspended.

INTERESTING INCIDENT.

CHEESE STATISTICS.

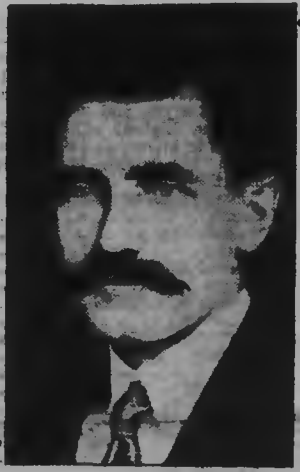
The following is given for those interested in the cheese business of the country. It refers to what has been done at the first meetings during the last three years:

No. cheese boarded in 1907	809
No. cheese boarded in 1908	979
No. cheese boarded in 1909	1001

The best prices at these opening meetings were as follows:

In 1907	11½c.
In 1908	10¾c.
In 1909	12 c.

There were two features in connection with the first meeting of Peterborough Cheese Board for 1909, held this morning in the Bank of Montreal Chambers. One was the fact that Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie bought out the entire board, part at 12 cents, and the remainder at 11 15-16 cents. The other was the attempt of Mr. Jas. Cook, of Belleville, to be reinstated as a buyer on the Board. In this he was unsuccessful, and the motion passed at the last annual meeting that he be suspended for three months, was sustained.



MR. GEO. A. GILLESPIE,
At the opening meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board this morning, he bought the entire offering at high price.

Mr John Coughlin, President of the Board, called the meeting to order. He expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large number of salesmen and buyers present at the first meeting. He hoped for good prices and for a prosperous year.

The Cook Affair.

The demand of Mr. Cook's was then considered. He had bought 1,000 white and 1,000 boxes of coloured cheese. He had purchased them upon receipt of a cable and not on speculation, as had been said. A slight error in the cablegram meant a difference of three-quarters of a cent. He had arranged with Mr. Norton to go on ahead and explain matters and also to buy at the best possible price, but some other buyer had come through the Peterborough district, and bought the cheese. The cheese salesmen were greatly incensed at the time that they should have sold at the high price which they did not receive, and then to sell at the lower price.

Mr. Cook stated that he had been made the butt of the Board for the last three or four years. Others had offered and nothing was said to them. Mr. Norton substantiated Mr. Cook's statements as far as he was acquainted with them.

A Little Tilt.

Finally Messrs. Buck and H. A. Moore moved that the motion passed at the annual meeting be rescinded. Mr. John Riddell arose to speak,

EXAMINER'S NEW SERIAL STORY

The new serial story that the Examiner will shortly present to its readers will be that delightful romance from the pen of Sir A. Conan Doyle, entitled "Sir Nigel." Those who have read and enjoyed "The White Company," by the same author, and who has not? will find in "Sir Nigel" a story written on somewhat similar lines but even more intensely interesting, with a vivid plot, and strong, full-blooded characters that make it undoubtedly the strongest story that Sir Conan Doyle has yet turned out. The first installment will appear in the Examiner shortly, and readers of this paper are advised to watch for it.

YOUNG GIRL IS ACCUSED OF POISONING HER RELATIVES

Charged With Murdering Members of Her Family in Order to Get Possession of Fortune---Even Her Father Did Not Escape---A Strange Case Reported From France---Is on Trial Now.

Special to The Examiner.

Paris, May 18.—Accused of poisoning all her near relatives, in order to get possession of the family fortune, a young married woman named Marie Guerin, is on trial at Vaucluse Assizes.

First to die was her aged grandfather. On account of his great age his death, which took place in Sept., 1905, did not excite suspicion. But in the November following, Marie's own father, a robust man, died after a short illness. The next to die under mysterious circumstances was Mme. Annezin, the prisoner's aunt. Her death took place in February, 1906, and was followed eight months later by the demise of the last survivor of the family, Auguste Ange.

All these deaths took place in less than two years. The inhabitants of the village of Laurie-sur-Durance discussed these sudden deaths, and suspicion fell an Marie Guerin, who lived with her husband in a neighbouring district. It was alleged that the deaths of her relatives coincided with her visits to them.

An injuiry was instituted. It lasted 16 months. Finally it was decided to exhume the bodies. As the result of a post-mortem examination doctors found that they contained arsenic, and Marie Guerin was arrested.

In point of fact, after the death of her relatives, Marie Guerin became possessed of £1,200. After she received the money she and her husband went to reside at the Village of the Isle.

There, it is alleged of her, she played the coquette and ensnared the son of Mme. Sylvestre, a widow.

The latter admonished her son. A few days later she died from a malady which the doctors could not diagnose. Again tongues began to wag. It was alleged that Marie Guerin had taken revenge on the widow.

Mme. Sylvestre's body was exhumed and a post-mortem examination revealed the presence of a strong dose of arsenic.

Did A Record Breaking Walk From Lakefield To The City

Our big friend, "Joe" Halpany, was up against one of his great stunts last night. Driving in from Buckhorn, with a friend, he left the horse at the livery stable in Lakefield, where it belonged, and was making for the hotel to stay all night, when his friend "stumped" him to foot it to Peterborough.

One of "Joe's" characteristics is his gameness; another is his weight—220 pounds. To cover ten miles in less than two hours and a half, "heel and toe," carrying the entrained avoirdupois that he does, would make many a lighter man envious. He finished up the last hundred and fifty yards with a sprint that his twenty-two-year-old friend found very difficult to stay with.

Vehicles Collided But The Results Were Not Serious

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, Ont., May 19, 1909.—An accident from which serious injury might have resulted occurred at the corner of the boundary and Peterborough road, about 9:30 on Saturday evening. Mr. Mark Edwards and his daughter, Miss Teenie, were going home from the village driving a spirited horse at considerable speed, and when about to turn the corner, they collided with Mr. Geo. Lonsberry's butcher waggon, which was coming from the opposite direction. The impact was so great that Mr. Edwards' horse went through the harness, taking Mr. Edwards, who had a tight grip on the reins, over the dash board from which he fell to the road. Owing to the darkness of the night it was impossible to tell for some time just what had happened and it was not until a lantern had been secured that it was found no one had been injured beyond getting a fright and the only damage was some broken harness.

NOMINATION HELD

Dr. R. M. Mason and W. H. L. Gordon are in the Field in East Victoria.

Fenelon Falls, May 18.—Nominations for the East Victoria bye-election took place here to-day. The following are the candidates: Dr. R. M. Mason, of Fenelon Falls (Conservative), nominated by Wm. Burgoyne and J. N. Terrill; W. H. Lockhart Gordon, of Toronto, nominated by P. A. Curry and Geo. Roach. Everything passed off quietly.

TICKETS IN DEMAND

Will be Large Attendance at the 57th Regimental Band Concert.

The tickets are going fast for the 57th Regimental band concert in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Friday night, when the band will present an entirely new programme of popular and standard music. One of the best bills ever presented by the band will be given, and no doubt there will be a large attendance.

ERECT SEMAPHORE

Has Been Placed in Position at the Diamond.

What is known as a "home semaphore" has been erected at the diamond, where the C. P. R. crosses the two lines of the G. T. R. It will be worked from the diamond house, and is placed there to particularly guard against damage, which shunting engines may do. There are three boards on it. One for the C. P. R. one for the Belleville line, and the other for the Port Hope line of the G. T. R. It will soon be in working order. The shunters will be able to work up close to it and will be guided by it.

TO PROTECT CROSSING

As a further safeguard against accidents at the Charlotte street crossing of the G. T. R. it is intended to instal two semaphores, one on each side of the street, as a guidance to the trains. They will be worked by the gates, and should be a further protection to the public and also to the Company.

ENTRIES CLOSE FRIDAY NIGHT

The entries for the Y. M. C. A. sealed handicap five mile race, on May 24th, will close on Friday night, so that all those who intend to enter are asked to have their names in before that time in order that the handicappers may have a chance to perform their work. A number of good runners have already entered and the race promises to be a good one. The entry may be seen either at the Y.M.C.A. or at the Examiner office.

FAST TRACK FOR RACES MAY 24

Mr. Martin Connors has been in charge of a gang of men putting the Driving Park in good shape for the races on May 24th. The fences are all up and the ring itself was never better.

Six Peterborough horses were working out yesterday and if the weather is fine there is sure to be a big field of starters and some fast heats are guaranteed.

STRANGE EPIDEMIC AMONG THE HORSES

There is reported to be a strange epidemic prevalent among the horses of this city. It has been shown particularly of late. According to all advices it shows itself in the legs of the horses urging them to increased runaways. It is akin to the spring feeling, some have explained, but at any rate this is given as the reason for the increased number of runaways.

Yesterday a baker's horse at the end of the C. G. E. line tried to run away and before it gave up the attempt considerable damage had been done. It bumped the bread box against a telegraph post on one side of the street and pulled the driver down onto the cross bar. Some of the loaves were jolted out and almost as they fell they were recovered by the street gamin, who, it is understood, disappeared with them.

SHRUBB IS NOT RIGHT

Great Little English Runner Has a Bad Leg and His Race With St. Yves To-morrow May be the Last for Some Time.

THE LONGBOAT RACE.

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

Ottawa, May 19.—To-morrow's race at Montreal betwen Shrubb and St. Yves may be Shrubb's last race for some time. His leg has bothered him some time and is hardly likely to be in shape for the Longboat race of twenty miles in Toronto. He is under the care of Dr. Austen Irvine, and the Doctor has advised him, after to-morrow night to take a rest. Shrubb said to-day: "If I feel better I will race Longboat after to-morrow, but if not I will do as the doctor tells me and take a rest. I have been running for eight months now without a break, and breakdowns are liable to the best of us at any time. I should be sorry to have to postpone the Longboat race at Toronto, but if my leg goes back on me I shall have to postpone it."

This may prevent Shrubb meeting Sherring of Hamilton, in the event announced to be run at Buffalo, N.Y.

PIANOS NOW WITHIN EASY REACH OF ALL

The Great Piano Sale of the J. M. Greene Music Co., This City.

It is very seldom that such an opportunity is afforded for buying pianos, organs, etc., at the sensational prices printed in black type in the large, five-column advertisement of The J. M. Greene Music Co., which appears in to-day's issue. A re-organization of the Company into a Joint Stock Company, has been the cause of a remarkable reduction in the prices of the entire stock of pianos, organs, sewing machines, band instruments, violins, etc. These goods, it appears, must be turned into cash or good paper by the 10th of June. Note the difference between the regular and sale prices. This sale opens to-morrow, and is continued until June 10th. The store will be open every evening, as well as on Monday, 24th May; Grand Opera House building, George street.

'PHONING IN FIRE ALARMS NEEDS COOLNESS AND CLEARNESS

Citizens May Co-operate With Fire Brigade and Help Them in Their Work.

A citizen sent in an alarm by telephone for a fire at Hooper's lower confectionery shop yesterday. He was evidently excited, and besides spoke in such a manner as to leave the firemen in doubt as to the exact location of the fire. Of course the 'phone was closed and the firemen knowing that there was a fire somewhere made the run and mistaking the escape of steam from the stack of the Peterborough Canoe Company for smoke made for it only to be told that their services were required at Hooper's, to which they at once repaired. Thus a precious two minutes was lost. The delay was brought to the attention of the Fire Committee and investigation revealed the cause as stated above.

The committee also sent in a test alarm, the location being given as the Peter Hamilton Works. Within two minutes from the sending in of the alarm the firemen were on the spot with a long line of hose laid.

The investigation extended to the Bell Telephone Company, which supplies the alarm service. The operators of the company are instructed that when there is a fire alarm sent in they are to note the communication and as to assist in giving, if needed, corroboratory information. In the Hooper fire call, the citizen sending in the alarm was so excited that little could be understood except that there was a fire somewhere on George street, near Charlotte.

Citizens should keep cool when sending in alarms and the committee should provide at each fire alarm box, a card printed in bold type, giving crisp, clear short directions as to the manner of sending in an alarm with "speak plainly" in bolder letters. No other placard or notice should be placed in the vicinity of this card.

FENBERG IS BROKE

Report That Manager of Stock Which Appeared Here Recently Has Lost $25,000.00 in a Few Years.

STRANDED IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, May 19.—The Fenberg Stock Company closed its season at the Grand Opera House last Saturday, after playing here for five nights. Mr. Fenberg is in the hardest kind of luck. A couple of years ago he was worth $25,000, but to-day he has hardly a cent. In fact, he had to sell some personal belongings to raise money to take him out of the city. J. F. Mackay served an attachment on the box office for $55 for wages due him while he was an actor in the company over a year ago. Nothing will likely come of it, as Mr. Fenberg has gone. He left his scenery behind, but it is of little value. The members of the company are not in such a difficult position, as some of them had engagements in different cities.

The Fenberg Company appeared at the Grand Opera House in this city a short time ago.

ANOTHER MARATHON.

All the Long Distance Stars are to Compete in a Race in Chicago on May 29th.

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

Chicago, May 19.—All of the "stars" who ran in New York on April 28th, are expected to compete in a Marathon to be held at South Side Baseball Park May 29th. Svanberg, Hayes and Pietri are said to have already promised.

CASE CONCLUDED.

Action of Harper vs. Dobbin Was Decided in Favour of the Plaintiff.

The case of Harper vs. Robbin, in which a mortgage was involved, was concluded before Judge Clute late last night at the spring sessions of the High Court, judgment being given for the plaintiff's claim subject to an allowance of about $200 of the defendant's counter claim, and the Harper farm to be freed from any claim to the annuity claimed by the defendant. Mr. S. T. Medd conducted the plaintiff's case while the interests of the defendant were looked after by Mr. R. Ruddy, K.C.

THE TENTS ARE HERE.

Ready for the Arrival of the Dufferin Rifles on Sunday Morning.

The tents for the 38th Regiment, of Brantford, arrived this morning and have been stored at Central Park, ready for the arrival of the advance party, which is expected to-morrow. The Dufferins will camp out in the regulation army tents, while it is expected that the St. Catharine soldiers will be housed by one large circus tent, capable of accommodating the entire regiment. Arrangements have been made with local caterers to look after the food supply of the two regiments.

STRUCK BY 4.48 C. P. R. EXPRESS AGED WOMAN FATALLY INJURED

Theresa McGrath Victim of an Accident in East City Yesterday---No Hope Entertained for Her Recovery---She Tried to Cross Track in Front of the On-Coming Train and Was Caught Before She Could Get Clear.

Theresa McGrath, an aged woman, who has been a resident of East City for some time, but about whom little is known, was seriously and in all probability fatally injured by being struck by No. 3 C.P.R. express, westbound, which reaches Peterborough at 4.48 p. m. The accident occurred on the crossing over the C. P. R., half way between Mark and Burnham street. The woman was endeavouring to cross the track in front of the train, which was moving at a fairly fast rate, and the engineer had no chance to stop his train in time to avert the accident. He blew his whistle, but the woman apparently did not hear it, and the engine was upon her before she was out of the way. She was hurled to one side and lit heavily on the crossing, striking her head as she fell.

As quickly as possible the train was stopped and the unfortunate woman was picked up and placed on board. When the station was reached the C. P. R. physician, Dr. Gray, and the Dan Spence ambulance were summoned and the woman was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where her injuries were attended to.

Upon examination it was found that she was very seriously injured. She was suffering from concussion of the brain, both elbow joints were broken and dislocated, her left shoulder blade was fractured and four ribs on the left side broken. Several hours after the accident she was still in an unconscious condition, and Dr. Gray entertained no hope for her recovery last night.

The Lindsay Post Appreciates The Examiner's Sporting Extra

The Lindsay Post under the heading An Enterprising Journal says:

A splendid illustration of journalistic enterprise was that given by the Peterborough Examiner on Saturday in editing a special sporting extra at 7:30 o'clock in the evening containing the results in interesting form of all the great athletic events pulled off on the continent that day. This is a journalistic triumph unparalleled in Canada, and it is doubtful if any other paper in Canada or United States chronicled these events the same day on which they occurred. The Examiner stands in the front rank as an up-to-date progressive paper, and Saturday's journalistic feat has considerably enhanced its reputation.

Mr. O'Brien Replies To The Letter From Ald. Turner

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The question has been asked by J. J. Turner, Jr., through the medium of "The Morning Times," who is this Mr. O'Brien? and as certain unwarrantable insinuations are made I would esteem it a favour if you will grant me sufficient space to enable me to let the ratepayers know who I am and why I appear before them in the matter between the City of Peterborough and Purity Ware, Limited. I was at the meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, and had I been permitted to speak there it would have been unnecessary for me to ask this favour.

I am a resident of Toronto, engaged in the wholesale trade of woollens, and have the pleasure of doing business with some of Peterborough's leading business men. My address is 16 Rosehill avenue, Toronto. I have made no accusations against the promoters of Purity Ware Limited. I am the man who paid for the entertainment of the gentlemen who visited Toronto from your City Council, one of whom was, I believe, Alderman Turner. I also paid the expenses of the promoters to New York to visit the company who are to sell the machinery to Purity Ware, Limited. In short I advanced certain sums of money to the promoters of the company for the purpose of paying the preliminary expenses necessary to mature their scheme, and this was done under agreement, whereby I was to profit in consideration of my advances. I now am desirous for the return of the money advanced and the cancellation of my agreement with these gentlemen and Purity Ware, Limited. It is a matter of entire indifference to me whether the City of Peterborough pass the by-law or buy duck eggs as suggested by J. J. Turner, Jr. I am not in the employ of the Kemp Mfg. Co., or any one interested in a similar line of business. I am at liberty to spend my money in any legitimate way that suits me. I think I have answered the question fully enough, but if any ratepayer or citizen of Peterborough are desirous of further information, can get it by writing me to my address. Thanking you in anticipation of your granting your space. I may add that I am writing this letter to put myself personally right, in view of inquiries that have been made and do not wish to be regarded as hostile to the enterprise Peterborough is seeking, which if established under proper conditions would, I believe, be a good thing for the city

Believe me, sir, I am,

In point of fact, after the death of her relatives, Marie Guerin became possessed of £1,200. After she received the money she and her husband went to reside at the Village of the Isle.

There, it is alleged of her, she played the coquette and ensnared the son of Mme. Sylvestre, a widow.

The latter admonished her son. A few days later she died from a malady which the doctors could not diagnose. Again tongues began to wag. It was alleged that Marie Guerin had taken revenge on the widow.

Mme. Sylvestre's body was exhumed and a post-mortem examination revealed the presence of a strong dose of arsenic.

Did A Record Breaking Walk From Lakefield To The City

Our big friend, "Joe" Halpany, was up against one of his great stunts last night. Driving in from Buckhorn, with a friend, he left the horse at the livery stable in Lakefield, where it belonged, and was making for the hotel to stay all night, when his friend "stumped" him to foot it to Peterborough.

One of "Joe's" characteristics is his gameness; another is his weight—220 pounds. To cover ten miles in less than two hours and a half, "heel and toe," carrying the entrained avoirdupois that he does, would make many a lighter man envious. He finished up the last hundred and fifty yards with a sprint that his twenty-two-year-old friend found very difficult to stay with.

Vehicles Collided But The Results Were Not Serious

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, Ont., May 19, 1909.—An accident from which serious injury might have resulted occurred at the corner of the boundary and Peterborough road, about 9:30 on Saturday evening. Mr. Mark Edwards and his daughter, Miss Teenie, were going home from the village driving a spirited horse at considerable speed, and when about to turn the corner, they collided with Mr. Geo. Lonsberry's butcher waggon, which was coming from the opposite direction. The impact was so great that Mr. Edwards' horse went through the harness, taking Mr. Edwards, who had a tight grip on the reins, over the dash board from which he fell to the road. Owing to the darkness of the night it was impossible to tell for some time just what had happened and it was not until a lantern had been secured that it was found no one had been injured beyond getting a fright and the only damage was some broken harness.

NOMINATION HELD

Dr. R. M. Mason and W. H. L. Gordon are in the Field in East Victoria.

Fenelon Falls, May 18.—Nominations for the East Victoria bye-election took place here to-day. The following are the candidates: Dr. R. M. Mason, of Fenelon Falls (Conservative), nominated by Wm. Burgoyne and J. N. Terrill; W. H. Lockhart Gordon, of Toronto, nominated by P. A. Curry and Geo. Roach. Everything passed off quietly.

TICKETS IN DEMAND

Will be Large Attendance at the 57th Regimental Band Concert.

The tickets are going fast for the 57th Regimental band concert in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Friday night, when the band will present an entirely new programme of popular and standard music. One of the best bills ever presented by the band will be given, and no doubt there will be a large attendance.

ERECT SEMAPHORE

Has Been Placed in Position at the Diamond.

What is known as a "home semaphore" has been erected at the diamond, where the C. P. R. crosses the two lines of the G. T. R. It will be worked from the diamond house, and is placed there to particularly guard against damage, which shunting engines may do. There are three boards on it. One for the C. P. R. one for the Belleville line, and the other for the Port Hope line of the G. T. R. It will soon be in working order. The shunters will be able to work up close to it and will be guided by it.

TO PROTECT CROSSING

As a further safeguard against accidents at the Charlotte street crossing of the G. T. R. it is intended to instal two semaphores, one on each side of the street, as a guidance to the trains. They will be worked by the gates, and should be a further protection to the public and also to the Company.

ENTRIES CLOSE FRIDAY NIGHT

The entries for the Y. M. C. A. sealed handicap five mile race, on May 24th, will close on Friday night, so that all those who intend to enter are asked to have their names in before that time in order that the handicappers may have a chance to perform their work. A number of good runners have already entered and the race promises to be a good one. The entry may be seen either at the Y.M.C.A. or at the Examiner office.

FAST TRACK FOR RACES MAY 24

Mr. Martin Connors has been in charge of a gang of men putting the Driving Park in good shape for the races on May 24th. The fences are all up and the ring itself was never better.

Six Peterborough horses were working out yesterday and if the weather is fine there is sure to be a big field of starters and some fast heats are guaranteed.

STRANGE EPIDEMIC AMONG THE HORSES

There is reported to be a strange epidemic prevalent among the horses of this city. It has been shown particularly of late. According to all advices it shows itself in the legs of the horses urging them to increased runaways. It is akin to the spring feeling, some have explained, but at any rate this is given as the reason for the increased number of runaways.

Yesterday a baker's horse at the end of the C. G. E. line tried to run away and before it gave up the attempt considerable damage had been done. It bumped the bread box against a telegraph post on one side of the street and pulled the driver down onto the cross bar. Some of the loaves were jolted out and almost as they fell they were recovered by the street gamin, who, it is understood, disappeared with them.

SHRUBB IS NOT RIGHT

Great Little English Runner Has a Bad Leg and His Race With St. Yves To-morrow May be the Last for Some Time.

THE LONGBOAT RACE.

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

Ottawa, May 19.—To-morrow's race at Montreal betwen Shrubb and St. Yves may be Shrubb's last race for some time. His leg has bothered him some time and is hardly likely to be in shape for the Longboat race of twenty miles in Toronto. He is under the care of Dr. Austen Irvine, and the Doctor has advised him, after to-morrow night to take a rest. Shrubb said to-day: "If I feel better I will race Longboat after to-morrow, but if not I will do as the doctor tells me and take a rest. I have been running for eight months now without a break, and breakdowns are liable to the best of us at any time. I should be sorry to have to postpone the Longboat race at Toronto, but if my leg goes back on me I shall have to postpone it."

This may prevent Shrubb meeting Sherring of Hamilton, in the event announced to be run at Buffalo, N.Y.

PIANOS NOW WITHIN EASY REACH OF ALL

The Great Piano Sale of the J. M. Greene Music Co., This City.

It is very seldom that such an opportunity is afforded for buying pianos, organs, etc., at the sensational prices printed in black type in the large, five-column advertisement of The J. M. Greene Music Co., which appears in to-day's issue. A re-organization of the Company into a Joint Stock Company, has been the cause of a remarkable reduction in the prices of the entire stock of pianos, organs, sewing machines, band instruments, violins, etc. These goods, it appears, must be turned into cash or good paper by the 10th of June. Note the difference between the regular and sale prices. This sale opens to-morrow, and is continued until June 10th. The store will be open every evening, as well as on Monday, 24th May; Grand Opera House building, George street.

'PHONING IN FIRE ALARMS NEEDS COOLNESS AND CLEARNESS

Citizens May Co-operate With Fire Brigade and Help Them in Their Work.

A citizen sent in an alarm by telephone for a fire at Hooper's lower confectionery shop yesterday. He was evidently excited, and besides spoke in such a manner as to leave the firemen in doubt as to the exact location of the fire. Of course the 'phone was closed and the firemen knowing that there was a fire somewhere made the run and mistaking the escape of steam from the stack of the Peterborough Canoe Company for smoke, made for it only to be told that their services were required at Hooper's, to which they at once repaired. Thus a precious two minutes was lost. The delay was brought to the attention of the Fire Committee and investigation revealed the cause as stated above.

The committee also sent in a test-alarm, the location being given as the Peter Hamilton Works. Within two minutes from the sending in of the alarm the firemen were on the spot with a long line of hose laid.

The investigation extended to the Bell Telephone Company, which supplies the alarm service. The operators of the company are instructed that when there is a fire alarm sent in they are to note the communication, and as to assist in giving, if needed, corroboratory information. In the Hooper fire call, the citizen sending in the alarm was so excited that little could be understood except that there was a fire somewhere on George street, near Charlotte.

Citizens should keep cool when sending in alarms and the committee should provide at each fire alarm box, a card printed in bold type, giving crisp, clear short directions as to the manner of sending in an alarm with "speak plainly" in bolder letters. No other placard or notice should be placed in the vicinity of this card.

BRAINY TORONTO

At a big Conservative "rally" in Toronto—the same rally at which Sir James Whitney worked off his celebrated reference to New Ontario as the "land of the stunted poplar"—the chairman referred to Toronto as the provincial centre of intelligence, submitting its overwhelmingly Conservative character as proof. An example of the intelligence of Toronto almost as convincing as its political complexion is furnished by the fact that at the Spring Assizes the grand jury last Saturday made a presentment, truly classical in its protuberant intellectuality. The jury declared that the Mercer Reformatory is a "grand institution, O.K. in every respect"; that Central Prison is doing "grand work for the community and the prisoners"; that Central Prison inmates "seem to be enjoying their work" and have a grander countenance than men in any of our ordinary factories."

We newspapers get some truly awful examples of literary depravity in the shape of "obituary" verses and spring poetry, but never anything to match the matchless prose of the grand jury nurtured in the bosom of the "intellectual centre" of Ontario.

THE WOMEN'S WITNESS

A special edition of the Montreal Daily Witness, bears witness to the energy, business and literary, ability of the women of Montreal in a good cause. The management of the Witness turned over its establishment for a day to the big-hearted women of Montreal, the proceeds of the issue, going to the fund for providing open spaces for the slum children and children of the more crowded quarters of the Canadian metropolis. The edition is modelled on the modern female hat. It is of large size containing 60 full pages, beautifully illustrated and containing a variety of matter of a high character, which, to use perhaps an odious comparison, is equal in literary quality and betrays an eclectic good judgment and taste, that would do high credit to man editors. The ladies are to be complimented upon their journalistic success and upon the fact that women, when her heart is in the right place, is wont and able to lead in good works that appeal to the highest principles and emotions of our nature. The Witness is also to be very highly commended for its liberality in devoting one of its editions to the cause of the unfortunate children of a great city. We in Peterborough, with our abundance of comparatively open spaces, free circulation of the pure air of heaven and countless stretches of green sward, cannot conceive or appreciate the conditions under which thousands of anaemic, half-nourished and wholly miserable children of a city like Montreal live—exist—from day to day. Many of them live in purlieus and courts with which in comparison the dirtiest lane in Peterborough would be a spring meadow or a tree bowered country lane.

To pity distress is but human; to relieve it is God-like.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A notice to trespassers on Central Park intimates that the prohibition is authorized by "statue."

Western Canadians will not be much disturbed, at a little grumble of earthquake, so long as the No. 1 hard sprouts properly.

It is stated that the work of deepening the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Quebec will be continued till the depth of the channel reaches 35 feet deep enough to give passage to any craft afloat in any water.

Dundas, a town of about four or five thousand has passed a by-law prohibiting the running at large of dogs. Ladies looking after the tidying of their flower plots and gardens are wondering if Peterborough Aldermen will follow suit.

The National expenditure for Great Britain this year will be $820,760,000, or over $20 for every man, woman and child. All this money will be raised without taxing persons who earn under $860 a year, except the smokers and drinkers.

It is true, as Mr. Borden says, that there are fewer Cabinet Ministers in the States, but it is equally true remarks the Montreal Herald, that none of their time is spent in conducting legislation and otherwise directing the work of Congress. And this makes a great difference.

British nerves are a tingle with invasion scares. One report states that the Germans have established in the heart of London "a depot of arms containing 5,000 Mauser rifles and 7,000,000 rounds of ammunition for the use of 66,000 trained German soldiers now employed in various capacities in England." One rifle to thirteen Germans doesn't look very dangerous, nor does a plot that allows itself to leak. John Bull needs a nerve-tonic.

Since the resignation of Mr. Carnegie as a member of the Legislature for East Victoria, nearly every Conservative in the riding, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, who has ever attended a ward meeting or ticked off names in a voters' list has had pipe dreams of being M.P.P., with the incidental salary attached. They were all ready to leave their happy homes and work for their country and the glorious old party. A convention was held on Tuesday last, and the dreams were off.

Stratford is the Shakespearean city, in name, anyway. The Beacon, in an article regarding the improvement and beautification of school premises goes into details respecting the opportunities to this end presented by the several school grounds—"Romeo" school does not offer much chance; "Falstaff" school fittingly enough, has ample grounds; "Hamlet" school grounds could be improved, and "Shakespere" school is to have an appendix and the grounds should be enlarged to correspond.

That there is nothing new under the sun is a truism which we are all fond of quoting; but how often do we stop to think, remarks the Ottawa Free Press. If there is one thing which might be considered new, it is the wonderful head gear of the femininity of the spring of 1909, yet Will Shakespeare in "A Lover's Complaint," declared that the "fickle maid full pale" wore—

> "Upon her head a platted hive of > straw,
> Which fortified her vision from the > sun!"

COMMERCIAL DREADNOUGHTS

Happily, maritime competition is not confined to the vying of nations in the building of Dreadnoughts. The spirit of commercialism is asserting itself as never before in the building of leviathans of greater capacity and speed, ocean ships better fitted to handle the world's ever-increasing inter-continental traffic, ships devised to bind together still more closely the four quarters of the globe.

A few days ago the Laurentic, a ship of 15,000 tons burthen, the largest which has ever sailed up the St. Lawrence, entered Montreal harbour. Immediately after the ship's arrival a banquet was held on board to celebrate the event. Several of the speakers congratulated Canada on the fact that a ship of such dimensions could be sailed in safety to a point so far inland.

Simultaneously with the arrival of the Laurentic in the port of Montreal came the announcement that the Cunard liner Mauretania had just broken all eastward trans-Atlantic records by 24 minutes. She would have done still better had she not been delayed by fog off Fastnet. The liner's time from Ambrose light-house to Daunt's Rock, Ireland, was four days, 18 hours and 11 minutes. The entire distance, 2,835 knots, was covered at an average speed of 25.70 knots an hour, as compared with the best previous average speed eastward of 25.61 knots.—Ottawa Free Press.

THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

(London Advertiser.)

The creation of a Dominion commission for the conservation of national resources is directly in line with the recommendations of the recent conference at Washington, the understanding being that the United States and Mexico will establish similar commissions.

As was recently pointed out by Hon. Mr. Fisher, all three countries have been passing through a period during which they have been dissipating their national wealth without taking sufficient care for the future. In Canada the administration of natural resources is in the hands of different authorities—some Dominion and some provincial. For that reason absolutely uniform action or treatment with regard to the resources cannot be expected. The Government believes that the proposed commission, which will be very general in its composition, and will include representatives of the provincial authorities and men who have taken an interest in the question from all over the country, will be able to mould public opinion, to investigate and obtain information, and make recommendations. The Minister of Agriculture feels that future generations will look back with reproach to this period, or to the next succeeding period, if we do not change our ways.

The bill establishing the commission provides that the members of the provincial governments who have charge of natural resources, and the ministers of the interior, mines and agriculture in the Federal Government, shall be ex-officio members of the commission. The other members will be appointed by the Government. The commission, which will consist of 32 members, will not be partisan in any sense. In provinces where there are universities, one member will be appointed from the faculty, the object being to get men of education with influence in the community. It is also desired to induce men well versed in forestry, in mining and minerals, in water powers and watercourses, in public health, etc., to serve on the commission. An annual general meeting will be held, and the chairman can call other meetings during the year. Information collected will be given to the public from time to time in the form of bulletins. The commissioners will be allowed their expenses, but no salary, and their directions will be carried out by a small office staff.

IMPROVING THE HORSE.

Ontario being the centre of an important horse raising district, considerable interest will be taken hereabouts in the work of the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding. The avowed aim of the organization is to improve the breed of the horse in this country by means of thoroughbred blood; but another object which is not publicly mentioned is to anchor the sport of horse racing here, since it has been to such a serious extent limited in the United States. Kentucky is the only state in the Union where racing is not abolished or menaced by reformers. Most of the great owners of thoroughbreds — the Vanderbilts, Keenes, Whitneys, and Belmonts are racing in England and France. The crusades of Folk and Hughes, et al have driven these sportsmen to find their sport abroad. In Canada there is a movement on foot to curtail racing. Only the fact that the leaders of the jockey clubs are very influential men have saved it so far. So the thoroughbred men are casting an anchor to windward, by means of scattering thoroughbred stallions all over the country, and trying to get the breeders of ohter sorts of horses to become interested in them. They hope that when the final struggle comes, as come it will, they will be able to point to the great benefits that the horse breeding industry of the country has received through the thoroughbred horse.

Reference has been made to the attack on the sport of horse racing in the United States. This is not strictly accurate, since the thing that has been attacked and abolished or limited is not racing, but betting on racing. It is important to keep this point in mind, for honest racing itself is never assailed. No one condemns it. But the racing men as a body insist that without betting the sport cannot survive. At the same time they declare it to be greatest sport in the world. They answer attacks on the evils of gambling by pointing out the great service the thoroughbred horse has done to the industry of horse raising; and intimate that when betting is prohibited, racing will come to an end, the thoroughbred wll become extinct and the whole racing industry will topple to its fall. Every jockey club in the world states in its articles of incorporation that its prime object "is the improvement of the breed of horse;" and in the United States and Canada hard-headed critics have asked what racing has done to improve the breed or horse. The thoroughbred men point out that the modern trotter owns the thoroughbred for his ancestor; that the Hackney has thoroughbred blood in his veins; that the hunter and saddle horse is at least half thoroughbred, and that even the heavy draught breed trace back to him somewhere.

This, however, is pretty ancient history, and the critics want to know what the thoroughbred has done of late years, what he is doing now? The plain truth of the matter is that the thoroughbred himself has degenerated and that racing is to blame for his degeneracy. It is very probable true that there are faster horses living today than there were twenty-five years ago; but they are not so stout; have not the endurance, the soundness, the conformation of the thoroughbred of fifty years back. Generations of racers that have always turned to their left on the circular or oval track of this continent have developed their right sides at the expense of their left. They are becoming lop-sided. Raced as two-year-olds they have become prematurely aged and infirm. Most of them are through with racing at seven-years old, the time when a draft horse is barely reaching his prime and when a light harness horse is at his best. Their tempers have been shattered, their nerves destroyed by the excitement of the race course. They are subject to an unsoundness to an extent beyond any other breed. Never having carried any heavier weight than 125 pounds on their back many of them are weedy and unfit for the burden of an average man. In the United States, where the breeding bureau plan has been tried, many of the agricultural papers have earnestly advised the farmers to have nothing to do with thoroughbreds, and no doubt the farmers of Ontario will have heard similar warnings.

It is in an endeavour to prove that the thoroughbred has not lost his great qualities, and that his blood is of the utmost value to the industry generally, that the Canadian Bureau has begun its work. That the thoroughbred was the horse of horses, no living horseman will deny. The only question is, have the defects that he has acquired as a result of modern racing made him a horse of yesterday rather than the horse of to-day? That being once settled in favour of the thoroughbred as a breed, the individual horses that are being scattered about the country by the Canadian National Breeding Bureau must be examined and discussed. Because Bend Or was a great horse, it does not follow that his grandson Ostrich, one of the horses owned by the Bureau, is a great horse. The Bureau's bulletins keep insisting that such and such a horse is well bred. Generally speaking, it is almost impossible to find a thoroughbred horse that is not well bred, or that has not the very best of ancestors somewhere in his pedigree. In the matter of blood alone, every thoroughbred is well enough bred to improve the breed of horse, other than thoroughbred, if the crossing will be an improvement.

It will be recalled that the Ross Government had some ambitions to establish in this province remount stations for the British army. Not much has been heard of this idea lately, though the National Bureau's pamphlets declare that the half-thoroughbred horse will make the best cavalry charges in the world, a claim that is probably true. It remains to be seen if the British Government in times of peace will pay enough for its army horses to make it profitable for a farmer to try to produce them rather than to stick to the light harness horse that can be readily sold as a driver, if he lacks the class for racing, or the Clydesdale that will always fetch his price.—Brantford Expositor.

INITIAL MEETING OF THE CHEESE BOARD

whereupon Mr. Cook retaliated stating that one of the old rules of the Board was to the effect that any person who was a buyer and a salesman had no voice on the Board, but his objection was not confirmed. Mr. Riddell stated that Mr. Cook's explanation had been decided upon only after due deliberation. He was not moved through any animus towards Mr. Cook, but it was known that the latter and Mr. W. A. Weir had not been entirely satisfactory in their business methods some time ago.

Mr. W. C. Switzer remarked that he thought it would be a mistake to interefere in the Board's decision. If it had been the first time on the part of Mr. Cook he would overlook it, but it was not. Furthermore, the other buyers on the Board should be protected.

It was moved in amendment by Messrs. Anderson and Charlton that the Board's motion be ratified.

The amendment carried.

The Buyers Present.

The following buyers were present: Messrs. Henry Cook, J. A. Kerr, Jas. Cook, W. Weir, George Fitzgerald, G. A. Gillespie, H. Morton, T. Watkins, and John Riddell. The Secretary, Mr. E. Hawthorne, was also present.

Cheese Boarded.

There were 1,001 cheese boarded. At the first meeting in 1908, there were 979 cheese boarded and in 1907 only 809 cheese. The price, in 1907, was 11⅝ cents; in 1908, the best price was 11 13-16 cents, and yesterday 12 cents was the highest offering. The first cheese is known as fodder cheese, the cattle not having been turned out into the fields.

The cheese boarded was as follows:

Keene	60
Warminister	35
Shearer	45
Central Smith	74
Selwyn	35
Villiers	32
Warsaw	55
Westwood	70
Oakdale	40
Daisy D.	25
Lakefield	30
Pine Grove	50
Maple Leaf	25
Myrtle	30
Ormonde	70
Young's Point	35
Lang	55
North Dummer	15
Treewern	70
Norwood	30
Fleetwood	30
Killarney	55
Shamrock	35
Total	1,001

The Bidding.

Mr. Watkins opened at 11⅝, which was immediately raised by Mr. H. Cook to 11 9-16; Mr. Fitzgerald made it 11¾, and Mr. Morton went up another notch to 11⅞. After a short deliberation Mr. Gillespie called twelve cents, and no one offered to raise that figure.

Mr. Gillespie at this price selected the following: Keene, Central Smith, Westwood, Villiers, Shearer, Ormonde, Treewern, Warminister, Selwyn and Warsaw.

He then offered 11 15-16, for further choice. He took the rest of the Board as follows: Oakdale, Dairy D, Lakefield, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Myrtle, Young's Point, Lang, Norwood, Fleetwood, North Dummer, Shamrock and Killarney.

The meeting then adqourned for two weeks.

Petrosino's Friend Slain.

New York, May 19.—What the police believe may be another black hand assassination was perpetrated early yesterday when Pioggio Puccio, 66 years old, a cigar maker, tried to enter his flat on the fourth floor of the apartment house at 321 East 75th street. As he was fitting the key into the lock of his house a man leaned over the balustrade of the fifth floor and sent a bullet through Puccio's body. He was a friend of Detective Petrosino, who was murdered in Italy.

LA PATRIE HITS AT TASCHEREAU

Editor Asselin of Montreal Assaults Quebec Minister.

LOCKED UP WITHOUT BAIL

As Result of Charges by Minister of Public Works of Crookedness on Asselin's Past, Journalist Accuses Taschereau of Lying About Him and Strikes Him on the Mouth —Excitement In Old Quebec.

Quebec, May 19.—Hon. A. Taschereau, Minister of Public Works, was attacked in the Legislative Assembly, just at the entrance to the Speaker's apartment, early this morning at adjournment of the House, by Mr. Asselin, editor of La Patrie, Montreal, and struck a violent blow on the mouth that his lips were cut and bled profusely.

Asselin was immediately turned over to the police and lodged in the station in the Parliament House by order of the Speaker and Attorney-General, with strict instructions that all bail was to be refused.

The incident has caused a big sensation, occurring in the Assembly Chamber in the presence of several members and following an exciting sitting of the House at which Henri Bourassa closed his long promised speech on the Abitibi land scandal.

Taschereau had just replied and had referred to the Nationalists campaign in the Abitibi affair, of which paper Asselin was then editor. He mentioned him as boarding at the Montreal address where a reply to a telegram forged with Premier Gouin's name was delivered.

At the adjournment Asselin called the Minister, and told him he had lied about him, at the same time striking him violently in the mouth.

Taschereau had a number of books under his arm and laid them down to strike back, but changed his mind and called a policeman instead.

$2,000,000 In Dividends.

New York, May 19.—What is said to be the largest dividend ever paid by a New York trust company was declared at the meeting of the trustees of the Central Trust Co., when a special dividend of $200 a share or $2,000,000 in all was made payable on June 15. The trustees also voted to recommend that the stockholders authorize an increase of the capital stock of the company from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Dominion Fair at St. John.

St. John, N.B., May 19.—A. O. Skinner, president of the St. John Exhibition Association, announces that assurance has been received from Ottawa that the $50,000 grant from the Canadian Government for the Dominion Exhibition next year would come to St. John. The exhibition, he said, would open on Labor Day, 1910, and last ten days.

Two Hundred Bakeries Closed.

New York, May 19.—The hardships which residents of the lower east side district have been suffering because of a strike of union bakers were increased yesterday by the closing of 200 bakeries owned by members of the Master Bakers' Association.

Three Years for Stealing $3.50.

Ottawa, May 19.—Wilfrid L. Bishop, a young postoffice employe, who pleaded guilty to stealing from the mails a letter containing $3.50 was sentenced yesterday by Deputy Magistrate Askwith to three years in Kingston Penitentiary.

St. Petersburg, May 19.—Lieut. Anatole M. Stoessel and Rear Admiral Nebogatoff have been released from confinement in the fortress of St. Peters and St. Paul by order of Emperor Nicholas.

Fell Forty Feet.

Tweed, May 19.—A stonecutter, John McDonald, while working in Murphy's quarry, north of the town, fell 40 feet and received very serious injuries. He was fixing the tackle at the top of the derrick when the structure collapsed. One leg is broken, his face is badly lacerated and his nose split open. He is semi-conscious and the doctors are unable to determine at present whether any injury to the brain has resulted.

Alaska's New Governor.

Washington, May 19.—President Taft yesterday sent to the Senate the nomination of Walter E. Clark, a Washington newspaper man attached to The New York Sun bureau, as governor of Alaska, to succeed Governor Heggatt, resigned. Mr. Clark also for years has been the Washington correspondent for The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and is unusually well informed of Alaskan affairs.

Can Receive Sacrament.

London, May 19.—Judgment has been given in the Norwich communion case, in which Canon Thompson appealed against the decree issued by the Court of Arches that he cease denying the sacrament to Mr. and Mrs. Banister. The King's Bench Court yesterday found the refusal of Canon Thompson illegal. Mr. Banister married his deceased wife's sister in Montreal.

Hotelmen to Confer.

Brockville, May 19.—To be present in person or represented by proxy, at a meeting to be held to-night, is an agreement signed by every hotelkeeper in Brockville. The meeting is called to discuss matters of interest to the trade particularly the enforcement of the license law. The license inspector has been requested to attend.

Former Canadian Honored.

Spokane, Wash., May 19.—C. Herbert Moore, formerly of Toronto, retiring mayor of Spokane, was presented with a massive silver loving cup by the heads of the departments at the city hall, "as an evidence of the high regard in which he is held by those who have been associated with him during his administration."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

A St. Catharines correspondent says the fruit crop prospects are very good.

Charles Smith of Hamilton is dead from a gunshot wound, the result of an accident.

Three young Montreal men were fined and sent to jail for beating a horse to death.

The International Fisheries Commission will probably conclude its labors this week.

It is reported in England that Germany has a great depot of arms and ammunition in London.

President Eliot, who has been forty years at the head of Harvard University, retired from office yesterday.

The French postal employes have issued an appeal for a general strike, but the response has not been widespread.

Workmen digging in a peach orchard in Niagara County, N.Y., found a pit containing about fifty human skeletons.

A man locked up in the police cells at Moncton, N.B., for violating the Scott Act, found a hundred-dollar pearl in a dish of clams.

The Montreal Board of Trade by a large majority rescinded the Meighen-McFee resolution in favor of free trade within the Empire.

Government Work at Mission River.

Ottawa, May 19.—In the House yesterday morning R. L. Borden enquired as to the nature of public works to be constructed at the mouth of the Mission River, for which tenders are being called. Mr. Pugsley said that it was proposed to do some dredging and build a revetment wall to improve the harbor, which would be developed at the terminal of the Lake Superior branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific. One result of the Government undertaking this work would be that it would have the control of the harbor tolls. The estimated cost was $350,000.

Want Canadian Securities.

London, May 19.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Treasurer Coady of Toronto, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, denied that there was the slightest truth in the statement, as claimed by Mr. Lawson of The Financial Times, that the British investor was fighting shy of Canadian securities. On the contrary, Mr. Coady had been besieged by financial people anxious to secure business.

Regarding the hydro-electric scheme Mr. Coady said he had scarcely heard it mentioned in financial circles, let alone adversely so.

Colony for Jews.

New York, May 19.—Information has been received from London by The Jewish Daily News concerning organizations striving to ameliorate the condition of the Jews into one body for the purpose of inaugurating a Jewish colonization on a large scale in Mesopotania.

Jacob N. Schiff, the New York banker and philanthropist, is the leader of the movement which is described as the largest Jewish movement since the dispersion. Mr. Schiff is now traveling through Europe.

Peddling Fee Prohibitive.

Chatham, May 19.—Gasparre Favato, an Italian fruit peddler came up in the Police Court yesterday charged with peddling on the streets without a license. He was dismissed on the ground that the fee of $100 was prohibitive.

A new bylaw was passed by the council Monday night making the fee $50. Yesterday Favato refused to pay even the $50, and says he will continue to sell on the streets without a license, defying the City Council to stop him.

Abyssinia Wants Outlet.

Rome, May 19.—Some Italian papers notice a rumor about secret negotiations between the Mullah and Negus Menelik of Abyssinia.

The rumor states that the negotiations are being carried on through the German Legation in Abyssinia, and are to the effect that Abyssinia shall have an outlet on the Indian Ocean. Ho wthis can be, considering Italian supremacy on these shores, is not easily explained. The news has created an immense sensation in Italy.

400,000 Logs Loose.

Montreal, May 19.—Word has reached Montreal from Grand Piles, on the River St. Maurice, north of Three Rivers, of the opening of log booms and the loss of 400,000 logs as the result of high water. The river is ten feet above normal, owing to recent rains, and the melting of snow. An attempt will be made to recover as many as possible at Shawingan Falls or Three Rivers. The loss to the Laurentide Paper & Pulp Co. and the lumbermen will be considerable.

Program on Defence Problem.

Ottawa, May 19.—R. L. Borden asked what action the Government intended to take on the resolution passed on March 29, relating to a scheme of defence.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said there had been some correspondence with the Imperial authorities, which he would bring down to-morrow, when he would state what action the Government proposed to take.

Earthquake Recorded at Heidelburg.

Heidelburg, May 19.—An earthquake was recorded here on the instrument at 9.26 yesterday morning. The shocks were of unusual violence and apparently at a distance of 5,500 miles. Minor shocks continued until near 11 o'clock.

Tip to British Investor.

London, May 19.—Obed Smith addressed the Royal Society of Arts on "Canada as a field for investment," laying stress on the tendency of the British investor to seek only official issues, while United States capitalists had a clear field in industrials.

Police Chief Resigns.

St. Catharines, May 19.—Chief of Police Richard Parnall has by request tendered his resignation to the police commissions. He has been on the force for twenty-two years and has been chief for five years.

Indian Co-respondent.

London, May 19.—A divorce was granted in this city yesterday in which White Cloud, a North American Indian, was cited as co-respondent.

What Could He Do?

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

I am a workingman who has never received any education. There was but one manufactory of prominence in the place where I worked, a very large one, employing several thousand men. One day the concern shut down, and I was thrown out of employment. There was nothing for me to do but go somewhere else to look for work. I visited several cities, at last bringing up in Albany, N. Y.

One night while walking on the street a man came up to me and, saying "I want you," slipped handcuffs on my wrists. He was joined by another man, and the two took me to the city jail and locked me up in a cell. I learned later that they had made a charge of burglary against me. Of course I told them that I was no criminal, but what good did it do? They said they knew all about me and had been waiting for me to come back to town. I had never been in Albany before.

When the case came up in court I was tried for robbing, with others, a dwelling. A man took the witness stand who, after looking at me, swore that I was one of a gang who had entered his house at night when the family was asleep. Hearing a noise below, he had gone downstairs and discovered the men putting his silverware in sacks. He had watched us for some time without being seen and had had a good look at me. He went back upstairs to concoct some method for the arrest of the gang, but they had gone before he could do so.

The court assigned me an attorney, but he was too well satisfied of my guilt to pay much attention to my case. I might have made an effort to prove my identity by applying at the factory where I had worked, but my attorney said that to prove that a man of the name I claimed had worked there wouldn't do much good against having been identified by the man who was robbed. I had no money with which to fight for my liberty, so I was sent to the penitentiary for ten years.

During my stay in prison of all the horrible things I suffered the most awful was that I was enduring punishment which didn't belong to me. If I had been guilty I suppose I would not have suffered nearly so much. I tried to think of methods of getting my case taken up, but even if I had had an education, with the advantages that education brings, what could I have done? It occurred to me that there had been in Albany some criminal known to the police who looked like me. The only hope I had was that some day they would get him and he would confess that he had committed the robbery with which I was charged. But this would have been an astonishing piece of luck for me, and as I was a convicted man in prison it wasn't likely that even if I heard of it I could take advantage of it.

I had been in the penitentiary about a year when one of the keepers spoke to me, evidently thinking I was some one else. I told him he was mistaken, but he paid no attention to me. Then another official did the same thing. I told him that he was the second man who had made the same mistake, but he paid no more attention to what I said than the first. Some time after this one of these men came to me one day and stared at me for some time. Then I was told that one of the prisoners had been mistaken for me. This prisoner was pointed out to me, and though I had several times seen him—he was a new convict—the likeness between us had not occurred to me. It's singular how other people see likenesses which we don't see ourselves. But after awhile I noted that the man was exactly my height and build, and his face was shaped much like mine.

I found out that he had been convicted for a crime that had been committed in Albany. Then I knew that he was the man the police had been looking for when they arrested me.

A hope flashed within me that here was the means of regaining my freedom. I endeavored to interest the keepers in the matter, but did not succeed. The fact that this man looked like me didn't seem to stand for much with them against the fact that we were both convicts under the law. It would have required some one to devote a great deal of attention to the case to work out my freedom. And who would do that except for pay? It would have required many hundreds of dollars to hire such a person, and I hadn't a cent. I got a chance to speak to my double one day and told him my story, asking him to help me. I saw by his manner that he had been one of the gang who had committed the robbery for which I was convicted. He asked me what there would be in it for him, and I saw at once that, though the means of my liberation were at hand, they would not be of any use to me.

I think that having the means with which to avert a great evil and not being able to use them is the greatest brain destroyer there is. Seeing this man in the same prison with me and realizing that I must see him every day without being able to show that it was he for whom I had been mistaken affected my mind, and I was sent to the state criminal insane asylum. Whether my term expired or not I don't know, but at last the doctors pronounced me cured, and I was discharged.

And now, after years in prison, a broken down man, I must begin anew my search for work.

DONALD CHAMBERLIN.

Fatal Fall.

Watertown, N.Y., May 19.—Chas. York, aged 23, of Russell, Ont., was instantly killed by a fall from a railroad bridge, near Aldrich, in the Adirondacks.

CANADA AND THE INDIES.

London Journal Looks For Closer Trade Relations.

Canada and the West Indies are in many ways complementary one of another, says The Canadian Gazette of London, Eng. The Canadian Parliament acted on this belief when it enacted the preferential sugar duties which have done so much to save West Indian colonies from industrial extinction at the hands of the United States. And now on the suggestion of the Canadian Government a small royal commission is to be appointed by His Majesty to see how these commercial relations may be further encouraged. In the Canadian Gazette of last week we pointed out the useful work that such a royal commission could do at this moment, and the announcement made by the Colonial Secretary at the West India committee's dinner recently admirably fulfils our expectations.

The Earl of Crewe announced that the commission would consist of two Canadian and two English representatives, and a fifth member, Sir Daniel Morris—late Imperial Commissioner of Agriculture—to represent the West Indies, with Mr. R. H. McCarthy, late of the customs at Trinidad, as adviser. As to the Canadian commissioners, it would undoubtedly be a great advantage were one of them Mr. Fielding, the author of the preferential policy. He has a better grip of the problem in its wider aspects than any other Canadian, and no one can question his keen Imperial sympathies.

Sir Daniel will, we believe, be accepted with favor by most West Indians as one knowing for many years the full requirements of colonies in respect of their agricultural products, sugar, coffee, cotton, cocoa—how they may best be handled and the markets best suited for them.

The West Indies look upon all this as the beginning of the end to their long struggle for nearer commercial relationship with Canada and it is hoped that the opportunity will not be missed of bringing the nomenclature, if not the rates, of a general tariff throughout the West Indies into line.

We may also hope for agreement on other vital points which may finally lead to the unification of the West Indies and their closest possible association with the Dominion. By the time the commission reports we may hope to see in power in Great Britain a Ministry which will regard commercial reciprocity between all the states of the Empire as a prime necessity of Empire administration. It will be the immediate business of the commission to encourage uniformity of action among the West Indian islands.

A sufficient number of the colonies have now agreed to the principle of preference to warrant a united reciprocal approach to Canada. For the moment Jamaica—unlike Barbados, Trinidad, Demerara, etc.—is more wedded to the United States than to the Canadian trade connection, but let a wide policy of Imperial preference be within reach, and the attitude of even Jamaica would be gently changed. In the words of The Jamaica Gleaner: "Anything like real enduring prosperity in the West Indies must depend upon closer trade relations with the Mother Country on a preferential basis or upon annexation to the United States."

Want West Indian Trade.

Optimistic statements are coming from the presidents of the several boards of trade throughout the Dominion.

President J. A. Johnson of Halifax, says: "Halifax, the only real national port of Canada, which is open to the world's traffic every hour of every day of every year, with a rise and fall of tide of only five or six feet and with a harbor unexcelled, is gradually coming to its own. During the last few years the city has taken a new lease of life. Its citizens are taking more pride than formerly in making it appear to best advantage. Its streets have been wonderfully improved, a better class of buildings are now being erected, and new enterprises are coming to the front. It, as well as the whole province of Nova Scotia, has been much handicapped by having one line of railway connecting it with the rest of the world. If a company owned the Intercolonial, they, no doubt, would run a magnificent line of boats to the West Indies and get a much larger part of the two hundred million dollars of trade that goes to Cuba and other ports.

"One hundred years ago a committee of trade of Halifax wrote to the merchants of Quebec to form a similar committee or board of trade. Their letter had a plea for unity to control the West India market; and the same plea is just as necessary now as it was one hundred years ago. Why Canada should go afield to make commercial treaties with other countries before they reap the rich harvest of the West Indies is a mystery to the ordinary individual. When Canada secures this trade arrangement with the West Indies, then Halifax and St. John will flourish in a remarkable degree."

Labor Bureau Report.

Industrial accidents occurring to 272 individual work people in Canada during the month of March were reported to the Department of Labor. Of these 78 were fatal and 194 serious.

The number of trade disputes reported to have been in existence in Canada during March was seven, an increase of two. About 12 firms and 1,661 employes were affected.

The loss of time to employes through trade disputes during March was approximately 10,450 working days, compared with a loss of 4,396 days in February, and 10,358 in March, 1908.

Washington's Rebuke.

"Washington," said a senator, "was not a cynic, yet he sometimes said things so wretchedly true that they had a cynical note. Thus, rebuking a certain type of churchgoer, he once wrote:

"'The church's feasts and fasts are marvelously well kept up. The rich keep the feasts and the poor the fasts.'"

A Bashful Wooing

[Copyright, 1909, by T. C. McClure.]

Mrs. Sarah Winchell, owner of the Winchell farm, was a widow and in the matrimonial market.

One day a calamity came. Two hives of bees started to swarm at once. The widow rushed out and began hammering on a pan and got the bees to alight for the nonce, but that was as far as she could go. She stood yelling for help when help came. A traveler on the highway stopped and hitched his horse and walked up the path. He saw what should be done, and he went ahead and did it. In a quarter of an hour he had the swarms in the new hives, and after a look at the others informed the widow that it would be several days yet before they would come out. She had time to look at him while he was at work, and she rather liked his looks. So far as she could make out he hardly glanced at her, and he certainly had but a few words to say. When he had finished his work he looked over her head, said he was glad to have been of use and took his departure. The widow had saved the bees, but she was piqued. Any widow would have been.

Three or four days later the other hives swarmed and were taken care of by the hired men. Then the stranger appeared again to ask how the insects were getting along. He seemed embarrassed and in a hurry and refused the invitation to enter the house. He also appeared to look everywhere else but at the widow. Her hair was nicely combed, her apron snow white and her cheeks like roses, but he paid more attention to the pear tree and the soap kettle and the summer squashes than to her. He just wanted to know, you know, and was glad to find out and then was gone.

Of course a widow that had turned down a dozen offers of matrimony could not do otherwise than look after the retreating stranger and toss her head and say that he was a man that did not appreciate a good thing. Nevertheless she made some cautious inquiries of the hired men and in that way found out that he was a new resident of Elleston, but no more.

Then another week passed and the stranger called to say that he was looking around to purchase a good farm, and he wished to inquire if the widow's was for sale. On this occasion he entered the house, but evidently with reluctance. He was certainly a bashful man. In that he was a novelty. When Deacon Graham, widower, came to buy the farm a year before he had stood in the kitchen door and boldly announced:

"Widder Winchell, I'm a-looking to buy a farm. If you go with this, I'll pay $40 an acre."

That meant $30 an acre for the farm and $10 an acre for her, and, though a blunt way of putting it, she was not so very indignant. The stranger, who had at last introduced himself as Mr. Bingham, threw out no hint of wanting anything but the farm. Most any widow would have felt the slight. And then, too, when she had replied that the farm was not for sale he at once rose up to depart without speaking of how wheat and corn were looking up or casting a second glance at the barrel of soft soap she had made the day before and left at the kitchen door to cool. It hurt and it aggravated. Mr. Bingham might be a bashful man, but there are times when even a bashful man should force himself to talk.

Two weeks passed away, and then as the widow sat on the piazza one afternoon looking so nice that Farmer Johnson's mouth watered as he drove past Mr. Bingham called again. This time it was to see if the widow had a cow to sell. He was invited to sit down, and cows were discussed. He was looking away into the garden instead of at the woman, as he sought to do his share of the discussing. The widow had no cows to sell, but she didn't say so. She left the impression on the caller's mind that if he came again he might possibly buy one. She jumped from cows to calves and from calves to sheep and lambs in hopes to detain him, but he got away as soon as possible. Others had sat around until fairly driven out of the house with the broomstick. Others had boldly flattered, but he had said nothing in praise. The widow tossed her head and said she didn't care, but we know she did, just the same.

At the end of another ten days the bashful Mr. Bingham was back to ask if the widow would sell him a hog or two with the cow. She was sitting on the veranda again, and, as before, he was invited to take a seat. When he had done so she moved so as to hem him in and said:

"Now, sir, look me square in the face. Are you a widower? Do you want to buy a farm? Do you want to buy a cow and some hogs? Do you want to buy hens or ducks? Are you after lambs or ganders?"

Mr. Bingham blushed and cast down his eyes and fidgeted around, and the widow continued:

"If you are a widower and after a wife, why don't you say so and give us both a show? Lord, man, haven't you any spunk?"

"Will you marry me?" he bluntly demanded.

"Good! That's the way to talk! Marry you? Well, I've liked you ever since the day I saw you handle those bees, and I'll take the proposal under consideration. Cows for sale? No. Hogs for sale? No. All live stock goes with the farm, including me, and it's a bargain for some one, even if I do say it."

The bashful wooer has thought so, too, ever since the wedding day.

GRAND LIST OF ENTRIES FOR THE PETERBOROUGH SIX-DAY GRIND

A Number of Cracks From Across the Line Will Take Part---Two Coloured Walkers Will Start---Tom Allen of Buffalo is the Latest Entrant---Will be a Great Walk.

The entry list for the six-day walk which commences in Brock St. Rink, on the evening of May 24, shows that one of the classiest fields of walkers, who ever faced a starter will clash and everything points to a record breaking success. With Hoagland, the world's champion hiker, Brown, of Auburn, N. Y., the eighteen year old boy, who chased him so hard in the Milwaukee grind, Jim Harrison, the local ped., who distinguished himself in finishing fourth in the same race, West, the crack Trenton walker, J. E. Blake, the coloured walker, who made himself solid with the talent here last year, Jim Dixon, another coloured grinder from Philadelphia, who is said to be some walker, our old friend Jimmy Graham, of Buffalo, N. Y., Tom Allen, also of Buffalo, N. Y., as well as other well known performers, all clashing, it will be a red hot race all the way. The short hours at night give the speeders a chance, while the pluggers will even up when it comes to the long grind on Saturday.

The 57th Regiment band will be in attendance all week with the exception of Monday night, when, owing to their absence at a concert, their place will be taken by one of the visiting bands.

It certainly looks like a big week next week.

THIRD GAME PLAYED IN THE INTER FORM LEAGUE YESTERDAY

The third game in the Inter-form League of the Collegiate Institute was played yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park, when the team representing Forms III.a and I.c defeated the team of Forms II.a and I.b by 16 runs to 7. The game was a good one in spite of the onesided score, and was a lively exhibition in which errors largely contributed to the score. Mulhern, who pitched for the winners had a select assortment of benders and had many strikeouts to his credit, while his support was good. On the other hand the losers failed to back up Tovey to any great extent. Although the error list was large there was some sharp fielding done, a one-handed catch by Corkery being the feature. The teams lined up as follows:

Forms III.a and I.b—Hogan, 2b; Kerr, 1b; Brown, c; Miller, lf; Mulhern, p; Perks, cf; Mattthews, rf; Adams, ss; Corkery, 3b.

Forms II.a and I.b—Hatton, 2b; Howden, 1b; Primeau, 3b; Howson, lf; Tovey, p; Gilbert, c; Morrow, rf; Hayes, ss; Lees, cf.

Umpire, F. D. Craig.

ST. PETER'S BASEBALL CLUB WILL ORGANIZE TO-MORROW

There will be a meeting of St. Peter's Baseball Club in the T. A. S. rooms to-night, for the purpose of organizing for the coming season. As this club plays its first game in the Church League next week it is important that all the members, and those ball players in the city under nineteen, who are desirous of joining this year, are requested to attend. The blank certificates for the season have been issued and the process of signing up will begin immediately.

A BUSY HOLIDAY.

Warsaw Will Have Three Football Games on Victoria Day.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, May 19.—Victoria Day promises to be one of much activity in sporting circles here. The programme for the day will consist of, among other things, three football matches, a shooting match, and a concert in the evening.

The Midget's football team have arranged to play a friendly game with a team from South Dummer, commencing at two o'clock. At three o'clock the Junior team in the Midland League will do battle with the Norwood eleven and at 6.30 the first game in District III. Intermediate series of the Midland Football League will commence. In this latter game the Lakefield team will meet the locals.

The concert to be given in the evening by the Football Club, promises to be one well worth attending as a good programme is being prepared. There will be given, comic songs, instrumental music, dialogues, readings and step dancing.

BETHANY AND Y.M.C.A. MEET ON SATURDAY

The Bethany Football team will again appear in Peterborough next Saturday afternoon, when they meet the fast Y. M. C. A. eleven at Riverside Park. The game should be a fast one. The Bethany bunch are stickers. They are hard checkers and play both the man and the ball. The Y. M. C. A. team, however, should nose out with the bigger end of the score sheet. They tied Bethany on the latter's grounds and had a much inferior team to that which they will be able to trot out on Saturday. Dr. MacPherson is reported to be on the line-up and all along the line the team will be strong.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS TRIAL RUN

The trial race for the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Department relay race will be run to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 at Nicholls' Oval.

There are a large number of entries for the trial and an exciting race is promised. All boys who intend competing are requested to be ready to run at 2:15 sharp.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 19.—The death of H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil man, was announced just before the opening and caused some irregularity in stocks. There was some selling by commission houses but not enough to have any influence except in the stocks in which he is said to be a heavy holder, the most prominent of which are Amal. Copper and Con. Gas. The market received some good support and there was heavy buying of the Steel stocks which gave the general list quite a firm tone. Later on, Steel common sold at the highest price in its history. Transactions in this issue were enormous. We believe this market has two sides and advise taking profits on the hard spots and waiting for reactions before buying again.

Grain News

Chicago, May 19.—Liverpool did not follow the break here yesterday, and this market opened strong and a cent over last night. The market was active and fluctuations quite wide and sentiment had again switched to the bull side. Its nothing by a weather market in wheat now. Corn and oats were higher with wheat.

A MINISTER'S GRATITUDE

Zam-Buk Cured a Face Sore Which Defied All Other Remedies for Two Years.

Rev. Charles E. Stafford, of Bridgeburg, Ont., says:—

"I had been much troubled for over two years with a sore on my left cheek. I tried all kinds of salves and lotions, but nothing I procured seemed to have the least bit of effect towards healing the sore. Hearing of Zam-Buk, I decided to give it a trial, and see if it would bring about a cure, as so many other things had failed. I purchased a supply, and commenced with the treatment. After several applications, to my great joy, Zam-Buk has effected what for two years I tried in vain to bring about—a complete cure."

Case after case could be quoted in which, as in the above instance, Zam-Buk has worked cures when everything else tried had failed. There is a reason for this. Zam-Buk is the ideal remedy because of its unique ingredients for all skin injuries and diseases. Away back in the days of the Roman gladiators, secret balms were used for the healing of cuts and injuries sustained in the arena and in battle. Then came a period during which external balms were neglected, followed by a period in which all the salves and embrocations had as their base animal fats and oils. Zam-Buk marks a new epoch. It is absolutely devoid of all animal fats, all mineral colouring matters, and is composed entirely of rich medicinal herbal extracts. Zam-Buk is a combination of Nature's rich healing herbal juices by the most modern scientific methods, and the result is a balm which cures when others fail.

Skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, and prairie itch, are speedily overcome by it. For piles it is fine!—easing the pain and inflammation, and hastening a cure. It also cures burns, scalds, cuts, ulcers, children's sores and eruptions, blood-poisoning, scratches, old wounds, varicose ulcers, &c. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful and cheap imitations, sometimes represented as "Just as good."

SUCCESSFUL CANVASS FOR KNOX COLLEGE

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, May 18.—Rev. Dr. Gray, of Toronto, has completed a very satisfactory canvass of the Presbyterian congregation here and at Cottesloe, in aid of the Building Fund of Knox College.

Mr J. S. Ferguson, student, preached earnest and practical sermons in the Presbyterian church on Sabbath last, and will preach again next Sabbath at both services.

Rumour says that two congregations are at present seeking to secure the services of the energetic pastor of the Presbyterian church here, but his intentions in the matter have not yet been made public.

Mr Albert McCwaig is busy building the stone foundation for a barn in Burleigh.

Mrs Thompson and daughter, Marjory, of Port Elgin, is visiting her father, Mr. G. W. Reid.

Several weddings are expected in the near future in this locality.

Mrs. Walter John Kidd, who has been ailing for several weeks, is so far improved as to be out to Divine service on Sabbath. Her many friends were rejoiced to see her.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMERON—RIDDELL

A quiet wedding was celebrated last night at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Morrison, 633 Oylmer street, when Miss Bertha Elizabeth Riddell, daughter of the late Mr. Walter Rid-Andrew Nelson Cameron. The bridal dell, was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew Nelson Cameron. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Patter, and the bridal couple were unattended. Afterwards a dainty wedding supper was served in the dining room which was tastefully decorated. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will reside on Homewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron received many happy returns of the day from their friends. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room, which was beautifully adorned for the occasion.

DR. GRENFELL'S WORK

INTREPID MISSIONARY WRITES OF LABORS IN LABRADOR.

Medical Man Who Is Now Lecturing In Ontario Tells In English Paper How the Mission Carries on Its Work and What the People Need—Captain Washed Overboard and Drowned—Supplies Caught In Ice.

Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the heroic medical missionary of the Labrador coast, is a man in whom Canadians grow more and more interested as his unique work proceeds. For a good many years now he has performed his lonely sea-and-shore labor as superintendent in Newfoundland and Labrador of the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen, but so remarkable is his enthusiasm for it that his labor is a pleasure. Indeed, he told the Canadian Club in Toronto a year or so ago that he would never care to give it up. Writing in the current issue of The Standard of Empire about the land of cod and caribou, Dr. Grenfell says that the fishermen there have had a very poor season. Here is an extract from his article, which shows the difficulties of navigation on the Labrador coast:

"The boisterous gales of the late fall and the early onset of winter have made things go unusually hard even with some of our own workers. The schooner Lorna Doone, leaving with supplies for two of our Labrador stations, at Battle Hospital and the new nursing station at Forteau, ran into a heavy easterly gale off Cape Sable. The seas off the mouth of the Gulf of Fundy are proverbially bad, the phenomenal tide of anything up to sixty feet causing nasty overfalls that are very dangerous to small vessels. While the little craft was running nicely under a three-reefed foresail a steeper mountain of water than usual fell right over her, and washed the captain, my colleague of many years, over the lee rail. It is no child's play heaving a vessel to with a freeboard of only three feet, but the mate, from whose side the skipper was washed, did so intuitively, receiving the full force of the following sea for his pains, which swept the schooner fore and aft. But beyond hearing one wild cry for a life belt nothing more was known of our good friend's life, and the staff of the Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen paid its twenty-fifth tribute of life to the insatiable waters. The mate, a youngster, who had never before been called on to command, safely worked the craft into Sydney harbor in Cape Breton. Another of our captains was sent over to take charge, and the voyage was continued into the face of the fast closing north. Alas, the delay of only a fortnight was all too long, and the schooner was last reported frozen into a harbor close to Cape Bauld at the extreme north end of Newfoundland, unable to reach her destination this winter owing to ice."

What made this occurrence the more unfortunate was the fact that the vessels carried household supplies for the new nurses' home in that section. Some time ago two nurses from Johns Hopkins Hospital offered to do a summer's work there, and the people petitioned to have the work continued permanently. This was done, and the rigors of this philanthropic undertaking are graphically pictured in this further paragraph from Dr. Grenfell's article:

"The offer of a week's work a year from each family as a contribution toward upkeep in lieu of money (for like Peter and John of old, they had none), was accepted because it came in the above section. We provided material, and the people the work. The result is a nice little house, but alas empty. The last communication from the nurse was that she had abandoned hope of the supplies, though she had no news of the vessel, and that she also abandoned a bed on the floor for a wooden trunk built up in her bedroom. Cooking utensils were her most important need, for the lard cans which she was substituting for saucepans showed no promise of permanency. Luxuries she could not expect, but she was glad to report sufficient essentials to avoid danger of starvation. These were contributions from her neighbors, on whom I fear they will be no little tax, even if they afford them the joy of service, for living with the nurse for training purposes are two girls and a boy—all more or less crippled. The boy, an Eskimo, has lost nearly all his ribs on one side consequent on neglected empyema, and one girl, a half-breed, has lost both legs below the knees, the result of gangrene from frost-bite when a child, and then an amputation with her father's axe. Yet the nurse writes cheerily of her little family, as well as of her larger one, and looks forward with much pleasure to the experience of the next seven months. Until we can revisit her, we can only wish her 'A Happy New Year'."

Dr. Grenfell says that the experiment of importing reindeer to Labrador has worked well. To sum up their usefulness, in his own words: "The milk is rich and the meat both fat and tender in the fall."

Methodical Lloyd-George.

Like Mr. John Burns, Mr. Lloyd-George is a stickler for method and routine. That is why he gets through such a tremendous amount of work. It is said that the Chancellor of the Exchequer answers every letter the same day, and often within five minutes of receiving it.

Member Is Actor.

A very clever amateur actor is Mr. Arthur Ponsonby, who moved the amendment to the address in the British House of Commons. At tragedy or comedy he is equally good, although he confesses to a weakness for the latter.

"Poor woman; she has scarcely time to eat and sleep."

"Nonsense! Why, she is rich and has no duties whatever."

"But she tells me she reads all the latest novels."—Cleveland Leader.

The Case of Major Iglehart

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

It was a queer case, that of Major Iglehart. He was neglectful of duty, slovenly in appearance and drank hard. His uniform hung on him limply, his coat turned green, his boots were muddy, and his hair protruded through a hole in his hat.

Charges for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman—drunkenness—were preferred against the major. They were about to come up for trial when suddenly the enemy came down on us. The colonel led the retreat, the lieutenant colonel following in close order. Of the field officers the major alone was at the front. But he was not the officer we had known. He was transfigured. He sat erect on his horse, his eye lighted with the fire of battle, and his orders rang out in a clear, ringing tone. It seemed that he had returned to the being he had been before some great sin or some great grief had blighted him.

He found the men in confusion, some flying, some gathering their weapons and accouterments, some making an effort at formation. The moment he appeared, out of the struggling mass a line developed, and those running to the rear came back and re-enforced it. Seizing a standard, he called upon us to follow and, charging, saved the day.

After it was over all reverted to its former status. The colonel and lieutenant colonel resumed command, and the major got drunk. But the charges were quietly withdrawn. Though the major greatly lowered the moral and social tone of the regiment, he must be endured. Everybody felt that way—the field officers because he could lead the men in battle and they could not, the line officers and the men because they must have some one to lead them when there was fighting to do. No one thought of advancing the major to the position of colonel. Such a colonel would ruin the regiment with the army. For a while we tried to treat him with consideration, but he was so shabby, so unsoldierly, in every way so degraded, that we soon gave it up and realized that our handsome colonel was still our commander.

And so it continued. When the colonel spoke to us, as he often did, in a pleasing and dignified manner, calling us "my boys," we cheered, but the first thing we knew we were following the major over breastworks or standing in line with teeth set, taking punishment. Every time there was fighting to be done he loomed up at the front, and when it was over he sank back into his habitual stupor.

Under our colonel the regiment acquired an excellent reputation for discipline and soldierly bearing. Under the major's leadership in battle we became known as one of the most gallant bodies in the army. Of course the regiment must be honored in some one's name, and it was impossible to honor us through the major. Therefore the colonel got no end of mention for gallantry and eventually was made a brigadier general. That let the lieutenant colonel in for the balance of the glory, all of which emanated from the major.

The major never made any complaint at the fact that all these honors passed over his head. He didn't seem to care. Nor did any one in the regiment object. We all felt that our services should have recognition and considered that honors conferred upon him would be no recognition at all.

At the last fight the major fought the army was held in check by a hill on which the enemy had planted artillery, and everything was at a deadlock. The general rode up to our regiment and asked for the colonel and lieutenant colonel in quick succession. Nobody could tell him where they were. He asked for the next in command. Some one told him that Major Igleheart was asleep on a fence rail near by. At that moment the major appeared. The general looked at him in despair. Nevertheless he gave him an order to take the hill.

The way the major walked us up that hill was a sight to behold. The general beheld it from below and when the hill was ours rode up and asked for the major. We showed him the officer lying on the ground with a bullet hole in his forehead. The general turned away sadly with the remark, "If he had lived he should have had a division."

We all knew more about that than the general. The major in command of a division! Absurd! Yet there was something about the clay he had left behind—his former self—that made us forget his second self and think of him as a major general. With that look on his face we buried him, fired a volley over him and forgot him till the next fight, when, having no one to lead us, we covered ourselves with disgrace and after several such episodes were mustered out of the service with dishonor.

But to finish about the major. The day after he was killed a letter came for him addressed in a woman's hand. Not knowing what to do with it, the adjutant concluded to consider it a dead letter, open it for the address of the sender and return it. It read:

> My Darling—Today my sun, which set when you left us, believing you a guilty man, has risen, though, oh, how sad! Will has confessed. You may now assume your own individuality and come back to us. Doubtless, coming as a soldier from the front, you will have great influence in obtaining a pardon for him. Come to me, my love, and forgive me for believing you when you made that false confession. In life and in eternity your love,
>
> ALICE.

The letter went back to Alice endorsed, "Killed while glory dropped a wreath upon his brow." And that's the last we ever heard of the case of Major Iglehart.

THEY MAKE LONG JOURNEYS.

Icebergs Always Come From Near the Very Ends of the Earth.

It is an interesting fact that the actual iceberg always comes from near the ends of the earth. Becoming detached from the immense ice masses of the north or the south polar regions, the huge pinnacles and mounds and other formations too often in the path of vessels crossing the Grand Banks of Newfoundland have made a long journey before reaching this locality, for they have come the length of that interesting river in the ocean, the Labrador current, besides floating hundreds of miles in the waters about Greenland.

The distance covered by an iceberg of the north Atlantic from the time it is formed until it reaches the Banks is fully 2,500 miles. It may have been afloat for a year, exposed to wide changes of temperature, battered by ice floes, possibly other bergs and ceaselessly washed by the waves. Yet some of those seen 2,000 miles south of their starting point are nearly 300 feet in height and truly of majestic proportions, often a thousand or more feet in length, while it is an established scientific fact that so much more of the bulk is under water than is visible that the largest bergs may extend into the ocean to a depth of over half a mile.

As Arctic navigators who venture far north often see a score or more of great bergs in a day the tremendous glacial activity in this region can be appreciated. The majority of these that drift to the Grand Banks come from Melville Bay. Some of the distinct glaciers that terminate the Greenland ice cap on this coast extend along it a distance of fully 25 miles. Their thickness or height can only be estimated, but in places near the open sea it is believed to be several hundred feet.

Recent examinations of this coast show that during the short summer the formation of bergs in the bay is almost continuous. The glacial movement keeps pressing the ice forward until a thick stratum often projects many feet beyond that beneath. After a time the great weight overcomes the tensile strength of a mass and it falls into the sea and a berg is created.

NOBLEMAN AS MAID.

A Russian Society Romance Recently Terminated at Moscow.

The details of a Russian society romance which has happily terminated at Moscow have been chronicled recently in foreign papers. About 18 months ago the wealthy and beautiful young Baroness Urusoff, the widow of a distinguished Russian Government official, took up her residence in Moscow and lived an extremely secluded life. Her beauty, however, attracted attention wherever she was seen, whether in the streets, or when riding, or at the theatre. All the young cavaliers of Moscow were hopelessly in love with her. The baroness, however, rejected all attempts to obtain an introduction to her, and continued to live in perfect seclusion, attended only by an elderly relative.

Some months ago a young peasant girl began to visit the residence of the baroness, offering the servants cheap articles for sale. Once she brought some old Russian porcelain, which she offered the baroness. Subsequently the baroness used to buy different articles from the peasant girl, who was intelligent, had good manners and considerable conversational talents. The baroness eventually asked the peasant girl whether she would enter her service as a lady's maid. The girl agreed, and entered the house as Baroness Urusoff's maid.

She discharged her duties to perfection for a fortnight, and then revealed "herself" as a young Russian nobleman named Maximoff, who, taking advantage of his fair hair and complexion, had masqueraded as a domestic servant to break down the barriers with which the beautiful baroness had surrounded herself. The baroness was so much impressed by the extraordinary perseverance which the young nobleman had revealed in coming month after month as a peasant girl, then working as a domestic servant to gain her favor, that she became engaged to him and the marriage took place recently.

Sir Wilfrid Makes a Pun.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not often facetious in the House, but he was the other day, when Mr. Foster was enquiring about the famous "Arctic," supplies for which were once the subject of a fierce debate.

"Has the vessel gone down?" asked Mr. Foster. "Or what has happened to her?"

"She has not gone down. She has gone up," punned the Premier. "She has gone up to the northern waters."

"Does the Prime Minister know," queried North Toronto's question mark, "what quantity of anchors and chains he took up to chain those islands that he discovered and put a flag on?"

"No," answered Sir Wilfrid, "he chained them to the North Pole."

An Apology Due and Forthcoming.

An illiterate young man once got a friend to write a letter for him to his sweetheart. The letter was rather prosaic for a love letter, and the lover felt that an apology was due to his sweetheart for its lack of tender nothings. It was added at his suggestion as follows:

"Please excuse the mildness of this here letter, as the chap wot's ritin it is a married man, and he says he carn't 'bide any soft soapings. It allus gives him the strazzums."

Welcomer of Kings.

THE "KING OF KINGS."

Menelik of Abyssinia Is a Benevolent Old Gentleman.

The Emperor Menelik the Second, the ruler of Abyssinia, is reported to be dying. Some correspondents even go the length of declaring that His Majesty is dead, and that the fact of his death having already taken place is being kept secret until some decision can be come to as to who shall succeed him.

These rumors have been flying about since last October, but it is safe to disregard them until more definite news is sent by Sir John Harrington, the British Minister at the Abyssinian Court.

It is probable that Menelik holds the kingly record for early rising, for he gets up at three o'clock in the morning. He goes to early morning chapel, and by six o'clock receives the reports of his secretaries.

He is a most fatherly monarch, and rules his subjects with a firm hand. When one of his chiefs or officials has displeased him. Menelik summons the offender to his presence; but, instead of casting him into some dungeon to pine away and die, the energetic old man administers prompt chastisement with a stout cane.

Nor do the common people escape his paternal care. The palace at Adis Abeba stands on a crest of a hill and dominates the entire city. The Emperor has had a tower of observation specially built from which a good view can be got of all the principal streets and open spaces.

At one time he kept a number of full-grown lions in the grounds of the palace. These wild animals were allowed to wander about free and unrestrained, much to the terror of foreigners and visitors generally.

Another Imperial pet was an elephant that used to wander about the city. It was this animal that nearly threw the French explorer, Buffet, into a fit.

He was sitting down to his evening meal when suddenly a dark form blocked the door of the cabin, and in less time than it takes to tell every scrap of food, including a dish of potatoes, an omelette, and a chicken, had vanished from the table and into the elephant's throat. Unfortunately, when the animal tried to withdraw, its head got stuck, and it simply walked off with the frail cabin resting on its shoulders like a straw hat.

When Buffet went wailing to the Emperor the latter laughed till the tears flowed.

He was particularly pleased with the British mission that was sent out to him under Mr. (now Sir) Rennell Rodd, and with the presents they took to him.

Mr. Rodd mentioned that he had intended to bring out a set of Rontgen Rays apparatus, but at the last moment the idea fell through.

"I am very sorry," said the Emperor, "for I particularly wish to see the invention."

When Mr. Rodd went on to explain that the reason the apparatus was left behind was because some people had feared he might be treated as one dealing in black magic, the Emperor was intensely amused.

At a time when blank cartridges were unknown in Abyssinia, an American Mission presented a quantity to His Majesty, together with a rifle.

The Emperor solemnly loaded the weapon and levelled the rifle at a group of officials. Instantly there was a stampede for dear life with the Emperor's new rifle bang, banging at their backs.

The Emperor's real title is "Negus Nagasti"—"King of Kings."

Reminders.

Many are the methods to which busy men resort in order to remind them to write that letter, to buy those ribbons, to keep that appointment with Jackson. One ties a piece of tape around his walking stick, a second knots his handkerchief, a third puts his loose cash in an unaccustomed pocket.

A very successful plan is that of a shrewd man of business. A liberal dose of pepper or snuff spread over his handkerchief greets his olfactory nerves whenever he extracts it from his pocket And then he exclaims, "That reminds me"—

Another effective method is to place your finger rings on your key ring. By this means you are not only reminded of that "something" by the absence of your rings from your finger, but every time you use your keys the fact is forced upon your attention.

Phil May's Retort.

Mr. H W. Lucy ("Toby, M.P."), in his entertaining reminiscences, says it was Phil May's custom to plaster his coal-black hair close to his head, flat over the forehead. Mr. Lucy's hair, on the contrary, has a "lifelong constitutional habit" of standing straight up. One night, after leaving the Punch dinner-table, Mr. Lucy laid his hand on the head of his friend and said, "My dear Phil, why do you do your hair like that?" May looked round with one of his quaint smiles, but said nothing. Next week there appeared sketches of Phil May with his hair bristling at all points, and of Mr. Lucy with his rebellious locks plastered down in May's peculiar style. The legend ran: "First Genius to Second Genius 'Why on earth do you do your hair in that absurd fashion, Smith?'"

One Way Out.

Uncle Mose, needing money, sold his pig to a wealthy northern lawyer who had just bought the neighboring plantation. After a time, needing more money, he stole the pig and resold it, this time to Judge Pickens, who lived "down the road a piece." Soon afterward the two gentlemen met and upon comparing notes suspected what had happened. They confronted Uncle Mose The old darky cheerfully admitted his guilt.

"Well," demanded Judge Pickens, "what are you going to do about it?"

"Blessed ef I know, jedge," replied Uncle Mose, with a broad grin. "I's no lawyer. I reckon I'll have to let yo' two gen'men settle it between yo'selves."

The Best Way.

Old Ben Franklin was about the wisest product this country ever produced, and he never said anything much better than that the best way to find money is to earn it.—Atchison Globe.

CARBOLIC ACID THROWN IN FACE OF HAVELOCK CITIZEN

Examiner Special.

Havelock, May 19.—The sad news reached here on Wednesday of the death of Miss Eva A Connor of Campbellford, on Tuesday. "Eva" was favourably known in town, having visited here on many occasions, and her many friends are heart-stricken with sorrow, to think of such a young life taken away. The kindest sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents, who are left to mourn the loss of a sweet, kind, and loving daughter.

About forty of the school friends of Miss Gladys McWilliams assembled at her home on Wednesday evening, and tendered her a farewell before she leaves for Cobalt, and during the course of the evening presented her a handsome gold locket and chain, as a slight remembrance of their love and esteem for her, and to remind her of the happy school-days spent in Havelock. It was accompanied by the following address, written by the principal of the school, Mr. Nelson, who was also present:

To Miss Gladys McWilliams—

We, your friends and schoolmates, here assembled, learn with much regret that you are about to leave your present home, and go to a far-away town to reside It is with mingled feelings that we come to-night to spend this evening in pleasant and enjoyable social intercourse with you; feeling of sorrow and regret at your departure, but also of hopefulness that you may meet with many joys and successes in your future hame, as well as many true friends.

In token of your esteem and appreciation for your many lovable qualities, and to show you that it is no empty thing we ask you to accept this little gift from your many young friends of Havelock. In your new surroundings we trust that you may find very many of the real enjoyments of life, but we would also ask you not to forget your many friends of your school days.

Signed on behalf of your friends and schoolmates, Master Wilfred Waller and Miss Leta Herrington.

Mr. Andy Ormiston, manager of the Red Cross drug store, has installed a handsome three-panelnatural oak wall case in connection with his ice cream soda fountain. The wall case is the work of Mr. Harrison Curtis, of town, and it is certainly a fine piece of workmanship. Mr. Armiston opened up for the summer Saturday last.

The Matrans, of Havelock, intend giving a ball in the opera house on Friday evening, May 21st, to which invitations will be issued.

Mrs. Wm. Barlen and son, Master Clifford, of Toronto, are the guests of Mrs. Ed. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ghent spent Friday last in Toronto.

Mrs. A. McWilliams and family leave next week to join Mr. McWillians at Cobalt, where he has secured a good situation.

Mr. Liddon, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. McGregor.

Miss Gertie Squire, of Norwood, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Squire, on Wednesday.

Mr. Jack Malloy was taken to his home, at Smith Falls, on the Wednesday noon train. His condition is so serious that it was necessary that Dr. Crawford should accompany him on the journey.

Miss Gladys Cain was removed from the hospital to Mrs. Hicks' residence on Tuesday, and will remain there a week before going to her home at Sharlot Lake. We are glad to report her rapidly recovering after her operation for appendicitis.

Dr. R. J Fraser, of Lakefield, was in town last week, assisting Dr. Holdcroft in an operation.

Mr. C. N. Peeling, of Campbellford, brother of Mr. Peeling, of town, has recently completed his course at Queen's University, obtaining the degrees of Bachelor of Science and the new degree in power development. The work in the latter course combines that of electrictl engineering and civil enginecrinfi, and is especially adopted to construction work.

A special meeting of the Electric Light Co. will be held in the town hall on the afternoon of Monday next, when important business will be transacted.

MR. LARRY CONNORS HAS GONE TO NEW ONTARIO

Will Work a Mining Claim This Summer.

Mr. Larry Connors and Mr. David Crowley have gone to New Ontario to work several mining shares which the former holds. The claim is located between Larder Lake and Gowganda, and from all accounts the prospects of a find are fairly good, as the country around is well veined with silver and other minerals. Mr. Connors who has been in the employ of the Street Railway Co. resigned his position and will not return to Peterborough until late in the fall, probably in November.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE OF A FAITHLESS HUSBAND

Throws Himself From a Fifth Storey Window and Falls at the Feet of His Wife in the Street Below—Was Instantly Killed.

Special to The Examiner.

Paris, May 19.—A dramatic suicide has taken place in the Rue de Greneta. Jean Casimir Vabre, aged 44, deserted his wife a week or so ago, and took up his abode with another woman. The lawful wife found out where he was living, and vowed she would win him back. She presented herself at the house where he was living, accompanied by a young apprentice, whom she sent up to the fifth floor to ask her husband to come down.

The child delivered her message, and then, her curiosity aroused by the sounds of a quarrel, looked through the keyhole of the door. She saw M. Vabre advance towards the door, and the woman with whom he was living bar the way, holding out her arms entreatingly.

Then he turned suddenly towards the open window, and threw himself out, falling at the feet of his wife, who was awaiting him in the street below. He was picked up quite dead.

Attempt To Rescue The Three Hundred Passengers Of "Mongolian" A Failure

Examiner Special (2:45 p.m.)

St. Johns, Nfld., May 20.—An attempt to take off the mail and 500 passengers of the Allan Liner Mongolian failed to-day. Surrounded on every side by great masses of ice and ice bergs, gripped firmly in the tightening ice floes with the wind blowing almost a gale toward the land, the liner, unless the wind dies out is liable to be crushed by the irresistable pressure of the ice against her sides. While the passengers are in peril, it is possible for them to escape over the ice floes, should it be necessary to abandon the ship.

Teachers Of City And County Are Holding Conventions In Peterborough To-day

The annual conventions of both the City and County Teachers' Associations are being held in Peterborough, the sessions commencing this morning. The county pedagogues held a session in the Normal School, while the city teachers met in the Collegiate Institute. There were large attendances at both meetings this morning. This afternoon there will be a joint session in the Collegiate Institute, and this evening the two bodies will meet together in the same place, when an address will be given by Rev. Canon Cody, of Toronto.

The County Teachers' Association assembled in the Normal School Hall this morning at 10 a.m., with the president, Mr. Joseph Frappy, in the chair.

The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were confirmed.

Miss McGregor reported the proceedings of the O. E. A. She gave a full report of the resolutions adopted by the Public School Department, dealing with: (a) A new curriculum; (b) New public school readers; (c) Public school leaving examinations; (d) Teachers' certificates; (e) The advisory council; (f) Public school regulations; (g) Super annuation of teachers; (h) The local associations; (i) The public press. Miss McGregor gave an excellent account of the proceedings. Her paper showed preparation and thought.

Inspectors Brown and Lees made some well chosen remarks on the report. Mr. Brown spoke briefly on promotion examinations and urged teachers not to promote pupils before they were fit for promotion.

The annual convention of the City Teachers' Institute began this morning the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute and was well attended. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, and notice of a motion to appoint a paid secretary was introduced. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance on hand. The President of the Teachers' Institute, Mr. W. J. Dunlop, gave a very interesting address in which the matter of the education of the dull pupil was the principal feature. In the discussion which followed, several schemes tending to the development of slow and dull pupils were suggested. There is a possibility that the near future will see either a system of separate instruction of these pupils or more individual instruction. The appointment of the nominating committee was the next order of business and one representative from each of the city schools was selected. Mr. H. A. Glenney read a very instructive paper on the treatment of English Grammar. He also introduced a special question, namely, the teaching of the subjects not required for entrance examinations. History, he thought should not have been dropped from the list of necessary subjects. An interesting discussion led by Messrs. S. J. Stubbs and W. O'Brien followed. The introduction of the penny bank was discussed by the principals of the different schools and a committee composed of the above, assisted by the inspector of the local Public Schools and the superintendent of the Separate Schools was appointed to meet the representative of the Penny Bank System and look into the matter.

A joint meeting of the City and County Teachers is being held at the Normal School this afternoon.

Skin Grafted From Boy's Arm And Thigh To Be Used On Finger

An important operation has been made on the hands of Norman Munroe, aged 9, one of the wards of the Children's Aid Society at present at the Children's Shelter. The third and fourth fingers on each hand were closely webbed together, having been in that condition since his birth. The the third finger, as stated above, is the same length as the little finger, and the skin has hardened into that shape. The operation of separating the webbed fingers has been successful. It was necessary to graft skin from the boy's thigh. On one hand, the thord finger, as stated above, is bent, and to give it the proper usefulness the hardened skin will be cut away in order that the third joint may be enabled to act properly, and will not be held by the old skin. When this is done more skin will be taken from his arm and grafted to the finger. The Society is doing everything possible to make the little fellow's hand as natural as possible.

Law Student Goes To Jail For Smearing Statue With Paint

Special to The Examiner.

Paris, May 22.—M. Armand Hubert, a law student, and one of the King's Hawkers, who was arrested some time ago in connection with the outrage of the Scheurer-Kestner monument in the Luxembourg Gardens, was tried recently. The prisoner declared that he was innocent of the offence, but the red paint stains which were discovered on his clothes and hands at the time of his arrest, were evidently considered sufficient proof of his guilt, for he was sentenced to a year's imprisonment, and to pay a fine of £20.

The authorities still fear that the Camelots du Roi are planning further outrages against other statues in the public places of Paris. Three policemen are watching night and day the statue of the Chevalier de la Barre, in front of the Sacre Coeur.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT.

Anything associated with fish or their element, intensifies the "longbow" proclivities of the Mail and Empire. In yesterday's issue it said that Hon. L. P. Broddeur, in the House of Commons "alleged for the second time" that the Waterways Treaty was made public by Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works for Ontario, and prints Dr. Reaume's denial of this statement. He could very well deny it for such a charge was never made by Mr. Brodeur. The Mail and Empire knows very well that no such charge was laid, it knows that Dr. Reaume was charged with having published in the Ontario Gazette draft regulations drawn up by Dr. Starr Jordan, the United States Commissioner, submitted to the Dominion Government under confidence as a private document to be considered with a view of adoption if considered satisfactory; and this Dr. Reaume did. Dr. Reaume was also charged with having represented these proposed regulations to be the regulations approved by the Joint Commission; and this Dr. Reaume did. The fact was that they were not signed by Prof. Prince, the Canadian Commissioner, and it was unlikely that they would be adopted. Dr. Reaume and his apologists at Ottawa cannot escape criticism by his denial of what he was not charged with doing, making the same mistake in this regard that he did in declaring that the draft regulations which were not adopted and unlikely to be adopted, were the regulations adopted by the joint commission. Dr. Reaume must have been mistaken, but the Mail and Empire was—normally mendacious—itself.

Mark how a plain tale shall put you down.—Shakespeare.

THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR.

The Toronto Star thus discourses about the creation and manning of a Dominion Department of Labour:

In the creation of the new Department of Labour there is involved a question broader than the gratifying of personal ambition, broader than party advantage, broader than the pleasing of ay class in the community. It is a question of the character of Canadian civilization. The material progress of Canada is assured. But more vital than the material progress of Canada is the condition of the masses of the Canadian people, the workers in the fields and the forests, in the mines and the factories. The test of the civilization is the home. Is it supplied with the comforts and refinements of life? Is its atmosphere one of hope and ambition? Are the children at school, or are they toiling in factories before their minds and bodies are fit for the battle of life? Where the homes of the great masses of the people will stand this test, civilization is a success. Where they will not stand the test, where many people live in dark and unwholesome tenements and in slums, where child labour and other incidents of industrial slavery exist, civilization is a failure, though statistics show the nation rolling in wealth.

From this point of view two departments of the Government stand out as of paramount importance: the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Labour. The main purpose of these departments is not to please farmers and mechanics, nor is it to increase the gains of agriculture and industrial pursuits. It is to maintain and to raise the standard of living in the country and in the city. On these departments, more than on any others, rests the work of advancing civilization. They are deeply interesting to the students of social and political problems. For upon the freedom and comfort and development of the workers of Canada will depend the quality of the citizenship of Canada, and the strength of the nation, whether in peace or in war.

Will anyone deny that Mr. Mackenzie King is qualified by virtue of his able management of a sub-department, to administer the Department of Labour?

WOMEN AND THEIR HATS.

The Grimsby Independent jocularly refers to women's hats in church, but in a manner to suggest differentation of the church-going habits of men and women respectively. It says:

> "If the preachers are wise they will let the ladies wear their hats in church, because without the hats the ladies would soon lose interest in the church, and without the ladies in the church the doors would soon be locked."

It is all very well to make fun at the expense of women's head gear—and it is the most hideous and absurd since mother Eve introduced the fig-leaf trousseau—yet, to speak figuratively, women are the bone and sinew of our church congregations, and the moving spirit and physical essence of all auxiliary church activities. Take women out of the worshipping throngs in our churches, and our smallest church building would hold a good share of the male worshippers. This applies more particularly to week-day and week-night services. Men object to women voting and interesting themselves in public activities; but they are practically willing to allow them to do all the worshipping. Men ,as a rule, seem to be content to drift into heaven in the wake of their wives, to whom they are inclined to delegate the role of pace-makers in the race for the kingdom. With all her imperfections, with all her follies, and they are as numerous as they are charmingly worn; with even their hats—where goodness and purity, cleanness of life and mind; where the tender grace and ennobling refinements, which constitute the charm of human existence, are concerned, women lead by many laps, as is epitomized in the saying: "Last at the cross, first at the sepulchre," the imperishable and immanent type of fidelity and devotion. If we can't have the women without the hats, then long live the hats whether they are round, square, conical, or tree-cornered, hideous or handsome.

Imagine also American and Russian wheat being subjected to a tax Further imagine a hungry deputation waiting on Mr. Lloyd-George and demanding him to remove the tax off their bread, only to be met with the excuse that he could not because of a treaty.

When Mr. Fessenden was prin of the Collegiate he frequently said to cipal of the Collegiate Institute he frequently said to the reporters that when everything was going on smoothly at the Collegiate Institute there was no news to give out; there was only news when something was going wrong. Things must be going swimmingly with President Taft of the United States. His breakfast-menu has not been published for some time and even his name has not appeared in the papers. Now, it was different in the days of Teddy. Teddy kept himself in the spot light, even after dark—day and night—and now that he is shedding the light of his presence on darkest Africa; the enterprising newspaper correspondent makes him kill lions and gnus—hence the news. Meanwhile, Mr. Taft "says nothing, but saws wood."

Since the foregoing went to press a despatch tells us that Mr. Taft's eye is inflamed.

EVOLUTIONARY ENTERPRISE.

The Examiner has frequently dealt in its own way and in various ways with the subject touched upon in the following article reprinted from the Globe.

Less than a decade ago, in 1900 to wit, the late Liberal Government of Ontario sent out a number of expeditions to explore that part of this Province lying north of the waterparting between the St Lawrence and Hudson's Bay water systems. The result of the ensuing explorations has been little short of marvellous. The greatest discovery was the existence of a great tract of arable land, well fitted for farming and about sixteen million acres in area. With a courage that startled the whole community the Ross ministry began as soon as practicable the construction of a railway from North Bay toward Hudson's Bay for the purpose of opening up the country to settlement. Three years later the Dominion Government undertook to secure the construction and operation of the National Transcontinental Railway through the "clay belt," and a year ago the town of Cochrane was founded at the intersection of the two lines.

It has just been announced that a daily passenger, mail, and express service has been inaugurated over the Ontario line between Cochrane and North Bay, the change from the service on alternate days having become necessary on account of the increase of traffic due to the construction of the Transcontinental line. The phenomenally rapid rate at which development has been going on along the line of the railway has been largely due to the discovery of rich deposits of argentiferous ore, and to the reasonable supposition that similar deposits exist in other parts of the surrounding country. The traffic thus created is now very great, sufficiently so to warrant the fuller equipment of the railway and the announced improvement in the service.

Those who are incline dto take a gloomy view of the future of the National Transcontinental Railway would do well to consider the situation in the light fo the improved service on the Temiskaming line. It is just as certain as anything can be that through northern Ontario an enormous traffic will develop with great rapidity. Intending farmers will go in to choose lots and settle on them; prospectors will swarm all over the regions where economic minerals are likely to be found; tourists and sporsmen will flock in immense numbers to enjoy themselves in what will yet be the greatest recreation ground in the world, the sub-Arctic part of Canada; and the lumberman will precede or accompany the settler to furnish him with the material for house-building and to produce both lumber and pulp for exportation.

The occasion is a suitable one for an appreciation of the admirable service rendered to this Province by the Commissioners charged with the task o fconstructing and operating the Ontario and Temiskaming Railway. The Chairmen of the Commission have been in succession Mr. A. E. Ames, Senator Jaffray, and Mr. J. L. Engelhart, and the best proof of the intelligence and integrity with which their work has been done is the fact that not a single complaint has ever been brought against them of their colleagues for alleged mismanagement, not to say suspected wrongdoing. The transactions of the Commission have involved very large expenditures of public money and the exploitation of very valuable portions of the public domain, and both kinds of service have been carried on at a minimum of cost and a minimum of efficiency. Both the Ross and the Whitney Government have been fortunate in their selection of Commissioners.

CANADIAN NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY, 1909 EDITION

It Contains Valuable, and Even, Indispensable Information for Advertisers.

According to the 1909 edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory, just out, Canada and Newfoundland can boast of 135 daily papers, 1,015 weekly or semi-weekly, 262 monthly or semi-monthly, and 14 published less frequently.

These figures can be relied on, as the Canadian Newspaper Directory is published by the oldest and largest Advertising Agency in the Dominion, A. McKim, Limited, of Montreal and Toronto. This is the sixth edition of their directory, which fills a very real need in Canada, and deserves a place on the desk of every business man, whether he is an advertiser or not.

In addition to listing and describing Canadian periodicals, the Directory supplies a comprehensive gazetteer, giving the population, the chief industries, the railway, telegraph, banking facilities, and other interesting features of every newspaper city, town and village in Canada.

The book contains over 430 pages. It is splendidly bound and is certainly a credit alike to the publishers and to Canadian newspapers generally.

A. McKim, Limited, are particularly well qualified to edit and publish this, the standard book of reference on Canadian publications. They are the pioneers in the Advertising Agency field in the Dominion, the McKim agency having been founded in Montreal in January, 1889, twenty years ago, by Mr. Anson McKim, who is still at the head of the business.

During all this time they have been the acknowledged leaders in this line in Canada, and the Agency business has been developed from a very small beginning—then performing only the functions of the middle man—to a very large producing enterprise which runs into the millions.

Years ago McKims recognized that one of the requisites for successful advertising is a thorough knowledge of advertising mediums, and they began the publication of the Canadian Newspaper Directory, which is now recognized as the most complete and accurate work of the kind published.

The price, express or postage prepaid, is $2.00.

SHE COULD NOT HOLD A TEACUP

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. James H. White.

They Took Away Her Backache, Cured Her Urinary Trouble and Made Her a Well Woman.

Prevelle, Gaspe Co., Que., May 19.—Special.—After suffering for four years from ills, which many a woman knows, and being treated by a doctor who failed to give her relief. Mrs. James H. White, a farmer's wife living near here, is again a well woman. Dodd's Kideny Pills cured her.

"My trouble started from a strain," Mrs. White states. "I had a pain always across my back and a steady pain in the back of my neck, and I had urinary trouble that caused me a great deal of annoyance.

"For four years I suffered in this way and the doctor I consulted did not do me any lasting good. In the morning I was dizzy and I finally got so nervous I could not hold a cup.

"Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I got relief right from the start. Three boxes cured me completely. To-day I am a well woman."

Mrs. White's troubles were Kidney troubles. So are the troubles of nine out of ten of the suffering women of Canada to-day. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

PUT UP TENTS FOR VISITING SOLDIERS

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons commenced this morning to put up the tents in Central Park for the purpose of sheltering the visiting regiments from Brantford and St. Catharines that will spend Sunday and Monday here. The tents are very large, some of them being 100 by 50 feet.

Had Heart Trouble and Shortness of Breath For Six Years.

Was Weak and Thin—Only Weighed Seventy-three Pounds. , Now Weighs One Hundred and Thirteen.

When you find your heart the least bit out of rhythm, your nerves unhinged, your breath short, don't wait until you are prostrated on a bed of sickness. Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They'll put you in such condition you'll never know you have a heart, make your nerves strong and your whole being thrill with new life. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured Mrs. K. E. Bright, Burnley, Ont. She writes: "I was greatly troubled, for six years, with my heart and shortness of breath. I could not walk eighty rods without resting four or five times in that short distance. I got so weak and thin I only weighed seventy-three pounds. I decided at last to take some of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking eight boxes I gained in strength and weight, and now weigh one hundred and thirteen pounds, the most I ever weighed in my life. I feel well and can work as well as ever I did, and can heartily thank Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for it all."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Will Observe the Law.

Brockville, May 20.—Believing that observance of the liquor license laws of this province will stem the tide of local option so far as Brockville is concerned, the hotelkeepers met last night and not only bound themselves by hard and fast resolutions to strictly keep hotel, but decided to support the hands of the inspector in maintaining the law.

If they prove as good as their word, there will be no whisky sold during prohibited hours, neither will the bartenders be permitted to serve up the hot stuff to intoxicated persons, or those on the "Indian list," on pain of dismissal.

Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, was requested to have a law passed providing that photographs of persons on the prohibited list be furnished every license holder in Ontario, to ensure the better observance of the law in that respect.

Fire at Welland.

Welland, Ont., May 20.—Fire from an unknown cause broke out in the barns of the Whaley House at 2.30 yesterday afternoon and did damage of about $6,000. The barn and contents, including a valuable carriage horse owned by Harvey Dawdy, were destroyed. The Twentieth Century Rink adjoining caught fire and the flames carried along the bunting in the walls and ceiling to the opposite end and burned down the half remote from the barn. The warerooms and offices of the Builders' Lumber & Supply Co. were gutted and $3,000 worth of flooring and paint destroyed. The loss on the rink, which is almost total, is $3,000. The rink is owned by A. Griffiths, and is uninsured. The lumber company are protected by insurance, and on the barn there was $8,000 in the London Mutual.

C.P.R. Tunnel.

Field, B.C., May 20.—In a few weeks the famous Big Hill at Field, with its terrific grade, its safety switches, and its banks of half-charred cinders, will be a thing of the past as far as the C.P.R. is concerned.

For twenty-five years it has been a bugbear to the company. On Wednesday last the separating rock of the second of the spiral tunnels between Field and Hector was broken through. The two bores met within a fraction of an inch. Nothing much now remains to be done except to lay the steel through the tunnelling over the new roadbed in connection with it.

Will Ask Abdul to Disgorge.

Constantinople, May 20.—The grand vizier has chosen a small committee to visit Abdul Hamid, the deposed Sultan, and ask him to give up to the present Government the various sums of money he has on deposit in foreign countries. This committee will remind Abdul Hamid that his life was spared and will be spared; that the Government allows him $5,000 a month for his maintenance, and that it is only just that he should return the money drawn from the country. It is expected that Abdul Hamid will consent.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat's bronchial tubes and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage.

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

Catarrhozone
Guaranteed to Cure

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case. 25c., 50c., and $1.00 sizes. Sold by all dealers. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

BOLD DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

Two Men Pillage Truro, N.S., Express Office.

Truro, N.S., May 20.—There was great excitement in Truro yesterday afternoon when it became known that the clerk employed by the Canadian Express Co. had been held up at 1 o'clock by two strange men while alone in his office, and the safe robbed of cash and valuables amounting to $1,500.

Agent Linton was away to dinner at the time, and Burgess, his assistant, had charge of the office which is situated in the I.C.R. baggage building. Burgess was washing ink bottles when the men entered and proceeded to go through the safe. Burgess remonstrated, when one of the men drew a revolver, put it to his head, and told him to keep quiet or he'd shoot. Burgess shut up.

The other desperado swiftly went through the safe, taking everything in sight, hurriedly left the building and crossed the railway yards in the direction of Victoria Park, the other continuing to hold up the messenger till his pal was out of sight, when he left, going quickly in the same direction.

Lumbermen's Officers.

Ottawa, May 20.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association concluded yesterday with the election of officers as follows:

President, Gordon C. Edwards, Ottawa; vice-presidents, J. E. Miller, Toronto; H. J. Bartlett, Orillia; J. C. Browne, Ottawa; J. C. Gillies, Braeside; L. McLaurin, Montreal; J. J. McFadden, Toronto; E. W. Avery, Ottawa; D. H. McLennan, Montreal; Wm. Power, Quebec; E. H. Lemay, Montreal; F. M. Faldie, Toronto; Angus McLean, Little Cascapedia, Que.; W. Price, Quebec; secretary, F. Hawkin, Ottawa; treasurer, R. G. Cameron, Ottawa; legislation committee, W. C. Hughson, Ottawa; H. K. Egan, Ottawa; J. C. Browne, Ottawa; P. Whelan, Ottawa; W. Power, Quebec; E. McLaurin, Montreal; R. M. Beckett, Quebec; D. J. Turner, Toronto; H. J. Bartlett, Orillia; W. D. Lumnis, Toronto.

Two Cars Jumps Bank.

North Bay, May 20.—No. 97 westbound C.P.R. express, with a big passenger list, met with an accident at Red Sucker, near Jackfish, 434 miles west of North Bay, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

From some unknown cause the baggage car and express car jumped the rails and plunged down the steep embankment, the engine and other cars fortunately staying on the rails. The express car was demolished and Messenger Demere, of Montreal, was severely injured, but will recover. Engineer Ben Ward of White River was injured, but not seriously. Passengers were severely shaken up. Traffic was delayed eight hours.

Aylesworth for England.

Ottawa, May 20.—At two o'clock yesterday morning Hon. A. B. Aylesworth announced that he would proceed to England next week to prepare Canada's case in the fisheries dispute which has been referred to The Hague tribunal, and that Sir Robert B. Finlay would be the leading counsel for Canada and Newfoundland.

Mr. Foster forcibly objected to J. S. Ewart, K.C., being sent to assist, he having constantly given expression to anti-British views.

Norman B. Wormith, M.A., of Kingston, employed in the Archives Department, will also be one of the party.

'Phone Companies Won't Connect.

Port Hope, May 20.—The three rural 'phone companies will not connect in Hope Township, as a result of yesterday afternoon's meeting of the township council.

The companies said they would connect if forced to, and council refused to do the forcing. Reeve Dickinson and Councillor Edwards voting for the move and Councillors Caldwell, Martyn and Greenaway against. For some time the companies have expressed a willingness to connect on a five cent basis.

Kaiser Decorates New Yorkers.

New York, May 20.—Emperor William, in connection with the exhibition of German contemporary art recently held at the Metropolitan Museum, has presented to J. Pierpont Morgan, president of the museum, a portrait bearing his signature; to Director Sir C. Purdon Clarke and Hugo Reisinger, the commander's cross of the Order of the Crown of Prussia, and to Edward Robinson, assistant director, the officer's cross of the Order of the Red Eagle.

Police Chief Resigns.

St. Catharines, May 20.—At a special meeting of the police commission yesterday afternoon Chief Parnall tendered his resignation, which was immediately accepted, Sergt McCarthy being appointed chief pro tem.

No action was taken on petitions received from citizens, one asking for the reinstatement of Parnall, the other asking that Col. Carlisle be appointed chief.

Sunday Cars For Brantford.

Brantford, May 20.—The first move to establish a Sunday car service in this city will be made by the Street Railway Co. on Sunday next when cars will be run over the city lines regularly to Mohawk Park. The management announced yesterday that it had that legal right and it intended to use it. The Lord's Day Alliance will try to stop it.

Manslaughter Charged.

Chesterville, May 20.—Isaac Garlough, farmer, aged 40, must stand trial on a charge of manslaughter, resulting from the shooting of Ross Backstead, aged 18, last Thursday night.

A coroner's jury Tuesday night found that the youth "came to his death from a gunshot wound" at the hands of the accused. Yesterday afternoon Magistrate Clement committed him for trial at the next assizes at Cornwall.

Abbey Bars Meredith.

London, May 20.—The Westminster authorities have declined permission to places the ashes of George Meredith in the abbey. An appeal to the dean to this end was strongly supported by the Society of Authors, representing all the leading writers, by Premier Asquith, Lord Morley, Rudyard Kipling and James M. Barrie. Mr. Barrie made a personal appeal to the dean, but in vain.

Threw Messenger In Chest.

Augusta, Ga., May 20.—Two robbers boarded southern passenger train No. 17 at Warrenville, S.C., ten miles east of here, knocked the express messenger senseless with a piece of rubber hose and ransacked the car, after throwing the messenger in an empty express chest.

HAD CONTRACT OF ELECTRIC WIRING

The New Armouries are Lighted by System Installed by F. R. J. MacPherson & Co.

The contract of the plumbing and electric wiring of the new Armouries has been recently completed by F. R. J. MacPherson & Co., and has been inspected. The result has been most satisfactory and complimentary from the contractors' standpoint. The inspection was passed "with flying colours" not a flaw being found. The contractors were complimented upon their successful and careful work. The electrical contract is stated to be the biggest that has ever been let in Peterborough. The conduit system was used throughout The lights include arcs, and incandescents and throughout many chandelieres have been installed. The switch board in itself required considerable attention and is practically the key of the lighting of the whole building.

Tea grown at an elevation of 5,000 feet is used in "Salada." It is remarkably fine flavoured and its absolute purity is guaranteed. Ask your grocer for a packet. 151

BE A CHARMING WOMAN

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charms of a beautiful woman lie in her hair. Many women do not realise the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the care of the hair.

The women of the "400" are famed for their beauty, not because their facial features are superior to those of other women, but because they know how to keep young by supplying vigour, lustre, and strength to the hair.

Up to a few years ago Parisian Sage could hardly be obtained in America. But now this delightful hair restorer can be had in every town in America. Wm. Madill sells it in Peterborough for 50 cents a bottle, and he guarantees it to grow beautiful, luxuriant hair; to turn dull, lifeless hair into lustrous hair; to stop falling hair; to stop itching scalp. Understand, Mr. Madill will give you your money back if it fails.

Seymour Power Co. Will Quote Price On Block Of Power For The City's Use

Will Develop 4000 H. P. in August and Ultimately Will Have 20,000 H. P. for Sale—Want to Sell Wholesale Power to Peterboro Providing Satisfactory Arrangements Can be Secured.

TALKED OVER SITUATION

The Special Power Committee met a deputation representing the Seymour Power and Electric Co. last night, and while nothing definite was done the discussion was such that some understanding may be definitely arrived at in the near future. The deputation was composed of Messrs. A. A. Mullholland, A. B. Caldwell, and J. G. G. Kerry, of Campbellford. The company is completing the erection of power plant which will develop 4,000 h.p. and with two other dams to be utilized they ultimately expect to develop 20,000 h.p. They are now desirous of closing a desirable contract in order to sell the power which they will have ready for delivery by August. The committee have asked for a figure for a block of the power to be delivered in Peterborough and this will be given in a week or two.

Alderman McIntyre occupied the chair and called the meeting to order to hear what the visitors had to present.

The Situation

Mr. Kerry stated that their main object was to find out what the situation was. They wanted to know if they could obtain permission to run their power into the city and also they wished to find out if there was likely to be any demand for their power.

Alderman Phelan stated that there would be a demand for power if the price was satisfactory. Alderman Morrow stated that the city would like to know how much power the company could spare.

The rate upon which they would sell their power depended upon the business they were likely to have and also to the arrangements under which they could enter the city.

Mr. Mullholland stated that a by-law would be necessary before they could run their lines in. Alderman Morrow asked if a by-law would be necessary if the company could use the poles of another company already in the city. It was considered that in this case if separate arms were placed on the poles a by-law would be unnecessary and the scheme would work out perfectly.

Mr. Kerry said the company would not be ready to deliver power until August. They were developing 4,000 h.p with a head of 23 feet. He suggested that one method of serving Peterborough would be to deliver the power to some company already in the city and they could deliver it.

If a contract were received from the city early enough they would be in a position to deliver in a year or so, about 5,000 h.p. The company would be developing power at three dams. It is ultimately expected that they will be able to develop 20,000 h.p.

City's Position

"We can conclude that at a reasonable price the company would be willing to do business with the city." The company wanted to know what the permanency of the demand would likely be, also the cost of delivery in the city. A line to Peterborough would cost about $100,000 and before any decision were reached to come to the city the expected business would first be carefully considered.

Mr. Kerry said the company desired to know what the demand for power was likely to be in the city during the next two years.

Alderman Gillespie stated that the extra demand would have to come from new industries. At present the demand was not in excess of the supply. He suggested that they make an offer of a certain number of horse power, say 1,000 h.p. to be delivered to the city. The council would like to have an estimate of the cost of delivery to a substation located here. This suited the company as they did not wish to get into a local distribution system. They preferred to sell en bloc, in other words to sell wholesale to the city, and the latter could look after the local delivery.

To Alderman Hicks, Mr. Carey stated that in about two weeks they would be able to give to the city their estimate of the cost of delivery to a substation here.

Alderman Hicks remarked that the situation appeared to be whether it would be more advantageous for the city to manufacture its own power or to buy it from the company. The whole matter was gone over, but nothing definite was arrived at except that the company will present their estimated cost of delivery of power to Peterborough.

Bread Is 20 Cents A Small Loaf And Butter 50 Cents In Gowganda

Examiner Special.

Gowganda, May 20.—The town is quiet just now, between seasons. It is two weeks since a team came in from outside, though a score of people come in or go out every day, walking to Elk Lake and Charlton. The ice on the lakes is solid and safe, and by walking round the water holes in the road on the crusted snow the travelling is passable. The question of transportation will be a serious one this summer, at best the canoe routes will not be easy, and only those who are ready to face the hardships of at least four or five days canoeing with frequent and sometimes long portaging will make the trip. Thousands of people who would come here this summer if the place were reasonably accessible will be kept away. To transport any considerable quantity of freight either way will be an expensive matter. It is devoutly to be hoped that the Ontario Government, who get so much out of this country, are awake to the situation, and will lose no time in making every temporary means of access as easy and useful as possible by having the best route for canoes selected, and the portages all cut out and cleaned up. People who know the country say that instead of the long and difficult trip up and down the branches of the Montreal River, there is a much shorter and easier trip by way of Lady Evelyn Lake. This route should be at once carefully investigated, and if a good one, put into condition.

The Price of Food

Retail prices in this camp cannot be said to be exorbitant; on a general average I would place them at about double the Toronto prices for staples. Flour sells for $8 to $9 per hundred pounds; hams and bacon 35 cents to 45 cents per pound; butter 50 cents per pound; bread is 20 cents per small loaf, two loaves for 35 cents, or three loaves for 50 cents; coal oil costs 80 cents per gallon; clothing of all kinds and hardware are plentifully stocked, and these goods are not held at excessive figures. There is no evidence as yet of any scarcity in any particular line. Fancy prices are asked for some line of semi-luxuries, but considering the expense of transportation, the camp cannot be said to be a dear one. The usual charge for living at the hotels is $2 per day.

Has Neglected To Send Her Children To School Regularly

Alex. Windover was charged at the police court this morning, with neglecting to send his boy of eleven years and his girl of nine, to school. Windover did not appear, his wife being present in his place. She said that her husband was away in the back country and she did not know when he would be home.

Truant Officer George Cochrane had a report from Inspector Mowat which showed that the Windover children hadn't been at school only about half the time since the first of January. The girl, Mr. Cochrane said, was kept at home to mind a baby, while the mother was obliged to go out to work.

His Worship enlarged the case until to-morrow morning, when the boy will be brought before the magistrate.

FLOATING ISLANDS IN RICE LAKE REPORTED TO HAVE DONE DAMAGE

On Sunday evening, a large floating island, which had been floating around Rice Lake for the last two or three weeks, came down the river breaking up in large pieces at the railroad bridge. A couple of good sized islands are fastened onto the bar opposite the Radiator, but, one block carried away two piers with it, on the north side of the river and one is stranded on the pier just at the locks. A number of pieces about 20 feet square ran down into the power house race and caused considerable inconvenience. On the north side of the river, there are now no glance booms, for about two hundred yards and any craft making a landing is in considerable danger.—Hastings Star.

The Free Methodist annual camp meeting will not be held here this summer, as it has in the past two years. They will gather at Bell Haven on the sixteenth of June, and the services will continue until the twenty-third. It is expected that there will be a large number from the local mission that will attend. Bell Haven is situated about twelve miles from Stouffville

Crop Conditions In County Are Reported Very Favourable

The crop outlook throughout the county is much better than has been generally thought and the farmers, quite pessimistic at all times, feel, that with favourable weather the growth will be rapid and the harvest all that could be desired. The fall wheat and clover have done splendidly and in spite of the dry weather last fall these crops are healthy and are standing strong and uniformly.

The seeding has advanced well and in the dry places it is practically all completed. The careful farmer who provided a system by which his land would be drained is now looking over his broad acres with satisfaction for they are under cultivation. The careless man, on the other hand, whose methods are of the slipshod variety, has probably not commenced to seed in part for the water is not all dried off his land. The general report is, therefore, an encouraging one, and at present the indications are that a good season will be experienced.

DOWN WITH THE DUST THE MERCHANTS DEMAND

Merchants, on George street especially, are complaining bitterly of the dust nuisance. Every passing vehicle and street car raises clouds of dust which drift, or are blown, into the shops through the open doors to the great detriment of the goods on their shelves or on display. Of course, the doors might be kept shut; but, after six months of winter-sealed doors, merchants and their staffs want the doors open and the benefit of a few whiffs of fresh air, undiluted with the microbeous and acrid dust of the streets. The merchants want to know why, if there is any system or intelligent supervision of the stretes, the small matter of street watering should not be done, to give the merchants value for the taxes they pay. It is, they say, worse than neglect; it is simple dishonesty, to accept money for services that are not rendered. There is certainly, after the pluvious springtime we have had, no scarcity of water. The merchants try to enforce, in respect of their customers, the motto, "down with the dust," and there is, they claim, as much profit, or as little corresponding loss, in carrying it out in the matter of street dust. The merchants want to know if it is necessary to ring a fire alarm to wake up the Street Department.

INTEND TO FIGHT BANDSMEN'S BOYCOTT

The action of the regimental bands of the Toronto militia in refusing to play at the next Toronto exhibition if the exhibition board persists in the proposal to engage for the fair the non-union bands of the permanent force from Halifax, Quebec and Kingston has brought to a head the question of the non-unionizing of all militia bands. The Militia Department is having an official report made in the matter, and it is not improbable that drastic action will be taken to prevent further undue influence of the musicians' union in connection with military bands. It is probable that union regimental bands will be discriminated against by preventing their accepting any outside engagements.

Rainbow Will Carry Passengers From Hastings and Other Points.

Examiner Special.

Hastings, May 20.—The Rainbow is running a special trip to Peterborough from here on Victoria Day, leaving at 7:30, calling at Birdsall and Robins on the way.

There are to be three regiments in Peterborough on Monday and the new armouries are to be opened by Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works.

The Rainbow will make the trip in about an hour and a half less than in former years, making a good fast trip and leaving Peterborough at 4.30 for home, two hours after the afternoon train.

CHORAL FESTIVAL AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH A SPLENDID SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

Sir John Stainer's Magnificent Oratorio Cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," Capably Presented Last Evening by the Choristers Under the Direction of Mr. R. J. Devey---Superior Chorus Work.

The thanks of the large number of people who attended St. John's Church last evening for the choral festival, given by the church choir is due Mr. R. J. Devey and the members of his splendidly trained and capable organization for a magnificent programme. The work of the choir was a revelation to those who have not heard it recently, assisted as it was by a full orchestra, and superior solo talent. The presentation of Sir John Stainer's oratorio cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," will linger long in the memories of those who were fortunate enough to be present to hear it. The event was a demonstration of what can be done in Peterborough in the way of presenting great musical compositions, as well as of the capability of St. John's choristers and the ability of the leader, Mr. Devey, to whose untiring labours and careful attention a great part of the credit for the success of the presentation must in justice be given.

"The Daughter of Jairus," is a beautiful cantata affording magnificent opportunities for ensemble work as well as affording scope for the soloists and of these opportunities the fullest advantage was taken last night. The choir was perhaps at its best in the exultant chorus, "Awake Thou That Sleepest," coming near the close of the oratorio, in which the crescendo effects were carefully and effectively worked out. While this was undoubtedly the finest feature of their work the choristers were equally at home in the opening choral recitative, "In That Day," and in the concluding chorus of the first part of the programme, "Who Left His Throne on High." Throughout the choir sang smoothly and well, the voices blending magnificently while the tone qualities and volume were excellent. That they had been carefully trained and had worked faithfully was easily evident, and they are to be congratulated upon the facility with which they handled the choral work of the cantata.

A large part of the solo work fell to Miss Helen Davies, whose splendidly sweet and powerful soprano was frequently called into service during the evening Her numbers were given with an ease, a clarity of ennunciation and a purity of tone that were truly refreshing. Her work needs no greater praise than that she excelled herself last night.

Following was the programme with the names of those taking part:

PART I.

The Sacred Cantata, "Daughter of Jairus," composed by Sir John Stainer.

1. Introduction—The Orchestra.
2. Choral Recitative — "In That Day"—The Choir.
3. (a) Recit — "Behold There Cometh"—Miss Helen Davies. (b) Recit—"My Little Daughter"—Mr. Edward Barton. (c) Recit—"And Jesus Went With Him"—Miss Helen Davies. (d) Chorus of Men—"Trouble Not the Master." (e) Recit—"My Little Daughter Even Now is Dead"—Mr. Edward Barton. (f) Recit — "When Jesus Heard It"—Miss Helen Davies.
4. Song—"My Hope is in the Everlasting"—Mr. George Chandler.
5. (a) Recit—"Then Jesus Cometh" Miss Helen Davies. (b) Chorus of Women—"The Wailing."
6. Recit—"And When Jesus Was Come In" Miss Helen Davies.
7. Chorus of Men—"Chorus of Unbelievers."
8. (a) Recit—"Jesus Put Them All Forth"—Miss Helen Davies. (b) Chorus—"Awake Thou That Sleepest" —The Choir.
9. Duet—"Love Divine"—Miss Helen Davies and Mr. H. W. Morphet.
10. Trio and Chorus—"Who Left His Throne on High"—Miss Helen Davies, Mr. George Chandler, Mr. Edward Barton with Choir, Orchestra and Organ.

PART II.

1. Solo—"Honour and Arms," "Samson"—Mr. Edward Barton, (Handel).
2. Silver Collection.
3. Melody in F., Rubenstein—Orchestra and Organ.
4. Solo—"Come Unto Me," "Messiah"—Miss Helen Davies, (Handel).
5. Chorus — "Hallelujah," "Messiah"—The Choir, Orchestra and Organ.

Ladies—Sopranos and Altos

Mrs. Seward, Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Jos Halpany, Mrs. Hinchliffe, Mrs. G. Evans, Mrs. W. Common, Mrs. Grubbe, Miss Birdie Dawson, Miss Maud Rush, Miss Lulu Seward, Miss Ruth Morrie, Miss L. Martin, Miss Agnes Horsfield, Miss Maggie Flowers, Miss Eleanor Hinchliffe, Miss C. B. Morse.

Boys—Sopranos and Altos

Arthur Horsfield, Cyril Devey, Harry Hill, Allen Kingscote, Harold Devey, John Simmons, Howard Crowe, John Common, Willie Common, Sam Mills, Lorne Conway, Cedric Evans, Rex Evans, John Jones.

Men—Tenors and Basses

Mr. H. W. Morphet, Mr. G. E. Chandler, Mr. A. Kingscote, Mr. W. Coleman, Mr. Suttcliffe, Mr. Leadbetter, Mr. G. Brown, Mr. Myland, Mr. N. Greenhalgh, Mr. J. Halpany, Mr. S. Richardson, Mr. G. Coleman, Mr. A. Flowers, Mr. W. Common, Mr. H. Cluxton, Mr. H. Palmer, Mr. Cartwright.

Soloists

Soprano—Miss Helen Davies.
Tenors—Mr. H. W. Morphet, Mr G. E. Chandler.
Bass—Mr. Edward Barton, Toronto.

The Orchestra

Violins — Mr. George Howarth and Mr. Frank Halpany.
Clarinette—Mr. F. Barnes.
Trumpet—Mr. W. Hughes.
Flute—Mr. J. Butcher.
Contra-Bass—Mr. Cunningham.
Tympani—Mr. Robert Beach.
At the Organ—Miss Maggie Flowers, Mr. M. Kilpack, Mr. R. J. Devey.
Conductor—Mr. Richard J. Devey.

In her solo, "Come Unto Me," from the "Messiah," in the second part of the programme, Miss Davies probably did her finest work.

Mr. Edward Barton, of Toronto, the well-known basso, was heard several times during the oratorio, and in a solo in the second part and distinguished himself in both by his finished and sympathetic interpretation of the spirit of the music. His powerful voice was displayed to fullest advantage in the solo from "Sanson" in the second part.

Mr. Geo. Chandler's splendid tenor was most agreeably used in his solo, "My Hope Is In the Everlasting," which he sang with feeling and effect.

Mr. Herb. Morphet was given an opportunity of which he took full advantage in his duet with Miss Davies, "Love Divine."

The skillful work of Mr. Devey at the organ and the sympathetic playing of the orchestra were features that added much to the merit and enjoyment the production. Mr. Devey was assisted at the organ by Miss Maggie Flowers and Mr. M. Kilpack.

Rev. Canon Davidson opened the service by an impressive reading of the story of the miracle of the "Raising of Jairus' Daughter," from St. Mark's Gospel, and pronounced the benediction at its conclusion.

THISTLES AND DANDRUFF.

An Interesting Parallel and a Valuable Deduction Therefrom.

Cutting down thistles no more relieves the land of thistles than does scouring the scalp cure dandruff. In each case permanent relief can only come from eradicating permanently the cause. A germ that plows up the scalp in searching for the hair root where it saps the vitality, causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness. If you kill that germ, you'll have no dandruff but a luxuriant suit of hair. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation in the world that cures dandruff and falling hair by killing the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FIRST SESSION IS TERMINATED

Parliament Rises After a Four-Month Session.

ANTIPODEANS ARE PRESENT

Press Conference Delegates From Australasia Witness Closing Ceremony—Legislation Enacted Is Referred to In Speech From the Throne and Financial Improvement Is Prophesied.

Ottawa, May 20.—After an unusually short session of four months, Parliament prorogued yesterday, to meet again probably towards the end of October.

The formal ceremony was brilliant, the gay uniforms of the officers in the train of the Governor-General, the court dress of the state officials, and the brilliant costumes of the ladies adding dignity to the event.

In the Senate Chamber were the Australian delegates to the forthcoming press conference in London, as well as several of the Western Canadian representatives.

The Commons met at 3 o'clock, and on being summoned by the usher of the Black Rod, filed into the Senate Chamber and there listened to the proceedings.

Royal assent was given to a number of bills, and the speech from the throne was read by Earl Grey.

His Excellency said in part:

I am pleased to notice that your attention has been engaged in some measures of great importance.

In the first rank of such measures is to be noted the amendment of the railway act, under which by the joint action of the national Government, provincial and municipal authorities, together with the railway companies, level railway crossings are to be gradually removed, and a constant menace to life and property thereby effectually done away with.

The loan of ten million dollars to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company will no doubt ensure the completion during the coming season of the prairie section of the National Transcontinental Railway, and will secure to the fast developing western provinces for this year's crop a new and competitive outlet towards the sea.

The act to place the Department of Labor, which has been in existence for some years, under the direct responsibility of a Minister of the crown, exclusively entrusted with its management, is in accordance with the oft-expressed wishes of labor organizations, and is a further step in a field of legislation wherein Canada has already taken a not unimportant part.

The act charging the Secretary of State with special responsibility in regard to the external affairs of Canada will facilitate the transaction of business in connection with that most important branch of the public service.

The resolution adopted by the House of Commons for the organization of a Canadian naval service, in co-operation to the Imperial navy, is a proper acknowledgment of the duties now appertaining to Canada, as a nation, and as a member of the British Empire.

The financial conditions throughout the world seem to be more hopeful than they were four months ago when I opened this session, and whilst in Canada we have undoubtedly suffered less than other countries during this period of universal depression, it will still be the part of prudence to exercise care and economy in all branches of the service.

TWO MINISTERS GO TO LONDON

Sir Wilfrid Brings Down Correspondence in Commons.

FOSTER MAKES LAST KICK

Opposition Member Says Government's Naval Program Will Take Too Long to Materialize, But Sir Wilfrid Says Canadians Insist on a National Navy Rather Than a Contribution.

Ottawa, May 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday morning presented to the House the correspondence in regard to naval defence, as passed between the Imperial and Federal authorities. The Premier announced that the invitation to the conference in London had been accepted and that two Ministers would go to London when the time arrived.

The correspondence shows that on March 30 Earl Grey forwarded to Lord Crewe particulars of the debate on imperial defence of March 29. On April 28 Lord Crewe acknowledged this despatch, and stated that the Imperial Government noted with much satisfaction the action of the Imperial House.

On April 30 Lord Crewe wrote again, and, after once more expressing satisfaction, he continued:

"I desire to commend to you the following suggestion, namely, that a conference of representatives of the self-governing dominions, convened under the terms of resolution one of the conference of 1907, which provides for such subsidiary conferences, should be held in London early in July.

"The object of the conference would be to discuss the general question of naval and military defence of the Empire, with special reference to the Canadian resolution and to the proposals from Australia and New Zealand, to which I have referred."

EARL CREWE.

In transmitting this message Lord Crewe added:

"I am strongly of the opinion that an early confidential exchange of views between His Majesty's Government and the Governments of His Majesty's self-governing dominions beyond the seas would be of great mutual advantage, and I therefore trust that your Prime Minister and his colleagues will see their way to adopt the proposal."

On May 3 Lord Grey replied:

"The views of the Canadian House of Commons on the question of naval defence have already been expressed.

"In pursuance of the resolution of that body, two of the Ministers, as already announced, will shortly go to London to discuss with the Admiralty the best method of carrying out that resolution. Their visit will probably take place in June, but there will be no objection to postponing it until July if the Imperial authorities prefer such delay."

On May 12 Lord Crewe telegraphed to Lord Grey:

"Your telegram of May 5, I desire in the name of the Prime Minister of His Majesty's Government, to express their gratification at the readiness of the Dominion Government to take part in the conference. I hope that as a result of the communications now proceeding it will be possibly shortly to fix definitely the date for its meeting convenient to all Governments."

After supply had been concurred in, Mr. Foster referred to the resolution passed by the House on March 29, pointing out that the policy therein contained would require some years to carry out, and would be of little avail in the event of an emergency. In this respect, the resolution did not meet the more advanced public opinion on the subject, and was not altogether acceptable to a section of the community. In view of this, would the Premier be disposed to make a fuller statement?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he was aware that the resolution did not suit a certain section of the public opinion. To meet that opinion it would be necessary to make an immediate grant of money or perhaps to build a Dreadnought. While not inclined to agree with that view, he would state that in this matter it was the duty of Canada to act squarely as to her own defence. Just how far we should go, he would not say.

The Government had considered that the best way to give effect to the terms of the resolution was to send Ministers immediately to confer with the Imperial authorities. At this stage the Imperial authorities suggested a conference. Sir Wilfrid then quoted the reply sent to the request of the Imperial authorities. In reply to a question by Mr. Monk the Premier said the conference would not have power to make a binding agreement. It would be but consultative and advisory.

Canadian Regiments for Aldershot.

London, May 20.—The Canadian Associated Press hears that the suggestion coming from Canada that two regiments of Canadian infantry militia should visit Aldershot in August, and undergo a few weeks' training with the regulars there, is not received favorably in militia headquarters.

STEAMER CAUGHT IN BIG ICE JAM

Liner Mongolian Jammed in Ice at St. John's Harbor.

ANXIETY FOR PASSENGERS

Big Allan Line Steamer Is Imprisoned In Dense Masses of Ice and Effort to Transfer Her Passengers Ends In Failure — Rescuing Boat Also Caught—Increased Wind May Wreck Vessel.

St. John's, Nfld., May 20.—The Allan Line steamer Mongolian, bound from Glasgow and Liverpool for St. John's, Nfld., Halifax and Philadelphia with hundreds of passengers on board, was caught in a dangerous ice jam one mile off this harbor late yesterday, and last night was in a hazardous position.

It is feared that if the wind increases before daylight the Mongolian will be driven ashore and become a total wreck.

Should such an accident occur, it is thought that the passenger can escape by walking over the densely packed ice floes.

Just returned from the ice-packed waters of Belle Isle Strait, where she had been abandoned by her crew and later rescued, the coast steamer Prospero, also lies wedged in ice between the Mongolian and the shore.

The Prospero had been despatched by the agents of the Mongolian here when the plight of the Mongolian became known, to attempt to reach the big vessel and take off the passengers and mails.

The little steamer had just passed the harbor mouth, after a continuous battle for every foot of progress, when the ice barrier became impregnable and further headway was impossible. There she kept company during the night with the greater steamer Mongolian, which was equally helpless in the unrelenting grip of the surrounding ice.

The Mongolian left Glasgow on May 5 and Liverpool a few days later with nearly 500 passengers aboard for this port, Halifax and Philadelphia. Even before Cape Race had been sighted the combat between steamer and ice had become a reality.

About a mile off the narrow harbor opening the Mongolian stopped the power of the engines unable to successfully cope with the great, irregular stretches of ice. The steamer's efforts to run the blockade are believed have injured some of the bow plates.

Last night, the combined action of wind and the tide strengthened the grip of the floes and the Mongolian was completely surrounded, unable to advance or recede.

Although assured that they were in no immediate danger, the passengers on board the Mongolian crowded the decks to witness with anxious interest, the combat which resulted in the enthralment of the steamer.

The hardy fisher folk, undaunted by danger, traversed the ice floes last night and reached the side of the Mongolian, where they conversed with officers and passengers.

The fishermen reported to people ashore that the steamer was not seriously injured.

The proximity of the Mongolian to the shore, however, made her position a dangerous one.

Pared Corn Leads to Death.

Kingston, May 20.—James A. Lockhead, Centreville, pared a corn too closely and blood poisoning developed. In Kingston hospital his leg was amputated, but gangrene developed and his death occurred Tuesday. Deceased was aged 78 and was treasurer of Camden Township for 21 years.

Youthful Desperado Sentenced.

St. Catharines, May 20.—Jesse Strickler, a youth who held up Ex-Warden Calder with a revolver in the public road, later forced a boy to drive him to Beamsville depot, and then fired two shots at his pursuers, was yesterday sentenced to four months in the Central.

U.S. Gunboat for Great Lakes.

Boston, May 20.—The task of piloting the practice gunboat Nashville up the St. Lawrence river and through the great lakes to Chicago was begun yesterday when the 1,371 ton warship left the Charlestown navy yard manned by a delegation from the Illinois naval brigade.

PAINS
In Neck, Shoulders, Arms, Joints, Muscles

This means Rheumatism, the disease that next to Tuberculosis plays greatest havoc in the nation. But there is a cure—Ferrozone—a concentrated vegetable remedy that has the power to neutralize Uric Acid, and therefore it cures permanently.

FERROZONE CURES

"For years I had been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pains, and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame, and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength, and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy, and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me." (Mrs.) Edw. Warman, Kent Junct., N.B.

You will be cured for all time to come by using Ferrozone; try it—50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

What Sunshine Furnace does

"Sunshine Furnace" is designed and constructed to heat a house, church, school or store, and does this more satisfactorily than any other known furnace or other style of heating apparatus.

It does this more rapidly than the hot water boiler because, as soon as fire is started in Sunshine Furnace, heated air can be obtained for the rooms.

It does this better than other furnaces because, being made from exclusive patterns, it has more commendable features.

It does this more economically than the boiler because even air circulation keeps fuel bill low.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

It does this more conveniently than the hot water boiler, because it has no radiators to take up room, congregate dust and mar the paper and woodwork.

It does this more hygienically than the boiler because pure air is admitted to the furnace through a cold air pipe.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

WALKERS WILL ARRIVE TO-MORROW READY FOR GRIND

Those Who Took Part in the Milwaukee Race Will be on Hand on Friday, While the Buffalo Contingent Will be Here on Saturday.

The above comprises the list of entries so far for the six-day grind, which commences in Brock Street Rink at 8 o'clock on Monday night, and the large number of well-known peds. in the list would indicate a desperate battle. Champion Hoagland will have his work cut out for him to head off that field, which includes the best walkers on the continent. Everything is ready for the walkers. The track is in splendid condition, and will be far faster than last year, which should permit of some records being broken. The scores will be placed at the south end of the rink this time and the numbers will be so displayed that the progress of the race may be followed without difficulty from any part of the building. Mr. Arthur Graham will have charge of the scores and the tallying will be done in a systematic manner, so that there will be no chance for disputes.

Notes

Brown, West and Blake, left Milwaukee to-day, and will arrive to-morrow noon.

Fenton, Dixon, Allen and Graham will arrive Saturday.

Spencley, the local boy, is working hard to get in good condition. He will no doubt make a good showing for 2½ hours each night.

Dave Hartley is in better condition than for some time, and says he will fool the wise ones if he starts.

Jim Harrison was never walking as good as he is at present and will give champion Hoagland the race of his life.

Hoagland says he is in good condition and will do his best to win.

The field of starters will be very classy and will make a fast race each evening.

COL. SAM HUGHES PRESENTS CUP FOR OMEMEE'S ROAD RACE MONDAY

Examiner Special.

Omemee, May 20.—Victoria Day is full of promise for Omemee if the weather is favourable. The baseball team has prepared a good list of clean sports for the occasions. The five-mile Marathon road race, open, for a valuable silver cup, donated by Col. Sam Hughes, will be put on at 1.30 p.m. The cup race is open to amateurs, cup to become the property of the winner, if won three successive years and may be held by him for ten months by furnishing a satisfactory bond. There will be a matched game of baseball at 2.30, and a long list of races will follow, viz.: 100 yard race, open;, 2 mile Marathon, for boys 14 years and under; sack race, open; potato race, boys; girls' race; 3-legged race, open; putting shot, open; running broad jump, open; standing broad jump, open; running, hop, step and jump, open. For each there are two valuable prizes given.

Judges—Dr. Sutton, Dr. Snelgrove, Messrs. W. B. Harvey, R. H. Johnson, R. Bradley, T. W. McLean, H. Lamb, T. C. Ingram, J. B. L. Grout.

In the evening a grand concert will be put on in the opera house by the committee of the Public Library.

There promises to be keen competition in all the races, and especially in the five-mile road race.

DOINGS IN BIG LEAGUES.

Torontos beat Providence yesterday with Dickie Rudolph pitching by 4 to 3, making two out of three from the Grays. Rudolph won his game by a two-bagger in the second with the bases full. Our old friend, Barry, started to do the twirling for Providence, but was taken out in the second, after Toronto had scored four runs, enough as it proved to win the engagement. Houser and Mitchell did fine work with the stick for Torontos, each getting two singles.

Montreal Beat Merritt.

Montreal, May 19.—Montreal defeated Jersey City 3 to 1, in an exciting game. O'Neill's hitting and Jones' fielding won the game for the locals. Smith was hit safely in every inning after the second, but Jersey City could not make the count.

Rochester's Narrow Escape.

Rochester, May 19.—Baltimore met defeat to-day, 2 to 1, because of the fast playing of the locals. The Orioles made enough hits to win, but when they got on bases they were mowed down.

Buffalo Won Both.

Buffalo, May 19.—Buffalo won both ends of a double-header with Newark to-day by 2 to 1 and 5 to 3. McGinnity allowed the Bisons but four hits in the opening session, but two of his own errors came in the tenth, when Buffalo scored her winning tally. Newark set out early for the second game and soon drove Allison to the bench. Vowinkle finished well, while the Bisons made it so warm for Frill that he was glad to give up to Flater, but the change came too late.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Players 28, Hits 24, Runs 21.

New York, May 19.—New York ran up the biggest score of the National season, winning from Cincinnati by 18 to 3 in a game in which 28 players were used. The locals scored five runs off Dubee in the first inning, after two men were out, and hit Savidge and Cantwell at will. Score:

		R	H	E
Cincinnati	000000210—	3	8	5
New York	51074100x—	18	16	0

Batteries—Dubee, Savidge, Cantwell and McLean and Roth; Wiltze, Durham and Schiel. Umpires—Klem and Kane.

All Four From Boston.

Boston, May 19—Although Manager Bowerman shifted the batting order. Boston could not win from St. Louis to-day, the visitors scoring a shutout, 2 to 0, thus taking the entire series of four games. Besides Sallee's pitching, Charles' fielding was a feature. The score:

St. Louis	000100010—	2	10	1
Boston	000000000—	0	6	0

Batteries—Sallee and Bresnahan; Tucker, White and Bowerman. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

Cubs Got a Beating.

Philadelphia, May 19.—Chicago was defeated here to-day by 4 to 2. Reulbach was very wild, and was taken off the rubber in the first inning. McQuillan began to weaken in the seventh inning, and Moren, who took his place, had Chicago at his mercy. Score:

		R	H	E
Philadelphia	30000100x—	4	7	0
Chicago	100000100—	2	6	2

Batteries — McQuillan, Moren and Dooin; Reulback, Kroh, and Moran. Umpires—Johnstone and Cusack.

Played in 72 Minutes.

Brooklyn, May 19.—Bell stopped the winning streak of the Pittsburgs to-day, shutting them out 2 to 0, with two hits, one of them a scratch that might have been called an out. Philippe also pitched a great game, Brooklyn's only two runs coming in the sixth, when Hummel singled. Jordan walked and Lennox brought them both home with a long double to left. The only error of the game was the poor return of a ball by Leach. Wagner was the only visitor to reach third-base. The game was played in 72 minutes, the fastest of the season to date. Score:

Brooklyn	00000200x—	2	7	0
Pittsburg	000000000—	0	2	1

Batteries—Bell and Bergen; Philippe and Gibson. Umpires—Rigler and Truby.

THE AMERICAN LEAGCE.

Tigers Trimmed Again.

Detroit, May 19—Summers made a wild throw to second and Stannage followed it by muffing two perfect throws to the plate in the third inning, and four runs resulted. After that the Athletics hit both Summers and Lafitte all over the field. Stanage was the only Detroit batter who could find Bender. Sixteen men were struck out, eight on each side. Score:

		R	H	E
Detroit	001001000—	2	6	7
Philadelphia	004202110—	10	15	2

Batteries — Summers, Lafitte and Stanage; Bender and Thomas. Umpires—Hurst and Evans.

Stallings' Team Won.

St. Louis, May 19—New York took the opening game of the series to-day, 5 to 1. Powell was not in form and gave way to Criss after New York had gained a winning lead. Score:

		R	H	E
St. Louis	100000000—	1	6	3
New York	004000010—	5	9	1

Batteries—Powell and Criss and Criger; Quinn, Lake and Kleinow. Umpires—Egan and Connolly.

Cy. Young Won Again.

Cleveland, May 19—Cleveland broke its long losing streak to-day and defeated Washington, 7 to 4. Young outpitched Smith with men on bases. Score:

Cleveland	220000201—	7	13	2
Washington	001000030—	4	10	3

Batteries — Young and Easterly; Smith and Street. Umpires—Sheridan and Kerin.

Boston Keeps Going.

Chicago, May 19.—Boston won the first game of the series from Chicago to-day by the score of 5 to 2. Steele held the locals to one hit until the ninth inning. Burns pitched his first game for Chicago and made a poor showing. Sullivan and Lord were forced to retire because of split fingers and Isbell was put out for disputing a decision. Score:

Chicago	000010001—	2	3	3
Boston	002001200—	5	11	0

Bateeries—Burns, Sutro, and Sullivan and Owens; Steele and Carrigan. Umpires—O'Loughlin and Perrine.

LOCAL BASEBALL

The Never Wins surprised themselves last night when they defeated the Nationals, who hardly lived up to the reputation of the team which they have called themselves after. After nine innings of play the Never Wins had the big end of the score of 12 runs to 3. The youngsters put up a good article of ball for their size and anything that was missing in ability was amply made up in their zeal and the amount of noise made. Jennings himself hasn't got it on any of those kids, and they certainly make the neighbours sit up and take notice that something is happening in the vicinity.

The teams line up as follows:

Never Wins

Hill, c; Lees, p; Stratton 1b; D. Lees, 2b; Parker, 3b; Barrie, ss; H. Hill, lf; A. Pearson, cf; H. Smith, rf.

Nationals

Bartlett, c; A. Morrow, p; R. Smith, 1b; H. Morrow, cf; R. Laing, 3b; Heaslip, lf; R. Blanchard, 2b; Blanchard, rf; Dumsford, ss.

Bud Miller, referee.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, the pastor of the Park St. Baptist Church, is paying special attention to the young men and since his coming to Peterborough has encouraged them to enter into athletics to a certain extent, with the result that the south end is being looked upon as a sporting centre. Last night the field south of the old church building, which has been secured for baseball and other summer sports presented a lively scene with a large number of the players out to catch a place on the team which will represent the P.A.C. Jimmy Pilling and Bobby Ryan were doing the twirling with Jack Patterson and Danny Hillier behind the pan. Downey, Ben Dusty, "Norm" Dusty, who by the way, was also pitching some, Jack Pilling, Ted Pilling, Ned Simmons and a bunch of other fellows were in the in and out field. Under Jack Pilling's coaching the team should make good and might have been brought out for the senior league.

Jack has his most important positions covered and should help the team to a strong finish.

• • •

In the Millbrook Church League one of the teams is known as the A. B. C B. B. C.'s. How is that? Fair enough and then some. This alphabetical disarrangement represents the Adult Bible Class Base Ball Club, of the Methodist Church Sunday School (of Millbrook. Some one remarks that this is a shorter name than the Alerts, or Arrows, and so it is. Sure? At any rate the Presbyterian team trimmed them and when the captain of the winners at the conclusion of the game began the usual "Three cheers for the Adult Bible Class, etc.," some smart kid broke in "Here cut out de monologue, wait till amateur night."

• • •

The Never Wins defeated the Cubs last night in an interesting eight-inning game by 13 runs to 3, having all the better of the play throughout. Both sides did some nice fielding. Budd Miller umpired satisfactorily.

The lineup was as follows:

Cubs

Bartlett c, Morrow p, Smith 1b, Blanchard 2b, Dunsford ss, Morrow 3b, Morrow lf, Heaslip cf, Blanchard rf.

Never Wins

H. Hill c, H. Lees p, Stratton 1b, B. Lees 2b, Barrie ss, Parker 3b, Smith lf, Pearson cf, Hill rf.

HAROLD LEES WINS TRIAL RACE IN FAST TIME TO-DAY WAS 100 YARDS TO THE GOOD

After a beautiful race all the way, Harold Lees, won the one-mile trial race of the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A. at Nicholls' Oval this afternoon in the remarkable time of 5 minutes one and three-fifths seconds. The race was held for the purpose of selecting some of the team who will endeavour to break the Examiner road race record on May 29th. There were eleven entries in this afternoon's race and it was a splendid contest throughout.

W. Eastwood took the lead at the start, and cutting out a lively pace drew away from the field and at the end of the first lap or one-third of a mile had opened up a lead of fifty yards, running fresh and strong. During the second lap, however, Harold Lees, put on the pressure and gradually overhauled the leader, drawing upon even terms with him. It was all over after that, as Lees went right away in the last third of a mile and won by one hundred yards from W. Eastwood, who finished in 5:20. Harold Hill was third, twenty-five yards back. The real battle of the race was for fourth place, Halpany beating out Bruce Lees by inches, after a desperate stretch sprint.

Following was the result:

1. Harold Lees, 5:01:3-5.
2. W. Eastwood, 5:20.
3. Harold Hill.
4. Frank Halpany.
5. Bruce Lees.
6. R. Laing.
7. N. Phelan.
8. B. Miller.

ST. PETER'S BALL CLUB HAS ORGANIZED FOR THE SEASON

St. Peter's Baseball Club met last night and organized for the season. There was a good attendance and the boys are full of enthusiasm. The officers elected are as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. Father Kelly.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—W. J. O'Brien.
Sec.-Treas.—H. Callaghan.
Manager—J. Callaghan.

The team will practise every night and Saturday afternoon, weather permitting, to get into shape for the first game on Thursday of next week. All those wishing to get a place on the team are requested to be at the ball grounds in Boswell's field at 7 o'clock in the evening.

SPORTING SPARKLETS

The ladies' monthly competition in connection with the Golf Club was held yesterday afternoon. A very large number of ladies were present and participated in the different competitions which were held.

A medal handicap round was played, the prize being presented by Mrs. Gardiner. It was won by Miss Gwen Hall.

The driving competition prize, presented by Mrs. R. R. Hall, was won by Mrs. Aylmer.

In the approach and putting contest, Miss B. Moore won the prize.

Tea was served and a thoroughly delightful afternoon was spent.

An Examiner reporter asked Mr. W. A. Hoagland this afternoon when he expected Blake, the coloured champion, to arrive in the city for next weeks' walk. The veteran of many victories looked out the window of the Oriental rotunda. Just then a dark cloud passed in front of the sun and, the light fading, the street became suddenly dark. "Well," he answered, "It's getting rather dark outside; I wouldnt' be surprised if he was close at hand now."

Then passing on to talk of Blake, the ebony-hued pedestrian, who made many friends here last Spring, Mr. Hoagland remarked that in the Kansas City walk Blake's number was 7. Not long after they came to Peterborough and he was labelled 11. Blake grinned at Hoagland, and remarked: "Well, I declare, they must be playing crap with me. First come 7, and then come 11."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 20.—Steel Common and the Harriman stocks were features of a big strong market during the forenoon. Steel touched 60, the highest in its history and Union and Southern Pacific made new high record prices for this movement and the latter also sold at the highest price yet recorded. It looked more like short covering in these issues than anything else and about noon a sharp setback occurred in which all of the early gain was lost. Reading was forced up close to the 160 mark, and then sold back down. There was a great deal of manipulation in evidence this morning and probably some distribution of stocks under cover.

RAINBOW CAN NOW MAKE GOOD TIME

The steamer Rainbow left George St. wharf, Peterborough, on Saturday last at 4 p.m. and arrived at Harwood at 5:55. As 15 minutes was lost making a landing at Wallace's Point bridge, the time for the trip was 1 hour and 40 minutes, the distance is about 35 miles. This is, we understand, the fastest time ever made by a passenger steamboat on these waters.—Hastings Star.

The Brinton Carpet Factory team has a good field for practice in front of the establishment. It has been fitted with goal posts and as the field is fairly level the place is an ideal one for a factory team. The Brintons have played one league game in which they tied with Bethany. They are practising regularly and expect to make a better showing in the future games. They have to meet Bethany on the latter's grounds, and also have to meet the Y.M.C.A. team twice.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Two Old Friends Who Have Not Seen Each Other for a Score of Years Meet in Peterborough.

To meet after not having seen each other for twenty years, many thousands of miles from their native town was the unusual experience that befell Mr. Robt. Grieve, organizer of the Sons of Scotland, and Mr. James Brodie, who is in charge of the quarry near Ee's Creek, Stony Lake, for a Quebec concern. Mr. Grieve has been in Peterborough for some time, and when Mr. Brodie happened to drop into the city yesterday on business the two ran across each other to their supreme mutual delight. They had formerly resided in Dolbeatie, Kirkcudbrightshire, Scotland, and had not seen each other for a score of years.

PROF. BELL AND HIS NEW AIRSHIP

Will the "Silver Dart" be as Successful as the Wright Brothers Machine?

New York, May 21.—Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and experimentor in flying machines, sailed on the steamship Cedric recently for England.

"The Eilver Dart will not be entered in the competition arranged by the London Daily Mail," said the professor, "because my fellow workers, Douglas McCurdy and F. W. Baldwin, need it at Baddeck, Nova Scotia, for conducting experiments.

"They are at present building a larger machine, which they will offer to the Canadian Government, or to the Government of Great Britain if the Canadian Government does not need it.

"I believe the Silver Dart is superior in some mechanical points to the machine devised by the Wright brothers. It was due to the skill and experience of the operator, that the Wright brothers have held such admirable success with their machine."

With regard to his experiments with tetrehedral machines, the professor said he had not been able as yet to give a successful demonstration because unable to secure a suitable engine, but that he succeeded in showing that the tetrehedral machine could be floated as a kite. This afforded a platform in midair on which experiments could be conducted.

Discussing the type that will prove the airship of the future, Professor Bell said there was room for all types.

"There is no reason why there should not be as many types of airship differing in various respects as there are now different kinds of live creatures flying through the air," he said.

HIS THANKS WAS A CONTEMPT OF COURT

Defendant's Remarks Increase the Fine By Leaps.

Wilmington, Del., May 20.—To thank Judge Cochran, in City Court to-day, for fining him, and again when the fine was increased, proved a costly experience for Albert Shahorn, whose troubles began when he interrupted a witness who had testified that he had been disorderly. The Court reprimanded him for being so aggressive, and inquired if he had anything else to say:

"Only that I didn't give any rum to the kids. I wouldn't do such a thing," replied Shahorn.

"Twenty dollars and costs," announced the Court, imposing a fine.

"Thanks," said Shahorn, turning away.

"Ten dollars more!" shouted the Court.

"Thanks," came the vigorous reply from Shahorn, as he was led from the dock.

"Ten dollars more," said the Court, grimly.

"Put another $10 on," advised Shahorn, as he was disappearing from the courtroom.

"Bring that man back!" thundered Judge Cochran. "I'll fine you $50 and costs for contempt, and you had better watch out or you will be sent to the whipping post."

Shahorn said nothing more.

THE SAME OLD STORY ALIMONY FOR $15,000

Girl Was Jilted by Ranch Owner in Texas—A Breach of Promise.

Freeport, Ill., May 20.—Miss Cora Mealy, a belle of Freeport, jilted on the evening of her wedding to Joseph Sneed, a wealthy young ranch owner of Texas, seeks financial balm for the laceration of her heart string in the sum of $15,000. The suit was filed in Amarillo, Texas. While on a visit to friends in Texas last year she became acquainted with young Sneed, the acquaintance soon ripening into love. Miss Healy says, and Mr. Sneed proposed marriage and was accepted. The date for the wedding was set for December 16, 1908. Miss Healy spent $500 preparing her wedding trousseau, she says. On the day before the wedding, Sneed, in Texas, wrote his fiancee asking a postponement of the marriage. Communications by wire and mail followed, and Sneed finally declared he did not love Miss Healy, and that the engagement was broken.

The Child With Glasses

Is far more likely to be the adult without glasses, than is the weak-eyed little fellow whose eyes are not given timely and proper attention. Protect the naturally defective eye of youth and you are repaid with the strong eye in after life. Abuse the immature eye and it will necessitate glasses, not for a few months only, but for a lifetime.

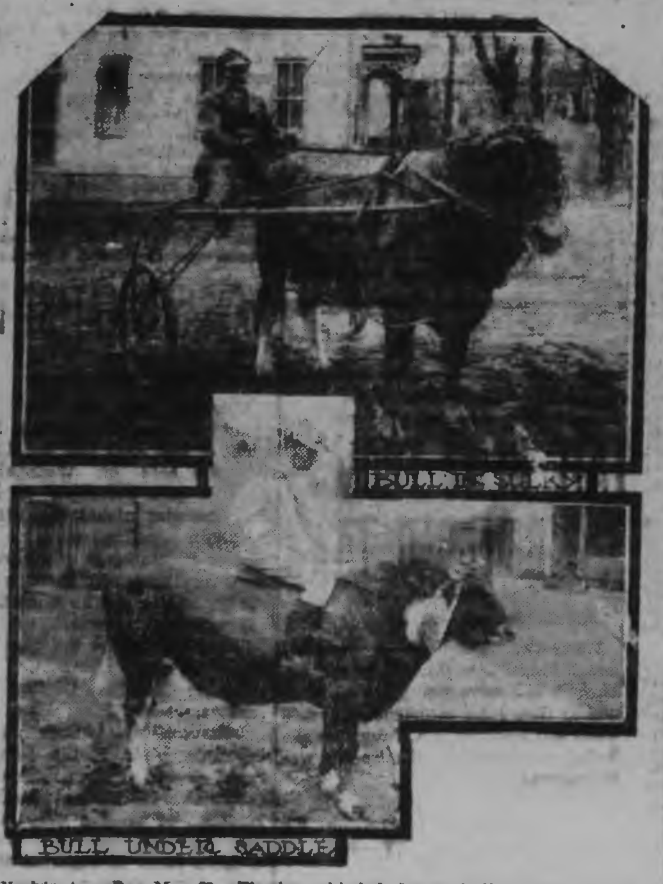
WILL MATCH 2.40 BULL AGAINST FAST TROTTER



BULL IN SULKY

BULL UNDER SADDLE

Washington, Pa., May 18.—The harness turf has had guideless wonders—trotters and pacers that went exhibition miles without drivers—trotting ostriches and trotting dogs, and now it is to be invaded by a trotting bovine.

And don't imagine for a minute the said bovine can't trot. He can step a mile in 2:40 as clean as a whistle, and do it without turning a hair, despite his 1,100 pounds of weight.

This pioneer in the field is a full-bloded Jersey bull, owned by Dr. J. S. Chaney and J. H. Ross of Waynesburg, Greene Co., Pa. Both men have been connected with the racing game and are confident that in "Robert Patch," as they have named their find, they have the turf sensation of the decade.

"Robert Patch" is a fawn coloured four-year-old. He has drawn a sulky in 2:40 and his handlers claim he travels faster under saddle. It is planned to exhibit the bulll on the principal tracks during the reason.

Price Of Eggs Are High And Will Not Likely Be Cheap This Year

"There will be no cheap eggs in Canada this year," Mr. A. E. Silver wood, manager of Flavelles, is quoted as having said in a recent interview. "The present prices of 17 and 18 cents a dozen in the country are the highest on record. These prices are two cents higher than the prices at this time last year. Seven years ago we could get any amount of eggs at 10 cents a dozen. At that time nearly all Canadian eggs were sent to England. Now there is hardly an egg goes to England from this district. The production is not enough to supply the home demand, notwithstanding that nearly every farmer is keeping more chickens now than he did them. The demand from the western markets this year will surpass all records, and we have already sent several million eggs there. Prices may come down a very little in the summer, but there will be no cheap eggs at all. Canada is now the consumer of the eggs produced in this country, and in consequence is more independent in establishing the prices."

The Butter Market

"The butter market is just opening, and the prospects are for lower prices. Prices in the country are at present from 20 to 22 cents a pound, as against 25 and 26 cents at this time last year. In March of last year prices reached the highest point in several years, and butter sold for 32 cents a pound. It dropped gradually though. The grass is not good enough yet to establish a market, and we will get very little good butter before June 1. In the summer it is likely to go down a couple of cents lower than it is now; but even then the farmers will be getting good prices."

CARE OF ORCHARD, GARDEN AND LAWN

From Farm and Dairy.

Elmer Lick, Ontario Co., Ont.

On the average farm, help is not over plentiful. Plan for best results with least labor. The apple orchard should be pruned in March,—the brush burned and the limbs worth saving cut in firewood lengths. If oyster shell scale appears, the trees should be sprayed with Gillett's Lye or any other lye—three to eight cans to 40 gallons of water, using 10 to 20 pounds of lime. If neglected when trees are dormant, use three cans to forty gallons of water when the lice are running.

Plow the orchard not over four inches deep, as early as possible in spring and harrow. Cultivate until July 1 to 15th and then sow a cover crop of clover, buckwheat, rape or barley, using a fairly heavy seeding.

For case-bearers and bud moth, spray with arsenate of lead (two of three pounds to 40 gallons of water) and also use Boardeaux mixture at the same time, or use one half to three-quarters pound of Paris green, instead of arsenate of lead. Apply with a fine nozzle, just as the buds are breaking. After the blossoms fall, use same mixture as before, only using in the Bordeaux three pounds of blue stone to 40 gallons of water instead of four pounds. Use a coarser spray this time and drench the trees thoroughly. If needed, spray again in two weeks' time. (Note.—Directions for making Bordeaux mixture were given in the issue of Farm and Dairy for March 4.—Editor.)

For best results, orchards should be manured in winter or spring before April 15th. Small orchards may be left in sod, if on good soil, and mulched with a liberal supply of strawy manure

CARE OF THE GARDEN.

I like a garden laid out so that the part near the house is about seven rods square. On one side put two rows of rhubarb, four ft. apart. Next to it, put in seven or eight rows of asparagus. This, at four feet apart, will leave about fifty feet for other vegetables that it is desirable to plant near the house. If any danger of hens, run a light fence on small posts over the last rows of asparagus. Put this up in spring and leave until fall.

Run a fence also on the other side of this plot three rods wide and seven rods long. Fix the ends temporarily, so that the fence can be rolled back quickly. In this space, grow onions, lettuce, radish, early beets and any other vegetables, using horse cultivation as much as possible. There should be a strip along the ends, at least ten feet wide, on which nothing is grown; this should be kept clean.

Plant this garden plot wtih a string so that rows will be straight. Use plenty of well-rotted manure. Parsnips, late beets, carrots, and salsify should be grown in the field with the other root crops as they are easier taken care of there.

LAWN MANAGEMENT.

A farm lawn should not be too large. It takes a lot of work to keep a large lawn in good shape.

A lawn should not be broken up by trees or shrubs. Keep these at the sides and back. Place also the flowers at the sides or near the house. Each house and surroundings will determine to a large extent what is best practice for the lawn.

Personally, I do not like to see as much work put on a lawn as will grow four or five acres of corn, neither do I like to see a neglected lawn. The happy medium should be striven for and should be encouraged as much as possible.

WILL MAKE AUTO TRIP TO ORILLIA

Mr. Harry Sherin, of Lakefield, with Mrs. Sherin, came into the city yesterday in their handsome Ford touring car, which he purchased from Mr. Jas. Duffus about two weeks ago. Mr. Sherin is very much pleased with it, and on Victoria Day intends taking a trip to Orillia. He is now able to take a run down to Peterborough whenever he wishes and finds the auto a great convenience.

CONCRETE BRIDGE FELL INTO RIVER

Three Arches Fell Through After Farmer Had Driven Over a Short Time Before.

A citizen has asked the Examiner to publish the following note from the Chicago Tribune. It is in connection with concrete steel bridge, and it was considered of interest in view of the fact that a reinforced concrete bridge is proposed for Smith street. The article is as follows:

Early this morning three arches of the concrete steel new wagon bridge, which was recently opened for traffic fell into the river and lies at the bottom a total mass of ruins. At the time of the disaster no one was on the structure.

Bridge Supt. Finley was at the bridge-tender's office when the disaster occurred. He said: "An assistant and myself were in the bridge tender's house this morning at 5.30, when a farmer crossed the bridge driving toward the city.

"About twenty minutes later we heard a noise like a team driving up on the approach of the bridge. At the same time there was a rumbling noise as if something had struck the big channel pier where the house is located.

"Both of us rushed to the door of the house and when we stepped out we were just in time to see the first arch from the draw on the east side of the big channel pier rise into the air and crash into the river. One after another of the arches took the same course just like cards standing on end, and pushed over. We could hardly realize what had happened and immediately gave the alarm."

THIRD OPERATION PREVENTED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was so sick that two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation. I had already had two operations, and they wanted me to go through a third one. I suffered day and night from inflammation and a small tumor, and never thought of seeing a well day again. A friend told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, and I tried it, and after the third bottle was cured." — Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon Street, Chicago, Ill.

If you are ill do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until an operation is necessary, but build up the feminine system, and remove the cause of those distressing aches and pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE.

Thousands of Women Suffer Untold Misery Every Day With Aching Backs That Really Have No Business To Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause,

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

SEVERE PAINS IN BACK.

Mrs. O. Warren, Radisson, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried everything I could think of but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since."

THE FORESTRY QUESTION.

From Farm and Dairy.

A movement has been started by members of the united counties council of Northumberland and Durham, Ont. that has as its object the re-afforestation of a large portion of the 14,000 acres of waste lands in those two counties. Our readers will remember that some weeks ago Farm and Dairy suggested that the wardens of the counties in which there are large areas of waste land, should call mass meetings of all their ratepayers interested in the forestry question. It was pointed out that the Ontario government might be induced to advance the money required to plant the waste lands if the municipalities would pay the interest on the money and guarantee the repayment of the principal when the timber attained marketable size. Farm and Dairy's suggestion was approved of by Mr. A. A. Powers, warden of Northumberland and Durham, and by Reeve A. A. Colwill, of Newcastle. Last week Reeve Colwill, the chairman of the Committee of Agriculture of the united counties council of Northumberland and Durham, invited the editor-in-chief of Farm and Dairy to meet some members of the committee in Cobourg to discuss the forestry question.

THOSE PRESENT.

Those present were Warden A. A. Powers, of Orono; Reeve Colwill, of Newcastle; Reeve Jos. Hickson, of Mount Horeb; Reeve Alex. Weatherson, of Warkworth, and Col. N. F. MacNachtan, of Cobourg, the county clerk, and H. B. Cowan, the editor-in-chief of Farm and Dairy. Col. MacNamara reported that he had been corresponding with the township councils, agricultural societies and farmers' institutes in the two counties and that 28 of them had passed resolutions approving of the Ontario government being asked to take over and reforest the waste lands in the united counties.

Warden Powers told of the case of a farmer who for a number of years has been losing several acres of land each year through his farm being drifted over with "blow" sand from waste land nearby. Reeve Colwill stated that he had found that the leading farmers in his section were convinced that the time has come when the waste land of the two counties should be reforested.

WHAT WAS DONE.

A thorough discussion took place in regard to the best method of dealing with the question. It was realized that all aspects of the problem would have to be laid before the ratepayers of the two counties. Methods of arousing interest were debated. It was finally decided to hold a public meeting in Cobourg on the afternoon of June 9, at the time the counties council is in session. This meeting will be addressed by representative men from each municipality in the two counties. The speakers will be expected to describe the extent of the waste land in their respective sections and to give their views on regard to an effort being made to reforest this land. Other speakers will include Dr. Fernow, Dean of the Faculty of Forestry, of the University of Toronto, and Mr. Lawler, the secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association who have promised to attend and who will describe methods of reforesting waste land and the cost. Later an effort will be made to hold meetings for the consideration of the question, in each township in the two counties. The government will be asked to furnish experts as speakers who will be able to show lantern views that will explain all sides of the subject. These meetings will probably be held late next fall. It is intended to follow them by the holding next December of a monster mass meeting in December. All the township and urban councils, agricultural societies, farmers' institutes, boards of trade and similar organizations will be invited to send representatives to this meeting. At this meeting a method of reforesting the waste land will be submitted for discussion and approval and later the Ontario government will be asked for assistance. The wardens of the other counties in Ontario in which there are large areas of waste land will be invited to attend the mass meeting.

THOSE WHO WILL SPEAK.

It was decided to ask the following well known farmers and others representing the different municipalities in the two counties, to speak at the public meeting that will be held in Cobourg on June 9; Messrs. C. L. Owen, M.P., Campbellford; J. B. McColl, M.P., Cobourg; J. J. Preston, M.L.A., Bethany; Sam Clarke, M.L.A., Cobourg; Sam Nesbitt, M.L.A., Brighton; J. H. Devitt, M.L.A., Blackstock; Wm. Rickard, ex-M.L.A., Newcastle; C. J. Thornton, M.P., Kirby; Chas. McNeil, Cavan; Geo. A. Stevens, Bowmanville; W. B. Campbell, Campbellcroft; J. S. Power, Blackstock; John Riddell, Bensfort; John Miller, Castleton; A. R. Eagleson, Coldsprings; M. J. Doyle, Cobourg; A. M. Macklin, Brighton; W. W. Adams, Wooler; T. B. Carlow, Warkworth; Gilbert Bedford, Campbellford; John Thackery, Roseneath.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT IN DAIRY FARMS COMPETITION

From Farm and Dairy.

Prof. F. C. Elford, Macdonald College, Quebec.

In the Dairy Farms Competition to be held this year by Farm and Dairy, the poultry department will get its share of notice. Indeed, poultry should fill no small part in the equipment of an up-to-date farm. There is no branch of Agriculture in which more farms are interested. There is not a barnyard but has poultry, and there is no department that gets less attention and would be missed more in the farmers' home.

There is no one thing on the average Canadian farm that has done more pioneer work than the hen. Long before anything else was helping make revenue, she was supplying fresh eggs and meat. She paid the grocery bills when had it not been for her they might have been left unpaid. How many of our men and women of today owe the commencement of their education to the Canadian hen. She paid for the first books, slates and pencils, the straw hats and pinafores.

I don't remember "pioneer" days, but I have a clear recollection of the poultry yard that did all this and much more. The weekly basket of eggs was expected to keep "things going," from the time the hens were sold in the spring till the potatoes were ready in the fall. During the other six months the "hen fruit" and dressed poultry helped materially. I have often thought that Canada owes not a little to the hen as a "home maker." This applies in the country, in the village, and even in the city.

For this reason as well as for what the poultry trade is developing into, the poultry department should have a prominent place on the schedule of points in the Dairy Farms Competition. Suggestions and what may go to make up an ideal poultry department will be given from week to week.

PREVENTION AGAINST MOTHS.

From Farm and Dairy.

Take one fourth of an ounce each of ground cloves and caraway seed, one ounce of dried common salt, one half pound of lavender flowers free from the stalk and one half ounce each of dried thyme and mint. Mix well together, and put in cambric or silk bags. These scent bags, if placed among clothes, will preserve them from moths and give a pleasant odor.

If you are troubled with moths in the house, try putting blotting paper well saturated with turpentine in the drawers, among the furs and bedclothes, or wherever there is any danger of the moths working their depredations; it can even be put along the edges of the carpets. Turpentine is the best preventive of moths I have discovered.—Woman's Home Companion.

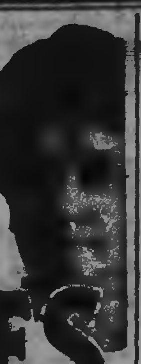
The Agony OF PILES



ONLY those who suffer from piles know the misery it brings! It robs life of its pleasure, steals the brightness from existence, and substitutes days of dull pain and moments of acute agony. Most so-called "remedies" give ease only for a time, and then--back comes the trouble and pain and misery! Zam-Buk cures Piles! And cures permanently. Proof of this lies all around you. Women and men in all stations of life have proved it—possibly some of your friends! Let it cure you!

Mrs. Wm. Hughes, of 253, Hochelaga Street, Hochelaga, Montreal, says:—"I was a sufferer for years from blind, itching, and protruding piles. The agony I suffered no one knows. Remedy after remedy proved useless. Day followed day and there was no relief for me—pain, loss of strength, dulness, misery, this was my experience until Zam-Buk was introduced. I know now that there is nothing on this earth like it! It cured me of piles, and once cured, I have had no return of the evil. I would like all women who suffer as I did to know that Zam-Buk will cure them!"

Besides being a specific for piles, Zam-Buk cures eczema, blood-poisoning, abscesses, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, scalp sores, ringworm, bad leg, poisoned sores, insect stings, blistering sore feet, and all skin injuries and diseases. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Annual Meeting Of The Keene Village Improvement Society

Mr. Jas. McNeil Re-elected President—A Small Balance in the Treasury After a Busy Year in Road Work—A Society That is Doing Great Work for Keene.

FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS.

Examiner Special.

Keene, May 20.—The following are the minutes of the meeting of the Village Improvement Association held in the Council Chamber Tuesday evening:

The president, Mr. James McNeil occupied the chair. The minutes of the last annual meeting and of the meeting of the executive committee held on October 29th, were read and on motion of S. A. Smithson, seconded by W. Drummond, the minutes as read were adopted.

The treasurer then read the financial statement showing a balance on hand of $8.04. The statement on motion was received and adopted.

Moved by Wm. Drummond, seconded by Wm. Moore, that James McNeil and A. Shearer be reappointed president and secretary respectively. Carried.

Moved by J. R. McIntyre, seconded by Wm. Campbell, that the executive committee of 1908 be re-elected. Carried.

On motion of S. A. Smithson, seconded by William Drummond, J. R. McIntyre, R. J. McCamus and J. J. Moore were appointed an entertainment committee for the coming year, and that the thanks of the association were tendered the committee for their valuable services to the society during the past year.

Mr. McIntyre replied thanking the Association for their expression of appreciation and expressing the hope that the committee would be able to add as great or a greater sum to the treasury of the society in 1909.

It was decided that the executive committee be requested to extend the sidewalk east on Bridge street to Messrs. Anderson & Skinners' store, to grade the hill on Church street, grade the hill on Bridge street, and put in culverts across it from the drains on Church street.

Moved by J. R. McIntyre, seconded by R. J. Brown, that the executive committee wait on the council at its meeting on May 27th, to request a grant of tile for drain from Wedlock's shop north to the town hall, also to request that that body reappoint Mr. Thomas McIntyre as road overseer.

During the year the Association has raised a total of $345.27 from all sources. About half of this amount represents commutation of statute labour and township grants. The balance was raised by concerts, excursions, and private subscription.

The Association began the preceding year with an overdraft of $155.05, spent $337.23, and finished the year with a balance on hand of $8.04.

The usual amount of voluntary labour has been done on the streets and Arbour day this year was well celebrated, an unusually large amount of citizens coming out to help clean up the streets.

HORSE BREEDING.

From Farm and Dairy.

D. A. McKenzie, B.S.A., Specialist in Agriculture, Victoria Co., Ont.

Few men stop to think of the results that follow the mating of two animals. Having one object in view they allow it to obscure all other possible results. How often we hear a man who owns a mare of an upstanding character, avow his intention of mating her with a stallion of opposite character, thus hoping to get a colt which will be a little taller than the stallion and not quite so tall as the mare. Or we hear a man say that because his mare is lacking in development of loin muscles, or some other important character, he will breed her to a stallion that is particularly strong in these points, and how often the man is disappointed when the colt arrives and possesses not only the dam's faults but the sire's also, without possessing any of the desired improvements.

Let us consider briefly some of the laws which govern breeding. The first is the law of heredity. Heredity has to do with the characters common to a race or breed, and their transmission to successive generations. On this law, and a thorough knowledge of it, depends the success of the breeder. If we consider an animal as an organization made up of a large number of characters, with these characters having an arrangement peculiar to each different individual or organization, we will more readily appreciate the difficulties which attend the breeding art. When we mate two individuals or organizations there is no certainty whether the off-spring will resemble the dam or the sire, because another law which is always operative steps in. I refer to the law of variation.

VARIATION.

All animals vary in some respect no matter how closely related, and this is the factor in breeding that we must take into account when mating animals, if we hope to achieve any measure of success as breeders. Broadly speaking, variation in any kind of animal life is caused by the different arrangement of the characters normal to the breed. When we mate two animals we can hardly hope to have the offspring an exact counterpart of either parent, but rather a mixture of both. The amount of this variation may be influenced by the care which the female receives during pregnancy, by the condition of health of the male at the time of service, by the purity of breeding of the parents, by the wide difference which may exist in the breeding of the parents, and by other causes over which man has only a limited control.

Taking any breed as an example we find individuals that vary in general appearance, and in individual parts as well, and we are prone to say that one animal possesses more of the desired characters than another when in reality both possess the same number of characters, only in the one they are by their arrangement apparent while in the other they are obscured or hidden by some other character or group of characters.

INHERITANCE.

Animals will inherit from their immediate ancestors all the characters of the breed, and the type of the offspring will depend on the arrangement of these breed characters. They will inherit not only the good qualities but many of the diseases and weaknesses, whether they be of some external organ, as bone spavin or ringbone in the horse, or of some inward organ as tuberculosis in cattle. Or, the weakness may be functional, as lack of fecundity, which among stockmen is commonly known as the tendency to be shy breeders.

Taking all these things into consideration it behooves the farmer to give this matter some serious thought. Do not take the stallion man's word as to what is the best policy for you to pursue. He at all events knows no more and perhaps not so much as you do, when it comes down to actual experience. Avoid violent crosses such as the mating of mares of roadster type and breeding with stallions of draft breeds. Nothing but misfits can come from such crosses. This last may seem like an overdrawn or far-fetched example, but there are plenty of such crosses made as most horse owners know. I have seen in one of our best counties, small mares of roadster type bred to a Belgian stallion and what the colt would be heaven only knows. If your mare is a little undersized, think well before breeding to a very heavy horse. If you do not want large horses or, if you want to retain stock of your own breeding why better to use a medium sized sire and increase the size gradually. There may be wisdom in breeding a large mare to a small sire, but in the opposite we generally make a mistake.

In selecting a sire choose one of similar breeding to your mare, not abnormally developed where your mare is deficient but a good average animal in every respect. When such a sire is in your community pay a good fee to secure his services. Scrubs are dear at any price.

HELPS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

From Farm and Dairy.

House cleaning has changed in two ways since the time of our father's father; it has become easier to accomplish, and more productive of results. The housewife has many inventions and appliances that simplify the work which once was done by elbow grease and that alone. Progress and ingenuity have solved some disagreeable questions for her in the last decade or two.

Unquestionably, the most distasteful part of housecleaning is the taking up of carpets with their multitudinous tacks, beating and relaying them. Nevertheless, sanitation requires that it be done. Nowadays, the tendency is for painted or varnished floors covered with rugs and mats and their use is continually growing. It is a simple matter to take up rugs from the floor and clean them. Not only are "finished" floors more sanitary but decidedly better-looking for even the most ordinary wood floor can be transformed at a small expense into one having the appearance of costly hardwood by the application of one or two coats of varnish stain which are now made in imitation cherry, oak, mahogany, walnut and so on, and are so durable that they will successfully withstand a great deal of wear and tear occasioned by the constant walking and the movement of furniture over them.

WALLS AND CEILINGS.

Wall papering is being largely supplanted by wall paints and finishes in beautiful colors and shades that will stand scrubbing with soap and water and come out of the operation bright and fresh as the day they were put on. This avoids "messy" papering operations. Woodwork such as wainscoting and cupboards, given one coat of paint, specially prepared for the surface, which will dry over night, enables the housewife to keep the kitchen and pantry fairly shining with cleanliness. "Last year's" fly screens after receiving a coat of enamel are as good as new again.

THE FURNITURE.

Furniture, too, both in the kitchen and in the other rooms of the house need not remain shabby long. The process of cleaning it with polish, or refinishing it with paint or varnish is so simple, and the furniture so improved in appearance thereby, that most housewives include a course of refinishing furniture in their Spring housecleaning operations. This applies not only to drawing and dining room chairs, but to the rough kitchen and laundry chairs and to those wicker and cane ones that spend a good deal of their time on the veranda or lawn and not only to the tables, bookcases and lounges, of more or less expensive lumber, but to the home-made things of rough lumber, and so on throughout the entire house. Whereas painting about the house was once a considerable undertaking now it is a matter of very little expense and a small inconvenience.

These remarks, of course, do not begin to outline the improvements and changes that have come about in the housekeeping. They are simply intended as straws to show which way the wind is blowing. For instance in the city houses and also in some larger towns and villages, there is electric light and gas where there once were lamps to clean. There are the improvements in plumbing and heating arrangements, the telephone and the gas stove, and so on, until a book almost could be written on improvements along these lines.

She who has charge of the 'home' has a high mission, and inventions that go to make her work less laborious and productive of greater results, are as momentous as discoveries in any other branch of modern life.

THE POTATO CROP IN ONTARIO

From Farm and Dairy.

The potato ranks comparatively high as a money maker among the staple crops produced on Canadian farms. In Ontario, the potato industry does not occupy the place it might. Taking the money value of this crop as compared with other crops, we find that it ranks second in Prince Edward Island, first in Nova Scotia, first in New Brunswick, second in Quebec, third in Ontario, fourth in Manitoba, fourth in Saskatchewan and fifth in Alberta.

Ontario stands first in acreage and total yield of potatoes, yet we find that she does not produce enough for local consumption. She imports thousands of bushels every year from other provinces, chiefly from New Brunswick. In Toronto, we find that from 2,000 to 3,000 bags per day are used or 30 cars for every week of the year. Of this amount approximately 80 per cent. comes from the Maritime Provinces. Several other large cities and towns consume enormous quantities of potatoes and for the most part, they look to the east for their supply.

This practice of getting potatoes from the east seems to be gaining ground. Maritime potatoes are gaining the preference over Ontario potatoes because of the fact that the supply from the east is made up of one or two leading varieties of excellent type and quality. In Ontario, on the other hand, a great many different varieties are grown, and as a result, the supply is made up of small lots mixed together and they present a very uneven, unattractive stock.

But this is not all. Statistics reveal the fact that there is a gradual decrease each year in the acreage devoted to potato growing in Ontario. In many cases the Ontario farmer scarcely grows what potatoes he requires for his own use. This should not be. Our progressive potato growers have demonstrated year after year that potatoes can be grown to perfection in Ontario and with no inconsiderable profit. The potato trade can be kept in Ontario but in order to keep it, we must take up potato growing on a larger scale in suitable centres. Old worn out varieties must be replaced by newer varieties of a more desirable type and the number of varieties used must be limited to one or two outstanding sorts prominent for their quality and freedom from disease. Instances can be cited in Ontario to-day of growers handling from 15 to 30 acres of potatoes.

If we would make potato growing as profitable as it might be, we must not only take into consideration the fore going facts but also adopt labor saving devices for handling the crop. To justify the installation of labor saving machinery, we must increase the acreage grown and co-operate more with our neighbors in the purchase and use of such machines.

CULTIVATION AND MANURING

From Farm and Dairy.

Harold Jones, Grenville Co., Ont.

Actual results have proved that it pays to cultivate our orchards, but the heavy losses we sustained about four years ago, brought out the problem that now confronts us in how far dare we go in this matter of cultivation and save our trees from winter injury in the colder sections of Ontario. Since 1904, I have been preaching a modified system of cultivation in my bearing orchards that is giving very satisfactory results in well ripened wood and well colored fruit of large size.

To outline this system, I may say that instead of continuing clean cultivation until the middle of July or the first of August, as formerly, I plow as early in the spring as possible and about the 20th or 25th of May I harrow the ground level and sow to some cover crop either red clover or oats, as I find the fertility and the condition of the soil warrants. This leaves the ground in a level condition for the mower which is used at intervals during the summer to check any weeds or tufts of grass that are bound to appear during the season. The last cutting is made just before picking. If oats are clipped during the summer in this way they will remain quite green until fall.

I find this system gives me an early vigorous growth, both in wood and fruit buds, and the cover crop sown in this way does not draw any appreciable amount of water from the soil until the later half of the summer.

When cutting allow the material to lie where it falls, as it aids in supplying humus for the year following, and retards evaporation by wind and sun during hot dry periods. We have got a much shorter growing and ripening season than our neighbors to the west of us, and I find the system outlined above will give the early, vigorous growth that is necessary, followed by conditions very similar to sod during the ripening season.

Fertilizing and barn yard manure every two or three years spread at the rate or ten to twelve loads to the acre during the late fall or winter, with an annual spring application of about 100 lbs. muriate of potash, keeps the soil up to a high standard of fertility and also in good mechanical condition.—From a pamphlet issued by Ontario Fruit Growers' Association.

Brighten Up

You can't say S.W.P. is expensive because it costs more per gallon than a lot of other paints on the market. It covers so much more surface and lasts so long that it is the most economical paint you can buy.

Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared (S.W.P.) will cover 425 square feet to the gallon, two coats, which is considerably better than the best that "hand mixed lead and oil" or many so-called "mixed paints" will do. There is only one logical way to figure the cost of paint and painting—learn what a gallon of paint will cover and how long it will last; find the cost of keeping your buildings painted year in and year out. On this basis S.W.P. is the most economical paint it is possible to use.

We control the source of supply for most of the ingredients of S.W.P. so that we can be sure it's pure; we make our own linseed oil—in fact, the final quality of S.W.P. is the sum total of high class materials, manufacturing skill and experience. The S.W. agent in your locality has, in addition to Sherwin-Williams Paint (S.W.P.) for buildings inside and out, a paint or varnish or stain for every purpose.

"Churches Should Protest Against Great Armaments"

Conference of Businessmen of United States and Canada Urge President Taft to Take Initiation in Endeavour to Limit the Navies of the World.

ARE STILL BARBAROUS.

Mohonk Lake, May 21.—Business men, representing 58 Chambers of Commerce, from 19 states and Canada, who are attending the conference, yesterday adopted a resolution urging President Taft "to take the initiative in leading the nations to a concurrent limitation or reduction in the armies and navies of the world."

The most emphatic address of the day was given by J. Allen Baker, a Canadian-born member of the British Parliament, who emphasized the continuous neighborliness and good-fellowship of the United States and Canada as an example for the nations of what the absence of armaments and fortifications on an international boundary will do to promote peace.

"I largely endorse," said Mr. Baker, "what President Butler has said as to the emotional insanity of the present mad race for battleships in Great Britain and Germany. Our House of Commons is the chief sinner in having started the crazy competition in building Dreadnoughts, but you must remember that we have a yellow press in Great Britain, and you must not believe all that it says regarding the so-called German war scare."

The amicable relations between the United States and Canada, were also described by Justice J. J. Maclaren of Toronto, who said that while individuals in a measure have become Christianised, "we still remain as nations and collectively largely barbarian and heathen."

Rev. Frederick Lynch, pastor of the Pilgrim Church, New York, declared that "it is the shame of the age that every church in Germany, England and America is not protesting against these great pagan, overwhelming armaments."

Last night Charles Richardson of Philadelphia presented a report of a special committee, showing that nearly 200 leading chambers of commerce and boards of trade, in all the large cities of the country, were co-operating with the conference in promoting international arbitration.

Mr. Richardson said: "It is within the power of business men to do more than any other class to create in our own and other great nations, a public sentiment which no modern Government could afford to ignore. It should be said, moreover, that the present is a most propitious time for efforts of this kind. There is a growing tendency toward that mental attitude which led Lord Salisbury, the English Prime Minister, to write to the representative of Great Britain in Egypt, that if their military friends could have their way they would want to garrison the moon, in order to prevent an invasion from Mars.

"The enormous recent and prospective increase in national armaments is probably the most effective of all possible agencies for arresting the attention of the plain people and forcing them to realize that ruinous outlays and rates of taxation that will paralyze the industries of the world, will be the inevitable results if they fail to demand and insist that their Governments shall unite in establishing and forever maintaining better methods than those of war for securing justice and fairness in the settlement of all international differences."

Among the 50 and more bodies represented by delegates were the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Board of Trade, the National Association of Clothiers, the National Business League of America, the National League of Commission Merchants, the Chambers of Commerce of a number of American cities and the Boards of Trade of Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg; the Business Men's Associations or Commercial Clubs of New Haven, Battle Creek and Seattle; the Manufacturers Association and the Merchants' Association of New York and the Trades' League of Philadelphia.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 20.—The railways reported 131 carloads of live stock as the receipts for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 2159 cattle, 2127 hogs, 412 sheep and lambs, with 507 calves.

Exporters.

There were several straight loads of export cattle, over 30, that were quoted as sold from $5.60 up to $6.30, the bulk going from $5.90 to $6.15. Bulls sold at $4.75 to $5.25 for export purposes, and cows from $5 to $5.25 per cwt.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports a fair trade for stockers and feeders. The popular weights of steers is from 800 to 900 lbs., the demand for short-keeps having eased off. Mr. Murby bought 250 cattle during the week at the following quotations: Feeders, 1000 at 1100 lbs. each, at $4.75 to $5.50 per cwt., feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $4.15 to $4.60; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

Choice picked lots of prime butchers' steers and heifers sold at $5.75 to $6, and $6.20 was paid by H. P. Kennedy for one heifer, such as are offered at Christmas time, and Maybee & Wilson sold 15 butchers, 1000 lbs. each, at $5.90, loads of good sold from $5.25 to $5.50, medium, $5 to $5.25; common, $4.50 to $5; cows and bulls, at $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a moderate delivery of cows all week at fair prices, ranging from $30 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts have been large, with prices easy at $3 to $5.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of 412 sheep and lambs sold at a little lower quotations, with the exception of spring lambs, which sold at firm prices, as follows: Ewes, $5.50 to $5.75; rams, $2.50 to $4.50; yearlings, $7.50 to $8 per cwt.; spring lambs, $3.50 to $6 each.

Hogs.

Hogs have reached a record price. H. P. Kennedy quoted selects, $7.65, f.o.b. cars, at country points, and $8 fed and watered at the market, and $8.30 off cars, unfed and unwatered, at the market.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at 15,000, market, 5c to 10c higher; light, $6.80 to $7.30; mixed, $6.90 to $7.42½; heavy, $7 to $7.45; rough, $7 to $7.15; good to choice heavy, $7.15 to $7.95; pigs, $2.90 to $6.80; bulk of sales, $7.20 to $7.35.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at 8000; market steady, native, $3.90 to $6.25; western, $4 to $6.25; yearlings, $6.10 to $7.20; lambs, native, $6 to $8.25; western, $6 to $9.

To Probe Telegraph Companies.

Ottawa, May 21.—The Board of Railway Commissioners will defer decision in the application of the London, Eng., Times for equitable rates from the telegraph companies in connection with the Marconi wireless service until the board begin a general enquiry into telegraph rates.

This will likely be done after the telephone and express tariffs are revised.

Goes to Illinois.

Woodstock, May 21.—Charles E. Burke, B.A., science master at Woodstock College, has received an appointment to a fellowship in chemistry at the University of Illinois, and will assume his duties in October. Graduated from McMaster in 1907 and taught in Hamilton Collegiate this summer he will complete his M.A. work at McMaster.

Fishery Schooner Burns.

Halifax, May 21.—The French fishing schooner Revenue was burned while fishing on the Grand Banks at an early hour. The crew of 20 had to scramble for the dories, and after rowing about for ten hours sighted a schooner, which brought them to St. Pierre. Three other vessels have been lost so far this season.

The Theatrical Warfare.

Chicago, May 21.—The Western Theatre Managers' Association has decided to throw the gauntlet into the face of the theatrical syndicate and demand that the New York men agree to the "open door" policy.

Doukhobors In Canada.

Over a thousand of the Doukhobors are emigrating from Broadview, Saskatchewan, to Southern British Columbia, where their leader, Peter Verigen, has purchased 4,000 acres, in the neighborhood of Nelson. These are migrating not in the old patriarchal way, but under the aegis of the Canadian Pacific, which is running three special trains to the new Land of Promise. The Doukhobors, in spite of occasion aberrations, make excellent settlers as they are hardworking, and have great success as farmers.

BIG LINER STILL FAST IN THE ICE

Efforts to Rescue Steamer Mongolian Prove Unavailing.

SEALER CANNOT REACH HER

Steamer Diana Is Struggling to the Assistance of Liner, But Is Blocked Three Miles Off—Five Passengers Make Trip Over Ice to Edge of Jam and Are Taken Ashore In the Tug Prospero.

St. John's, Nfld., May 21.—A party of passengers from the Allan Line steamship Mongolian landed last evening. They reported that the ship is safe and uninjured. The sealing steamer Diana, bound for St. John's, was diverted from her course last night to try and cut out the Mongolian, but was unable to get within two or three miles of her.

During the evening a heavy swell caused the Mongolian to rise and fall, but no damage was caused. It is thought that an attempt of the steamer Diana to open a lane between the Mongolian and the narrow harbor opening will be successful by to-night, thus freeing the great steamer from her bondage of many hours. That this will be possible was apparently indicated in the release of the coastal steamer Prospero, which yesterday managed, unassisted, to extricate herself from the ice-field.

The experiences of the five passengers of the Mongolian who successfully crossed the uneven ice-field between the ocean liner and the shore, assured the others that a ready, and fairly safe avenue of escape was available. The Diana will resume her attempt to force a passage to the Allan boat to-day.

Under the impulse of the steady southward trend of the Labrador current the Mongolian last night was a considerable distance farther from the entrance to the harbor than the position which she occupied the night before. On all sides of the steamer stretched an almost compact, although irregular covering of ice, which to the east, in the direction of the sea, was in some places twenty-five miles off shore.

One of the most interesting of the many features which have marked the detention of the big steamer, was the walk across the ice from the steamer yesterday of five passengers, among them two women. They were Dr. McPherson and wife, Dr. Hunt, Miss McPherson, and a Mr. Stephenson, hand-in-hand, with the men ever watchful for the safety of their women companions, the little party mounted hummock after hummock, and on particularly smooth ice cakes, even slid with the abandon of their childhood days. They were anxiously watched from both the steamer and from the shore. When they reached the borders of the ice-fields at the harbor mouth, where Wednesday the Prospero was held up, a tug was awaiting them. So far as Dr. McPherson had observed, the steamer had sustained no serious damage, and was not leaking.

SACRIFICES FOR EMPIRE.

Earl Grey Says Canadian Parties Unite on Loyalty.

Ottawa, May 21.—At a dinner at Government House in honor of the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference, significant references were made by Lord Grey to the naval situation. One passage of his speech read:

"The two great political parties in this Dominion are united in their readiness to spend the last Canadian dollar and shed the last drop of Canadian blood, should such sacrifice be necessary to secure the continuance of the naval supremacy to which Canada and every part of the Empire owe their present fortunate position, and on the maintenance of which they depend for the realization of their splendid hopes.

"The fact that a Labor Ministry should require, under the compulsion of the law, all young men to undergo a military training until they reach the age of 20, has proclaimed to the whole world that the honor of the crown will be as safe in the keeping of the humblest sons of toil as it has been in the hands of the proudest nobles of the land.

"At present we grow up in ignorance of each other. That ignorance is a weakness and a danger to the Empire and consequently ought to be removed. The necessities of Imperial defence also require important development in our system of cables."

In proposing the toast of "Sister Dominions," Sir Wilfrid Laurier said:

"I am not concerned about the future of the Empire. Not that I am indifferent, but because I am confident I do not believe in sudden evolution, but I believe that in the following on of precedent to precedent the destiny of the Empire will be evolved."

Coming to Canada.

London, May 21.—One of the most interesting and charming of the delegates is Mrs. Ogilvie Gordon, the corresponding secretary of the International Council, and one of the vice-presidents of the British National Council. She is the wife of Dr. John Gordon of Aberdeen, and is the eldest daughter of the late Rev. Alex. Ogilvie. Mrs. Gordon was gold medalist in zoology and comparative anatomy under Sir E. Ray Lankester, University College, London, 1889-90; graduated D.Sc 1893, London University; studied geology and paleaeontology Munich University 1891-96; and was awarded the Ph.D. degree with the highest honors in 1900, when the degree was for the first time conferred on a woman by that university. She was elected Fellow of the Linnean Society of London in 1906, when that society for the first time admitted Fellows, and a Fellow of the Royal Physical Society on the first admission of women fellows in 1909.

His Inventive Genius.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Johnny Bounce and I were schoolmates and fast friends. Johnny was younger than I, but stronger. Every boy who could lick me availed himself of the opportunity just for the fun of it. Johnny could lick most of them and, noticing that I needed a friend, began to lick every boy that licked me. This had a wholesome effect, and I was soon let alone. Indeed, I am not sure that I did not impose on some of them, knowing that a dread of John's big fist would deter them from giving me a deserved punishment.

When we left school to go out into the world (we were pretty big boys then) I said to John Bounce: "Johnny, I want you to understand that I owe you a whole lot. If I ever get a chance to make a stand off for what you've done for me, I'll do it."

"Oh, you don't owe me anything, Tom," he said. "Besides, I guess we'll both get along pretty well."

I didn't see John after our parting for years. Then one day a man came into my office of very forlorn appearance. I put my fingers in my pocket to get out 10 cents when I noticed the fellow looking at me with a quizzical expression.

"You don't know me, Tom?"

"No, I don't."

"I'm Johnny Bounce."

My heart sank, for I knew that the world had been too much for John. However, I gave his hand a warm grasp, asked him to sit down and tell me what he had been doing. He said he hadn't had much success thus far, but he had "irons in the fire," some of which he thought would pan out very big. I had heard of these "irons" before in connection with men who had lost their grip on the world and knew that instead of irons they were gases. But I saw that John was sincere, so I did not discourage him.

"You can't run a thing like that, John," I said, referring to one of his schemes, "without being 'grub staked.' I haven't any capital to put in, but I wish you would let me lend you what you need from time to time. I've got $10 here in my— No? Don't need it? Well, whenever you do come right in here and get it."

I knew perfectly well that he needed money, but could not bring himself to take it from me, whose equal he had been in everything except an ability to punch boys' heads, and in this he had been my superior. I was obliged to let him go without affording him relief, but I took his address, resolving to find some indirect way of giving him money. But I was very busy at the time and put the matter off. Besides, I am not an inventive genius and failed to think of any method of lending John Bounce money without appearing to give it.

One morning a woman came into my office and said she had heard John Bounce, who boarded with her, speak of me. She said that Bounce owed her $87.45 for board, and she would like me to tell her if he had any property on which she could levy. I told her that Mr. Bounce was a perfectly honorable man, but was trying to carry through certain schemes without sufficient capital. She left with a check for the amount of her bill. A week later I received a note from John regretting that the woman had thought it necessary to adopt such strenuous measures and assuring me that one of his irons was at white heat and he would soon call and return the amount. I admired his plan of enabling me to help him indirectly.

John never came to see me. His pride, his sensitiveness, whatever it was, wouldn't let him. One day a long while after the board bill episode I received a note from an undertaker telling me that a man named John Bounce had died in a boarding house. A letter from me had been found in his room, and since there was no money to bury him it was deemed advisable to notify me. The amount required was about $100.

I was sorry now since poor John was gone that I had not been able to do more for him. I inclosed a check for the amount and authorized a call for more. I did the latter as an excuse to my conscience for not attending to the matter personally. I couldn't bring myself to such a melancholy duty.

A few months later I received a note from one who wrote that he had been an intimate friend of the late Mr. John Bounce, the inventor. It was proposed by several of Mr. Bounce's friends to place a headstone at his grave. There were four men ready to contribute $50 each. The cost of the stone would be $250. Knowing that I had been a schoolmate of Mr. Bounce, he had ventured to write to know if I would make one of five. I at once sent my check for $50.

A year passed. One morning I received a note from a lawyer stating that John Bounce had died a few days before (my hair stood on end with astonishment), that Mr. Bounce had left me his sole heir (I wondered), that Mr. Bounce had patented a mechanical toy, and that a toy manufacturing company stood ready to give $25,000 for the sole right to manufacture (I grasped my desk for support).

This wonder turned out to be a reality. I accepted the offer, and when the check was paid me my eyes filled with tears. My poor, dear Johnny Bounce had succeeded after all, but too late. My thoughts were only on that genius for inventing methods by which I could give him money without wounding the feelings of either himself or me.

ANECDOTES OF REYER

The Famous French Composer Was Blunt of Speech.

HE HAD A CAUSTIC TONGUE.

His Biting Wit Was Lavishly Bestowed Upon Those Who Annoyed or Displeased Him—As an Officeholder He Was the Limit of Indifference.

Ernest Reyer, the famous French composer, had a biting wit and a caustic tongue. Fortune frowned on him at the beginning of his musical career, and his first opera, "Erostrate," was played only twice. This did not worry Reyer much, although, as he said to the manager, "I had hoped to see it played three times at least." "Erostrate" was rather meanly staged. In the first act the temple of Ephesus was supposed to fall and did not. "I suppose," said Reyer, "that they thought that if the play dropped hard enough the audience would excuse the temple!"

At that time the manager of the opera was a man named Halanzier, who was no musician and whom Reyer disliked. Halanzier had a way of patronizing the composer which made him furious, and he took his revenge one evening in Brussels. "Sigurd," after having had some success in Paris, was played at the Theatre de la Monnaie in Brussels and achieved a triumph. After the first performance Reyer gave a supper, to which he invited Halanzier, who was delighted when the composer, after a speech in his honor, lifted his glass and said, "And now I wish to drink to Halanzier." Halanzier bowed and smiled, and Reyer, without moving a muscle, went on calmly and imperturbably—"to Halanzier, the one manager to whom I owe nothing."

Reyer was playing one of his compositions at a friend's house when a little girl—he hated children—commenced to cry and would not be comforted. "For pity's sake," cried Reyer furiously, "put that child on a chair and sit on her face, one of you!" The crying child became some fifteen years later Mme. Rose Caron, the singer who helped Reyer to the pinnacle of fame.

It was Ernest Reyer who was the original perpetrator of the joke with reference to twins which has been ascribed to so many people. A friend of his had just become the father of two boys and had them brought in to the composer. "Charming," said Ernest Reyer nervously—"charming children," patting their cheeks gingerly with his gloved hand, "delightful children really. Which one are you going to keep?"

When he was appointed librarian to the Paris Opera he took his duties very easily and as a matter of fact scarcely ever went to the opera house. He was fond of telling the story of his first visit to his office. He went to it one evening at dusk six years after he had been appointed. He lost his way and wandered about up and down narrow passages and dark corridors until he ran up against a doorkeeper whom he had passed two or three times already. The man, distrusting the stranger, stopped him and said, "Who are you, and where are you going?" Reyer looked him up and down. "I am the librarian," he said haughtily, "and I am looking for the library!"

One day a young musician called on him with a warm letter of introduction from a mutual friend. Reyer received him and, wincing, asked him to play the two pieces which his friend had recommended. After the first one had been performed the pianist turned expectantly to the composer. "What do you think of that?" he asked. "I prefer the other one," said Reyer, and the young man left without playing it. When he was on the stairs the old composer leaned over the banisters and called to him. "Your future is assured, young man," he said. "You have nearly learned when to stop. But if you had let me off the first piece too"— And, chuckling, he went into his flat again.

Once a young lady sang him the grand air from "Sigurd" and sang it rather badly. "I was so frightened, cher maitre!" she said. "Not nearly as frightened as I was!" was the old man's answer.

On another occasion a lady said to him: "Oh, M. Reyer, when I hear the air of 'Doves' in 'Salammbo' I can positively see you writing it! I can see you in your beautiful home in Provence, between the mountain and the sea, drawing inspiration from the sunshine of the south and"— Reyer interrupted her. "There is something the matter with your eyesight, madame," he growled. "When I composed that air I was sitting on the top of an omnibus, smoking a pipe, and it was raining in torrents!"

One more example. A lady who lodged opposite him in the Rue de la Tour d'Auvergne was an ex-pupil of the conservatory, and this, it seemed to her, was the chance of a lifetime. The master could not help hearing her sing, and if he heard her he would be captivated and her future would be assured. So she opened her window and daily sang numbers from his "Salammbo." In due course a messenger knocked at her door. "M. Reyer has heard you," he began, and the singer believed that all her dreams were coming true. "M. Reyer has heard you," the messenger continued, "and he sends his compliments and would esteem it a favor if you would close your windows when you are practicing!"

Sarcastic.

THE GATES OF ST. JOHN.

Gates of St. John, where the mist is grey
And the wandering ships pass to and fro;
Where the air is damp with the smell o' the sea;
Gates of St. John, I love you so!

Gates of St. John, where the white gulls flit
High o'er the tiles of the rock-bound town;
Where the crested waves come in from the sea:
Gates of St. John, I hear you moan.

Gates of St. John, where the sky is warm,
Heavy the air with the autumn dew;
Where the wee bright sails go out to the dawn:
Gates of St. John, I long for you.

Gates of St. John, where the thunders crash
And the hurrying, towering, green seas flow,
Where the night is black and the gale is full:
Gates of St. John, I love you so!

—C. L. Armstrong, in The Canadian Magazine for April.

A NEPHEW OF FITZGERALD.

Former St. John, N.B., Man Was a Nephew of the Famous Poet.

Reference to the centenary of Edward Fitzgerald, author of the English version of the Persian poet, Omar Khayham, recalls the fact that a talented nephew of Tennyson's old friend lived nearly twenty years in Canada, and is buried at St. John. This was the Rev. John DeSoyres, graduate, fellow and occasional lecturer of St. John's College, Cambridge. Just returned from a short residence in St. Petersburg, as chaplain of the embassy there, he happened to see in a newspaper at his club an advertisement for a rector from St. John's Church, St. John, N.B.

"I've always wanted to see the colonies," he exclaimed, "and here's my chance."

This is the only explanation that people who knew him in Canada ever had of the cutting short of a brilliant career in the church at home. Mr. DeSoyres was not so shy as his distinguished uncle, but quite as eccentric, and that is probably the reason that when a successor to Canon DuMoulin at St. James's was wanted, he was unsuccessful; for his sermons were brilliant.

He was a great historian, an accomplished linguist, a connoisseur in art, and an athlete and sportsman, and had few peers as an after-dinner speaker. He used to say that "Old Fritz" had no great honor in his own family. "He was much about our house when I was a child, and our name for him was 'snuffy Uncle Edward.'"

Paper Railways.

Some interesting figures bearing upon railway incorporation and railway construction in Canada are contained in a report tabled in the Commons the other day.

The return shows that between 1888 and 1908 inclusive, Parliament chartered 203 railway companies, exclusive of subsidiary charters granted to the three big railway concerns, the C.P.R., the G.T.R., and the C.N.R. The charters of these 203 companies empowered them to build in all 63,809 miles of road, but only 25 companies actually constructed any portion of the lines authorized by their charters, with the result that only 1,072 miles of the 63,809 have been built.

It appears from the return that 86 of the 203 charters granted have lapsed, that in 88 cases extension of time for construction has been authorized, while in the cases of 42 companies two extensions have been granted and 18 charters have been extended for the third time.

Another return shows that 117 charters have been granted since 1900, of which 26 have lapsed. Of the 25,000 miles authorized by those charters, 393 1-2 miles have been constructed.

Construction of New Cars.

It is understood that plans are being effected for the construction of large and modernly-equipped car building shops, which will form the nucleus of a plant that will ultimately turn out finished locomotives built from British Columbia iron and steel. The shops will be built on the line at Westminster Junction, about twenty miles from Vancouver. Operations will probably be started at once, so that finished cars may be ready for the western movement of grain next autumn. For the summer service fifty new sleeping cars are being constructed, and it is expected that even with these there will be none too many to take care of the traffic offering.

To Import Deer.

W. Dod, representing the London Zoological Gardens, has left Vancouver on an expedition to capture white bear cubs in the north. Several small herds of English red deer will shortly be imported for breeding purposes, according to the B. C. provincial game warden.

"Fifty years ago," says Warden Williams, "a herd of one stag and six hinds were imported into New Zealand from the old country. The herd now number nearly 30,000. There is no reason why similar results should not be attained here. Our coast district is admirably suited for red deer."

How She Earned Her Living.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

I am not well satisfied with myself for my interest in Mollie Jenkins. In the first place, she is but seventeen; I am thirty. In the second place, she hadn't a cent in the world, being dependent upon her aunt, Miss Amelia Southworth. In the third place, I have a notion that she is a trifle too smart. Miss Southworth has a little income which will die with her. I wonder if Mollie isn't trying to get all she can of it into her own possession against the day of her aunt's demise. Lastly, it is to my interest as a clergyman that I shall marry, and my congregation are looking for me to take a suitable helpmeet. I shudder at the thought of announcing an engagement to them to a little chit like Mollie.

Miss Southworth is a maiden of seventy. Mollie lives with her, and Mollie's method of earning her living is to amuse her aunt. The aunt is only to be amused evenings by playing bridge, of which she is very fond. She was in her younger days an influential member of my congregation and is still an important member from the fact of her age and long connection with the church. Since it is necessary that I show her due attention I show it in playing bridge with her. It is in this way that I have become interested in Mollie, who always has a hand and sometimes plays dummy.

Miss Southworth is a native of England, where old ladies don't think it a sin to play cards for money. She insists that bridge is but a poor game without a small stake, and on sitting down to the game I found myself in a position either to offend her or do what is with us in America an unclerical act—play for a tenth of a cent a point. Being expected to play with one of the oldest and most respected members of my congregation, I yielded.

One evening Miss Southworth, Mollie and I were playing bridge. Mollie held a succession of good hands and was scoring points. Indeed, her luck ran so steadily that if the circumstances were otherwise I should have looked for trickery. Miss Southworth was beginning to get irritable. She had lost 67 cents, and there was no change of luck in sight. Mollie said a good deal about there being no fun in a one sided game, but went on winning. Presently Miss Southworth, while Mollie was dealing, said to her fiercely:

"Go upstairs!"

Mollie turned red as a beet, rose from the table and without a word left the room. Her aunt sat fanning herself angrily. I waited developments. They came in time.

"Did you see what she was doing?" she asked me.

"No."

"Cheating."

"Good gracious!"

"Only seventeen, and she can deal a pack of cards to put a good hand wherever she likes."

"But what was her object? She was having splendid hands."

"H'm! She dealt them to herself."

I settled up my score, paying 34 cents, and bade my hostess good evening.

"You won't say anything about this?" she said.

"Certainly not."

Nor was I likely to tell that I had been playing cards for money and one of the players had cheated. For the next week or two I lived in dread lest the matter should leak out. I suffered in another way. Somewhere down in my heart there was a disappointment.

One day I met Mollie on the street. If the act wouldn't have been noticeable I should have crossed before meeting her. She spoke to me smilingly and said:

"Auntie is waiting for you to come in again and play bridge."

"H'm!" I stammered. "Who is to take the other hands?"

"I am the only one unless some one happens in."

"Have you and your aunt made up that"—

"Oh, yes. She has forgiven me."

"H'm! Have you forgiven yourself?"

She looked up at me with an innocent expression that would have gone to my heart except for the sin. "There's nothing to forgive."

"Didn't you deal yourself good hands?"

"Not intentionally. They came to me by luck. But you know auntie can't stand to lose. When she does she gets ruffled and can't sleep. When she caught me I was dealing her a splendid no trump hand and she would have had everything her own way."

"I see. What evening would your aunt like to have me call?"

"Any evening; we're always at home."

"Very well. I'll be there tonight."

It's a dangerous thing for a man to think evil of a woman who attracts him and then find that he has been mistaken. Not only a great relief came to me, but there was something delightfully kind in little Mollie's trying to cheat her aunt into a night's slumber. Somehow I couldn't forget it. I was on my way to my study to write my next Sunday's sermon, but when I sat down to work my pen would write nothing but "Mollie."

I have done it. Mollie is to be my wife. I don't know how my congregation will like the match, but if they don't I fancy I can get another church. It will not be necessary for her to earn a living by dealing an old woman good hands at cards.

Tanners Driven to Canada.

Washington, May 21.—Offering an amendment to further reduce the duty on quebracho, a chestnut bark extract used in tanning, to a quarter of a cent a pound, Senator Lafollette yesterday declared that the tanning industry was being driven to Canada, where quebracho is admitted free of duty. He declared that the oak and hemlock have been killed off so that now only the inferior chestnut is left, which could be used successfully to make an extract to mix with the imported quebracho. By a vote of 29 to 38 the Lafollette amendment was rejected and the duty recommended by the committee, of half of one cent a pound, agreed to.

Madoc Mercury Burned Out.

Madoc, Ont., May 21.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the Harper brick block, occupied by The Mercury printing office and T. Christie, machine agent. The building and contents are a total loss. The insurance on the Harper block was $1,800 and on The Mercury $600.

Insists on Trial.

Winnipeg, May 21.—H. J. Ingram, barrister, of Brandon, returning officer there in the last election, who was one of the victims selected by Attorney-General Campbell's department for persecution, and against whom a stay of proceedings was made to prevent him from proving his innocence, has undertaken to force the courts to proceed with the charge. He refuses to be sacrificed, and is determined to show up the methods of political persecution, which have become the custom here.

Photos of Indian Listers.

London, Ont., May 21.—The difficulty of recognizing those who are on the prohibited liquor list in this city, the number being nearly 200, has aroused an agitation on the part of the hotelmen to be supplied with photos of all Indian listers. License Inspector Galpin favors it and the agitation is likely to end in all the thirst emporiums being supplied with a picture gallery annex.

Strike In Nova Scotia Mine.

Truro, N.S., May 21.—The boys, drivers and trappers of the Acadia Pit of the Drummond colliery at Westville are out on strike and the mine is closed down. They are demanding an increase of wages of 25 cents a day. It is reported that unless the boys return to work the mine will close down indefinitely. Several hundred men are employed in these mines.

MOTHER AND LAD ESCAPE

Lamp Explodes While Mrs. Edward Oldfield is Putting Little Ones to Bed and in Fire That Follows Four, Ranging in Age From Two to Seven, Lose Their Lives—Neighbors Attempt Rescue.

Toronto, May 21.—Four young children of Edward Oldfield, harness maker, in the employ of Samuel Trees & Co., were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the home of the Oldfields at the corner of Wychwood avenue and Vaughan road, Wychwood, about 10 o'clock last night.

The wife of Mr. Oldfield and her eldest son Ernest, were also slightly burned and cut with glass, but will recover. They were taken to the house of a neighbor, Mr. Hudson, where they were given medical treatment.

The mother was putting her five children to bed when a lamp exploded in her hand. She threw it downstairs, and in the excitement of the moment put her eldest boy, Ernest, out of a storey and a half window and jumped out after him. The blazing lamp started a conflagration, which spread rapidly and the distracted mother was unable to get back into the house after her little ones.

Four boys, Eddie, aged 2; Fred, aged 3; Willie, aged 5, and Charles, aged 7, were in bed, and before any of the neighbors arrived, the house had been almost completely destroyed. Two hours afterwards the charred bodies were taken from the ruins by the firemen and held for the arrival of Coroner Gilmour of West Toronto.

John Hilton, Wesley Moore and Mr. Rigby, made several vain efforts to reach the bedroom where the four Oldfield boys were asleep, but were forced out of the house by the consuming flames.

Death Ends Long Journey.

Walkerton, May 21.—C. E. Kilmer, electrical engineer, of Toronto and Southampton, aged 40, and brother of George Kilmer, K.C., in alighting from a train Wednesday night fell under the wheels. One leg was mangled and he died from shock. He was returning from Sweden, where he had been on a business trip for his firm, Kilmer, Pullen & Burnham, and was on his way to Southampton to his wife. He intended to stop over night here with his father. He leaves a wife and three small children, one a month old baby. According to one account, Kilmer, in his eagerness to meet his father, went to step off the train before it stopped.

Overcrowded Boat Upsets.

Quebec, May 21.—A report received here yesterday afternoon from Ste. Anne des Monts, some 250 miles east of this city, states that a party of about 35 people, who were returning from church, were upset while crossing the river and out of the number six adults and two children only were saved.

So far only three bodies have been recovered, those of Mrs. Lesvaseur, Mrs. Gervais and a little daughter of Napoleon Vaillancour. Arthur Deroy and Phillippe Simard are among the others.

Overcrowding of the boat caused the accident.

Boy Drowned In Don River.

Toronto, May 21.—Harold White, aged five, son of William White of 13 Napier street, was drowned in the Don, about 300 yards north of Queen street, at 7 o'clock last night.

Harold was playing with a lad named Francis Baker, on the piling along the edge of the water, and in attempting to reach an object in the water tumbled in. His companion summoned Frank Corish, 72 Hamilton street, who jumped into the water and after a short period of diving brought the body to shore.

Gallery Collapses.

Lisbon, May 21.—A serious accident occurred yesterday in the church belonging to a monastery near this city. During service a gallery containing 200 persons collapsed and fell upon a crowded congregation beneath. A panic followed. Seven bodies have been extricated from the ruins. Thirty-five persons received serious injuries and 50 were less badly hurt.

In Case of War.

Melbourne, Australia, May 21.—Hon. G. F. Pearce, Minister of Defence, states that the Commonwealth Government has already cabled the Admiralty that the Australian destroyers will be placed under its control immediately war is declared or even when danger is threatened.

Bridge Jumper May Die.

New York, May 21.—With the intention of adding to his record as a high diver, Albert House, a carpenter, aged 25, living in Brooklyn, jumped frm the Williamsburg Bridge, a drop of 135 feet, into the East River early yesterday, and will likely die.

Fisherman Will Pack.

Sydney, N.S., May 21.—The "striking" lobster fishermen have decided to become packers. A telegram has been received from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries granting the necessary licenses.

PLANS NEARLY READY.

Specifications Being Completed For New Quebec Bridge.

Ottawa, May 21.—Plans for the new Quebec bridge are so far advanced that the completed plans may be laid before the Government within a short time.

The new bridge will have a span almost as great as the 1,800-foot span of the first bridge. This means that the present piers, which cost a million and a half dollars, will be made use of. However, the new bridge will avoid the old weakness of the single tower, so the present plans will probably have to be duplicated on the river side. This will mean some shortening of the centre span and the length may be reduced to 1,600 feet. The cantilever design will be retained and the structure will be built of nickel steel, which has vastly greater strength than the carbon steel of which the first bridge was built.

The new bridge will not only carry itself safely, but will carry any load that can be transported over 80-pound rails. The height of the bridge has been definitely fixed at 150 feet above water at high tide. The cost should be between six and seven millions.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The 18th annual meeting of the International League of Press Clubs will be held at Bermuda May 22-27.

The palace of King Apries of Egypt, a contemporary of the Prophet Jeremiah, has been unearthed at Memphis.

Dr. James M. Barkley of Detroit was elected moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly in the United States.

The Allan steamer Tunisian, which had her bow plates injured in the ice near Newfoundland, has arrived at Quebec with 1,200 passengers.

Reports from different sections of the province indicate that crops are in better condition than was supposed, after the long spell of wet, cold weather.

Fifteen thousand workmen in Paris pretended to be strikers and caused a riot, in which numbers were injured by the police and soldiers who attempted to quell the disturbance.

In lessening danger in navigation and delay in transportation, the submarine bell has become an effective agent and is being adopted by maritime interests generally, according to the hydrographic officers of the U.S. navy.

New French Scandal.

Paris, May 21.—What is becoming known as l'affaire Marix threatens to involve statesmen, judicial authorities and lawyers in a grave scandal. Marix is a captain of artillery and rapporteur of the council of war at Cherchemidi Prison, the highest military tribunal of the nation. He was arrested on Saturday last on charges of selling pardons. A broker was arrested as his accomplice.

It develops that Marix's office in the council chamber at Cherchemidi Prison was transformed into a kind of office for all manner of illegal transactions, such as triffic in decorations, the purchase of pardons by military delinquents and other operations of a similar nature.

Would Settle Controversy.

Montreal, May 21.—The proceedings of the Montreal Methodist district meeting yesterday were enlivened by a discussion which arose concerning the controversy existing between Rev. Dr. Workman and the authorities of the Wesleyan Theological College, resulting in a lawsuit. A resolution was carried unanimously: "That with a view to attain a satisfactory termination of the question at issue, out of court, the chairman appoint a committee to do what it can under the circumstances."

Dr. Workman promised meanwhile to leave the legal proceedings in abeyance.

Labor Exchanges.

London, May 21.—The Government's scheme for labor exchanges and insurance provides for the opening of about 230 exchanges throughout the country, with advisory committees representing employers and employes. The estimated cost of working this scheme is £200,000 yearly for the first ten years and thereafter 170,000 pounds.

The insurance scheme will make necessary the raising of between 5 pence and 6 pence a man a week, the fund to be contributed jointly by the workman, the employer and the state.

Seven Years For Horse Thief.

Edmonton, May 21.—William Oscar King, arrested a year ago for horse-stealing, subsequently escaping from the mounted police, was sentenced yesterday afternoon to seven years after pleading guilty to ten counts.

He seemingly became penitent after his arrest a year ago and offered to show the police where a number of murdered men were buried. He made his escape in the dusk through a broken window. A few weeks ago King foolhardily ventured back into the city and was recognized.

New Power Secret.

New York, May 21.—Following the incorporation of the Tesla Propulsion Co., with $1,000,000 capital stock, at Albany, to exploit one of Nikola Tesla's inventions, Mr. Tesla announces the adoption of the device by the Alabama Consolidated Coal & Iron Co.

"I have discovered a mechanical principle, entirely new and of the greatest economic value," Mr. Tesla said. "It is a principle which minimizes the size of the power producing plant and increases to a maximum the power produced."

Lieut.-Col. Rankin Dead.

Chatham, May 21.—Lieut.-Col. John Brown Rankin, K.C., provincial drainage referee, died yesterday in Cleveland, following an operation for gall-stones. Col. Rankin was one of the foremost barristers in Ontario. He was prominent in military matters, becoming lieutenant-colonel of the 24th Kent Regiment on its re-organization in 1901, an office he held until his retirement last winter. He was over 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and several children.

Not Heading East.

Montreal, May 21.—D. D. Mann left yesterday for Quebec. He sails today on the Empress of Britain. William Mackenzie will also be a passenger on the same boat.

Mr. Mann stated yesterday that the C.N.R. would not build to the Atlantic seaboard, as there are already too many roads down there.

Will Hoist Black Flag.

Rome, May 21.—The Giordano Bruno Club, an anti-clerical club, which is noted for its active propaganda against the Vatican, has purchased a house opposite the Vatican, on which the club purposes to hoist a black flag and to permanently burn a red beacon on the roof to symbolize the burning of the apostate priest, after which the club is named.

Brandy Chocolates Again.

London, Ont., May 21.—Peter Mandas, who runs a Greek candy store here, will appear on Saturday to answer a charge of selling brandy chocolates. Government Inspector Ayearst and Provincial Detectives Champagne and Coorian will give evidence in the case.

STABLEMAN GOT LIQUOR

For Blacklisted Man on Friday Last—Was Allowed to Go Because He Did Not Know the Accused Was "Posted."

"INDIAN LIST" MAN FINED.

A young man on the blacklist was fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $12.60, at the police court this morning, for having been drunk on Friday last. He pleaded guilty.

It appears that the accused drove into the yard of an hotel and asked the stableman to go into the bar and buy him two bottles of lager. The defendant returned again, and this time had a flask of whisky, purchased for him. He admitted having done the same thing on the previous day.

A charge for supplying liquor to a blacklisted man was preferred against the stableman. Mr. W. H. Moore, K. C., conducted the prosecution. At first, the accused pleaded guilty, adding that he did not know that the man he secured it for was on the "Indian list." His Worship said that he did not wish to take any advantage of the man and the prosecution was unable to prove that the accused had any knowledge of the young man being blacklisted. Consequently the case against him was dismissed.

MORE NEW COTTAGES

Colony at Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Is Growing.

Contractor Fife and his assistants have completed the carpenter work on Mr. T. E. Finlay's summer cottage at Stony Lake. The cottage is built on the first point west of the Burnham cottage on the Dummer shore, and has a good view from every quarter of the east of the lake. The cottage is 35x28 feet. Work on Mr. C. E. Pakenham's cottage east of Crowe's Landing, has also been commenced, and will be completed early in the season. It is rumoured that another cottage will be erected this season on the south shore of the lake, near Mr. Finlay's cottage.—Norwood Register.

WOMAN THREW ACID.

Havelock Case Has an Interesting Feature Not Known Here Before.

There is apparently more behind Havelock's acid throwing case than is yet known. Mention was referred to it a few days ago in a despatch which did not state that the thrower was a woman. The Havelock Standard refers to the affair as follows:

Mr. M. J. Anderson, of Preneveau was severely burned about the face and neck on Sunday evening about 8:30, when a lady threw carbolic acid in his face as he was walking along Quebec street with a young lady of town. Mr. Anderson says he recognized the acid thrower, and a summons has been issued for her appearance in court on Friday afternoon at one o'clock to answer to the charge, which is a most serious one. The case has caused great interest and comment and its conclusion will be anxiously awaited by many.

MORE DOG OWNERS

Were Fined To-day for Neglecting to Get Tags.

Two more negligent dog owners were in court to-day. Not having procured dog tags was the cause of their presence. One said that he was sending his dog to Toronto on Saturday and His Worship gave him until that date to either get rid of the canine or procure a tag. The other man was fined one dollar in addition to having to pay the tax.

Commencing Saturday, May 22, 1909, the "Round Trip" Cars will run every afternoon and evening during the Summer Months. 60 minutes of fresh air for 5 cents.

WILL NOT RACE TOM LONGBOAT

Alfie Shrubb Wishes to Rest up for his Contest With Billy Sherring.

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Toronto, Ont., May 21.—Alfred Shrubb has wired from Montreal that he will not race with Longboat in Toronto Victoria Day. He wishes to rest up for the contest with Sherring in New York on the 29th. Shrubb wired Winnipeg to-day offering to race Appleby there for $1,000 a side. The offer will likely be accepted, and A rose, the new Indian may make it a three-cornered event.

REGIMENT'S FINE DRILL

Last Night at the Armouries—Canon Davidson Addressed a Few Remarks to the Members on Their Duties as Hosts.

HAD A GOOD TURNOUT

There was a fine turnout at the final drill of the 57th Regiment, before Victoria Day, last evening, at the Armouries. Two hours were spent in good, hard drilling and that the local soldiers will make a creditable showing on Sunday and Monday goes without saying.

Rev. Canon Davidson, chaplain of the regiment, addressed a few remarks to the members at the conclusion of the drill last night. He said that it devolved upon them to be good hosts and to give the visiting soldiers a pleasant and enjoyable outing that they would go away from here favourably impressed with Peterborough. He hoped that they would all turn out to Divine service.

The only order read last night is as follows:

Headquarters, Peterborough,
May 20, 1909.

Order by O. C.,
57th Regiment.

In accordance with order of May 17th, 1909, the Catholic party with the Bugle Band of the 57th Regiment will parade on Sunday, May 23rd, at 8.45 to St. Peter's Cathedral, there to attend Divine service at 9.15 a.m.

Brantford, Ont., May 21.—Brantford will have no Sunday cars to Mohawk Park. Grand Valley Radial repudiates the announcement made by the superintendent.

STREET RAILWAY PLAN

Will Furnish Accommodation for Crowds on the Holiday.

The Street Railway Co. are arranging an elaborate special car system for Monday in order to enable the citizens and visitors to enjoy the round trips. There will be two open cars with trailers and the other cars will probably have trailers to handle crowds. A fast line will be run to the Driving Park for the horse races and with good weather it is expected that an immense crowd will be out.

GETS SEVEN YEARS

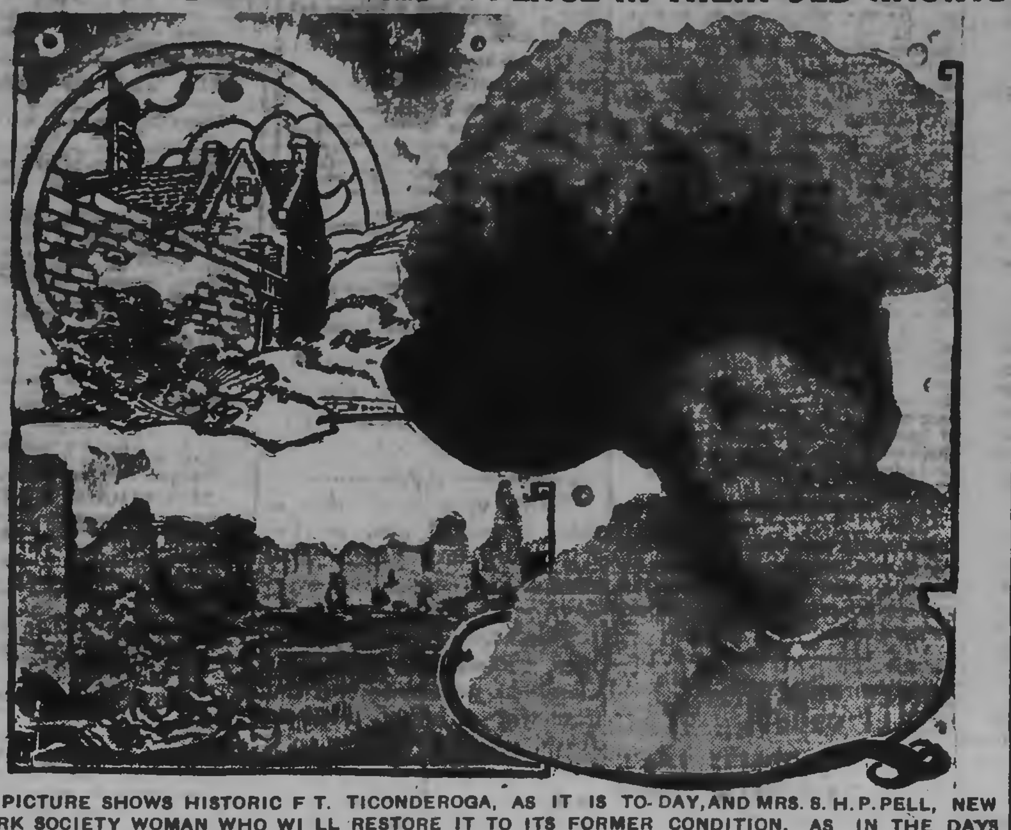
DOG WAS POISONED

Alderman Morgan Lost Valuable Canine To-day.

Alderman Morgan lost a valuable fox terrier this morning. Some one left poison in its tracks, and the poor beast ate some of the poison. There have been few canines poisoned of late, but the dog poisoner has evidently resumed his duties in the killing off of Peterborough dogs.

IT WILL COST $500,000 TO GIVE GHOSTS OF DEAD ARMIES A PLACE IN THEIR OLD HAUNTS



PICTURE SHOWS HISTORIC FT. TICONDEROGA, AS IT IS TO-DAY, AND MRS. S. H. P. PELL, NEW YORK SOCIETY WOMAN WHO WILL RESTORE IT TO ITS FORMER CONDITION, AS IN THE DAYS BEFORE THE REVOLUTION.

New York, May 21.—"It is gone-gone-gone," say the pulsating sounds of nature, keeping time with your thoughts. "Montcalm, Abercrombie, Howe, Amherst, Allen, St. Clair, Burgoyne—Indian, French, English, colonist—burning torch, savage cry, pouring blood, booming gun."

Twenty years ago an author who loved the ruins of old Fort Ticonderoga, in New York, thus pictured and regretted the passing of the old stronghold. Now comes a New York society woman who wants it restored as far as possible.

She is willing to live on the scene of the bloody battles, and the ghosts of French, Indians, English and colonists may traverse her halls as they please. They'll be welcome, she says.

The woman is Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell. The old fort and its surroundings have belonged to the Pell family for over 100 years, and it was Mrs. Pell herself, who, charmed with the historical richness of the place pleaded with her wealthy husband and with her father, Col. Robt. M. Thompson, to restore the fort as it was in revolutionary times.

The result is that workmen are now toiling amid the ruins, preparing to raise again the old walls about which the colonists, including Putnam, Stark and others, were first taught in the school of war and prepared to take their parts in the revolution against Great Britain. The fort will be the family's summer home.

Fort Ticonderoga marked the spot where Champlain, the explorer, fought Indians in 1609, 11 years before the Mayflower landed.

Allen's battle cry at Ticonderoga has won a place in our history. "In the name of the Almighty God and the Continental Congress," he shouted, "I demand your surrender."

President Taft will view the ruins of the old fort and the work of restoration when he attends the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain next Fourth of July.

HISTORY MADE AT TICONDEROGA

Champlain fought Iroquois Indians, 1609.

French, who claimed all of upper North America, erect fort, 1756.

English, under Abercrombie, routed by Montcalm, 1758.

Capture of fort by Amherst, Englishman, from French, 1759.

Capture from English by Ethan Allen of 13 colonies.

Capture of fort by Burgoyne of the English, 1777.

British evacuated fort, upon Burgoyne's defeat, 1778.

British Gen. Haldibrand occupied fort again in 1780, but later turned it over to State of New York.

EMPIRE DAY AT NORMAL

Was Fittingly Celebrated by the Students and Staff of Normal School This Morning—Patriotic Songs and Speeches.

REV. J. R. WEBB, PRESENT.

Empire Day was most appropriately celebrated this morning at the Normal School, when at the regular opening hour the students and staff congregated in the spacious Assembly hall. The programme was patriotic in every respect and was well planned. The opening number was "The Maple Leaf," sung by the entire assembly. Rev. J. R. Webb gave an address on the subject of "Our King, Our Country and Our Duty." It, too, was stirringly patriotic. Rev. Mr. Webb handled his subject well, speaking rather briefly but to the point. Other speakers were Mr. F. J. Keyes, of the school staff, and the principal, Mr. Duncan Walker, both of whom referred to Empire Day, dwelling upon its origin and its significance. Other songs sung were "Oh, Canada," "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King." Miss Helen Davies played the accompaniments.

The occasion was much appreciated and enjoyed by those who were present and the first Empire Day celebration in the new Normal School will be remembered as an exceptionally appropriate one and a fine success.

PETITION FOR RELEASE

Members of Parliament Sign for Release of Charles McGill.

Perhaps Charles McGill may be a free man this summer, relieved from the burden of three more years' servitude. At all events, a petition is being circulated with a view to securing his release. Those promoting the move are saying very little about it just now, but have succeeded in getting a good many signatures, including those of twenty members of Parliament, and the manager of a leading Toronto Bank.

Efforts have been made to secure the endorsation of members of the Board of Trade. Some have been successful.

McGill was sentenced in March, 1907, to five years' imprisonment.

SPORTING EDITION

The Examiner Will Issue an Extra at 7.30 O'clock, Giving All the Details of the King's Plate and Other Woodbine Events.

ALL SPORTING NEWS.

Recognizing the interest that is being taken in Peterborough in the running of the King's Plate to-morrow, at the Woodbine, the Examiner has made arrangements to issue another sporting extra to-morrow night at 7:30 o'clock in which full particulars will be given of the historic race, and also of the other events at the Woodbine.

Arrangements have been completed for a good service from the track and all the races will be fully reported. In addition the results at other tracks will be given so that the followers of the ponies will have all the "dope" down to seven o'clock.

In addition the extra will cover all the important events in the sporting line, including the lacrosse games, the Eastern League game between Newark and Toronto, and the results of other Eastern, American and National League games. You will be able to find all that is doing in sport to-morrow in the Examiner's 7:30 o'clock edition.

Attention will be paid to the Y. M. C. A.-Bethany Midland Football League game, and to the walking matches to be held by the Y. M. C. A. at Nicholls' Oval, of which Champion Hoagland will be the starter.

Be sure to get the Examiner extra if you want to know what is doing in the sporting world locally or outside. ..Price two cents from the newsboys or at the office.

YOUNG MEN FINED

For Fighting on the Street—Pleaded Guilty.

Two young men mixed it up some on Wednesday night and as a result were both fined at the police court this morning. One of them was taxed $2.00 and costs, amounting to $4.60, while the other only had to pay two dollars. The first one was the cause of the trouble and had to pay the costs.

ROBBED AT STATION

Former Peterborough Man Was Relieved of One Hundred Dollars at Hamilton—No Trace of the Money.

GOT OFF TO HAVE LUNCH.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, May 20.—Getting a little lunch at Hamilton station last night cost S. Sager a hundred dollars more than the regular price.

Mr. Sager, who lives at 1296 Hurdle avenue, Buffalo, was a passenger on the C. P. R. for Toronto, en route for Latchford, where he is interested in the Lost Chance Mine.

At Hamilton he was hungry and left the train. He was stepping aboard again, after his visit to the restaurant, when three men, one of whom carried a valise, crowded him on the platform. Everybody apologized, and when Mr. Sager got back into the car he missed his pocketbook containing the money.

He gave an alarm and Detective Macdonald of the Hamilton force, held the train while a thorough investigation was made, but without any success.

FOR STREWING SAWDUST

Luke Milaney Charged With the Offence This Morning.

For allowing sawdust to sprinkle on the street while driving through the city, Luke Milaney was brought before the Magistrate at the police court this morning. He said that he was not aware that he was strewing the road and promised that he would go back over the road and sweep it up. His Worship allowed him to do so, enlarging the case for a week.

CONCERT TO-NIGHT

57th Regimental Band, Under the Direction of Mr. Gliddon, to Give Choice Programme in the Conservatory Hall.

OFFICERS TO ATTEND.

There promises to be a big crowd in attendance at the Conservatory Music Hall this evening, when the 57th Regimental Band, under the direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, will give the first concert of the season, offering to the public a programme that is entirely new and that contains a number of the finest selections that the band has ever attempted. The officers of the 57th Regiment will attend in uniform.

Following is the programme:

March—"Our Director," Bigelow.

Overture—"Barber of Seville," Rossini.

Cornet Solo—"Sing me to Sleep." (Sergeant Hughes) Edwin Greene.

An Indian Intermezzo—"Rainbow," Heinrich.

Selection—"The Time, The Place, and The Gird," Howard.

Two-step Novelty—"Hoope-e-Kack," Allen.

Medley—"Don't Take Me Home," Von Tilzer; (introducing "Just One Sweet Doll," "Some Time," "When Highland Mary Did the Highland Fling," "Taffy," "Schooners That Pass in the Night," "I Remember," "Don't Take Me Home)."

Valse—"Capriccio," (Miss Julia Choate), Wieniaski.

Grand Pastorale and Hunting Fantasia—"Le Fremersberg," Koennemann.

NO RESERVE CASE.

Justice Latchford Refuses the Application Made by Mr. D. O'Connell on Behalf of Maurice Ryan.

Mr. Justice Latchford this morning refused the application for a reserved case on behalf of Maurice Ryan, who was convicted at North Bay of having murdered his brother, F. J. Ryan.

The application was made by D. O'Connell, of Peterborough, on the grounds of improper admission of evidence, and of misdirection to the jury by the trial judge.—Toronto Star.

IS BUYING FARM FOR FOURTH TIME

Mr. William Middleton Sold His Farm Three Times and now Buys It Again

Probably a record in farm purchases is that of Mr. William Middleton, of the first line of Smith. He has bought his farm four times, and sold it three times. About twelve years ago he bought it for the first time, paying $2,600, and a short time ago he bought it again for the fourth time, paying $4,500. The last purchase price was nearly four times the first. It is back to the old home once more for Mr. Middleton, and it is likely that he will remain on it now.

A HANDSOME TURNOUT FOR SALE

I am instructed by Mr. Cluxton to sell by private sale his complete turnout, consisting of a beautiful thorough-bred Scotch Hackney mare, Stanhope carriage, new buggy harness, saddle and bridle, etc. I will sell these either separately or the turn-out complete. As this is the most handsome outfit in Peterborough, a rare opportunity is offered. 3d-118

DR. SISLER GAVE FINE ADDRESS

A special meeting of Peterborough Tent, No. 69, Knights of the Maccabees, was held last night at which a large class was initiated and twenty-one applications for membership were presented. Dr. L. E. Sisler, of Port Huron, Mich., the Supreme Record Keeper, S. W. Trusler, of Camlachie, Ont., the Provincial Commander, and Deputies Merritt and Yule, were present, and Dr. Sisler gave a most inspiring address, which was greatly appreciated by the Knights present. Peterborough Tent is in a most flourishing condition at the present, and the growth in membership is steady and sure.

DECORATIONS FOR HOLIDAY

Mr. W. F. Turner, of Messrs. J. Turner & Sons, left this morning for Parry Sound, to arrange for decorating that town. Mr. R. H. Turner, with a staff of men, also went to Lindsay this morning to decorate that town for the Knights of Columbus gathering on Victoria Day. Mr. Jas. Campbell of the same firm, went to Stirling with a staff to decorate that village for the 24th.

THREE WERE MURDERED

Woman Kills Her Children by Cutting Their Throats With a Razor and Then Tried to Commit Suicide.

THEY WILL LIKELY DIE.

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Middleton, Conn., May 21.—A tragedy was enacted in the town of Chatham, eight miles south of East Hampton early to-day, when Mrs. Lewis Carstem, 35 years old, wife of Capt. Lewis Carstem, killed her ten-year-old son, Lewis, and her ten-month-old baby, and fatally wounded her son, John, seven years old, by cutting their throats with a razor. She then inflicted a gash in her own throat and is not expected to live.

LT. COL. RANKIN DEAD.

Former Resident of Peterborough Passes Away in Chatham.

Chatham, May 20.—Lt.-Col, John Brown Rankin, K. C., provincial drainage referee, died this morning in Cleveland, following an operation for gallstones. Col. Rankin was one of the foremost barristers in Ontario. He was prominent in military matters, becoming lieutenant-colonel of the 24th Kent Regiment on its reorganization in 1901, an office he held until his retirement last winter. He was over 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and several children.

The late Lieutenant-Colonel Rankin was well known in Peterborough and this neighbourhood, as he was born and educated here. His father was a merchant in Peterborough and the deceased will be remembered by many who will regret to learn of his death. He had been a resident of Chatham for many years.

MR. O'CONNELL ON COMMITTEE

Building is Being Erected to Serve as Home for Catholic Students.

The State Council having approved the Knights of Columbus in the Province of Ontario will undertake the raising of about $25,000 to erect a home for the Roman Catholic studetns attending Toronto University.

A committee composed of Messrs. O. K. Fraser, Brockville; Daniel O'Connell, K.C., Peterborough, and J. E. Day, K. C., Toronto, has been appointed, and they will look after the raising of the funds. The memorial issued by the order with reference to the matter sets forth that there are between 4,000 and 5,000 attending the University, and of that number 150 are Catholics.

FOOTBALL ANNUAL NOW PUBLISHED

There has just come to hand a copy of the 1909 annual of the Ontario Association Football League. This book contains one hundred pages, and is the official guide for this Province. The contents include the latest amendments to the constitution and rules of play, as well as the lists of officers and constitutions of the several leagues and associations which form the Ontario League. In addition there are instructions to players and referees, and the off-side problem is clearly explained by a series of diagrams and notes. As the Midland League has withdrawn the publication of its own annual, and has adopted the Ontario Annual as the "authorized version" of information, the local fans will have an interest in the latest edition. The 1909 issue is made very attractive by twenty-eight full-page "cuts" of the most prominent football men, and the champion teams in the several series and leagues. In this feature, the Midland has fared well, as the following are shown:

Dr. Devitt, of Bowmanville, this year's president; the Quakers, 1907, Intermediate champions; The Quakers, 1907; Senior champions, and the Bowmanville Juniors, 1907 champions in that series.

The Midland champions have on only one occasion attempted to secure the Ontario honours, and that was in 1905, when Locust Hill won the Intermediate series for this Province.

The Midland championship should be considered as a valuable prize when the Stratton Cup is the trophy that can be held for a year by the winners, and the opportunity to compete for the Ontario championship is worthy of note, while the thought of a grand picture in the Ontario Annual is indeed an incentive to strenuous effort. The sad and the glad part of it all is that only one team in each series can enjoy all these blessings at once, while all the other teams have taken the "beatings."

FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1909.

THE SESSION OF 1909.

The session of Parliament, which practically came to an end on Wednesday night, was an unusually short one, as sessions of late years go. And it might have been shorter still, if the Opposition had not wasted time in renewing the scandal campaign of last session, which met with so stern a rebuke at the hands of the electors. Matters arising outside of Parliament and not directly connected at the time of their currency with any member of the House, were intruded upon parliamentary attention. This is not to say that matters were brought up which should have been refused cognizance, but it should have been taken in another way and in a way not to interfere with the legitimate business of legislation. The Mayes affidavit matter might have been threshed in the Public Accounts Committee, where there was full opportunity for eliciting the full facts, which would have enabled Opposition to discuss the matter intelligently, instead of wasting the time of Parliament by talking in the dark and dealing with a practically hypothetical situation. The Central New Brunswick Railway Commission report matter could have been disposed of in ten minutes if any Conservative had had the courage to make it the basis of a direct charge against Hon. Mr. Pugsley—the only one that Parliament could legitimately deal with. Yet, the session has been an important one, and a useful one, one demonstrating that the Liberal Government, like the party it represents, is a party of progress and foresight. While evidently afraid to put themselves on record as opposed to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, the Opposition did the next best, or worst, thing,"damn with faint praise; assent with civil leer." The Government's aid has come through the session with a record of successfully attempting the achievement of statesmanship; the Opposition have gained the glory of conducting a campaign, which it would, perhaps be flattering to dignify wth ttle of ward politics. The Government has strengthened its claim to power and the Opposition has also strengthened the justification of its remaining in Opposition.

CANADA'S WAY.

The jingo element of our population, though honestly sincere, no doubt, in their demand that Canda should build fifteen million Dreadnoughts for presentation, by the dozen, to Great Britain ,are fortunately only a corporal's guard, compared with the great mass of sane, popular sentiment. The men who advocate the Dreadnought type of aidig the Empire's defence are not one whit more loyal than those who favour more moderate measures, and are unable to share the irresponsible recklesseness of the extremists. The correspondence that has passed between the Canadian Government and the Colonial office on the head of the resolution unanimously adopted by the Canadian Parliament, proposing the establishment of a naval force for Canadian defence, and equally on occasion available for Imperial defence, shows that the Imperial authorities warmly welcome Canada's proposed cooperation. Our proposal in the matter of sharing the burdens of Imperial defence will be considered at the suggested defence conference to be held in London, next July. At this conference representatives of the self-governing "Dominions beyond the seas" will be present to confer with the Home authorities. The whole wide question of imperial defence and the distribution of responsibility in connection with it will be carefully discussed. The rather showy offer of a Dreadnought by New Zealand and the more rational, but no less effective proposed action of Canada, will be considered in connection with the whole broad question of imperial defence, the plans of the British admiralty, the attitude of Germany, and everything that can reasonably bear upon the big question. Canada will be represented at this conference by Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The representative for New Zealand will probably be Sir Joseph Ward. Australia's attitude has followed the more deliberate course of Canada, and its parliament will postpone the discussion of the naval question until the conference has been held, at which it will be represented. All this sober and deliberate action shows that there is no need of the panic that has seized a good many otherwise sensible persons, who dream Dreadnoughts, and dine on Dreadnoughts, and in general comport themselves with the hysterical impetuosity of the shrieking sisterhood, the Suffragettes.

Canada ranks tenth in the shipowning countries.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Monetary Times estimates the fire losses in Canada in April at $710,650. For the first four months the losses by fire totalled $4,325,345, and the fire fatalities at 58.

It is a proposition of simple justice that in politics or civics, or any walk of life in this free country, creed should not debar a man from an office he has the qualities to fill, or commend him to an office for which he is unfitted. England is fast eliminating creed disabilities in the direction of conformity to this principle.

The demands of its progress and prosperity have compelled the Evening Reformer, Galt, to take another big forward step, represented by the installation of a 6,000-an-hour, Cox Duplex Perfecting Press. Congratulations. The Reformer possesses all the energy and enterprise suggested by its name and is an excellent representation of the stirring town whose interest it does so much to serve and advance.

The Fredericton Gleaner admits that the "impartial" tribunal which inquired into the Central Railway matter published a "progress" report twelve days before the general elections. It will also find that the shortage reported in that document was $30,000 in excess of the sum subsequently stated in the final report. It was, in fact, the Globe declares, a false document, even if the commission's own final figures be accepted.

Victoria Day will stand aye revered in the Canadian calendar. Though the noble queen and noble woman, whose birthday gave it a name, has been dead for nearly ten years, the memory of the day, the honour to its significance ,seems to be as spontaneous and new as it was when Queen Victoria was living her great life. The day claims its own justification as strikingly in the realm of human affairs as Christmas day does in its spiritual domain.

The Guelph Herald wishes it to be understood that the Conservative party has no feeling of hostility against the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway scheme. Nevertheless, they have very successfully dissembled their love. Of course belittling the process of the work, criticizing and maligning the quantity of the work, and talking down the credit of Canada in order that the borrowing of money to provide for construction may be obstructed is a peculiar way of showing love for the Transcontinental.

Mr. Wm. Mackenzie, of the team, Mackenzie and Mann, is off to England for more money to build more railway. This energetic syndicate of two has filed plans for fifteen hundred miles of railway—nine hundred in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and six hundred in Ontario. Considering everything these two great railway magnates have made a big score off their own bats. They have done much to develop Canadian resources; and if, in the process, some money has come to them they should be little blamed. It is such men that do their shate, and more than their share, to make the country.

A MISCHIEVOUS DISTINCTION

(Brockville Times)-

In a recent issue of the Peterborough Examiner we notice an editorial article in answer to the Mail's demand that a practical labourer should be made Minister of Labour in preference to a theorist like Mr. Mackenzie King. In the course of the article the Examiner charges the Mail with making the demand to embarrass the Laurier Government from party reason and not from a genuine solicitude for the workingmen. The Examiner makes the following very sensible comments

> Who is the workingman- He is the man behind the yard-stick, he is the man in the ditch, the broker in his office, the man at the lathe, the bookkeeper at his desk; the doctor in his gig, the blacksmith at the bellows, the minister of the crown, who works more hours a day than any navvy on this earth; the man behind the pen that writes these words,the printer that puts them into type, the—in fact we are all working men, that is, any of us, who are worth our salt, and it is only the snobbery of the demagogue which sets one portion of our population in a class by itself and, with an air of offensive patronage, labels them —brands them — "working men." when some political animus to be indulged.

We can heartily endorse these sentiments of the Peterborough Examiner. We never hear or read of this excessive solicitude for the "workingman" without suspicion and uneasiness. We observe it with suspicion because in most cases the man who is genuinely and sincerely concerned about the cause of what is known as "labour" does not talk about it, but prefers to show by his acts the genuineness of his desires. We observe it with uneasiness because it is tending to make a most mischievous class distinction where none should exist. As the Examiner says, we are practically all labouring men in Canada. In this country we have no use for drones and discourage them with vigour. He that will not work, neither shall he eat. Furthermore, the men who are thius offensively patronised by the demagogues and vote-hunting party politicians resent this form of snobbery. They do not wish to be molly-coddled or fawned upon, but rather to be treated like self-respecting, intelligent men and judged upon their merits like anyone else. They comprehend what every intelligent man comprehends, — that the best friend of labour is the man who aims to give honest, clean government to all alike, without especial privileges to any class, but with the welfare of the state as a whole as the ultimate object of his efforts.

It is time that this affectation of solicitude for the "workingman" was dropped in Canada. It is mischievous and it does not for a minute deceive the workingman so-called. Let us hear more of the dignity and pleasure of handicrafts and manual arts and the high degree of science, skill and acute intelligence demanded by those who engage in them.

Commencing Saturday, May 22, 1909, the "Round Trip" Cars will run every afternoon and evening during the Summer Months. 60 minutes of fresh air for 5 cents.

APSLEY SCHOOL PROBLEM AGAIN

Apsley, May 17th.

To The Peterborough Examiner

Mr. Editor.—Would you kindly give me a little space in your paper to reply to an article I saw in The Examiner regarding the Apsley School question which was in some ways false and misleading as the facts will show. The school house stands one mile North-east of the village and has never been called more, but your correspondent has evidently been in the habit of charging mileage, and also out of the thirty-eight pupils only two live in the immediate vicinity of the School House, which is also wrong. The two pupils referred to live three-quarters of a mile and one mile North and East of School and he says two of the trustees live in Chandos which is not the case at all, as only one lives in Chandos. Now sir, the facts the these: About 20 years ago this School question was threshed out to a finish and the present School site was chosen by the whole section and a new School house erected and equipped with modern desks and everything for a first-class rural School. And the portion of Chandos included in the section was taxed the same as any other part of the section for debentures and other School rates, and everything was running smoothly and right until five or six years ago when a man terming himself a municipal expert came to reside in the village. He does not nor never did own a dollar's worth of property in either townships, nor has he a child to attend school; but still he must be busy and when he has no business of his own to attend to, he noses into other people's business and he is the man who is doing the kicking, with not more than two helpers from the village whose children are too good to walk one mile to meet the other pupils who have to walk just as far. If the school was moved to the village it would simply cut off some of the rate payers that they could not reach any school. What we claim is this: the new schol houses are all established on the South-west and North-east and tampering with any one of them would affect them all. And there are three Union Schools in the two municipalities which have been running as Unions for fifteen years or more. If your correspondent will look up the School Act he will find that any section organized before 1901 remains a Union to all intents and purposes.

Thanking you Mr. Editor in advance,

Ratepayer.

MILK COMMISSION NAMED.

From Farm and Dairy.

It is understood that the personel of the Provincial Commission to investigate the whole milk question in Ontario is practically determined. The commission will consist of four members, the chairman being Dr. O. R. Pyne of Toronto, an expert analyst and brother of Hon Dr. Pyne. The other three members of the Legislature, who will serve without remuneration, are Mr J. R. Dargavel of Leeds, ex-President of the Dairymen's Association, Mr. Finlay G. Macdiarmid of West Elgin, and Mr. W. F. Nickle of Kingston, where the milk problem has assumed important proportions. The Secretary of the commission has not yet been appointed, but it is expected that he will be named at the next meeting of the Cabinet.

The decision to appoint the commission was reached by the Legislature on the resolution of Mr. W. K McNaught, North Toronto. The scope of the work will be comprehensive and will cover the whole Province. It is anticipated that the commission will inaugurate its work before the end of the present month.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

ST. CATHARINES LACROSSE TEAM WILL PLAY HERE ON MAY 24th BIG GAME FOR THE HOLIDAY

The big event in the sporting line in Peterborough on Monday will be the lacrosse match at Riverside Park in the afternoon, when the fast St. Catharines team will cross sticks with the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, who will thus make their debut for the season against a very classy bunch of players. St. Kitts always has a good team and the twelve they will send here for the holiday attraction will take a lot of beating. The locals have a number of dark horses up their sleeve, whom they will uncover on Monday, and it should be a red-hot game all the way. That there will be barrels of excitment goes without saying, as the majority of the visiting soldiers from St. Catharnes will be on hand to root for their team. They are all lacrosse fans in the Garden City, and the red-coats will be on hand to encourage their team. There should be a big crowd on hand for the game which will be well worth a journey across the stream to see. The Peterborough team is in pretty fair shape, having taken advantage of the warm weather of the past two weeks to get out and get into shape, and they will be ready for the warm game that is awaiting them on Monday afternoon. The fans should turn out and give the team a good start for the season. They will have a good chance to get in line on the calibre of the players as the visitors are in mid-season form and confident of victory. W. A. Hoagland, the world's champion walker, has consented to face the ball He will get a great reception from the crowd.

THE EASTERN CRACKS ARRIVE READY FOR BIG SIX-DAY WALK BROWN, WEST AND BLAKE HERE

Three more of the outside walkers, who will start in the big six-night walk, which commences in Brock St. Rink on Monday night, arrived last night fit and well. They were Jack Blake, the coloured walker, of Syracuse, N, Y., and Geo. Brown, and Lew West, of Auburn, N. Y., all three of whom competed in the Milwaukee grind last week, and who are confident of making a good showing here. Blake, who has been here twice before is a prime favourite and was given a hearty welcome back to Peterborough, while Brown and West will find a place in the hearts of the walk fans before next week's walk has progressed very far. They are young athletic fellows, who look capable of fine performance on the saw-dust track, and who will undoubtedly make things interesting for Champion Hoagland and the rest of the cracks when the grind commences.

Graham and Allen will be here from Buffalo to-morrow. Both are in good shape and should give a creditable account of themselves. The local entrants are all in fine shape for the grind. Jim Harrison will be back from Milwaukee to-morrow and promises to make an even better showing than he did at Milwaukee. Spenceley is doing nicely in his training walks and the outside men will not have things their own way when the two local men tear loose. John Blatchford, the other local man in the walk, is a dark horse, who may prove dangerous. Little is known of his ability, but he is enthusiastic and confident that he will be heard from during the week. Jack Cooper, the little Englishman, from Toronto, who had the distinction of walking the fastest mile in the walk here last year, is expected from Toronto, and if he starts there will be doings as the sturdy Britisher is some walker and will be in shape to go the grind this year.

Altogether it promises to be a fine race from start to finish, and no doubt will attract a big crowd during the week. Starting on Monday night, it will be the only event of importance for the holiday evening, and the "standing room only" sign should be hung up early on that night. The 57th band will be in attendance throughout.

Following are the entries so far:

W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y.
Geo. Brown, Auburn, N. Y.
Lew West, Auburn, N. Y.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N. Y.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N. Y.
Jim Dixon, Philadelphia, Pa.
Tom Allen, Buffalo, N. Y.
Jim Graham, Buffalo, N. Y.
Jack Cooper, Toronto, Ont.
Jim Harrison, Peterborough.
W. Spenceley, Peterborough.
John Blatchford, Peterborough.
Dave Hartley, Peterborough.

ALFIE SHRUBB SHOWS HIS HEELS TO THE SPEEDY FRENCHMAN

Montreal, May 20.—Alfred Shrubb, the speedy little Englishman, defeated his sturdy French rival, St. Yves, in the 20-mile race to-night by one and a half laps, or almost half a mile.

Shrubb took the lead at the very outset and kept the Union Jack in the lead, despite the desperate efforts of St. Yves to carry the tri-colour to the front The race was run on the grass track. This favoured Shrubb's lame leg and enabled him to run one of the best races in his long career.

St Yves is a sturdy, stocky little chap and runs with a mincing, choppy gait which seems laboured and forced. It is in striking contrast to the easy, natural stride of Shrubb. He finished as strong as when he started, and during the entire twenty miles he never varied either his style of running nor his speed, except once in the eighth mile, when he spurted and cut down Shrubb's lead of thirty yards.

Shrubb ran one of the best races of his life and finished with a spurt that brought the vast crowd to its feet. From the fifth mile on he smashed every record made in his previous races with St. Yves and Longboat, doing 10 miles in 53:11 and 15 miles in 1:28:25. The 20 miles were covered in 1:54:25. At the crack of the pistol Shrubb jumped into the lead and gained 50 yards at the end of the first lap. At the end of the first mile, or 3 1-5 laps, Shrubb was a quarter of a lap ahead of St. Yves. From this on he gradually lengthened the distance between them until at the end of the seventh mile he lapped the Frenchman. From this on for a couple of laps they ran together, and then Shrubb again took the pole position and gradually widened the distance between them. When he had a lead of 30 yards St. Yves made a spurt and caught the Englishman only to lose it before he had gone another lap. In the seventeenth mile Shrubb appeared to weaken and St. Yves gained 100 yards or so, but lost it in the nineteenth and twentieth miles when Shrubb struck his usual gait.

THE WALKERS' SHARE OF GATE DIVISION OF THE PRIZE MONEY

Peterborough, May 21, '09.

Sporting Editor the Examiner.

Sir,—Can you inform me through your paper what per cent. of the gate receipts the walkers get? How many prizes there are and their amount (per cent.)?

ENQUIRER.

Answer.—The walkers will get seventy-five per cent. of the net gate receipts, and there will be either seven or six prizes, just as the walkers themselves decide. They will hold a meeting before the race, as is customary and will agree as to the number of prizes.

The 75 per cent of the net gate will be divided among the walkers, as follows:

If only one man covers the limit, 100 miles, in 20 hours, he will receive the entire share of the walkers.

If only two men do the distance the money will be divided 60 and 40 per cent.

If three men, the division will be 50, 30, and 20 per cent.

If four men, the division will be 50, 25, 15, and 10 per cent.

If five men, the division will be 45, 25, 15, 10, and 5 per cent.

If six men, the division will be 40, 25, 15, 10, 6, and 4 per cent.

If seven men, the division will be 35, 23, 14, 10, 8, and 6 and 4 per cent.—Sporting Editor.

JR. THISTLES WON FROM MORROWITES

A very exciting game of baseball was played on the Central School grounds yesterday afternoon, between the Junior Thistles and the Morrowites. It resulted in a win for the former by the score of twelve runs to nine. Pearson and Sharp in the box, did good work for the winners, while A Darling did some grand backstopping.

Morrow and Smith were the pick of the [illegible].

R. Laing made a satisfactory umpire and the teams were as follows:

Junior Thistles—Darling, c.; Pearson and Sharp, pitchers, and 1st b.; Matthews, 2b; Helson, 3b; V. Pearson s.s., H. Knapman, r.f., O. Cavanagh, c.f.; C. Sharp, l.f.

Morrowites—A. Morrow, c.; R. Smith, p.; M. Morrow, 1st b.; A. Blanchard, 2b.; R. Blanchard, 3b.; R. Dunsford, s.s.; F. Boyse, r.f.; R. Blanchard, c.f.; A. Kingscotte, l.f.

Commencing Saturday, May 22, 1909 the "Round Trip" Cars will run every afternoon and evening during the Summer Months. 60 minutes of fresh air for 5 cents.

SPORTING SPARKLETS

The following members of the Y. M. C. A. football team are requested to be in uniform at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for the game with Bethany:

Fleming, Barr, McNeill, Evans, Sutcliffe, Moore, McPherson, Archibald, Milburn, Coleman, Caniff and Castor.

• • •

Either the Havelock Football team is very wise or very foolish and most people here are at a loss to know which. If they came over to this village on Monday last, through the heavy rain, with the idea of playing the scheduled game of football they are about as foolish as they make them. On the other hand, if they took advantage of the fact they were not notified that there would be no game, thus expecting to win by default, they were pretty wise or sharp at any rate. They went to the grounds and after lining up took the ball down the field and scored, claiming a victory by a score of 1-0. The sports of that town have certainly changed since the hockey season.—Marmora Herald.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club will practise this evening at Riverside Park and a full turnout of players is requested to get in shape for the game with St. Catharines on the holiday. The team will also practise to-morrow afternoon at Riverside at the conclusion of the football match.

At the Olympic games held last May at Shepherd's Bush, London, England, the Canadian athletes demonstrated that they are as good as the world's best. If for nothing else, the Canadian representatives won the praise and admiration from all with whom they came in contact by their gentlemanly conduct.

Of the Canadians who were most conspicuous, Bobby Kerr, Canada's premier sprinter, came in for the largest share of the honours, by winning the world's championship, in the 200 metres from a field of the fastest runners of the world. Kerr also started in the 100 metres but was defeated by Walker and Rector. Kerr also won the 100 and 200 metres at the English championship, and goes to England this year to defend the title.

Wood, of Brantford, did exceeding well by finishing fifth in the Marathon race of 26 miles 385 yards. He was the first of the Canadian runners to finish.

Fred Simpson, the Peterborough wonder, finished next to Wood. Simpson was thought to be the best Canadian in the race, but was affected by the weather conditions.

Ed. Archibald, the pole-vaulter, did not win first place with Olympic games, but carried off the championship of England. Archibald's Canadian record is 12 feet 5 inches.

Jack Tait, Canada's entry in the 1,500 metres did exceeding well. Tait is a promising young runner, and looks like the best man in the middle distances in Canada.

Geo. Goulding was well up in the walk and since returning from the games has broken several world's records. Goulding holds the Canadian records from one to ten miles.

Billy Sherring, of Hamilton, won glory for himself and Canada, by winning the classic Marathon race held at Athens, Greece, in 1906. Sherring won from the pick of the world's runners. Canadians are demonstrating that they need not take a back seat to any of the world's best.

Mr. W. Tait, brother of Jack Tait, was a spectator at the Olympic games and got one of the finest collections of photos that were taken. Mr. Tait has been travelling around the country giving an illustrated lecture on the games, and the local Y.M.C.A. has secured him to lecture in the gymnasium on Thursday evening. May 27. Mr. Tait has 50 life size views, which will be thrown on a canvas and he will tell a complete story of the games. In his collection he has Dorando's sensational finish in the Marathon. Simpson finishing the Marathon. Hayes winnig the Marathon. Bobby Kerr winning the world's championship in the sprints. Jack Tait in the mile. Archibald ,Goulding and many others. A small admission fee will be charged.

The Toronto Star Says:

After the various works of the King's platers this morning at the Woodbine had been completed, after the experts had digested everything in shape of public performances, the critical ones came to the conclusion that Hendrie's Shimonese has the 1909 King's Plate at her mercy on Saturday afternoon.

After these self same critics observed the "wind-opener" of Dyment's Fort Garry this morning, a mile and an eighth in 2:04 breezing, they came to the conclusion that the only horse Shimonese has to beat to gather the guineas is Fort Garry.

These conclusions come naturally after the poor showings made by the Seagram platers in their trials on Wednesday. But at that there is a certain element who are staunch in their belief that Courtier in his trial didn't show his calibre, and that Barry Littlefield put a work under his belt prior to sending him along with Tollendal, Mendip, and Seismic. So there you are!

The Field in the Plate

You can take your pick of the big field which will in all probability be made up as follows:

Shimonese (C. Gilbert).
Fort Garry (Menty).
Courtier (Musgrave).
Tollendal (Goldstein).
Mendip.
Dog-of-War.
Desert Star (Preston).
Shore Lark (Trueman).
Generous Moor (E. Walsh).
Sauce of Gold (Foley).

One or two others may face the barrier, but they do not have to be figured upon.

WITH THE RUNNERS.

Paul Acoose, who defeated Fred Appleby, at Winnipeg, the other night, is 23 years of age, and lives on the Indian reserve about ten miles from Grenfell, where his father has lived before him many years. They tell a good story of the father, who, in his early days, could beat all the redskins on the reserve. In a hunt one day after five deer, old man Acoose, set out on horseback. On and on he went in pursuit till finally, after twenty miles had been travelled, the broncho gave up and was unable to continue the chase. The old man—he was a young, well set Indian in those days—went after them on foot for another thirty miles, and showed his great powers of endurance by killing everyone of the five denizens of the forest.

This is the second year Acoose has been in the athletic world. His first appearance was on May 24, in a five-mile race at Grenfell, when another Indian, Phoenix Pennepekenick by name, was a hot favourite, but Acoose won as he liked in 28 minutes flat. He then came out in the ten-mile road race at Regina early in July where he won the title of champion of Saskatchewan, beating a field of 21 runners. This was more or less of a cross-country affair, for the roads wer every muddy and fields had to be traversed and wire fences negotiated. Acoose got over the course in 1 hour, 6 seconds.

Grenfell began to wake up to the fact that there lived in Saskatchewan a runner who could beat them all, and in company with some supporters from the west came in to the exhibition week. The Indians' first race in Winnipeg was not a success. It was over a mile, and the Indian suffered the only defeat of his career, when, by bad judgment, his colours were lowered by T. Bater, of the Y. M. C. A. On the same day, however, he showed his real ability, when over a heavy track he beat some of the best runners in the city. His time was 15 minutes 29½ seconds. A few days later he came out again and won the five-mile championship, covering a rough and heavy track in 30 minutes 51 seconds. A long rest then followed and Acoose came to Winnipeg for further honours in July, when he won the five-mile race at the Trades and Labour sports in 27 minutes, 34 2-5 seconds. His last appearance in the city was when he won the five-mile road championship of Western Canada over heavy roads and made his own pace from start to finish.

• • •

All those intending to enter the five-mile handicap race under the Y. M. C. A. auspices on Monday, must send in their entries not later than to-night.

LOCAL BASEBALL

The Strathcona Baseball Club will practise to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Nicholls' Oval. A full turnout of the players is expected as the League will commence in a short time.

Inspiring Lecture To The Teachers Of County And City On Canada's Strength

Rev. Canon Cody Reviews Her History, Emphasizes Her Greatness and Calls Attention to Points of Weakness—Large Attendance at Open Meeting.

A SPLENDID LECTURE.

The teachers of the city and county listened to a spirited and intelligent address last night upon Canada's past, present and future, when Rev. Canon Cody, D.D., L.L.D., of Toronto, spoke upon the interesting subject of "The Strength and Weakness of Our National Structure." The affair had been arranged by the city teachers, and under their auspices was held in the assembly room of the Collegiate Institute. Rev. Canon Cody dealt very comprehensively with this and must have inspired the teachers with new ideas and ideals of our own Dominion, which should strengthen their efforts in teaching the children to take an active interest in informing themselves of what has been accomplished, and also of the vast opportunities which are now being presented and will be presented in the future, as Canada continues its wonderful growth.

A Musical Programme

A select introductory musical programme was given, Dr. Park pleasing the audience with a violin solo which was played with fine expression and finished execution. Dr. Park kindly responded, his encore number being an arrangement of and old favourite composition. Miss Helen Davies sang in a charming manner "Mary of Argyle." Miss Davies was in excellent voice and demonstrated the qualities which have given her a high standing in the music world as a vocalist.

Elements of National Strength

The first elment of our national strength, Rev. Cody began, is our connection with a glorious Motherland and the Empire. These two words are big with privilege and meaning. It is when we are enabled to visit the Old Country that we feel that we have derived our present strength from a mighty, splendid past, and we feel we are of the blood. The best that the world has in politics to-day has come from the little isle across the sea which we love to call the Motherland.

And the other name, the Empire! It is with pride that we to-day say we are Britons. We are proud to be members of this Empire formed by a virile race across the sea and spread out over the face of the globe, carrying all the best of the British ideals. It was not established by any set plan or by any far-seeing mind. It was apparently the work of Divine Providence to do good in the world and on it. We have stumbled upon rich colonies for India, Australia and Canada seem to have been acquired by chance. There was practically no colonial policy in the 17th and 18th centuries and it was only during the last century that the strength and the opportunities presented by the colonies were appreciated by the Mother Country. It is something which thrills one to feel a part of the grand old British Empire, of gloried past and brilliant future. The Dominion of Canada is still an integral part of the Empire.

Historic Past

The second element of our nationhood is the romantic and historic past of our own Canadian past. In beautiful language Rev. Canon Cody traced the history of Canada from the Old French regime down through the formative period to the Confederation. From that time the Dominion entered upon a period of slow growth and development. The government of those early times required men of self sacrifice, who would devote their best interests to its welfare, and at this time the United Empire Loyalists threw in their influence with the result that gradually there was worked out a form of representative government than which there was none better, and from which other governments have greatly benefitted. It now remained for a strong effort to be made to induce Newfoundland to link itself with the Dominion. It is the strategetic point of Canada's vitals. It guards the mouth of the gulf of St. Lawrence, and is the centre of the largest fishing centre in the world, and has other rich resources.

Present Material Resources

This element of our strength was not really appreciated by the people of to-day, at least not sufficiently appreciated. Rec. Canon Cody followed the country's natural wealth from the coal and iron mines of Nova Scotia through Quebec and Ontario to the Pacific coast. He pointed out the great resources throughout the middle provinces, the great fertile prairie lands which a few decades ago were unthought of as one of the foremost granaries of the world. In referring to Ontario and its farming possibilities and actualities he made mention of the splendid work which is being done by the Agricultural College at Guelph, how it was instructing the farmers in the best methods of agriculture and teaching them advanced ideas which would be made use of by the farmers of the entire Dominion in a few years.

Element of Population

A strong asset in Canada's national wealth was the stock of the main part of the population. The people who built up the country were our ancestors from the British isles, men who came from a land where God was loved and feared. They were men of honesty, integrity, perseverance and tenacity of purpose. They were imbued with a strong love of home, and of love between man and man. This was a virile stock and should be maintained and with the qualities which have made it the important factor in the forming of a splendid citizenship.

Another element was our constitution and as perfect a democracy as is found anywhere. Canon Cody also stated that Canada commenced its life without any inherited handicap of pauperism and crime. Every man can start fresh if he chooses with no obstacle in the way of success.

Our Failings.

After speaking of the great opportunities which our country presents to us as a people, Rev. Canon Cody, concluded his address by calling attention to certain weaknesses, which may grow out of our very strength. We must realize our responsibility to the Empire. There has not been much chance in the past to give our assistance, but it was time that we began to shoulder the duties we owe to the Motherland and the Empire at large.

We should not resent suggestions from people of other countries, who may pass upon our customs, habits, methods of doing business, etc. We are a young nation and one thing to be guarded against was provincialism.

With wealth such as we enjoy there was a certain inclination to worship the Almighty God. Canada is impelled to be rich, but we must see to it that the spirit of materialism did not spread among the people.

The problem of our population is one of the greatest that affronts the young nation. The West is receiving hundreds of foreigners and in the eastern cities the foreign population is rapidly growing. In Toronto there are 30,000 foreigners, many of whom know scarcely a word of the English language. One-third of the population of Winnipeg was of foreign descent. It was the task of the Canadian of the old Anglo-Saxon stock to Christianize these that our national standard of citizenship may not be lowered, but if possible enhanced. It should be our endeavour to implant the Anglo-Saxon ideals of civilization among Canada's many classes of people.

At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Canon Cody on motion of Sheriff Hall and Dr. Morrison. Mr. W. J. Dunlop, principal of the Queen Alexandra School, was chairman for the evening.

Yesterday Afternoon's Session

The city and county teachers held a joint meeting in the Normal School yesterday afternoon. Mr. Cornish, of the Normal School staff, spoke on "Nature Study." He began his address by telling why Nature Study should be taught. Mr. Cornish gave a definition of culture. He gave in his opinion what a cultured man is. He classified the subjects of the public school curriculum, mentioning those which have a cultured mind. Nature Study is a study that gives a delight in the objects of nature. He urged the teachers to keep this idea before their pupils. If pupils take an interest in the work of nature, the pupils reap a great benefit. If boys and girls are to be interested in birds, stars, rocks, etc., they must study them for themselves. Teachers should direct, let the pupils do the work.

The speaker took the dandelion. Have the pupils bring specimens to school, examine them. But do not stop here. Have them keep records of the plants. Have them examine plants grown on different soils and note the difference.

The speaker took the sparrow. Have pupils make a thorough examination of a specimen, but do not allow your labours to rest with this. Assign little questions for pupils to solve themselves, for instance the difference in colour between the male and female; and where they are found. This will create an interest in the pupils to make observations. Pupils like to find out things for themselves. Do not make your questions too general. Make the pupil clearly understand what you want him to do. Create an interest in pupils to preserve animal life, to repair from killing the birds, and impress on them the place these feathered creatures have in nature. Mr. Cornish closed with a reference to the use of books. Get the best books, read the facts and find them out for yeurselves.

Miss A. Weir, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute, spoke on "The Teacher's Life Outside the School." Let the young teacher have a definite plan, perhaps to prepare for a higher examination. The languages, French, Latin and German, are a great assistance to the study of English. Good books are a valuable asset. Every teacher should be versed in current events. No teacher can afford to rush. Special preparation for the next day's work is very necessary. Teachers should cultivate the social element. Miss Weir gave a very interesting paper which was well recived by the teachers.

Principal Walker, of the Normal School, spoke on "Elementary Number Work." Begin by giving the pupils something to do. See that the pupil makes the combinations. How far should the pupil count before beginnig at actual number work? A child should be able to count by 1's up to 100. All pupils before coming to school have some notion of number. Teachers should give tests to see they are not taking too much for granted. Mr. Walker gave an interesting paper using black-board examples.

EXPLANATION OF FAILURE OF ONTARIO STEELWARE COMPANY AS FOUND IN THE TORONTO STAR

Mr. Baker, Who Has Been One of Those Connected With Preliminary Arrangements With City Re Purity Ware Ltd., Was With That Company—How it Was Forced to the Wall.

INTEREST TO RATEPAYERS.

The article that is given herewith should be of interest to the ratepayers who are following the Purity Ware, Limited. It appears as a special industrial editorial in the Toronto Star on Wednesday, January 20th, last. The heading is "What Tinware Makers Did to a New Factory," etc. The company referred to has been spoken of recently in connection with the Purity Ware concern. Mr. Baker, one of the gentlemen interested in the new company, was connected with the Ontario Steel Ware Co.as stated by Mr. Kendry a few evenings ago and the following article is purposed to show that the failure was not due to lack of ability on Mr. Baker's part as it was to the action of the company's competitors. The editorial is as follows:

There is sufficient excuse for turning once more to a discussion of the conditions governing the manufacture and sale of tinned and enameled ware in this country. This excuse is based on the fact that conditions governing this particular line of trade seem to be typical of those governing many other lines, and on the further fact that the letter from Mr. McClary, published in the issue of Friday last, did not contain all the facts in regard to the closing of the factory of the Ontario Steel Ware, Limited.

The Story Behind the Closing

There is an exceedingly interesting story in connection with the closing of the factory in question. Mr. McClary's statement that the closing was due to the limited market afforded for the factory's output is in a measure true, but the statement does not tell the whole truth. The market for the output of the Ontario Steel Ware Company was artificially limited. When the managers of the company came to sell their product they found that a combination of other factories had arrangements with dealers in enameled ware under which these dealers were entitled to a certain rebate if they sold $1,500 worth of the goods produced by the combine in a year; where sales of combine goods aggregated $4,000 the rebate was greater. These dealers were anxious enough to buy some of the offerings of Ontario Steel Ware, but they were met by this practical difficulty: The Ontario Steel Ware Co. could not supply all the lines dealers required, and if the dealers bought partly from the independent company and partly from the combine their sales of combine goods in a year would not be sufficient to entitle them to the promised rebate in the latter.

Made Progress Despite Handicap

Still, despite this handicap, the new company began to build up a trade. Finding the avenue first sought partially closed, it secured large orders from departmental stores in the lines which it was in a position to manufacture. Business was being steadily pushed along this and other lines, when the money stringency began in October, 1907. When the financial situation became acute the Ontario Steel Ware Company found itself in the same position in regard to its bank as many other industries found themselves in at the same time.

Prices Cut at an Opportune Time

Measures were, however, taken to secure from other sources the funds necessary to carry on the business, but just as arrangements to this end were about completed there was a sudden drop in the price at which the combine had been selling pails. Instead of allowing dealers a discount of 45 per cent. from list price the combine made the discount 60 per cent. to dealers buying from it. This action alarmed the men who were preparing to come to the assistance of Ontario Steel Ware. They saw that if, in addition to facing a commercial depression, they to face a war in prices with a powerful combination, the capital they proposed investing in the industry would be jeopardized.

AN OFFER OF TERMS.

Then something else happened. While those behind the independent company were halting between two opinions—while they were debating whether to let the business go or risk more money in building it up in the face of still stronger competition than had been met in the past—a new proposition came under review. This was nothing less than an offer from the combine to take over the entire plant and stock of the company at a little less than inventory prices, but still at a figure which was practically equivalent to one hundred cents on the dollar. The offer was accepted and the deal closed.

Where the 33 cents on the Dollar Came In

How does the statement as to the price at which the plant of the Ontario Steel Ware was sold square with the statement in Mr McClary's letter about disposing of the same at thirty-three cents on the dollar? In this way: After the combine had obtained possession of the plant, it sold the same in a way calculated, not to make money out of the plant, but to prevent it from being again used to manufacture goods which would compete with the output of the combination.

The plant was, it appears, broken up into sections—a little disposed of here and a little there—while some of the principal machines were sent back to the United States whence they came. It is quite likely the combine did not, when selling in this way realize over a third of the price it had paid for the plant. But it was well worth the other two-thirds to have a dangerous rival out of the way, particularly since the heads of the rival concern were individually bound, as part of the conditions of sale, not to embark in a similar line of manufacturing for a term of years.

A Peculiar Succession of Events.

But mark the sequence of events. A new manufacturing company finds itself partially shut out of the ordinary retail market by an arrangement as to rebates, under which an existing combine has these retail dealers bound to buy only from itself; the new factory gets into a financial corner; just as a way is being opened out of the difficulty; the combine, against which it has been struggling, cuts prices on one of the leading lines; while the capitalists who had been coming to the rescue of the endangered industry, are suffering from cold feet as a result of this latest development, an offer is made to buy their plant at a sum equivalent to its actual value; the offer is accepted; the equipment of the independent factory on passing into the hands of the combine is broken up, and scattered far and wide, and then—the combine in undisputed control of the field—prices are restored to the old level.

Combination and Inefficiency

There is something still to come in this story of the combination in enameled ware. There is, of course, a price list by which all parties to the combination are bound. All the factories in the association are not equally efficient. In some the cost of production is much lower than it is in others. But the combine price list is fixed at a figure high enough to allow a profit even on the output of the most inefficient plant. On the output of the best equipped factory there is a magnificent profit.

If we had free competition, the public would get the benefit of the low cost of production in the well equipped factory, and the poorly equipped ones would be forced to come up to date. Competition would make for improved quality in output, and a lowered cost to the consumer. With combination, under protection of the tariff, consumers are forced to pay prices high enough to show a profit even on the running of an antiquated plant.

The story of the combination in enameled ware is the story, with trifling variations as to details, of scores of other combinations. The tariff is so arranged as to prevent foreign competition, and a domestic combination fixes prices at a level sufficiently high to ensure a profit even on the output of factories with obsolete plants operated by antiquated methods.

Combines hamper enterprise, destroy individuality and compel the consumer to pay unduly high prices for the necessaries of life.

Commencing Saturday, May 22, 1909, the "Round Trip" Cars will run every afternoon and evening during the Summer Months. 60 minutes of fresh air for 5 cents.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS SENT IN FIRE ALARM

A fire alarm was sent in by the Fire Underwriters' Association from Box 21, at the corner of King and George streets yesterday afternoon, about five o'clock, and it was just two minutes from the time the alarm was sounded until the fire brigade was on the scene. This is particularly fast work and the underwriters were greatly pleased. Chief Howard and his men are to be congratulated. It is such fast time as this that warrants the citizens having confidence in the efficiency of the chief and the brigade.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 21.—Influenced by heavy buying from London, said to amount to over 30,000 shares, this market opened strong and advanced further during the first two hours, especial strength being shown in Steel common, which made a new high record price at 60¾. The entire market was helped by this demonstration with the lesser steel stocks like Republic Steel and Sloss showing handsome gains. Stock was offered on the advance, however, and when the wheat market rose, stocks began to waver and finally sold off, with some of the leading rails sagging to last night's closing. The short interest seems to be pretty well eliminated and the bulges do not hold. Market needs a good reaction to improve its position when stocks can be bought again.

CITY TEACHERS HAD MOST PROFITABLE SESSION TO-DAY

Interesting Papers Were Read on Different Subjects at This Morning's Gathering of the Pedagogues---A Beneficial Meeting.

It was a very profitable and interesting session that the members of the City Teachers' convention enjoyed this morning. The Teachers' Institute have never before had a more instructive or well-balanced programme and the interest shown by the many members increases with the presentation of each subject.

Miss J.A. Jackson opened the morning session with a paper on "Elementary Reading." This subpect, always an interesting one, was presented on a most elaborate but practical scale. A small class of pupils satisfied the most critical observer that the various and useful methods employed by the above teacher, are productive of the best results. Mr. J. M. Roezel followed with a paper on "Advanced Reading," and the favourable discussion lead by Misses Morrow, Sloane and Brown, which followed, showed in a measure the general appreciation of the speaker's efforts.

Mr. L. J. Pettit in a masterly treatment of the subject "History" dealt principally with the teaching of same in the Public Schools. A few well-outlined plans, showing the value of connected biographical lessons, and the things that pupils should master in the elementary schools were the chief features of the address. Mr. W. L. Richardson and Miss A. A. Staples were the leaders of discussion and the comment on the paper read showed that the principles urged by the speaker were of a value, most beneficial to the teachers present. The officers for the coming year were elected and routine business, including considerable discussion on the matter of the purchase of a pedogogical library was transacted.

CANADA'S ADMIRAL.

How Kingsmill Finds Himself In His Home Land.

In the British House of Commons Sir Gilbert Parker brought up the retirement of Rear-Admiral Kingsmill from the royal navy, and, in reply, was informed by the Right Hon. Mr. McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, that no protests or feelings of resentment in Canada was known to the Colonial Office in consequence of the retirement of Admiral Kingsmill. It will be remembered that the latter was captain of H.M.S Dominion, which ran aground in the Bay of Chaleur, on its way up to Quebec to receive the silver presents for the ship subscribed for by the ladies of the Dominion of Canada. By good seamanship Captain Kingsmill floated the battleship without assistance, and arrived in Quebec. He knew, however, that there was a good deal of damage done to her bottom, as she had to use her pumps in Quebec to keep down the water leaking in. On reaching Bermuda a week or so after the Dominion was docked and found to be badly ripped in the false bottom. She was temporarily repaired and sailed for England, where an investigation was held as to the cause of her going ashore. Of course, the captain was censured, which is always a notch against promotion. Captain Kingsmill was well aware of the strict rules of the Admiralty, and on being promoted shortly after to rear-admiral's rank felt it better to retire for good from the navy. He returned to Canada, his native country, and was at once appointed by the Federal Government to command all the vessels and crews of the Canadian fleet for the protection of sea and inland fisheries. As Captain Spain, who recently held the office, has resigned. Admiral Kingsmill, according to Ottawa reports, will, before the opening of navigation, be appointed Wreck Commissioner for the Dominion, an office he is most capable of fulfilling to shipping community's satisfaction.

Admiral Kingsmill was born at Guelph, Ont., in 1855, and was educated at Upper Canada College, entering the royal navy as a cadet in 1869. He saw active service during the Egyptian War of 1882, for which he has the medal and Khedive's bronze star. He was for some time on board Queen Victoria's yacht, the Victoria and Albert, an honor coveted by all naval officers, and in 1894 brought Sir John Thompson's remains to Halifax on H.M.S. Blenheim. He later on commanded the twin screw cruiser Archer, of the China Squadron. It is expected that he will put the Canadian fishery fleet into smarter condition and better discipline in all ranks. —Montreal Standard.

Pioneered Canadian Peak.

The first feat of the Duke of Abruzzi, who has left for another mountain-climbing expedition, was the ascent of Mount St. Elias, on the far borders of Canada and Alaska, a mountain some 18,000 feet high.

A New Prairie Town.

One of the most striking features of the development of the prairie provinces of Canada is the way in which new towns spring up as if by magic almost daily. Lanigan, an important junction point on the Pheasant Hills branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is a case in point. This young but vigorous town has already been incorporated, and the population will soon be not far short of 1,000. It already possesses three elevators and half-a-dozen lumber yards. A by-law was recently passed authorizing the town to raise money for the purpose of securing and maintaining a park site and athletic ground. The sum of $3,000 has already been voted for a town fire hall, and negotiations are in progress for a hospital and a creamery
